Sheets Off To Stormy Start As President

James A. Sheets was elected president of the 1984 City Council Tuesday amid indications that his term may be a stormy one.

For one thing, the vote to elect him was not unanimous. Eight councillors voted for him. Councillor Joanne Condon voted "no".

"It was lack of communication," said Condon. "He did not communicate with me about my vote until last Friday. That is not a good sign."

"There were some other things as well. I heard some things announced on the radio before the councillors were informed. I hope he will recognize me as a member of the Council and talk to me."

Then John J. Lydon Jr., the retiring Council president, objected to Sheets' choice as the Council's clerk of committee in an attempt to postpone the vote for two weeks.

But City Clerk John Gillis, the Council's parliamentarian, ruled that Lydon could not object to a nomination and Donna Pollara of West Quincy was voted into the position.

Condon, Lydon and Stephen J. McGrath voted "present".

Then when it came time for the Council to adopt a set of rules for 1984-85, usually a routine matter, Lydon moved to have the rules sent to the Rules Committee.

This was narrowly averted by a 5-4 vote, with Francis X. McCauley, sworn in to a second two-year term as mayor Tuesday, had some good news for Quincy residents in a generally upbeat inaugural address.

McCauley told a rather small crowd of some 300 people in the Quincy Vocational Technical School gym that Quincy may soon regain at least a portion of its once high credit rating.

Six years of deficits totalling $13.9 million, which dropped the city's rating from AA to BA, one of the lowest in the state, are over, he said.

"The city in fiscal 1982 and 1983 was in a surplus position," he said.

Text Of Mayor's Address Page 12

"On Dec. 1, I met with representatives of Moody's investment Services, who evaluate credit standing, and we presented to Moody's some very positive factors."

"I'm hopeful that when Moody's finishes their evaluation of the city's credit rating we will be able to announce within the next 90 days an increase in that rating."

McCauley also promised that later this month he will announce the coming of a "major retail store outlet" in Quincy.

"While this store outlet will not be in the confines of downtown Quincy," he said. "It will be only a few minutes away from downtown in a very easily accessible area."

"A group of developers have purchased an existing building and plans to spend some $1.5 million on this particular project. In addition to the retail store there will be another store on this site."

But McCauley declined to identify the store or the site except to say the target date for opening is August, 1984, and the project will create 200 to 225 jobs in the city.

McCauley ticked off several other economic developments in the city, some of which are on the way and others in the planning stage. They include:

- A $14.5 million housing complex, with some 300 units of rental and condominium housing, to be started within a month by the Ricciardi Co. on the old Duane steel yard in Quincy Point.

HUD Approves Kelly As Project Manager

The Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development apparently has approved Leo J. Kelly as project manager of a West Quincy housing development, provided he leave the City Council.

John P. Comer, director of the Quincy Housing Authority, said Tuesday he was notified by telephone that HUD has waived the year's waiting period so Kelly can take the $25,138 a year post now.

Spokesmen for HUD refused to confirm or deny that Kelly has been approved. But, they said, a decision had been made and a memo on it had been read to Comer over the phone.

Kelly, who has been a member of the City Council family and elderly housing complex on Copeland St. for 10 years, said he has heard nothing from HUD on his application for the job of running the 220-unit

LEO J. KELLY

"Sure, I'd be interested in the job," he said. "I applied for it. It involves something I would really like to do and something I could do a good job at."

Kelly could not hold both the Council and the housing jobs at the same time, according to HUD's ruling, and, under law, he would have to be out of the Council a year before accepting the post.

The waiver would permit him to take the job immediately.

Should Kelly take the job, a special election would have to be called to choose a new councillor from Ward 1, a post Kelly has held since 1974.

POSTAL EXAM (CLERK CARRIER) STARTING PAY $10.56/HR

Men and women, regardless of age or experience... if you want to work for the U.S. Postal Service, you must sign up at one of the local Post Offices in the Greater Boston or Framingham area (zip codes 020, 021, 017) between January 9th and January 13th to be eligible to take the Postal Exam. Since it won't be given again for at least two to three years, don't miss out!

It is possible to get a very high score with adequate preparation. From years of experience and discussions with our Advisory Board (consisting of former postmasters, training managers and examiners), we know that it takes exactly 4 hours to teach everything you need to know to get a score of 95% or better — which is what you'll need to get a job.

4-HOUR WORKSHOP: Score 95-100% or Your Tuition is Refunded

We have helped thousands of people successfully prepare for the Clerk-Carrier exam. But don't take our word for it, take our guarantee! Come to the workshop. If you don't feel, at the end of the course, that it will help you achieve a score of 95% or better, return the materials and don't pay for the workshop! Furthermore, if your final score is less than 95% after using our techniques, we will refund your tuition in full!

The guarantee is significant because it is necessary for you to get 95% or better to qualify you for one of the clerk or carrier jobs expected to open up during the next three years. We believe 4 hours of workshop along with a dozen take-home practice exams are needed for you to accomplish this. Benefits derived from this course extend far beyond the postal exam. The skills and attitudes will help in every area of future learning and test-taking.

- ★ You are invited to bring your tape recorder to record the workshop for personal exam review.
- ★ You may attend as many extra sessions of the workshop as you like (on a space available basis) without additional tuition charge.

WORKSHOP TUITION — $35 (Includes 4-hour Workshop, The Corey Guide to Postal Exams, Sample Exam with Answers, Workshop Workbook, and Take-Home Practice Kit containing: Practice Exams with Answers, Flash Cards, and "Simulated Exam" on cassette tape.) Please bring two No. 2 pencils with you to the Workshop.

Seating is limited; pre-registration by phone is advised. Otherwise, you may register by arriving thirty minutes early. Tuition is payable at the door by cash, check, money order, Mastercard, VISA or American Express.

DeMatteo Construction Awarded $62.7 M Expressway Contract

DeMatteo Construction Co. of Quincy has been awarded a $62,745,264 contract to reconstruct eight miles of the Southeast Expressway from Braintree to Boston.

The local firm was low bidder on the two-year job scheduled to begin in 1984.

It is the largest road-building contract ever awarded by the State Department of Public Works.

DPW Commissioner Robert Tierney said the contract also has the largest incentives, a $10,000-a-day bonus for each day the project is completed ahead of scheduled completion.

A $10,000 fine will be levied for each day construction goes beyond the November, 1985, deadline.

State planners say during the reconstruction, commuters will need at least an extra half hour to travel from Braintree to Boston.

$74,000 Study To Investigate W. Quincy Flooding

The state legislature has approved a construction budget which includes $74,000 to study the causes and cures of flooding in West Quincy.

The study will investigate whether flooding in the Ballou and Alrick Sts. area was caused by the construction of the Southeast Expressway in the 1950's.

If expressway construction caused the flooding, the state Department of Public Works will seek federal highway money to take corrective action during expressway reconstruction, said Sen. Paul Harold.

Harold said Robert

McDonagh, the DPW's chief engineer, has promised him that corrective action will be taken if specified conditions are met.

Harold warned, "there are a lot of it's" in the situation.

The reconstruction is scheduled to begin in the spring, and to take two years to complete.

Harbor South Tower Sold For $18.3 M

A Boston investment group has purchased a new 10-story office building in North Quincy for $18.3 million.

Harbor South Tower, 100 Hancock St., was sold by the development group Gateway Quincy Associates to Harbor South Ltd.

The purchase was financed by a California savings and loan bank, according to Arthur F. Cook, Jr., spokesman for the new owner.

Arthur S. Robbins of Providence, R.I., developer of the 212,000 sq. ft. building with panoramic views, said leasing efforts were hampered by nearby Monarch III which was also renting space.

Robbins said expensive carrying costs prompted the decision to sell even though Monarch III has now rented most of its space and the field is clear for attracting tenants.

On 4-3 Vote

Picard Elected School Vice Chairman

Joan C. Picard, who is in the midst of her second four-year term on the School Committee, was elected vice chairman Tuesday by a 4-3 vote over Frank Anselmo, the dean of the committee.

The deciding vote was cast by Mayor Francis X. McCauley, who is chairman of the committee by virtue of his office.

Anselmo, who is 85 years old, was nominated for the vice chairman's post by Nicholas Verenis, who pointed out that Anselmo has been on the committee 22 years and has never been vice chairman.

"This is a titular position, a very ceremonial post and it seems to me only appropriate that a man so dedicated to public education should be voted vice chairman," said Verenis.

But Anselmo could muster only three votes — his own plus those of Verenis and newcomer Stephen Durkin.

Picard, McCauley, Christopher Kennedy and Mary Collins, who attended the organizational meeting on crutches due to a broken ankle suffered in a fall, voted for Picard.

In her address to the committee after her election, Picard urged her colleagues to "work together to strengthen the public schools and thus meet the challenge of the future."

"At our last meeting in 1983," she said, "the School Committee authorized the superintendent of schools to initiate a community wide Quincy forum on educational excellence."

"I'm pleased that we are doing just that and I plan to take an active role in the forum and encourage my colleagues to do so as well."

"At the state level this year, the legislature will consider an unprecedented number of bills, all aimed at strengthening public education."

"The School Committee will need to follow the legislative debate very closely and make certain their voice is heard loud and clear on any new laws that are enacted."

"To begin with, no new program should be mandated by the state without the state providing the source of funding and local control of schools must be maintained through locally elected committees."

Duck's Soup Request At Jan. 10 Meeting

A request for a common victualer license for Duck's Soup, 698 Hancock St., Wollaston, held by Mrs. Anne Lindberg will be among the agenda items at the Jan. 10 License Board meeting.

The request is from

Nicholas Lefas. The License Board agenda stated the license was formerly held by Mrs. Lindberg and that information was printed in last week's Quincy Sun.

The meeting will begin at 10 a.m. at City Hall.

WHAT'S MAKING THIS BOOK A BEST SELLER?

A 7.5 to 9% annual return — without tying up cash for long periods.

A Select Savings Account passbook is becoming a very popular item.

It's not surprising when you consider that a Select Savings Account is a great way to earn high interest that doesn't require an enormous minimum deposit. All you need to open one is a $500 minimum balance, and you earn an annual rate of 7.5% (7.79% effective annual yield) — a lot higher than you could earn on a regular savings or NOW Account. When your passbook balance reaches $1,000, we pay 8% annually (8.33% effective annual yield). At $2,500 you begin earning 9% annually (9.42% effective annual yield).

And no, you don't have to tie up your money forever to get these rates. Just give us 90 days' notice of withdrawal. Otherwise, we're required to impose a penalty of one month's interest for early withdrawal.

The Select Savings Account even allows you to build your high interest account by making as many additional deposits as you like. And, to give you the best return on your money, we compound the interest daily. Interest rates are set monthly. Your principal and interest are fully insured up to $100,000 by the FDIC.

All-in-all, it's easy to see why the Select Savings Account passbook is one of the most popular books around.

To open your account, just call 773-0500 and we'll send you what you need to get started — or stop by one of the 17 conveniently located Bank of New England-Hancock offices today.

Gilmartin's Crystal Ball

Former City Councillor Tom Gilmartin who likes to dabble in political analysis has dusted off his crystal ball once again to come up with a few fearless predictions for 1984-85.

Ready?

Mayor Francis McCauley's challenger next time out, will be City Clerk John Gillis, he says.

GILLIS

He sees Joseph LaRaia, who has been looking and acting like a potential mayoral candidate, standing on the sidelines watching the mayor's race go by.

LaRaia, says he, can win as a council candidate but not as a mayoral contender.

Gilmartin says LaRaia can always count on 10,000 votes for city councillor on a one-out-of-three vote basis but would get only 8,500 in a one-on-one mayoral race. And that, says Gilmartin, is 5,000 vote short for mayor.

City Councillor James Sheets, he says, "will be around to run in four years."

New School Committeeman Steve Durkin might make a bid for the Ward 3 City Council seat two years from now, Gilmartin thinks.

Rep. George Keverian will be the next Speaker of the House in 1985, he says.

And, Rep. Thomas Brownell of Quincy will get one of the best committee chairmanships.

Taking a national look, Gilmartin says:

"I cannot figure out why so many Democrats are trying to win the nomination for President next year. Reagan cannot be beaten for re-election."

Incidentally, according to Gilmartin's arithmetic, he has batted 95 per cent in his predictions the past 12 years.

BROWNELL

JINX DEPT: In the Christmas column, I asked Santa to bring School Committeewoman Mary Collins who has had high blood pressure problems "lots and lots of good health." But, before she could even see the item, she was in Carney Hospital with her left ankle fractured in four places. "She slipped on ice while doing some last minute shopping."

COLLINS

She'll be semi-sidelined about four months with her ankle in a cast, using a wheelchair and crutches to get around.

Don't want to jinx you again, Mary, but wish you a speedy recovery.

FLASHBACK: In December, 1959 the Koch Club of North Quincy won the Boston Boys Club basketball tourney. The Koch Club and South Boston each had a top-scoring standout, both of whom went on to do well in politics.

BURKE

The Koch Club's George Burke, who scored 44 points in the tourney winning game, became a Quincy city councillor and district attorney and is now a prominent attorney. The South Boston player who scored 47 points in that game, became Boston Mayor Ray Flynn this week.

WHICH REMINDS US: The Christmas party at Snug Harbor was in full swing and Mayor Francis McCauley was enjoying himself when a woman came up to say hello.

"It's the mayor," the woman told the little boy who was with her.

"Oh," said the youngster, "is that Ray Flynn?"

"It really kicked my ego a bit," mused McCauley.

McCAULEY

WELL, 1983 was a better year for most people from an economic standpoint than 1982 was.

But a Quincy woman wasn't that impressed.

"I've seen better times," she said after leaving a Quincy gas station where she got air in a tire. ...

"They charged me 25 cents."

On Airman's Release In Syria Donnelly: 'Jackson Used To Embarrass Reagan'

By JOHN NOONAN

Congressman Brian Donnelly said intervention by private individuals in matters of US diplomacy is 'not the way to go.'

In an exclusive interview with Quincy Sun Ch 8 News Donnelly was asked to comment on the intervention of Jesse Jackson, Democratic presidential candidate, in seeking the release of US Airman Robert Goodman who had been held a war prisoner by the Syrian government since early last December.

Donnelly said he was personally very happy that Airman Goodman's release had been announced after Jackson visited Syria and met with Syrian Government officials, despite objections from President Ronald Reagan.

"Jackson has been used

to embarrass President Reagan," Donnelly said in the interview Tuesday following the 1984 city inaugural ceremonies held at Quincy Vocational Tech.

He said he hoped Jackson's role in the release of Airman Goodman would not start a new trend in diplomatic relations by private individuals because, "that is not the way to go."

Allowing Jackson to intervene is an indication of what is wrong with our present foreign and diplomatic relations program, Donnelly stated.

Donnelly said he was opposed to the presence of US armed forces in Beirut when first announced and recommended by President Reagan with the support of the Democratic leadership in Congress.

"I opposed our presence in Beirut then and I oppose it now. I will continue to do so because we have not received an answer to the very basic question of why are we there to begin with?" he stated.

When asked for a comment about his hopes for 1984 the local Congressman replied, "let's get our kids out of Lebanon."

He praised Mayor Francis McCauley for the financial handling of the affairs of Quincy but expressed concern that the federal deficit amounting to more than $200 billion will force cutbacks or curtail funding to states and local communities.

The economy in Massachusetts and the administration of state government have been very helpful in terms of allowing for the funding of local programs, he said.

Quincy like many other communities will however be required to more with less aid from federal funding sources, he concluded.

The complete interview with Congressman Donnelly may be seen on the Quincy Sun Ch 8 News Wednesday at 5:30 p.m. and Thursday at 5:30 p.m.

Squantum Air Base Declared Surplus Property

The Defense Department declared the Squantum Naval Air Station to be surplus property and announced that it would be turned over to the General Services Administration (GSA) for disposal, probably within two weeks.

The Squantum base was deactivated two years ago and most of its functions turned over to the South Weymouth Naval Air Station, which was expanded and reactivated for the occasion.

William A. O'Connell, executive vice president of the Quincy Chamber of Commerce, wrote to Sen. Everett Saltontall and Cong. Richard B. Wigglesworth seeking their cooperation in seeing that the disposition was in the best interests of the city.

"We've been expecting it," said O'Connell, "and in anticipation the Chamber has prepared an industrial brochure giving pertinent facts about the property and the city itself."

Meanwhile, Fred Amershadian, an officer of Massachusetts Boys' Town, was in Washington lining up Congressional sponsorship for legislation that would set up a training home for boys on the old naval property.

RUBBISH DISPOSAL

Public Health Commissioner Dr. Brooks Ryder said he had examined the city dump off Quarry St. and would recommend to City Manager William J. Deegan Jr. a "modified landfill method" to improve the operation.

The State Health Department had all but ruled out the use of water-filled quarries for the disposal of municipal rubbish "due to the nuisance conditions which have been created by such operations in other parts of the state."

BROAD MEADOWS APPROVED

The School Committee approved the preliminary building scheme and plot plan for the proposed new $15 million Broad Meadows Junior High School, which was designed to accommodate 750 pupils in 21 or 22 classrooms.

Sheets Off To Stormy Start

Condon, Lydon, McGrath and Leo J. Kelly voting for the motion.

Lydon said that he objected to the nomination of Pollara because the Council already had under consideration a Nov. 21, 1983 resolution to set up a screening committee to interview candidates.

That resolution was introduced by Councilor Patricia Toland in an apparent effort to head off a move by Lydon to bring in another clerk of committees to replace the departing Jeanne Reardon.

"I and a majority of the councilors supported the resolution last November not to honor it six weeks later but to go ahead with the public process."

"I disagree with the ruling of the chair. Under the 1982-83 rules, any member of the Council can object to any ordinance, order or resolution and it is tabled for two weeks."

"Here we have an ordinance establishing a person as clerk of committees."

In his address following his election as Council president, Sheets urged that Proposition 2½ not "limit our enthusiasm for progress, impoverish our spirits and impose limitations on our creative genius."

"We must not self-imposed mediocrity of accomplishment in the future nor must we allow ourselves to continually use Proposition 2½ as an instant excuse for what we do not have the will to accomplish," he said.

"Surely we fail in leadership if our goal is simply to keep our public school doors open. For we bankrupt the future of our youth and our city if we fail to provide the human, fiscal and planning resources to ensure that our children will be educationally competitive as they move into the 21st Century."

"Surely we fail in leadership if we are simply satisfied to provide a new Quincy Center Plaza and better parking facilities and ignore the true and complete revitalization of the entire downtown shopping area."

"Surely we fail in leadership if our goal is to simply balance the books at the end of each fiscal year and consider the job well done."

Boston's Irish Topic For Quincy Historical Society Lecture

"The Emergence of the Boston Irish in Business and the Professions" will be the topic of a lecture given by Dr. Dennis Ryan Thursday,

Jan. 12, at 1 p.m. at the Adams Academy Building, 8 Adams St., Quincy, as part of Quincy Historical Society's continuing series, "Quincy Remembers."

Dr. Ryan's lecture will review the efforts of the immigrants to organize their own elaborate network of social services as well as the battle for economic stability. Rare photographs will augment the discussion of this often neglected aspect of Boston's history.

Dr. Ryan is the author of a book on this subject as well as other articles on local history, and has taught at Northeastern University.

For more information about the lecture, contact William Twombly at 773-1144.

William F. McIntyre, 19, From Injuries In Fall

A funeral Mass for William F. McIntyre, 19, of Quincy, son of Senate Counsel and Mrs. James R. McIntyre, will be held today (Thursday) at 10 a.m. at St. John's Church, School St., Quincy Center.

Mr. McIntyre died Dec. 31 as a result of injuries received from falling into an elevator shaft.

A graduate of St. Ann's School, Wollaston, and Boston College High School, he was a sophomore pursuing a course of studies at Emerson College which would prepare him for a career in the fields of communications, film making, writing and the arts.

His most recent film, which he filmed, and directed for a course at Emerson prior to Christmas, received a mark of excellence.

Mr. McIntyre had attended classes at the Boston Children's Theatre, held lead roles in "Oklahoma" and "Carousel", and a minor role in Sarah

WILLIAM F. MCINTYRE

Caldwell's Boston Opera Company's production of "Falstaff".

He also appeared as the White Knight in Fontbonne Academy's production of "Alice in Wonderland".

In addition to his parents, former State Senator and former Mayor of Quincy and Mrs. McIntyre, he is survived by two sisters, Elizabeth M. Engelke of Jacksonville, N.C., and Sheila M. Mc-Intyre of Quincy, and a brother, Charles R. McIntyre of Quincy.

He was the grandson of the late Quincy Police Capt. and Mrs. William F. McIntyre and the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Read of Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Mr. McIntyre was also the brother of the late William F. McIntyre who died in infancy.

A moment of silence in his memory was observed during Quincy's Inauguration Day Ceremonies Tuesday at the Vocational Technical gymnasium.

Visiting hours were scheduled for 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. yesterday (Wednesday) at Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston.

Funeral arrangements were made by the David J. O'Connor Funeral Service.

Burial will be in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery, Quincy.

In lieu of flowers, the McIntyre family requests that donations be made to the Boston City Hospital Trauma Center, 785 Harrison Ave., Boston.

George J. Klier, Jr., 57, Norfolk County Court Officer

A funeral Mass for George J. Klier Jr., 57, of Quincy, a Norfolk County court officer, was held Saturday in Our Lady of Good Hope Chapel at Long Island Hospital. The Rev. Alfred E. Finn, hospital chaplain, officiated.

Mr. Klier died Dec. 27 in Jamaica Plain Veterans Administration Hospital after a brief illness.

Born in Somerville, he moved to Quincy 33 years ago from South Boston.

Mr. Klier had been a court officer for Norfolk County since 1975 and was still working in Quincy.

A World War II Army veteran, he was past commander and life member of Robert I. Nickerson American Legion post, a member of the Wrentham Association for Retarded Citizens and a member of the Norfolk County Sheriffs Association.

He is survived by his wife, Gladys (Shattuck) Klier; two sons, George J. Klier III of Quincy and Leo Klier of Wrentham; four brothers, Joseph D. Klier of Cohasset, Paul Klier of Braintree, William Klier of Weymouth and Robert Klier of Lexington; five sisters, Marilyn Mayer of Fishkill, N.Y., Patricia Miller of Milton, Dorothy Brady of Pleasant Hills, Calif., Janice Crowley of Melrose and Joan Giannini of Carlisle; and three grandchildren. He was also the father of the late Kenneth Klier.

Funeral arrangements were by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston. Burial was in Cedar Grove Cemetery.

Donations may be made to the Wrentham State School Special Gift Fund.

Margaret M. Dougherty, 75, St. John's Housekeeper, Cook

She was also the mother of the late Sister Mary Honor Dougherty, who died Dec. 24 and was buried Dec. 28, the late Margaret Buckley and the late Sister Paul Marie.

Funeral arrangements were by the Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave., Quincy. Burial was in Blue Hill Cemetery, Braintree.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Talking about death is often difficult. Yet a death in the family can sometimes cause problems for the survivors. Frankly, we feel these problems can be alleviated by discussion and pre-planning.

Donald M. Deware

Funeral and burial arrangements are an important consideration and should be discussed openly and frankly. Advantages or disadvantages of funeral pre-arrangements depend upon individual circumstances and cannot be generalized. What may be satisfying for some could be impracticable for others.

From personal experience we have found that it is a tragic truth that times does run out for some who really meant to "discuss pre-arrangements" ... but "never got around to it". Consequently, loved ones are confronted with needless indecision and confusion when calm and comfort are needed most. We sincerely hope you never face that situation. But, if you do, remember we are available at any time ... at any hour ... to be of instant help and service to you. We can and will give you counsel and guidance, with NO obligation and NO cost. Call us COLLECT: no matter where you are. It is the best way to avoid confusion, worry or uncertainty ...

He was a life-long Quincy resident.

Educated in the Quincy public schools, he was graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology with a degree in chemical engineering.

Mr. Couch served on the Quincy Planning Board of Appeals, was a director of the S.H. Couch Co., former treasurer of Christ Church, Episcopal, and a member of the American Chemical Society.

The son of the late William and E. Harriet Couch, he is survived by two sisters, Harriet D. Couch and Sarah Thorn Couch.

Services were conducted by the Rev. Steele Martin. Visiting hours were omitted.

Funeral arrangements were by Wickens and Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams St., Quincy.

Donations may be made to the Memorial Fund of Christ Church, Episcopal, 12 Quincy Ave.

Bertha A. Healey, 86

A funeral Mass for Bertha A. (Fhut) Healey, 86, a resident of 1000 Southern Artery, was held Saturday in St. Joseph's Church, Quincy Point.

Mrs. Healey died Dec. 29 in Quincy City Hospital.

Born in Ionia, Mich., she lived in Quincy most of her life.

Wife of the late Francis G. Healey, she is survived by three sons, Thomas W. Healey of Wichita, Kan., John J. Healey of Alexandria, Vir., and Francis G. Healey

Jr. of Baintree; a daughter, Elizabeth Frances Fancy Redfield of Natick; a brother, Casper Funky of Michigan; a sister, Eva Parks of Michigan; 17 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by the Joseph Sweeney Funeral Home, 74 Elm St., Quincy. Burial was in St. Francis Xavier Cemetery, Weymouth.

Donations may be made to the American Cancer Society, 47 West Elm Ave., Brockton, 02401.

Martha Thayer, 87

A funeral service for Martha (Alstein) Thayer, 87, of Quincy, was conducted Saturday in Wickens and Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams St., Quincy. The Rev. Francis Archer, pastor of the Union Congregational Church, officiated.

Mrs. Thayer died Dec. 29 in a Baintree nursing home after a lengthy illness.

Born in Red Oak, Iowa, she moved to Quincy 50 years ago from Dorchester. Wife of the late Loring E. Thayer, she is survived by several nieces and nephews.

Burial was in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

Donations may be made to Union Congregational Church, 136 Rawson Rd., Wollaston, 02170.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

20 Greenleaf St., Quincy

Cordially invites you and your family to attend Sunday Services at 10:45 a.m. Sunday School is held at the same time. Wednesday Evening Meetings begin at 7:30 p.m. Child care is available both Sunday and Wednesday.

Come and hear how Bible truths heal.

'The Aroma Of Christ' Sermon At Bethany

There will be two worship services Sunday, Jan. 8, in Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear St., Quincy Centre.

Services will be held at 9 a.m. in the chapel and 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach at both hours a sermon titled "The Aroma of Christ", based on the scripture text found in II Corinthians 2:14-3:6.

Scripture readers will be Marion Lockwood at the chapel service and Roberta L. Murphy at the sanctuary service. The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will serve as liturgist.

Elliott Markow will be guest violinist at the 10 a.m. service. Markow and organist Peter E. Krasinski will play as the prelude "Adagio" and as the postlude "Finale", both from Haydn's Concerto No. 1.

Sermon On 'The Future' Held At Squantum Church

"What We Know About The Future" was the title of the sermon preached by pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langvin at the First Church of Squantum on Sunday, New Year's Day.

His text was "Therefore I tell you, do not be anxious," (Matthew 6:25a) from Jesus' Sermon on the Mount.

Hymns sung included "O Come, All Ye Faithful", "O God, Our Help in Ages Past", "Ring Out, Wild Bells" and "Angels We Have Heard on High". For the offertory the Chancel Choir sang "On This Day Earth Shall Ring" as arranged by Gustav T. Holst.

Ushers were Paul Paulson and Tore Wallin. The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Ellen Ogilvie and Hazel Mayne.

This Sunday, there will be two services: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. at which the sermon will be "Who Do You Think Jesus Is?" and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m. at which the sermon will be "Whatever Happened to Evangelism?"

There is a nursery at both services. Sunday School for children in Kindergarten through grade four is provided during the first service beginning this Sunday.

Boys in grades five and six attend Ginger Snap Monday at 3 p.m.

Girls in grades five and six attend Ginger Snap Wednesdays at 3 p.m.

Teenagers in grades seven through 12 attend Cinnamon Toast Sundays at 3:45 p.m. and Seven-Up Fridays at 7 p.m. Youth Choir meets Sunday at 5 p.m.

Banishing Of First Minister First Parish Program Sunday

Author Robert Rimmer will be guest speaker Sunday, Jan. 8, at the 10:30 a.m. service at United First Parish Church, Quincy Center.

Topic will be the Rev. John Wheelwright, first minister of the church, who was banished from Massachusetts by the Puritans in 1637 for his religious beliefs.

Rimmer will discuss the founding of the first church, known as the "Chapel of Ease"; Rev. Wheelwright's relationship with his free thinking sister-in-law, Anne Hutchinson; and his famous sermon in Boston that infuriated John Winthrop, Governor of Mass. Bay Colony.

He will also discuss his eventual banishment for "treason and sedition" when he refused to endorse established Puritan doctrine but continued to preach the idea of personal, direct contact with divine grace and love without regard to church or minister.

Richard Post will welcome people at the door; Frank and Mary Vallier will usher; Priscilla Kutchmanich and Donna Bamford will be hostesses during Social Hour.

The service will be held in the Parish Hall (entrance on Washington St. side). The public is invited to attend.

Coffee, tea, and cookies will be served after the service during Social Hour. Rimmer will be on hand to answer questions.

Markow will also perform "Ave Maria" by Gounod and Bach as a violin solo.

A native of Burlington, Markow has attended Boston University.

Last summer, he studied with Hachia Heifetz world-renowned violinist, and has played with the Boston Pops Orchestra.

The Chancel Choir will sing as the offertory anthem, "Break Forth, O Beauteous Heavenly Light" by J. S. Bach.

Sunday School will be held from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pupils from preschool through ninth grade. Nursery care is also provided during the 10 a.m. service for babies and small children.

Following the late service, a fellowship hour will take place in the Allen Parlor beginning at 11 a.m.

Individuals and families from the community are welcome to share in the worship and fellowship.

Feast Of Lights At Sacred Heart

The eighth annual ecumenical Epiphany Feast of Lights Service will be held Sunday, Jan. 8, at 7:30 p.m. at Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy.

The event, growing in popularity, is under the sponsorship of the Inter-Church Council of Wollaston and North Quincy, which lists nine member congregations.

Open to the public, the service will feature several choral works performed by the Eastern Nazarene College a cappella choir, under the direction of Professor Greg Larkin. The college's Brass Ensemble, directed by Professor Robert Howard, will also share in the service.

The Rev. Russell F. Metcalfe, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene of Wollaston, will deliver a brief homily. Clergy and laity from all member churches will participate. A social hour will follow the service.

A candle-lighting ceremony is a central feature of the event, representing the light of Christ entering the world and "gradually spreading through time and space," according to the Rev. William D. Underhill of St. Chrysostom's Episcopal Church, Chairman of the Planning Committee.

"The candle-lighting ceremony climaxes with each worshiper holding a lighted candle to carry forth into the world," he said.

Members of the Inter-Church Council include Quincy Community United Methodist Church, Atlantic Memorial Congregational Church, Sacred Heart (Roman Catholic) Church, First Church of Squantum, Union Congregational Church, Church of the Nazarene of Wollaston, Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd, First Baptist Church of Wollaston, as well as St. Chrysostom's (Episcopal) Church.

Also participating is the Wollaston Lutheran Church.

The committee planning the service points out that this Feast of Lights is for the entire community and that there will be ample room for all who wish to attend.

KEEP BEDROOM DOOR CLOSED

Proper ventilation at night does not mean leaving the bedroom door wide open. According to insurance experts who have seen thousands of insurance claims due to fire, this misapprehension is responsible for hundreds of fire-related fatalities every year.

Heat rises and during a fire, superheated air and combustion gases, ranging from 800 degrees to 1,000 degrees, quickly flow to the upper half of a house. These lethal gases pour through open bedroom doors and asphyxiate the sleeping occupants.

The upper rooms where doors had been left open. Those with closed doors were untouched.

"Go to sleep with the windows open and the bedroom door closed," say the fire experts. "And even if you're traveling abroad where air conditioning may be nonexistent, never leave the transom of your hotel door open."

Koch Club Christmas Programs To Conclude Thursday

The Koch Club of Quincy will close out its 28th season of Christmas Charitable Activities today (Thursday) when hundreds of new and used toys and gifts will be delivered to a community service organization in the South End of Boston. The gifts will be distributed to 1,000 boys and girls Jan. 6, at the Annual Christmas Party for neighborhood families.

The traditional hispanic celebration of Little Christmas highlights the reenactment of the three wise men's gift giving visit to the newborn Christ Child and is the major holiday event for people of the area.

During December, the Koch Club distributed food, toys and clothing to hundreds of needy families in the Quincy, South Shore and Boston area channeling its efforts through church, community and social service organizations.

Richard J. Koch, executive director of the organization, stated that Christmas 1983 was the most extensive and far reaching of the Koch Club Charitable Programs to date. Without the assistance of the many organizations, schools, families and individuals who aid in the projects, said Koch, it would be impossible for the committee to provide the service to so many.

Organizations joining with the Koch Club in the most successful program to date included: the Bank of New England Hancock, Thomas Sherwin and Neponset Chapters Telephone Pioneers of America

the South Quincy Social Club, Sacred Heart C.Y.O. and Sacred Heart School, North Quincy Catholic Women's Club, Otis Elevator Employees of Waltham, First Baptist Church of Wollaston, Francis W. Parker School, St. Joseph's School, the Honor Society of North Quincy High School, Quincy City Hospital, Boy Scout Troup #38, the Quincy Nursing Home and Woodward School for Girls.

Dozens of Quincy families and individuals have been the major support of the annual holiday program for the past 28 years in providing donations, food, toys and clothing for others in need of assistance at a special time of year.

Open House Sunday At YMCA

The South Shore YMCA, 79 Coddington St., Quincy, will hold an Open House Sunday, Jan. 8 from 1 to 5 p.m.

Karate, water babies, young tots gymnastics and swimming, aerobics-in-motion, judo, boxing and modern jazz will be demonstrated throughout the afternoon.

The following will be included for those who take out a yearly membership on Open House Day: one free guest pass for a friend; one free water baby lesson if enrolled in class; $5 off aerobic dance class; one free racquetball lesson; and $5 off the adult fitness class.

There will also be display tables on golf, calligraphy, oriental rug making, leaders club, low calorie eating and weight control and resident and day camping. Instructors will be on hand to answer questions concerning these courses.

Professional staff and board members will be on hand to answer any questions and to give tours of the building. The public is invited to attend.

Parents Council Plans Workshop

Registration should be made by Feb. 3 for a two-part Parent Training Workshop, sponsored by the Quincy Parent Advisory Council to special education, to be held Feb. 13 and 27, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Beechwood Community Life Center, 225 Fenno St., Quincy.

The workshop will be provided by the Federation for Children with Special Needs. Topics will include: an overview of the special education laws; chapter 766 and Public Law 92-142; record keeping; assessments; team meetings; understanding your child's education plan; and mainstreaming.

Any South Shore parent or legal guardian of a special needs child is encouraged to attend. Enrollment is limited. For further information or to register for the workshop, call Susan McKeon at 479-7040 or Julia McCarthy at 471-5048.

Text Of Mayor McCauley's Inaugural Address

Two years ago today, on Jan. 4, 1982, I was sworn in as the 30th mayor of the city of Quincy and at that time I noted each Plan A mayor has exactly the same amount of time to effect his programs for the benefit of the city — two years. I promised to use that time wisely and attempt to do the very best for our city and looking back in 1982 and 1983 I think we have accomplished many of our goals.

One of the major problems facing my administration when I took office two years ago was a continuing deteriorating state of the city's finances. In the six fiscal years preceding my taking office, the years 1976 through 1981, the city experienced revenue deficits to the amount of some $13.9 million. This and other adverse factors contributed to a decline in the city's credit rating from a respectable double A, which the city enjoyed for many years, to a BA, which is one of the lowest credit ratings in the state.

I'm pleased to announce this morning that we have eliminated those revenue deficits and the city in fiscal 1982 and 1983 was in a surplus position.

Early in 1982, concerned about the large amounts of uncollected real and personal property taxes, my administration initiated a comprehensive program to collect those taxes. I am pleased to note that at the conclusion of my first two year term, over $3.2 million was collected. That's an increase of some $2.1 million, or a 190 per cent increase over the preceding two years. This program will be ongoing during my second term of office.

On Dec. 1, I met members of my administration with representatives of Moody's Investment Service, who rate and evaluate the credit standing of the cities and towns in this country. We presented to Moody's some very positive factors and I'm hopeful that when Moody's finishes their evaluation of the city's credit rating that we will be able to announce within the next 90 days an increase in that rating.

Two years ago I noted that one of the more important ex officio positions that goes with the office of the mayor of the city of Quincy is that of chairman and voting member of the School Committee. I promised to be a very active chairman. I promised to attend all the meetings and to work very closely with both School Committee and the members of the school administration. I believe I've kept that promise. Of the 47 meetings held for School Committee in 1982 and 1983, I attended 46 of those meetings. That's an attendance of some 97.8 per cent. And while it might not be a record it's a damned good average. I worked very closely with all the members of the School Committee and Dr. Crendon's office.

School enrollment two years ago stood at some 10,952 students, down from the peak enrollment in 1971 of 17,080 students. Over the past two years this decline in enrollment has continued so today we have some 9,671 students in our system. We anticipate a further decline so that when the schools open in the fall of 1984 we will have approximately 9,100 students in our school system. This large reduction in pupil enrollment over the past two years enabled us to reduce school expenditures by some $500,000. However, after meeting with Dr. Crendon concerning the 1985 school budget, I have directed him to retain this $500,000 within the school budget and to present recommendations to the School Committee at budget time as to how this money would be spent. Dr. Crendon indicates preliminarily that he would be channeling this money into learning materials. We will be presenting to the School Committee a budget of some $25.9 million early on in February.

FRANCIS X. MCCARTHY reviews the events of his first two years as mayor during his inaugural address for his second term.

This week Hospital Corp. of America, one of the largest hospital management firms in the country, starts its fourth year as the professional manager of City Hospital. Some six months after taking over the hospital on July 1, 1981, state legislation went into effect that in effect divorced the finances of the hospital with those of general city government and that in the past two years I'm very pleased to report that we've had very positive results with the so-called enterprise account. In both years the hospital finished substantially in the black and created a surplus of over $1 million for future hospital use.

One of my first actions upon taking office as mayor in January, 1982, was to grant HCA's request to present a determination of needs to proper state authorities for construction of a new Quincy City Hospital facility. I'm pleased to note that, that determination of need was approved by the state in June, 1983, and preliminary plans are ongoing for a new hospital.

Working with Hospital Corp. of America is a nine member board of managers, comprised of Quincy residents, subject to appointment by the mayor. Some three of those appointments have expired this week and tomorrow I will be announcing the appointment of three Quincy residents to serve on that board in the years ahead.

Looking ahead to 1984, one of the major tasks confronting the City Council and the Mayor is the completion of the revaluation program for the city of Quincy that was started in November, 1979. We're hopeful that by the end of this month, final certification for full fair cash value figures will be made by the state. It then becomes the task of the Mayor and the City Council to implement a plan of classification of property for tax-rate setting purposes.

Classification was adopted by the voters of the Commonwealth as a constitutional amendment at the election held on Nov. 7, 1978. Of the voters of Quincy expressing an opinion on classification, some 29,059 voted "yes" while some 6,338 voted "no". That was a margin of 82 per cent in favor. Subsequent state legislation placed the responsibility for setting the various classification rates with the office of the Mayor and the City Council. I think it's important that we devise a plan that is not only favorable not only to homeowners but also to the business and commercial interests. And while it is the responsibility of the City Council to set the rates, subject to the approval of the mayor, once the figures are finalized I will be making a recommendation to the City Council, and I'm hoping that working together we can have an equitable plan of classification.

Some three years and two months after its overwhelming adoption by the voters of Quincy and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, I am able to report this morning that Proposition 2½ is alive and well in the Commonwealth. It is no secret that the city of Quincy was one of the hardest hit communities. In fiscal years 1982 and 1983 we were required to cut the full 15 per cent of the tax levy. That amounted to some $18,810,639 and that's not approximately, that's exactly. To complete our requirements for Proposition 2½, when the final figures for revaluation come down, we will be required to cut an additional $3.2 million from our levy. That will make total cuts over three years of some $22 million. When you relate this cut to the tax levy in fiscal 1981, the year immediately preceding Proposition 2½, you will note the tax levy has been reduced some 33 per cent and that's a substantial reduction in the property tax burden on our homeowners and business people in the city of Quincy.

We were able to effect those cuts and meet the requirements of Proposition 2½ by some very hard work at the local level. Largely through the efforts of the City Council, the School Committee and the office of the Mayor, we had to cut budgets back; we had to lay off personnel in some departments; we reduced the personnel staff in other departments through attrition. But we would not have been able to meet our requirements for Proposition 2½ and still maintain an acceptable level of city services had it not been for increased amounts of financial aid from both the state and the federal government. In the past three years the city of Quincy has received substantial amounts of additional local aid from the state and I would like to take this opportunity this morning to thank those members of the legislative delegation to the great and general court for their efforts on our behalf. Sen. Paul Harold, Rep. Thomas Brownell, Rep. Robert Cerasoli and Rep. Michael Morrissey all worked very hard up on Beacon Hill to insure the fact that the people who were effecting the local aid formulas were aware of the peculiar problems that were faced by the city of Quincy. They did their job extremely well and on behalf of the people of Quincy, I would like to publicly thank them.

We also received in the operation of our city government funding from the national level. Two programs have channeled many millions of dollars into the city of Quincy over the past few years. We have been receiving some $2 million federal general revenue sharing monies. These monies have gone to offset personal services costs in our Police and Fire Departments. We also have been receiving some $2 million, a little more than $2 million in some years, from the Community Development Block Grant monies. These federal monies are administered by the Department of Planning under the direction of the mayor and the City Council and they have gone into many worthwhile and necessary neighborhood programs, programs that we could not have financed with local monies because of the dictates of Proposition 2½. I'm very pleased and honored this morning that Cong. Brian Donnelly of our district is with us. Brian has provided yeoman service, has been very sensitive to the needs of the city of Quincy. Both of the programs that I have just mentioned expired at the close of the fiscal federal year Sept. 30, 1983 and due to Brian's efforts and the efforts of other members of Congress, those two programs have been renewed for three more years so we can count on an acceptable level of federal funding from those two sources in the next three years.

Two years ago I noted that economic development was important for city of Quincy for two basic reasons — the jobs that it creates and the tax revenue that it generates. I'm pleased to report this morning that economic development is going very well in the city of Quincy.

Two projects that we announced early during my administration in 1982 are now in effect coming off the drawing boards and getting closer to reality. On Wednesday, Dec. 28, the Duane Co. transferred title to some 12.8 acres of land in the Quincy Point section at the foot of River St. to the Ricciardi Co. The Ricciardi Co. is a local development firm headed by Paul Ricciardi Sr. and his sons, Stephen and Paul Jr. Within one month, construction will begin on the first phase of a housing complex that will produce some 300 units of housing, both rental and condominiums. Total project cost, some $14.5 million.

In our Southwest section of Quincy, the so-called Crown Colony project continues on line. That's based on 177 acres located at the juncture of Routes 3 and 128, bounded on one side by those roads and on the other side by the new South Quincy MBTA station. We expect that over a period of 10 years, some $500 million of development will be effected in this location, making this the single largest development project in the city.

Economic development continues in our downtown area. Early in 1983 the Frank Evans Co. purchased the Dimmock Building at the corner of Dimmock and Hancock Sts. That property was abandoned and boarded up some two years ago. Mr. Evans is spending $1.8 million completely renovating the project and when that is completed there will be some 22,000 square feet of office space available.

I'm pleased to announce this morning that directly across from the Dimmock Building, at the corner of Hancock St. and Whitney Rd., which has been the site of a gas station for many years, a new development will take place; a four-story office building is planned and will be under construction shortly. The developers expect to spend $1.9 million on that site and they will have 21,600 square feet of office space for rent. These two projects on the northern rim of our downtown area will create some 300 additional jobs.

Later on this morning, my office will be announcing the location in the city of Quincy a major retail store outlet. And while this store outlet will not be in the confines of downtown Quincy it will be only a few minutes from downtown in a very easily accessible area. A group of developers have purchased an existing building and plan to spend some $1.5 million on this particular project. In addition to the retail store there will be another store on this site. Target date for completion is August of 1984 and we expect that this project will create an additional 200 to 225 jobs in our city.

While much has been done in the downtown area, much remains to be done. Some 4½ years after Sears Roebuck left Quincy to go to Braintree Plaza, that store, despite our best efforts, remains empty. We also have an area in our downtown that is badly in need of upgrading. That's the area not far from here, bounded by the Bargain Center and the Saville Ave.-Faxon Ave. roads. During my next administration I will be giving careful attention to both of these projects.

As I include my remarks this morning and I look around here at the dais, we have all the members of the City Council, all the members of the School Committee. We're also honored to have Brian Donnelly and members of our state legislative delegation. And this will probably be one of the only times in the two years life of this administration that all these people, elected officials, will be all together under one roof. But while we may not be physically together I'm confident that we will all be working together for the best interest of the city of Quincy.

Those of us who hold elective office are politicians, whether we like that term or not and the basic business of politicians is people. We are in the people business. And if through our combined efforts over the next two years we make the city of Quincy a little better place to work and to live and to visit, we make our state and our country a little better place to live and to visit.

I've enjoyed very much being the mayor of the city of Quincy in 1982 and 1983. I think we've had a good two years. I'm looking forward to working with all the elected officials as mayor during 1984 and 1985. We thank you again for coming this morning and thank you for your kind attention.

Public Library Gets $42,000 State Grant

The State Board of Library Commissioners has awarded the Quincy public library an incentive grant of $42,371.50 for fiscal 1984

despite the fact that the Quincy library is not open the required number of hours per year.

The Board noted that the Quincy library is open 61 hours a week while the state standard is 63 but as long as Quincy was within 90 percent of meeting the requirement the award would be made anyway.

Sheets: 'We Must Continue To Seize The Initiative'

Here is the text of Councillor James A. Sheets remarks Tuesday morning following his election as 1984 Council President:

George Orwell has forever set aside 1984 as a special and very unique year. The classic novel "Nineteen Eighty-Four" was an instant success. However, if we measure Orwell's vision of 1984 against the reality of 1984, we find he has substantially missed the mark.

However, 1984 remains a unique and significant year for Quincy as well as the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, in reality it marks the end of the last year to comply with Proposition 2½. As readers reflect on the impact of Orwell's "Nineteen Eighty-Four," perhaps we should reflect on three years under Proposition 2½.

No city in the Commonwealth has been more impacted by 2½ than Quincy. To be sure, the tax rate has gone down. But for more than 750 men and women who directly or indirectly lost their jobs — some after 20 years of service in the city — although the pain and heartache might be gone, the scars remain.

Yet Quincy has survived. But, in my opinion, the great future impact of Proposition 2½ is not the limitation it places on revenue, but the danger that it will limit our enthusiasm for progress, to impoverish our spirits, impair our vision, and impose limitations on our creative genius. We must not allow self-imposed mediocrity of accomplishment in the future nor must we allow ourselves to continually use Proposition 2½ as an instant excuse for what we do not have the will to accomplish.

Surely we fail in leadership — if our goal is simply to keep our public school doors open. For we bankrupt the future of our youth and our city if we fail to provide the human, fiscal and planning resources to ensure that our children will be educationally competitive as they move into the 21st century.

Surely we fail in leadership — if we are simply satisfied to provide a new Quincy Center Plaza and better parking facilities and ignore the true and complete revitalization of the entire downtown shopping area.

Surely, we fail in leadership — if our goal is to simply balance the books at the end of each fiscal year and consider the job well done. For the people of Quincy want a vibrant, healthy, pulsating city with people saying "Quincy is the place to be and Quincy is where it is happening."

The creative effort that produced a new system of validated parking and the Quincy Plaza Center — the vision that changed the history of Quincy City Hospital and Quincy Junior College — must not be allowed to grow dim. We must continue to seize the initiative — we must not see the future as simply a time to hold in, but a time to build and a time to expand. We must not allow the future to possess us, but we must indeed possess the future.

In a sense, I am an immigrant to this city, just as many of our parents and grandparents were immigrants to this great country. Many of them left their homeland to escape political, economic and social depression and oppression. I left the coal fields of Pennsylvania to escape working where the sun would never shine and the rain never fall. A place which cost my father his life.

In 1953, with $37.00 in my pocket, after a 650-mile Greyhound Bustrip, and my first ride on the MBTA, I dragged three large and heavy suitcases up Hancock Street.

Today, 30 years later, I have proudly taken the oath of office as President of the Quincy City Council. This warm and wonderful city embraced me with the arms of opportunity and hope.

My message this morning is simply this — Quincy's arms of hope and opportunity are still wide open and reaching to the future. The limitations imposed by Proposition 2½ should serve to challenge us and to set our creative energies free.

Problems remain — our bay and many of our homes remain polluted with sewage; flooding is still extensive in many parts of our city; our school system still reeks from the hammer-like blows of the past three years; and downtown Quincy, the heart and soul of this city in part still remains stagnated and inert.

I believe we can make this city exactly what we want it to be. Whether we have the courage to risk, the vision to plan, the strength to build and the determination to set aside old political grudges and suspicions — only the future will tell.

But it is to this task we turn anew today. In cooperation with the Mayor and with faith in ourselves and faith in each other I'm sure we will be successful.

Picard: 'State Should Provide Funding For New Programs'

Here is the text of remarks by Joan Picard following her election Monday as vice chairman of the School Committee:

To my colleagues on the Quincy School Committee may I say thank you for the honor you have bestowed upon me and the confidence in me. I shall strive to merit both.

Six years ago I sat where Mr. Stephen Durkin sits as a freshman School Committee person and may I, as my first official duty, welcome Steve to the School Committee and pledge to him my help and support as he begins his work as a school board member.

Back then in 1978, my hope was to make a good school system better. Naturally, I had some ideas on how I would accomplish that. Little did I know, did any of us know that the next six years would turn out to be the single most difficult period in the history of the Quincy Public Schools.

Progress and growth all but stopped as all of us were forced by circumstances and reality to deal with the issues of declining enrollment, budget cuts, the closing of schools, massive layoffs, school reorganization and probably the worst of all a loss of public confidence in public schools.

I have learned about being a School Committee member the hard way during difficult times and, hopefully, this is all in the past.

The future of public education, not only in Quincy but across the nation, is bright, bright because it is the focus of national attention. Government officials at all levels have become actively involved in school matters. Their involvement is not just to criticize but also to offer suggestions and proposals in strengthening the public schools.

In a very important way, a challenge and an opportunity has been given to local school committees. The time-honored American tradition of local control of education has been reaffirmed from the president of the United States down. Certainly I support autonomy as does every member of this School Committee.

Educators refer to 1983 as the year of the reports and certainly it has been that. Now the challenge is to study the reports and develop an appropriate plan of action for the Quincy public schools.

At our last meeting in 1983, the School Committee authorized the superintendent of schools to initiate a communitywide Quincy forum on educational excellence. I'm pleased that we are doing just that and I plan to take an active role in the forum and encourage my colleagues to do so.

At the state level this year, the legislature will consider an unprecedented number of bills, all aimed at strengthening public education. School committees will need to follow the legislative debate very closely and make certain their voice is heard loud and clear on any new laws that are enacted.

To begin with, no new program should be mandated by the state without the state providing the source of funding and local control of schools must be maintained through locally elected committees.

With those few guarantees then, all of us can work together to strengthen the public schools and thus meet the challenge of the future.

The past six years have not been pleasant ones for school committees and not for public education in general. However, if the difficult times had to be, I am pleased to have lived through them and learned from them.

Now I look forward to working with all concerned toward making a good school system a better one. Thank you.

3 To Hospital Board

Mayor Francis X. McCauley announces the appointments of Helen I. Cook, Stanley R. Dennis and Stephen C. Ricciardi to the City Hospital Board of Managers.

Mrs. Cook and Dennis were named to five years terms and Ricciardi to fill an unexpired four year term.

Mrs. Cook and her husband, Burton, are co-owners of Tags Furniture store in downtown Quincy and is a member of the Board of Quincy Tourism Association and the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association.

She is also vice president of the Massachusetts Lupus Foundation.

Dennis is a certified public accountant with offices in Quincy and an associate professor of accounting at Suffolk University.

Ricciardi is associated with his father, Paul, and his brother, Paul Jr., in the Ricciardi Co., a development firm headquarters in Quincy.

He is past president of the Rotary Club of Quincy and a member of the board of directors of the Salvation Army.

Mildred Trout Named To Aging Council

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has appointed

Mildred Trout of 180 Whitwell St., a retired nurse, to fill a three-year unexpired term on the Council on Aging.

Mrs. Trout, who served on the City Hospital Board of Managers for four years, recently retired as charge nurse at City Hospital after serving for 14 years on Hunting One.

She is director of tours for the Penn's Hill Senior Citizens.

Miller Optimistic As North Opens League Season

The North Quincy boys' basketball team completed a busy non-league schedule with a 3-2 record and a win over rival Quincy.

Coach Eddie Miller felt his Raiders were ready to open their Suburban League season last night (Wednesday) against Waltham.

North will play at Brookline Friday night at 7:30 and will host Brockton Tuesday at 7, both league games.

The Raiders edged Quincy, 68-65, last Friday night in the consolation game of the first Weymouth South Christmas Tournament. Quincy is coached by Rick DeCristofaro, Miller's assistant the past three years.

North led virtually all the way but couldn't pull away from a determined Quincy squad, which stayed within striking distance throughout.

Chris Bunker paced the Raiders with 15 points and Paul Ryan had 11. Bunker was named North's Most Valuable Player of the tournament.

Earlier in the week North had lost 68-65 squeaker to Weymouth North in the first round of the tournament.

Weymouth outscored North, 22-7, in the second quarter but had to hold off a second half rush by the Raiders to pull out the victory.

Ryan led all scorers with 22 points, Sal Barresi had 15, Kenny Runge 12 and Bunker 11.

"We played some good ball during the non-league schedule and I feel we are ready for a tough Suburban League schedule," Miller said. "The boys showed a lot of poise in both the Weymouth tournament games, making a fine comeback in the first game after a bad second quarter and playing a steady game in the consolation to hold off Quincy, which played an excellent game.

"I don't know how we will do in the league, as we are the smallest school and are going to face some awfully tough veteran teams. But we have a fine group of boys who won't give up and I don't think anyone will embarrass us."

SUFFOLK UNIVERSITY'S Patti Stanziani of Quincy has retained her title as Mass. Association of Intercollegiate Athletics For Women (MAIA) Div. 3 first singles state tennis champion. Stanziani, a senior majoring in sociology, defended her title by defeating her first seeded opponent, Lisa Resendez of Emmanuel 6-1, 6-4, in the finals at Pine Manor College. Stanziani, seeded second, had first won the Division 3 singles crown last fall at Endicott College.

Presidents Find Going Rough

New Quincy boys' basketball coach Rick DeCristofaro is finding the going rough as the Presidents were only 1-5 going into their first Suburban League game last night (Wednesday) against Newton North.

Quincy will be idle Friday and will play at Waltham Tuesday night at 7 o'clock.

The Presidents turned in one of their better performances last Friday before losing to rival North Quincy, 68-65, in the consolation game of the first Weymouth South Christmas Tournament.

The Raiders trailed most of the way after taking an early lead, but were always within striking distance but couldn't quite catch up.

Denis Downing led the Presidents with 13 points and Sean Foster had 10.

Earlier in the week Quincy had lost to Weymouth South, 62-51, in the first round of the tournament.

Daron Tucker led the Presidents with 11 points, Bill Shaughnessy scored nine and Foster and Downing eight each.

Shaughnessy was selected as Quincy's Most Valuable Player of the tournament.

"The boys have been playing well in most games despite our record," said DeCristofaro, who had been Quincy coach Eddie Miller's assistant the past three years. "Arlington blew us out (a game played at Boston University as a preliminary to a Terriers' game), but we have been in the other games.

"We have a lot of boys who didn't play last year and they showed a lot of heart in our game against Quincy. I feel confident we will be competitive in the Suburban League, although most of the other schools are far bigger than we are and have a lot of veteran players. I am pleased with the desire shown by our players and I think we can give most of the teams trouble."

Meehan Tri-Captain At Fitchburg

Tricia Meehan, former North Quincy player, is a tri-captain of the Fitchburg State College women's basketball team. This is her second season of play for the Falcons and the first under coach Bill Martino. She is a guard.

Tricia is a "clean" guard, who, of the entire 15-member squad, has had the least number of fouls called against her.

She is an outstanding student athlete who maintains a Dean's List grade point average in her studies. The sophomore is a 1982 graduate of North Quincy and is studying nursing.

Barrett, Kelleher Sparkle For Raiderettes

Freshman Tricia Barrett and sophomore Mary Ann Kelleher continued to shine brightly for the unbeaten North Quincy girls' track team as they won their specialties and also ran with the winning relay team as the Raiderettes defeated Hingham, 57-29, to improve their record to 4-0.

Lou Tozzi's amazing young team will face Weymouth North Saturday at 1 o'clock at MIT and next Wednesday will meet Brockton at 5:30 at Cambridge Rindge and Latin.

Kelleher, who was unbeaten in dual meets during the cross country season, won the 1000 in 2:55.1, and Barrett, beaten only by Kelleher in cross country, won the mile in 5:49.7.

The pair teamed with Laura Ciulla and Meg Leary to win the relay in 4:35.1.

Other North winners were Lisa Fitzgerald, 50-yard dash (6.5); Tracey Corrigan, two-mile (12:25.2); Georgia Traficante, high jump (5-1), and Noreen Connolly, shot put (33-6½).

North Trackmen Show Steady Improvement

The North Quincy boys' track team has a 1-2 record and several of the Raiders have turned in excellent performances.

"Everyone is improving in each meet and compared to last year at this time, we are way ahead of schedule," said Coach Bart Petracca. "Almost everyone has bettered or tied their indoor marks of last year."

The Raiders will face Brockton Saturday at 3 p.m. at MIT and next Wednesday will meet Weymouth South at 3:30 at Cambridge Rindge and Latin.

Leading the North team is senior Jeff Striker, who last year was fifth in the New England 880. "Jeff's ability and desire is phenomenal," said Petracca. "In this event he is the fastest returning runner in the state. He is gearing himself to some record performances in the state meet."

Senior football star Jim Kennedy is getting back in shape and will run the 1000 in the states along with Striker.

Distance runners coming off a long cross country season include junior Scott Coyne, who will run the mile; junior Tom Wildes and sophomores Harry Morash, Andy Barrett and Heath Petracca, also milers.

In the middle distances senior Arthur Collings is one of the top 600-yarders in the Suburban League; senior Tom Kearney, coming off a back injury, who will run anything from the 50 to the 1000, and senior Bill Donnelly and sophomores Trevor Ames and Joe Sweeney round out the promising group.

The sprinters feature football players senior Kevin Kelly, Brian Gibbons and John Delappe. Delappe, who has already cleared 5-10 in the high jump, is also a top high hurdler. Juniors Colin Powers and Joe Bangs and sophomore Bob Alfano will provide strength in the sprints. Other sprinters are newcomers John Tamburi, Roland Berglund, Nguyen Le and Danny Tam.

The shot put is a strong event with Powers leading the team with a 45-foot throw already. Gibbons and Chris Ricciuti also look good.

"The team should prove to be our strongest yet in the years that I've coached," said Petracca. "A possible state indoor title would be fitting for the many fine seniors on the team."

Dearden Hero In Quincy Win Over Malden

Ron Dearden dropped in two free throws at the 21-second mark of the second overtime period to give the Quincy High School basketball team a come-from-behind 57-55 victory over Malden in the opener of the Greater Boston League season.

Dearden also tapped in a basket to deadlock the game 51-51 with 40 seconds left in regulation time and then he got the basket that tied the game once more 55-55 with seconds remaining in the first overtime session.

It was little wonder that Dearden, who led the Quincy scorers with 21 points, was carried off the Quincy gym floor by his teammates and spectators.

NORTH TOPS MISSION

Al Adams, Doug Grutchfield and Bernie Creedon scored 36 points among them to lead the North Quincy High School basketball team to a 55-52 win over Mission of Roxbury, the Raiders' fifth straight victory after losing three of their first four games.

"We are going to have a club that will be slow starting," said Coach John Mullarkey before the season started. "But after we get a few games under our belt we should be all right."

The North Quincy lineup included: Crowley, Rockwell, Grutchfield, forwards; Adams, center; Walsh, Stevenson, Creedon, guards.

WONG STARTS

Dave Wong played the greatest game of his career, rifling in four goals to lead the Quincy High School hockey team to a 5-0 victory over Hingham and regain second place in the South Shore League at Boston Arena.

There was a possibility that the Presidents would be in first place before long as league officials met at the home of President Bill Cronin to decide if league leaders Columbus must forfeit four games for using an ineligible player.

The Quincy lineup included: Yonnie, Wong, Mattie, forwards; Muir, Belanger, defense; Krabisch, goal; Vient, Zanardelli, spares.

NORTH, POINT WIN

Two free throws by Sonny Scanlon gave North its first lead in the third period and the Baby Raiders went on to whip Central, 27-21 to take over first place in the Junior High School Basketball League.

In the companion game, Al Rapp scored 12 points and Fred D'Allessandro and Paul Vickers had six each as Point overpowered South, 32-21, to tie Central for second place.

SPORTS BITS '55

Dick Diramio was high with 14 points as the Quincy YMCA Juniors basketball team beat St. Joseph's, 58-47 . . . Dick Dempsey of Wollaston was captain of the Boston College hockey team that was fighting for a return trip to the NCAA tournament in Colorado Springs . . . The Boston Red Sox assigned outfielder Don Lenhardt to their Louisville farm in the American Association . . . Norman MacLeod Jr. was elected president of the Leaders Club, a group of boys ages 9 to 14 at the Quincy YMCA . . . Bob Doherty scored 30 points as St. Mary's basketball team of West Quincy defeated St. Mary's of Randolph, 54-51, in CYO Intermediate play . . . Nils (Swede) Nelson, the former Harvard coach, headlined the speakers at the Quincy Knights of Columbus football night program at the Elks Hall . . . Gerry Gherardi in the 600 and John Youngworth in the hurdles were the only North Quincy winners on the Met League track program in the East Newton St. Army in Boston . . . Bob Russell scored 27 points, 22 of them in the second half, as the Quincy Point Congregational David team walloped Haven Methodist in Providence . . . Bob Cousy, Ed Macauley and Bill Sharman of the Boston Celtics were named to play in the NBA all star game Jan. 18 in New York . . . Pvt. Fred J. Prezioso, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luigi Prezioso of 22 Pembroke St., South Quincy, was a member of the 18th Regiment Headquarters Co., basketball team in Germany . . . Larry Doyle, star of the Quincy High School 1950 Tech Tourney champs, scored 44 points to spark the Sandia Air Force Base basketball team to a 74-36 victory over Chief Pontia in Albuquerque, N.M. . . . Sam Mele of the Red Sox and Fleming Mackell of the Boston Bruins were speakers at the Father and Son Sports Night at St. John's Church.

North Swimmers Impressive In Opening Win

Coach Bill Walker felt that, having lost eight seniors who qualified for the state championships last year, this would be a rebuilding year for his North Quincy boys' swim team.

However, one would never know it after the Raiders, young and untired in the freestyle and diving events, opened with impressive wins over Blue Hills Regional and Middleboro.

However, the tough part of the schedule starts today

(Thursday) when the young Raiders host Newton North at 3:30 at the Lincoln-Hancock School pool in their first Suburban League meet. Next Tuesday North will be at Cambridge at 3:30.

"I was thrilled with the early performances of this young team," said Walker. "However, all the Suburban League teams are improved and have many veterans returning. But, if we can develop a sub-2 minute medley relay and a sub-4 minute freestyle relay, we will be tough to beat. Brookline and Brockton still look to be the class of our league."

North's scorers against Blue Hills (North won, 112-61) were, Bert Jenkins, Dan Moriarty, Mike Melanson, Mark Wilkins, Dan O'Sullivan, Rance Gillespie, Robert Plante, Tito Miranda, Dave Stockless, Stephen Mackey, Coulter, Notarangelo Undefeated For Quincy

Co-Captains Dave Coulter and Mike Notarangelo as well as Larry Taglieri remained undefeated as Quincy's wrestling team improved its record to 5-0 last week with an easy 57-12 victory over Braintree.

Tim Cahill's Presidents wrestled at Foxboro yesterday (Wednesday), will compete in the Sanford, Me., tournament Friday and Saturday and will host Brookline next Wednesday at 4 o'clock in their first Suburban League meet.

In the victory over Braintree Dave Southwick won by pin at 107 pounds, Coulter won by pin at 114, Rob Cabezas won by forfeit at 121, Notarangelo won by pin at 128, Taglieri won by pin at 140, John Cacciatore won by pin at 147, Chris Conostas won by a 9-2 decision at 157, Dan McCauley won by pin at 169, Kevin Cabezas won by forfeit at 187 and Chris Connor won by pin in the heavy-weight bout.

North In Frustrating Loss To Brockton

The North Quincy hockey team, after romping to an easy win over Brookline, dropped a frustrating decision to Brockton last Friday and the Raiders were 2 - 3 going against winless Cambridge Rindge and Latin last night (Wednesday).

Kevin Jago's North team will face Quincy for the second time Saturday at 7:50 p.m. at the Youth Arena. The Raiders won the opening game between the cross-town rivals, 7 - 0. North will play at Newton next and Wednesday at 6 o'clock.

Last Friday North led Brockton, 4 - 0, midway in the second period but the Boxers came back with six unanswered goals to pull out the victory.

Scott Messina and Dave Tapper had two goals each for the Raiders.

Earlier in the week the North icemen had pounded Brookline, 9 - 4, as seven Raiders scored.

Keith Smith and Rob Reidy had two goals apiece and Messina, Kevin Tenney, Peter Furtado, John Reinhardt and Tapper had one each.

Quincy's Defense Lets Down

The fears of Quincy hockey coach Bob Sylvia that his President's team would have trouble scoring this season have been borne out but adding to the team's woes has been a bit of a letdown on defense.

The Presidents were walloped by Waltham, 7-0, last Friday, to drop their record to 1-4.

Quincy last night (Wednesday) faced Newton, Saturday will face North Quincy for the second time at 7:50 at the Youth Arena (North won, 7-0, in their first meeting), and next Wednesday will host Brockton at 6:40 at the Youth Arena, hoping to avenge an earlier 3-1 defeat.

Except for the team's only win against winless Cambridge Rindge and Latin, in which it scored seven goals, Quincy has only two goals, one against Brockton and one against Brookline. The Presidents were blanked by North Quincy and Waltham.

Raiderettes Open Suburban League

The North Quincy girls' basketball team opened its Suburban League schedule yesterday (Wednesday) at Waltham with a 2 - 3 non-league record.

Paul Bregoli's Raiderettes will host Brookline, the pre-season league favorite, Friday at 5 p.m. and next Tuesday will play at Brockton at 5 p.m.

The North girls defeated Natick, 52 - 39, last Thursday as they came back from an early deficit on the inside baskets of Chris Donovan and a 15-foot jump shot by sophomore Jean Welch. Mary Holleran hit a short jump shot at the buzzer as the Raiderettes trailed, 9 - 8, at the quarter.

North's defense completely shut down Natick's offense in the second quarter, allowing only a basket and two free throws while scoring 14 points. Debbie Cavanaugh hit for six points in the quarter and Karen Koski played tough defense, blocking a shot and rebounding well.

North sealed the victory in the third quarter, outscoring Natick, 18 - 6, as Cavanaugh continued her hot shooting with six more points. Karen Runge also had six points in the quarter, while Holleran had two assists and a steal.

Sophomore center Eileen Warren, who scored 19 points in three quarters in the junior varsity, win, was very impressive in the final quarter, scoring seven points, pulling down four rebounds and having a steal. Lynda Feeney and Koski applied a fullcourt press in attempt to get back into the game. Cavanaugh scored 12 points and Donovan had 10.

Earlier in the week, the North girls had lost for the second time to Central Mass. power Fitchburg, 43-30, falling behind, 11 - 4, in the opening quarter. Cavanaugh's two baskets were the only points.

North fell behind by 15 points in the second quarter as it turned the ball over nine times in the first half and shot only six for 21 from the floor. Ann Duggan was the main weapon as she hit for six points while sophomore Runge had three points in the second quarter.

The Raiderettes' poor shooting continued in the third quarter as Holleran hit for the only basket and North trailed, 31 - 18, going into the final quarter.

North shot three for 17 in the finale with Duggan, Feeney and Sandra Whitehouse scoring the only baskets.

Duggan led the attack with nine points and Holleran had seven. Runge was the leading rebounder with 12.

McConville Freshman On Curry Basketball Team

Kate McConville of Quincy is an outstanding freshman prospect on the Curry College women's basketball team, which will play a strong 20-game schedule this winter.

Richard Kelly of Abington, whose Abington High girls compiled a 169-20 record, is the new coach at Curry.

The men's team also has a new coach, Brian Buckley of Quincy, who was the highly successful coach at Quincy Junior College for the past five years.

Quincy Choral Society Resumes Rehearsals

The Quincy Choral Society, following three successful performances of its Christmas concert at North Quincy High School and the National Fire Protection Association, will resume rehearsals Monday Jan. 9. Rehearsal will begin at 8 p.m. at East Congregational Church, Milton.

The chorus will begin work on two pieces for its April concert with the Quincy Symphony Orchestra.

Conductor Robert E. Brown has chosen Arthur Honegger's "King David" and Roy Harris's "Folk Song Symphony" as the works for this concert. Area male singers are invited to join the choral society for the second half of the season.

The chorus, now in its third year, has members from nine local cities and towns, primarily Quincy and Milton.

Men who are experienced in choral singing and would like to become a member of the Choral Society should attend the rehearsal Jan. 9, and meet Conductor Brown.

'Aerobics In Motion' At YMCA

The South Shore YMCA, Quincy, will offer its "Aerobics in Motion" classes to both members and non-members beginning the week of Jan. 9.

The 12 week program provides for the development of agility, coordination, balance, and flexibility.

Classes are taught by trained instructors.

The class schedule: Monday and Wednesday, 9:30 a.m. - 10:30 a.m.; Monday and Wednesday, 6:30 p.m. - 7:30 p.m., advanced; Tuesday and Thursday, 6:30 p.m. - 7:30 p.m., beginner.

Pre-registration is required and may be done at the "Y" front desk. Class size is limited, so those interested should sign up now.

WEEK OF: JANUARY 5

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19

Be alert to friend or neighbor who starts to cramp your style. Recent financial setback shows sure signs of reversal. Sports activities are spotlighted on weekend.

PISCES - February 20-March 20

More precision in writing style helps you attain career or other goals. In love matters, intuition is keen. Friendship and business blend well on the weekend.

ARIES - March 21-April 20

Romantic involvement requires careful planning - you don't want to coast this week. Older relatives are lively company and help you make career or education decision.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22

Armed-minded streak surfaces, check calendar frequently, being careful not to overlook. Taste is impeccable and eye for bargains is sharp - take advantage of post-holidays sales.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21

Financial matters are potentially bright this year, but planning is all important, organize budget in the early days of '84. For romance's sake, be articulate, not vague.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

Year ahead focuses on love and romance, but this week your favorite friend is preoccupied. Not to worry - there are hobbies to discover, skills to sharpen, resolutions to make.

LEO - July 23-August 22

Social plans undergo revision through the week, and travel detours are a way of life now. But new romance or renewed romantic commitment is accented in a quite significant way.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22

You're a magician at fixing injured relationships, including your own. Financial ups and downs show signs of stabilizing. Communication breakdowns slow you up after the weekend.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22

Romantic slump is temporary, so long as you realize its true cause. Health-improvement plans require commensurate foundation. Children influence immediate plans.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21

Watch tendency to give unsolicited advice. Funds arrive from surprise sources. Career challenges arrive in batches. Redecorating and renovating are current strong points.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22

Recent romantic setback is dramatically reversed when you realize that compromise is the key. Modest financial gains are steady through the week. Avoid making snap decisions.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20

Week is outstanding for making professional contacts. In personal relationships, you're too practical for your own good. Less traditional approach helps ease the strain.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

An action-oriented person, you always take positive steps to correct or improve circumstances. Most matters - financial or otherwise - you handle with a businesslike approach. Current relationships are enhanced in a year that spotlights commitment and self-improvement.

BORN THIS WEEK

January 5th, actor Jean-Pierre Aumont, 6th, actress Bonnie Franklin, 7th, actress Butterfly McQueen, 8th, singer David Bowie, 9th, actress Susananna York, 10th, singer Rod Stewart, 11th, actress Eva Le Gallienne.

Job Training Group Get $1.5 M Grant

The South Coastal Career Development Administration in North Quincy has received a federal grant of $1,559,428 to implement the new Job Training Partnership Act program.

The South Coastal area consists of Quincy and 21 towns as far south as Plymouth and Middleboro under Director Paul Ricca, whose office is at 11 Hayward St., North Quincy.

A $1.8 million office building on the site of the Dimmock Building, at Dimmock and Hancock Sts., which was purchased in 1983 by the Frank Evans Co.

A four-story office building, expected to cost

McCauley reminded his audience that the last year of Proposition 2 1/2 cuts will be in fiscal 1985 when some $3.2 million has to be cut from the tax levy.

"That will make total cuts over three years of some $22 million," he said. "When you relate this to the tax levy in fiscal 1981, you will note the tax levy has been reduced 33 per cent."

"That's a substantial reduction in the property tax burden on our homeowners and business people."

McCauley said the reduction of enrollment in Quincy Schools to 9,671 this year and an anticipated 9,100 next fall has resulted in a $500,000 reduction in expected school expenditures.

"After meeting with Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon concerning the 1985 school budget," said the mayor, "I have directed him to retain this $500,000 within the school budget."

"Dr. Creedon indicates preliminarily that he would be channeling this money into learning materials. We will be presenting to the School Committee a budget of some $25.9 million early in February."

Germantown Marine Ki

Quincy Mourner, Honors Hero's Body

By TOM HENSHAW

Flags in Quincy and around the state flew at half staff this week for Cpl. Edward J. Gargano, 21, of Germantown who was killed by a sniper in an attack on the U.S. Marines in Lebanon.

A funeral Mass with a full dress military burial was being planned at St.

Boniface Church but the date and time was uncertain. A post-funeral gathering will be held in St. Boniface Hall.

Marine spokesmen said Gargano's body, escorted by his brother, Robert, an Army private stationed in Germany, would not be home until Friday at the very earliest.

Words of shock and praise for Gargano, who joined the Marines in 1980, came out briefly last spring and then re-enlisted, echoed among his friends in Quincy.

"You couldn't find a better Marine than Eddie Gargano," said Sgt. Daniel Lockhart, the Marine recruiting officer in Quincy, a close friend who kept in touch with him.

Lt. Col. Joseph Ciampa of the Air Force Junior ROTC at Quincy High School recalled Gargano's "two outstanding qualities — loyalty and integrity."

Lloyd Hill, principal of Quincy High School, and Joseph Mezerella, principal of the Vocational School, said Gargano always demonstrated his love of the military life.

"He was dedicated to the ROTC Cadets and the U.S. Marine Corps," they said.

Downtown Development Plan Proposed

By TOM HENSHAW

Architect Paul Donnelly has offered a development plan for downtown Quincy that would place an office building at Cottage Ave. and Chestnut St., convert Cottage Ave. to a pedestrian way and erect a parking garage in the John Hancock parking area.

The concept was presented to members of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association Tuesday night by Donnelly, whose firm, Paul J. Donnelly Architects, were involved in renovation of the Adams and Manganaro Buildings in Quincy Center.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley called the plan "very preliminary. And we are interested in anything that would upgrade the downtown area. We are willing to look at any proposal that comes along."

Donnelly said the plan started when George Montilio, proprietor of Montilio's Bakery at Cottage Ave. and Chestnut St., spoke to him about rehabilitating the bakery into a two-story office building.

Donnelly said he went on to talk to Building Inspector Allan F. MacDonald and gradually the idea of a pedestrian way or mall on Cottage Ave. and a parking garage took shape.

"Cottage Ave. lends itself nicely to a pedestrian way," said Donnelly, "and when you add a parking garage in the parking area it would create a nice situation."

Separate, but important parts of the "situation" would include development of the old Sears building on Hancock St., a new building at the corner of Hancock St. and Cottage Ave., and a South Shore Bank development on Chestnut St. where the former Strand Theater and Quincy Market buildings once stood.

Donnelly said there is a possibility that the city could get a UDAG grant from the federal government to build the garage, which would require the extra development with private funds.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development holds to a current ratio of 8-1 private funds over public in UDAG grants similar to the one that built the parking garage at Granite St. and Burgin Parkway.

Donnelly also offered the possibility of a heliport atop the parking garage.

Kelly Decision Awaited

Special Election Sought To Fill Council Vacancies

Two City Councillors plan to submit a home rule petition at Tuesday's Council meeting that would change the city charter to call for a special election to fill vacancies for Mayor and City Council.

If successful before the State Legislature, the proposed charter change would be on a separate ballot for voters of Quincy in the presidential primary Tuesday, March 13.

Currently, when a seat on the City Council becomes vacant for any reason and at any time, the vacancy is filled by vote of the Councillors.

The question of a Council vacancy came up last week when Ward 1 Councillor Leo J. Kelly was approved by the Federal Government for the $25,138 post of manager of a Quincy housing project.

One of the conditions of his employment is that he resign his Council seat.

Kelly said Tuesday that he will make an announcement of his intentions during the Council meeting Tuesday, April 17.

Meanwhile, Councillors Joanne Condon and John J. Lydon Jr. asked City Clerk John Gillis to prepare a home rule petition for the charter change which reads like this:

"That Section 50A in Chapter 43 that pertains to vacancies in City Council shall be filled by the remaining members thereof for the remainder of the unexpired term be stricken and in place thereof the following should be substituted:

"If a vacancy occurs in the office of the Mayor or City Council before the last 12 months of the term of office, the City Council shall order an election for a Mayor or a member of the Council to serve for the unexpired term.

"This matter should be placed before the citizens of the City of Quincy on a separate ballot at the Presidential Primary to be held on March 13, 1984."

Condon and Lydon said they feel that "an election is the only way to properly represent the citizens of Quincy rather than an

Sheets Backers Win Key Council Posts

Early supporters of City Councillor James A. Sheets in his quest for the presidency of the 1984 Council have been named to chair key committees for the upcoming sessions.

Richard J. Koch Jr. was named by Sheets to head the Finance Committee, Patricia Toland the Ordinance Committee and Theodore P. DeCristofaro the Public Works Committee.

Joseph L. LaRaia was selected to chair the Downtown and Economic Development and Koch was given a second chairmanship of the Public Safety Committee.

All five of those committees are committees of the whole, meaning that they are important enough so that all nine members of the City Council sit on their deliberations.

Joanne Condon, who voted "No" to Sheets bid for the presidency, and Leo J. Kelly, who was not one of Sheets early supporters, were named to chair lesser committees of the whole.

Condon was given the Oversight Committee and Kelly the Committee on Disposal and Sanitary Problems.

Named vice chairman of those committees were;

LaRaia, Finance; John J. Lydon Jr., Ordinance; Kelly, Public Works; Lydon, Oversight; LaRaia, Disposal and Sanitary; Kelly, Downtown and Economic; and Toland, Public Safety.

Stephen J. McGrath, who chaired the powerful Finance Committee in the 1982-83 Council received minor chairmanships of the Tourism, Public Transportation and Veterans' Services Committees.

Lydon, the outgoing President of the Council, was named to head the Senior Citizens Activities Committee, the Youth Committee and the Committee on Post Audit.

Condon chairs the Rules and Pensions Committees, DeCristofaro the Public Parks and Recreation Committee, LaRaia the Woman Injured As Car Hits Store

A 26-year-old Quincy Point woman seriously injured Monday afternoon when she was struck by a car and pinned against the wall of the CVS store on Southern Artery.

Mary DuLong of 81A Pond St. was in stable condition in the intensive care unit at City Hospital where surgeons had to amputate a part of her right foot.

Police identified the driver of the car as Ralph Faulkner, 84, of 1000 Southern Artery, who told them his foot slipped from the brake to the accelerator when he started his car.

Police said a witness told them the car at first started backwards at a high rate of speed, then stopped and went forward, jumped the curb and struck Ms. DuLong.

Morrissey, Lydon Gillis Has Reservations About Seek Parking Drivers 'Last Drink' Report Alternatives

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey and City Councilor John J. Lydon Jr. have met with developers to discuss alternatives to the proposed temporary relocation of the entrance to the parking lot opposite Holbrook Rd. in North Quincy.

Lydon has requested that the parking lot be closed in the interest of public safety during the construction on a building on the site by the Dickinson Development Group.

The developers agreed to an on site study of Morrissey's suggestion that an alternative entrance to the parking lot be located under the ramp from Newport Ave. to West Squantum St.

Morrissey, Lydon, Dickinson and the North

Quincy MBTA parking lot concessionaire were scheduled to meet again today (Thursday) to review the results of the study.

Both Lydon and Morrissey stressed the public safety aspect involved in opening up the Holbrook Rd. entrance, especially the safety of children who use the walkway over the MBTA tracks.

"Steps must be taken to insure their safety, especially where cars may be turning into the lot and backing up onto Newport Ave.," he said.

Morrissey suggested an investigation of the current traffic signalization at the Holbrook Rd. intersection to see if it would adequately protect pedestrians if the entrance is used.

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The Quincy License Board was sent a list of some 30 local establishments named by convicted drunken drivers as the places where they had their last drinks before they were arrested.

But board chairman John Gillis said he has reservations about the report because the establishments named were not given a chance to defend themselves.

The local establishments were among 75 in six communities on a list released by Andrew Klein, chief probation officer at Quincy District Court.

Board members voted to send a letter to Dist. Atty. William Delahunt's office, which also received the report, requesting that he inform them what action he intends to take against the liquor establishments named in the report.

"What bothers me," said Gillis, "is that when you go to an establishment, you become friends with the establishment."

"If you are caught driving drunk and they ask where you had your last drink, you're not going to name that establishment. You're not going to get that club involved."

JOHN GILLIS

"I think you would try to protect your friends. You could say anywhere."

"And the owner hasn't had his day in court."

"It's hard to accuse someone without the accused being there to defend themselves."

Police Chief Francis Finn said that Liquor Officer Det. Robert Miller visited the owners, managers or bartenders of each of the 30 establishments.

Miller had them acknowledge in writing that they had read and understood the report, and warned that they would be watched closely in the future, Finn said.

Heath Comm. Dr. M. Grace Hussey said she thought it was a good idea to be aware of the alleged violations.

She said she agreed with the steps being taken by the board.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald said that according to the Safety Council, 50 per cent of fatal accidents involve liquor, MacDonald said a coroner's report puts that figure as high as 90%.

"I hope the D.A. brings this to a satisfactory conclusion," said MacDonald, "if not, the board will do everything it can to investigate it and bring it to a conclusion."

Pizza Shop Request Denied By Board

The License Board voted Tuesday to deny a request for transfer of the common victualer license for Duck's Soup, 698 Hancock St., Wollaston.

The request was denied after opposition from Ward Councilor Stephen McGrath, residents of the area and board members.

Atty. George T. Stavropoulos represented applicant Nicholas Lefas who applied for a license to sell pizza and other items seven days a week, from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m.

City Clerk John Gillis, who is board chairman, noted that the license granted to current owner Mrs. Anne Lindberg was for limited lunch and supper time hours of 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.

Gillis also said there is a problem with parking in the area which already has several pizza shops.

Councilor McGrath said he opposed the license transfer because the type of business doesn't belong in the area, traffic congestion problems exist, and hours would be extended.

McGrath gave the board a petition signed by 85 residents of the area opposed to the request.

"It was a very low-key operation," said Building Inspector Allan MacDonald, "a pizza shop is another ball game."

Stavropoulos said that the extended hours would be during off-peak times, but the board voted to deny the license.

"Find a better location and better parking," advised Police Chief Francis Finn.

PUBLIC INFORMATION MEETING ON NARROWING OF HARBOR WASTEWATER SITING OPTIONS

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Executive Office of Environmental Affairs will jointly sponsor a Public Information Meeting in Quincy on Thursday January 12, 1984 at 7:30 p.m. in the Conference Room of the Quincy City Hall. The purpose of the meeting is to get public comment on the engineering consultants' recommendations that the eighteen major wastewater facilities siting options be narrowed down to six which should be studied further. The recommendations have been made as part of the Supplemental Draft Environmental Impact Statement on the siting of wastewater treatment facilities in Boston Harbor.

Four of the six options recommended for further study would discontinue use of Quincy's Nut Island for treatment and turn it into a headworks for screening and dewatering only. Although all of the options continue use of Deer Island for primary or secondary treatment, major new treatment facilities at Long Island are recommended in two of the options.

For more information on the meeting, please contact Ann Jacobson, Public Participation Coordinator, at 451-3602.

New drug that dissolves gallstones has been approved by the Food and Drug Administration. It offers an alternative to surgery for patients who are not a good risk, but it is said to have limited success and may cause serious side effects.

Three-year study in France indicates that aspirin will prevent recurrent strokes in patients who have had a stroke or "little strokes." Lower rate of heart attack was noted, too.

Extra calcium supplements seem to lower blood pressure in healthy young adults, according to a report in the Journal of the American Medical Association. Other research findings also point to a correlation between calcium, and lower incidence of cardiovascular disease and high blood pressure.

When a pregnant woman is vaccinated against tetanus, the fetus is protected, too. A clinical study in Pittsburgh showed that the child actually makes its own antibodies.

Stress may cause cavities. So say investigators at Temple University's School of Dentistry in Philadelphia, whose research indicates a correlation between emotional and dental health.

Sheets Urges Caution Filling Quarry

City Council President James A. Sheets says the people of West Quincy are becoming increasingly concerned about plans to drain and fill Swingle's Quarry.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said Tuesday it is likely the city will choose J.F. White Contracting Co. of Newton to work on the quarry where Paul Gooch, 17, of Brockton drowned last summer.

But Sheets said that several facets of the plan are causing concern to residents of West Quincy.

"Swingle's Quarry does not fall within the definition of a wetlands," he said, "and filling the quarry with excavation material takes it out of the category of a landfill operation."

"Therefore, no public meetings are required by law."

Sheets said his constituents have spoken to him about a number of potential problems.

water displaced by filling the quarry?" he asked. "The rise in the water level of Swingle's Quarry occurred concurrently with the filling of water-holding areas for the sanitary landfill.

"The second problem is that the material used to fill the quarry must be excavation material only and not contain any demolition material or rubbish.

"Historically, it has been impossible to govern the materials going in the disposal area. Only a very rigid and enforced system of inspection would ensure that all excavation material would be used.

"The third problem is that if the city proceeds to drain and fill Swingle's Quarry than other quarries under private ownership will also be drained and filled. This will certainly increase our problems of control."

Sheets said he has already brought to the attention of Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson the potential problem of whether or not the city has clear title to Swingle's Quarry.

"It would indeed be unfortunate if we drained and filled Swingle's Quarry and then had a judgement rendered against the city as in the case of the Granite Rail Quarry," he said.

Mayor McCauley said the city plans to keep Sheets' concerns in mind when work on the quarry begins.

"We have no problem with that," he said. "We feel the same way. We want to proceed cautiously. We don't want an adverse impact on West Quincy."

"But we have come this far with the plans and we want to eliminate the problem once and for all."

Parking Lot Robber Sought

Police are seeking a neatly dressed, gray haired man of about 45 who attempted to rob Mrs. Sandra Bradshaw of 139 West St., West Quincy, in the parking lot of the Stop and Shop on Newport Ave., Monday.

Police said Mrs. Bradshaw told them she first spotted the man following her in the aisles of the supermarket. Later, she saw him in the parking lot and he reached into her pocket to steal the contents. Her pocket was torn.

The man was described as about 5-foot-7, 150 pounds and wearing a dark jacket and jeans.

WHAT'S MAKING THIS BOOK A BEST SELLER?

A 7.5 to 9% annual return—without tying up cash for long periods.

A Select Savings Account passbook is becoming a very popular item.

It's not surprising when you consider that a Select Savings Account is a great way to earn high interest that doesn't require an enormous minimum deposit. All you need to open one is a $500 minimum balance, and you earn an annual rate of 7.5% (7.79% effective annual yield)—a lot higher than you could earn on a regular savings or NOW Account. When your passbook balance reaches $1,000, we pay 8% annually (8.33% effective annual yield). At $2,500 you begin earning 9% annually (9.42% effective annual yield).

And no, you don't have to tie up your money forever to get these rates. Just give us 90 days' notice of withdrawal. Otherwise, we're required to impose a penalty of one month's interest for early withdrawal.

The Select Savings Account even allows you to build your high interest account by making as many additional deposits as you like. And, to give you the best return on your money, we compound the interest daily. Interest rates are set monthly. Your principal and interest are fully insured up to $100,000 by the F.D.I.C.

All-in-all, it's easy to see why the Select Savings Account passbook is one of the most popular books around.

To open your account, just call 773-0500 and we'll send you what you need to get started—or stop by one of the 17 conveniently located Bank of New England-Hancock offices today.

Let The People Speak

If you like to keep track of what your elected municipal officials are doing, you can't beat Quincy's Plan A form of government.

It's a model of simplicity: one mayor, six ward councillors, three at-large councillors and six school committee members.

You don't need a scorecard or numerals on their backs to know who's who and what they're doing — or not doing.

Constituents can easily tell whether the officials are doing a good or a bad job. There's very little room for buck passing responsibility.

Plan A, you might say, stands for Accountability. But, the case of Ward 1 Councillor Leo Kelly makes you wonder if the charter doesn't have a serious flaw.

Kelly applied for a $25,138 a year job as Quincy Housing Authority project manager. Last summer he got the nod over 35 applicants.

But could he take the job and remain a city councillor?

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, last week ruled that Kelly can have the job but must leave the City Council.

HUD also waived the ruling that he would have to be out of the council a year before he could accept the post.

Kelly says he had hoped for a full waiver — to be able to take the job and remain in the City Council, too.

But, apparently, he can't have both. He loves being a city councillor but does he love it enough to turn down a $25,138 salary for a councillor's present $6,500?

So, where's the flaw? It's the way his successor will be picked should he give up his council seat.

As of this day, Kelly is exactly nine days into his new term.

And, according to Quincy's Plan A charter his successor will be picked by the eight remaining councillors. Actually by five — a simple majority.

Not by the residents of Ward 1, in a special election. Okay, some will argue, at least the city is spared the cost of a special election.

Saving taxpayers' dollars is always a good argument. But in this case, is it, really?

Consider the fact that, in this case, just five councillors would decide who will fill the Ward 1 council seat for nearly two years.

Nothing personal against any of them, but why should the councillor of Ward 2, Ward 3, Ward 4, Ward 5, Ward 6 or any of the three at-large councillors decide who will represent the people of Ward 1 for the next near two years?

The people should decide — even if a special election costs money.

Actually, it wouldn't cost too much with only Ward 1 involved. City Clerk John Gillis estimates it would run about $5,000 for a preliminary election and $5,000 for a final election.

Gillis, incidentally, thinks the charter should be amended so that the people and not the council elects a successor in the event of a vacancy such as this.

Kelly ran unopposed for re-election. There is no runner-up to be considered for the post.

KELLY

Under the present setup, five of the current eight councillors could pick his successor strictly on a friendship basis.

The charter should be amended. Meanwhile, Councillors Joanne Condon and John Lydon are moving for a home rule petition which would amend the charter pertaining to vacancies in the office of both the mayor and city council.

They would have the charter stipulate:

"If a vacancy occurs in the office of the Mayor or City Council before the last 12 months of the term of office, the City Council shall order an election for a Mayor or a member of the Council to serve for the unexpired term.

That would put it in the hands of the people — where it belongs.

There have been cases in the past when school committee seats have been filled by a joint vote of the council and school committee when a vacancy has occurred as a result of an election.

Like when Francis McCauley while a school committeeman was elected to the City Council at-large and Frank Anselmo was chosen to fill the school committee vacancy in 1978.

And, again, when Patricia Toland as a school committeemember was elected to the council at-large and John Sullivan was chosen to succeed her in 1982.

Both of them, however, had run for the office.

And when Paul Harold was elected state senator and gave up his Council at-large seat in 1979, Joseph Brett was selected to succeed him. He had also run for the council in the previous election and there was only a year left on Harold's term.

In Kelly's case, however, there was no other candidate. And his term is just starting. If he had only a year or a few months to go, it might not matter as much to have the council fill the vacancy.

But two years — or almost two years — is a long time for someone to serve as a ward councillor without the people in that ward having a voice as to who he or she should be.

Some of the councillors who would make that decision would probably rather have the people do it. It's an awkward spot for them to be in.

Someone should look at that charter. A little revision might be in order.

Quincy Quiz

No winners in the Quincy Quiz this week. Each week two Quincy Sun T-shirts and two Quincy Sun bumper stickers are offered as prizes in the Quincy Quiz.

The first two readers, one a mail subscriber, to submit to the Sun office in writing the correct answers to the week's five questions wins a T-shirt. The next two win bumper stickers.

Only one member of a household is eligible to compete in any one week and no one is eligible to win more than three T-shirts.

This week's Quincy Quiz:

1. What is the name of the clerk-magistrate at Quincy District Court?
2. Whom did Leo J. Kelly succeed as city councillor from Ward 1?
3. True or false: Ronald Zooleck is the president of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce.
4. What well-known Quincy business establishment is located at 1402 Hancock St.?
5. Northfield Ave. is located in what section of the city?

Answers to last week's Quincy Quiz:

1. The Rev. J. William Arnold is the senior minister of Bethany Congregational Church.
2. Francis X. McCauley, Joseph J. LaRaia, and Walter J. Hannon were the three future mayors who were members of the 1964-65 City Council.
3. The First Church of Christ, Scientist, is located at 20 Greenleaf St.
4. Quincy Junior College occupies the former Coddington School building.
5. Quarrywood Rd. is located in the West Quincy section of the city.

Praise For Jesse Jackson

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Thomas Aquinas once wrote that "he who wills an end wills the means to that end."

The Reverend Jesse Jackson's recent successful trip to Damascus shows up the hollowness of President Reagan's protestations of peace, as well as the complicity of the Democratic Party leadership in Congress.

In an election year when the fundamental issue is human survival, I am overjoyed to see that there is at least one candidate for the highest office in the land who has the courage, initiative, and humanity to talk instead of shoot, and who has the persuasiveness to achieve something of value through that talking.

I must take issue with Congressman Donnelly's remarks (Quincy SUN, 5 January) that "intervention by private individuals in matters of US diplomacy is 'not the way to go.'"

Neither President Reagan nor House Speaker O'Neill have been able or, I submit, willing to follow a course of action based on negotiations with any perceived adversary, but rather one based on bloodshed and brinkmanship. They embarrass themselves and all of us.

The Reverend Jackson, however, by his action instead of words, evokes pride and hope.

Thinks MBTA Should Do More For Elderly

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

The MBTA needs to do more for the elderly passengers on their buses.

I ride the bus frequently and I have seen quite a few older people fall or have almost fallen because of the high steps on the buses. As many of these people have arthritis or some other affliction and who need help getting up and down the steps of the bus.

I realize the bus driver cannot get up and down to help a person on or off the bus every time but a battery operated or electronic step would be a great help. It would be easier also for a wheel chair instead of struggling to get it up and down the steps.

By doing this procedure it could save time as well as a personal injury suit because one of the passengers fell and got hurt.

A 'Thank You'

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Many thanks for publishing our game stories for the 1983 Quincy Youth Football League season. From our organization, the Quincy Point Panthers, it was especially rewarding for our young athletes to see his or her name in The Quincy Sun. Their accomplishments were seen on the field and in the paper as our team completed an undefeated season.

Special thanks to Tom appointment by nine (sic) city councillors when the unexpired term of office is more than one year."

"Such an appointment," they said in a statement, "should be more than a political appointment and must have someone who has been active, interested and concerned in the welfare of their community and duly elected by the people."

Mayor Francis X. McCauley, a resident of Ward 1 himself, said he did not want to comment on the proposed charter change.

"But I'm not sure at all that it should be changed," he said. "I would have to think about it. One of my concerns would be the cost of a special election."

City Clerk Gillis said such an election in Ward 1 would cost between $4,000 and $5,000.

In the past 10 years, one member of the City Council (Joseph E. Brett) and two members of the School Committee (Frank Anselmo and John Sullivan) were chosen by their peers to fill vacancies.

In each case, the person chosen had been a runner-up in the last election for the job.

"In this case," said McCauley, "there has been no strong runnerup. Kelly has dominated the ward for so long that there is no heir apparent."

Some of those who have been mentioned for the Council seat should Kelly decide to give it up, include:

Businessman Bernard Reisberg; civic activists John Nigro and Michael Cheney; Lawrence Butler, a former member of the Housing Authority; Michael Faherty, a retired state policeman who twice ran for the Council at large; and G. David Fine, a Merrymount insurance man.

Kelly, who is 50 years old and has held the Ward 1 Council post for 10 years, said he plans to discuss the situation with Housing Authority Director John P. Comer and with his supporters.

The Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development, while requiring that Kelly resign from the Council before taking the job, also waived a requirement that he be out of office for a year before taking the post.

Kelly said he hopes a waiver can be granted that would allow him to remain on the Council while serving as manager of Riverview family housing in Germantown and Drohan elderly housing in West Quincy.

Assessors Drive For Personal Tax Collections In City

Quincy assessors began a citywide drive to enforce the collection of personal property taxes by sending out forms to owners of homes valued at more than $10,000 asking them to declare their personal property.

The assessors disclosed the drive after property owners on Crabtree Rd., Squantum, complained that they were being discriminated against when they received the forms at the same time they hired a lawyer to handle their abatement cases.

Chairman Charles F.A. Smith and his associate assessors, Arnold O. Eastman and Larry Antonelli, said the $10,000 cutoff line was selected because it was unlikely that anyone owning a home of less than $10,000 would have enough personal property to tax.

It was the first citywide effort by the city to collect personal property taxes since 1924. Records at City Hall showed that only 25 individuals in the city had been paying personal property taxes in recent years.

$444,895 TO GROSSMANS

The City Council appropriated $444,895 to pay a court-ordered judgement to the Grossman family for damages in connection with the taking of land in downtown Quincy seven years before for the construction of a municipal parking lot.

The action was taken after councillors met behind closed doors with Reuben A. and Joseph B. Grossman to discuss the possible trade of city-owned land for Grossman-owned land in the parking area for the Franklin St. extension.

POLICE CHANGES

City Councillor Carl W. Anderson was named to chair both the Fire and Police Committee and the Special Committee on Police Rules and Regulations and he immediately announced that there would be changes in the way the Police Department did business.

"I intend to urge that the hours of officers, which the chief took it upon himself to change, are returned to the former system," he said. "Legally, only the Council, through ordinance, has the authority to set these hours."

City Mourns Germantown Marine Killed In Lebanon

Gargano, who dropped out of Quincy High School in the 11th grade to join the Marines, kept in touch with school officials and visited often when he was on leave. He received his diploma in service.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley offered the sympathy and condolences of all residents of Quincy to the Gargano family over their loss and Gov. Michael Dukakis ordered state flags to fly at half staff.

Gargano was the first American serviceman killed in Lebanon in 1984 and the 259th to lose his life since the Marines were sent there as a peacekeeping force 17 months ago.

He had served in the invasion of the Caribbean island of Grenada just before he was sent to Beirut in October. He was due to be sent home in 3½ months.

He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gargano of Germantown; three brothers, Robert, who is in the Army in Germany; Timothy of Virginia, and George; and three sisters, Jane of St. Petersburg, Fla., Liz and Lori.

The family lived on Main St. in Quincy Point before moving to Germantown nine years ago.

GOP City Committee To Meet Jan. 18

The Republican City Committee will meet Wednesday, Jan. 18, at 7:30 p.m. at the Wollaston Methodist Church.

One issue to be addressed is the future of all town and city committees considered the single most important factor for the future of the City Chairman Joyce Baker said Massachusetts has become a one-party state and that changes to this situation have to begin at the local grass roots level.

"Individual participation in the political process is the most direct path to change," she said.

Koch Club Donates $3500 On 35th Anniversary

The Koch Club of Quincy completed commemoration of its 35th anniversary year in 1983 by donating $3500, the proceeds of its historical tabloid publication, to seven health agencies.

Contributions of $500 each were made in recognition of the successful three and one-half decades the club has enjoyed as a recreational and charitable organization in the community.

Richard J. Koch, founder and director of the group, listed the following as recipients of the gifts: The Children's Hospital Medical Center, The Jimmy Fund of the Dana-Farber Institute, The Shriners Burns Institute for Children, The Muscular Dystrophy Association, The Raymond D. Adams Institute For The Prevention of Mental Retardation at the Shriver Center, The American Heart Association-Southeastern Massachusetts Division For Research Programs and The American Cancer Society For Research and Education.

Members serving on the 35th Anniversary Committee included Mr. and Mrs. Anthony T. Delmonico, Mr. and Mrs. Howard F. Crowley, Mr. and Mrs. David J. Donaghue, Thomas F. Nestor, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Moody, Mrs. Marilyn Nestor, Mrs. Simone Koch, Mrs. Mina Scanlan and Thomas P. Koch.

To complete its 25th Anniversary activities in 1973, the Koch Club established a $5,000 Permanent Scholarship Fund in Quincy which now totals $14,500, from interest and gifts accumulated.

The Permanent Fund will assume the organization's annual scholarship obligations of the committee commencing on the 50th Anniversary of the Koch Club in May of 1998 and will continue each spring thereafter.

The Active Scholarship Committee initiated in 1959 at North Quincy and expanded since has provided $10,600, in scholarship awards to graduates of the two public high schools in its 25 years of existence and shall continue its program under the direction of its chairman, Anthony T. Delmonico.

On the 30th Birthday Celebration of the Koch Club in 1978, a Permanent Christmas Charity Trust of $5,000 was also initiated in Quincy to assume the charitable aspects of the organization in 1998 on the 50th Anniversary.

The amount has increased to a total of $8500 from interest and contributions.

The active Christmas Charity Committee has recently completed its 28th year of holiday season assistance to the needy and shall continue its annual program with the co-operation of organizations and individuals of the community.

Philip C. Thompson, 37, Boston College Assistant Treasurer

A funeral Mass for Philip C. Thompson, 37, of Milton, formerly of Quincy, assistant treasurer of Boston College, will be held today (Thursday) at 10 a.m. at St. John's Church, Quincy Center.

Mr. Thompson died Monday in Brigham and Women's Hospital, Boston, after a long illness.

Born in Lynn, he lived in Quincy most of his life before moving to Milton a year ago.

A 1964 graduate of Archbishop Williams High School, Braintree, he was also graduated from Northeastern University in 1969 and Suffolk Law Class of 1976 with a Juris Doctorate.

He passed the Massachusetts and Federal Bar examinations that same year.

Mr. Thompson joined the staff of Boston College in January, 1975, as a financial analyst in the financial vice president's office.

He later served as senior business analyst and was appointed treasurer in February, 1980.

PHILIP C. THOMPSON

In this capacity, he was responsible for coordinating the university's investment activities and served as liaison with the College Legal and Bond Counsel.

He was the key force in writing and establishing the Mass. College Student Loan Authority and worked closely with the Association of Independent Colleges and Universities in effecting this legislation.

He was designated the authority's acting executive secretary until the appointment of an executive director.

Mr. Thompson also served as legal advisor to the United Cerebral Palsy Association of the Metropolitan Area and to Domitalia, Inc., a non-profit developer of housing for the handicapped.

He was a member of the Boston and Massachusetts Bar Associations, and served as a Eucharistic Minister at St. John's Church for several years.

He is survived by his wife, Leslie A. (Robinson) Thompson; a daughter, Lisa D. Thompson; two sons, Matthew D. Thompson and Andrew C. Thompson, all of Milton; his mother, Mrs. Irene M. (Holt) Thompson of Brockton; a sister, Mrs. Joseph Duncan of Brockton; a brother, Joseph H. (Jay) Thompson of Middleboro; several aunts, uncles, nieces and nephews.

He was also the son of the late Mr. Joseph L. Thompson.

Visiting hours were scheduled for 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. yesterday (Wednesday) at Wickens and Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams St., Quincy.

Burial will be in Blue Hill Cemetery, Braintree. In lieu of flowers, donations in his memory may be made to the Lupus Clinic, 75 Francis St., Boston.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

"Count your blessings!" How many times have you heard this expression? Many times, I'm sure. . . . It brings to mind the story of the man who wanted to sell his house. He complained about it and decided he did not want to own it anymore. After consulting a realtor, he put it up for sale. The next morning as he read the paper, he came across the advertisement of his house. He called the realtor and said the deal was off. He said, "All my life I have wanted a house like that, and didn't know I owned it until I read the ad in the paper."

How many of us are guilty of this very same thing - failing to count our blessings? We gripe and whine for things we already possess. Many times we overlook such blessings as good health, the blessings of family and friends, and many other countless ones. Besides taking our blessings for granted and failing to count them, we forget to thank the One Who gave us these blessings. How grateful we should be for the things we have! . . . Your comments are always welcome . . .

Planning ahead can offer peace of mind...

It is only human to put things off. But proper planning for the event of one's death can spare a family many traumatic decisions and financial burdens. By pre-arranging the desires and wishes of one's funeral, burial and expenses can be specified to eliminate confusion, differences of opinion and difficult decisions on the part of family members. To ease this burden, we are making available to you FREE a booklet with all necessary information and forms to assist and guide you. Why not visit us or write for your FREE Pre-arrangement Booklet.

Booklet covers the following subjects:

- Funeral and Interment Preferences
- Vital Statistics and Data
- Survivors Information, Social Security, Insurance, Bank Accounts, Real Estate, Automobile, Safety Deposit Box, Savings Bonds, Stocks and Bonds, Retirement Accounts and Veterans Benefits.
- Pre-Arrangement Information
- Three duplicate copies of a Funeral and Interment Pre-Arrangement Agreement.

Media Center of the school.

All parents are welcome to attend.

Breaking up isn't hard to do.

The phone system is all broken up. But you shouldn't be. Because all you have to do is remember that now your phone service is divided into three separate components.

1. Local Service. New England

Telephone will still provide local service, toll calling within your area code, and access to long distance.

2. Long Distance. You can choose a new long-distance carrier or do nothing and continue with AT&T.

3. Equipment and Repairs!

You may buy phones wherever you like. Or lease the phones you now have from AT&T. Whoever provides your phones is responsible for their repair. New England Telephone is responsible for maintaining and repairing phone lines.

New England Telephone customers will find that breaking up isn't hard to do. Because we've made it as easy as 1,2,3.

'Parents As Resident Theologians' At United First Parish Church

United First Parish Church, Hancock St., Quincy Center, will host "Parents as Resident Theologians", a discussion group to help adults clarify their own religious values and translate them into language for youth of different ages.

Included are role playing of discussions with children on subjects such as "where do I come from," "explaining death," and other common issues raised at various ages.

The program is open to all adults interested in articulating their theological concepts and learning to relate them to youth. The program will run for six weeks on either Wednesday or Thursday evenings, depending on which night is preferred by most in the Parish Hall at the church.

Leading the program will be Robert Throne, ministerial intern and seminarian at Andover Newton Theological School. To register or for more information, call the Church at 773-1290.

'The Dividing Line' Sermon At Bethany Church

There will be two worship services Sunday, Jan. 15, in Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Centre.

Services will be held at 9 a.m. in the chapel and at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will preach at both hours. The sermon title will be, "The Dividing Line", based on texts found in 1 Corinthians 1:10 - 19 and Mark 7:24 - 30.

Scripture readers will be Robert Lockwood at the early service, and Jean Ann MacLean at the late service.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will be liturgist at both services.

The chancel choir, under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will sing as the offertory anthem, "The Heavens Are Telling" by Beethoven. Jean E. Bettinson, contralto soloist, will sing, "He Touched Me" by Gaither at the 10 a.m. service.

Sunday Church School will be held from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pupils from preschool through ninth grade. Nursery care is also provided during the 10 a.m. service for babies and small children.

Following the late service, a coffee and fellowship time will be held in Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the church school.

Also this Sunday, there will be a covered dish dinner in the downstairs social hall beginning at 11:30 a.m. The annual business meeting of the congregation will follow at 12:30 p.m. with moderator, Howard S. Willard Sr., presiding.

The agenda will include the membership report and a memorial ceremony for deceased members, reports on properties, finances and endowments, the treasurer's report for 1983, summary of results of the Every Member Visitation and pledges, and the presentation and adoption of the 1984 budget.

Point Cong. Fellowship Visits Cushing School

Some 20 members of the Quincy Point Congregational Church High School Fellowship Group recently visited the Cardinal Cushing School in Hanover for a Sunday evening rock 'n' roll dance.

Over 50 resident students attended.

Associate minister Bill

Harding said, "our young people asked if they could provide an evening of fun and fellowship for kids who were less fortunate than themselves."

"I contacted representatives at the Cardinal Cushing School and we were welcomed with open arms."

"Both groups had a fantastic time. They hated to see us leave."

"We are going back during February. Our kids insisted on it."

"We have some very caring teenagers at Quincy Point Congregational Church."

Drivers Needed For Home Delivered Meals

The home delivered meals program in Quincy is in need of drivers to deliver hot meals to homebound persons 60 years of age or older, Monday through Friday.

Drivers will be reimbursed 20 cents a mile and receive a stipend of $5 per day. The job takes a little over an hour each day and you will be helping your fellow citizens in Quincy who are homebound.

If you can help, even for one day a week, contact Marge Hall or Linda Fitzgibbon at 335-1310 or 383-9790.

Fr. Downey To Lead European Pilgrimage

The Rev. Joseph Downey of St. Joseph's Parish, Quincy Point, announces he will lead a 22 Day Pilgrimage to Europe, departing June 17, via Sabena Belgian World Airways.

The Passion Play at Oberammergau will be included.

The three week vacation Pilgrimage will travel through Europe by motor-coach starting in Brussels, continuing through Germany, Cologne - with a Rhine River trip from Coblenz.

Visits in Germany will include Heidelberg, the Black Forest area, before continuing to Switzerland.

Einsiedeln, Lucerne and then into Bavaria to visit Oberammergau, for the Passion Play, the Benedictine Abbey at Ettal and Garmisch-Partenkirchen.

Driving over the Brenner Pass from Innsbruck, pilgrims will visit Bologna, Verona and Florence before arriving in Rome.

During the stay in Rome, it is expected that the group will be received in special Audience by His Holiness Pope John Paul II.

After leaving Rome, the group will travel along the Italian and French Riviera by way of Pisa and Papallo then to Nice, Carcassonne and Lourdes, famed for the numerous miracles that have taken place at the Shrine where the Mother of Christ appeared in 1858.

Next on the itinerary will be Paris by way of Bordeaux, Poitiers and Tours, with complete sightseeing of the French Capital. The group will return to the United States by way of Brussels via Sabena, July 8.

Those wishing to join Fr. Downey may contact him at St. Joseph's Rectory, 556 Washington St., Quincy, 02169 or Catholic Travel Office, Suite 226, 4701 Willard Ave., Chevy Chase, Maryland, 20815. Tel. (301) 657-9762.

'Evangelism' Squantum Church Sermon Topic

A five-week series of sermons on Christian Evangelism was begun Sunday morning at the First Church of Squantum when church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin preached on the topic, "Whatever Happened to Evangelism?"

The sermon this Sunday will be "How the Kingdom Has Grown!" Other sermons in the series will be "Is Jesus Really the Only Way?", "Declaration of Faith" and "Evangelism Here: When and How."

Greeters were Warren and Marjorie Miller. Donald Frazer led the opening prayer. Ushers were Torie Wallin and Harry Holmes.

For the offertory, the Chancel Choir sang "O Jesus, King of Glory" by Johann Franck. Hymns sung during the service included "Fling Out the Banner!", "I Loveto Tell the Story" and "Christ for the World We Sing!"

Assisting the pastor with the distribution of the elements of the Lord's Supper were Deacons Mary Ruth Scott, Steven Williams, Hazel Mayne, Dana Olson and Katharine Hansen, who gave the prayer before the bread, and Stewart Scott, who gave the prayer before the cup.

The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Joan Hansen and Mary Scott.

At the first service, the sermon topic was "Who Do You Say Jesus Is?" Steven Williams, Mary Ruth Scott and Andrew Ogilvie provided music with their guitars. Michelle Lemson and David Scott were ushers. Mindi Hurd was in charge of refreshments including a large decorated birthday cake for one of the people in the congregation, David Ahearn.

The sermon in the first service next Sunday is "Who Is God Anyway?" The first service, an informal one with guitars, begins at 8:30 a.m. The second service, which begins at 10:30 a.m., is traditional.

The Junior Choir will sing at both services, and the Chancel Choir only at the second. There is a nursery at both services.

Sunday School for children in grades Kindergarten through fourth is provided during the first service beginning this Sunday. Boys in grades Five and Six attend Mello Yello Mondays at 3 p.m. Girls in grades Five and Six attend Ginger Snap Wednesdays at 3 p.m. Teenagers in grades seven through 12 attend Cinnamon Toast Sunday at 3:34 p.m. and Seven-Up Fridays at 7 p.m.

Youth Choir meets Sunday at 5 p.m. Other youth groups that meet at the church include Ramblin' Roots, Pepsi Challenge and Orange Crush.

'Living With Emotions' St. Agatha's Topic

Sr. June Ketterer, S.C.M., Provincial Superior of Grey Nuns of Montreal, will speak on "Living with Your Emotions," Sunday, Jan. 15, at St. Agatha's Parish, Milton.

The talk is part of the winter speaker series to be held on the designated Sundays at 8 p.m. at St. Agatha's Music Room.

Other speakers and their subjects will be: John McDargh, Ph.D., assistant professor of theology at Boston College, "Spiritual Adulthood," Jan. 29; Rev. David P. Bailey, JCL, of the Office of the Tribunal of the Archdiocese of Boston, "Divorce, Annulment, Remarriage," Feb. 12; Rev. Thomas A. Welch, Rev. LCSW, director of Omega Hospice, "Coping With Serious Illness," Feb. 26.

Stay Alive!

By John Valante

SMOKE DETECTORS AND RADIATION

We have always believed that early detection is the greatest factor in saving lives during a fire, especially one that occurs during sleeping hours. However, there has been some question about radiation danger in some makes of detectors. Here are the facts:

There are two types of smoke detectors. A photoelectric smoke detector contains a small light source. If smoke enters this enclosure around the unit, the light beam is reflected to the photoelectric cell which trips the alarm. No radioactivity is involved.

The second type, an ionization detector, contains a tiny amount of radioactive material, which ionizes the air and allows a small electric current to flow through the chamber. When the current is disrupted by fine particles of smoke, it sets off the alarm.

The radiation is so weak, according to the National Fire Prevention and Control

Administration, the National Bureau of Standards and the Nuclear Regulatory Commission that you would have to stand within ten inches of a detector for eight hours every day for a year to get even a hundredth of the exposure that occurs from normal background radiation.

A money-saving free offer for these Changing Times

You probably know about the tax-saving benefits an Individual Retirement Account can provide. Perhaps you also know how much an IRA could mean to you later, as a tax-sheltered retirement plan.

What you may not know is how little money you need to open an IRA at Quincy Savings Bank.

All it takes to open a variable rate IRA here is $100. If you prefer a fixed rate account, you can open one for as little as $500.

Either way, the amount you deposit into a new IRA immediately gives you a tax deduction on your Federal income tax.

When you open a new IRA or set up an IRA rollover at Quincy Savings we'll give you a full year's subscription to Changing Times, Kiplinger's respected money-management magazine.

This limited time offer also includes two bonuses. The first is a 96 page publication called "99 New Ideas," the other, a helpful report on "You and Your Taxes" issued twice a year. All together, this free package will save you $18, so take advantage of this offer right away.

Once your IRA is established, of course, you can make additional deposits (tax deferred contributions) in any amount, whenever you have the money, throughout the year, as long as you stay within the allowable maximum.

To open your account, visit any office of Quincy Savings Bank. For more information, call 471-3500.

*Even if you're already covered by a pension, profit-sharing, SEP or Keogh Plan, you can now put up to $2,000 of your salary each year into your Individual Retirement Account.

If you have a non-employed spouse, your limit increases to $2,250 per year. And if you and your spouse both work, you may each contribute up to $2,000 a year, or a tax-deferred total of as much as $4,000.

Telephone Service Changes Community Forum Topic

The announced changes in telephone service will be the subject of a Community Forum to be held at the Beechwood Community Life Center Thursday, Jan. 12, at 7:30 p.m.

Admission is free. The event will be held in the gymnasium of the center, 225 Fenno St., Wollaston. The forum has been planned in response to requests from residents who have many questions about services, equipment, repairs and charges under the new plans.

Presentations will be made by Jackie Jung of the New England Telephone Company, Community Relations Manager for the Quincy Area, and by a representative of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. Following the presentations there will be a question and answer period.

Staff of the Community Life Center will present a report to the community, briefly describing the development and progress of the center over the past two years, and outlining future plans.

CP Benefit Sunday At Sons Of Italy

A bake sale, craft fair and bazaar to benefit the Cerebral Palsy Association will be held Sunday, 1 to 5 p.m. at Sons of Italy Hall, 120 Quarry St., Quincy.

There will also be entertainment by Ruth Horowitz of the Metropolitan Opera. A crew from WCVB-Ch. 5 is also expected to stop by and visit the festivities after landing in a helicopter.

During Xway Reconstruction

Morrissey Suggests Lower Fares, Parking Fees At 2 MBTA Stations

Rep. Michael Morrissey says state transportation officials should lower fares or parking fees at two Quincy MBTA stations as incentives to keep motorists off the expressway while it is under reconstruction.

And the assistant state transportation secretary, Michael Shea, says he is interested in Morrissey's proposal.

Roundtrip fare from Quincy Center into Boston would be 60 cents each way, and from Quincy Adams, 60 cents one way and $1.20 the other way, under Morrissey's plan.

The fare reduction would begin in March and continue throughout the reconstruction.

If the fare reduction is not feasible, says Morrissey, parking at those two stations should be lowered to $1, bringing them in line with the North Quincy and Wollaston MBTA parking lots.

Morrissey says many commuters now bypass the Quincy Adams and Quincy Center garages to take advantage of the lower rates at the other two stations.

New Recreation Dept. Racquetball Program

The Quincy Recreation Department, in cooperation with the Playoff Racquetball Club of Braintree, will sponsor a new program of racquetball for boys 8-16 years of age.

Quincy youngsters will receive a period of instruction from the Playoff staff under the supervision of Jim Dal, the club's professional instructor, use of the club including court time and participation in an in-house league based on their ability.

The program will be held from 1 to 3 p.m. on Sundays, beginning Jan. 29. The total cost is $33 for the 10-week program. Transportation to the club will not be provided and participants will need racquets and guards.

"For many years our department has had a successful summer instructional program with the Playoff Club and this new winter program allows us to expand and provide youngsters with a low cost introduction to one of America's fastest growing recreational activities," said Director of Recreation Barry J. Welch.

Registration begins today (Thursday) at the Recreation office, 100 Southern Artery, and continues from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays as long as openings exist. Information can be obtained by calling the recreation office at 773-1380, Ext. 204.

CPR Classes Scheduled

An eight-hour CPR class sponsored by the Quincy Heart Saver Task Force and the American Heart Association will be held Thursdays, Jan. 12 and 19, from 6:30 to 10:30 p.m. at the Quincy Masonic Temple, Hancock St., Quincy.

Enrollment is limited to 20. There is a fee. To register, call 472-6098 after 3 p.m.

It brings to $678,835 the total raised by the committee since it started seven years ago.

Last year's $119,090 includes $83,231 in pre-telethon special events, during the year and $30,206 in telephone pledges and $5,653 in fishbowl receipts at The Quincy Sun based telethon pledge center over the Labor Day weekend.

The telethon committee is headed by Quincy Sun publisher Henry Bosworth and Richard J. Koch Sr., executive director for Quincy Park-Recreation Board.

The committee's area includes Quincy, Braintree, Cohasset, Hingham, Milton, Hull, Randolph and Weymouth.

Biggest pre-telethon events last year were:

A Designers' Showcase in Milton, $21,477.

A Superdance sponsored by St. Francis Xavier CYO in Weymouth, $10,825.

A Hingham telethon collection party sponsored by Jay Tolman, Izzy Tolman and Joan Berberian, $9,898.

A Quincy Swim-a-thon sponsored by the Lincoln Hancock Community Council with the cooperation of the Quincy Recreation Department, $2,556.

A bowl-a-thon and Lucky Total Contest at Olindy's, Quincy, $2,427.

John Joyce Dinner Dance in Braintree, $6,493.

Little Loop bowl-a-thon in Quincy, $1,493.

'After School Child Care' Discussion Meeting Jan. 18

The Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women, the League of Women Voters of Quincy and the Women's Center of Quincy Junior College will co-sponsor a meeting on "Child Care Issues with special attention to after school care for school-age children" Wednesday, Jan. 18, at 7:30 p.m. at Quincy City Hall. Snow date is Wednesday, Jan. 25.

The issue of child care will be discussed by a panel made up of State Rep. Barbara Gray, (R-Framingham); Ellen Gannett, Wellesley College Center Research on Women; Tim Eason, South Shore Day Care Services; Ginny Roberts, Office for Children; George Bulger, Guidance Counselor, Lincoln-Hancock School; and Michele Girard, Quincy parent. Alicia Colletti, Quincy Junior College Women's Center Director, will moderate the discussion.

Panel members will focus on the issue of after school care for school-age children because of its importance to women either returning to school or to the work force.

A survey of child care needs of those attending will be taken during the meeting. Following the panel discussion, there will be a question and answer period.

The meeting is free and open to the public. People interested in the issue of child care are encouraged to attend.

Youth Programs At Y

The South Shore YMCA announces a series of youth programs:

Mom and Tot Fun and Fitness programs are held Wednesdays from 11 to 11:40 a.m. and Thursdays 10:30 to 11:10 a.m. for mothers and children ages 1 and 2 years. The classes include fitness instruction, gymnastics, aerobics, rope, ball skills and hand and eye coordination skills.

Young Tot's gymnastics for those 3 to 6 years of age are held Tuesdays from 12:20 to 1 p.m., Thursdays from 1:30 to 2:10, Fridays (advanced only) from 3:50 to 4:30 p.m., and Saturdays from 11:10 to 11:50 a.m. The classes include instruction on floor, balance beam and uneven bars, strength, flexibility and coordination drills.

The You and Me Baby program includes medically approved exercises for prenatal (Moms 2 to 8 months pregnant), postnatal (Moms and babies up to four months) and baby exercises for those age four to 12 months.

Girls gymnastics include beginner and intermediate levels for girls 7 to 12. Professional instruction is given on floor exercise, balance beam, uneven bars and the vault.

Health Program At Lions' Lunch

The Heartbeat Association of Hingham will conduct the program, "Good Health Is Good Business" at the luncheon meeting of the Quincy Lions Club Tuesday, Jan. 17, at 12 noon in Dutton's Restaurant on Sea St.

A Night To Remember

North Icemen Blank Quincy

Last Saturday night was one to remember for Coach Kevin Jago and his North Quincy hockey team.

The Raiders blanked Quincy, 5 - 0, marking the first time in nearly 20 years they have beaten the Presidents twice in a season and only the fourth time in 23 years North has defeated Quincy.

The Raiders, now 4 - 3, faced Newton North yesterday (Wednesday) and next Wednesday will play at Waltham at 8 p.m.

North, which had blanked Quincy, 7 - 0, in the season's opener for both teams, was paced by Scott Messina and Dave Tapper, who scored two goals each.

John McGlame had the other goal as the Raiders took a 4 - 0 lead after two periods, and Dan Ceurvels posted his second win in a row in goal.

Earlier in the week North had defeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 6 - 1.

Messina had a hat trick, Dave Fasano two goals and McGlame one. Fasano had the game winner in the first period with Peter Furtado assisting. Rob Reidy contributed two assists.

Nothing Going Right For Presidents

Bob Sylvia in 18 years as Quincy's hockey coach has had nothing but winning seasons and many tournament teams, but the veteran coach is suffering through his worst season ever as everything has been going wrong.

The Presidents, with a 1 - 6 record, played Brockton last night (Wednesday). Saturday will be at Cambridge Rindge and Latin at 6:15 p.m. and next Wednesday will host Brookline at 6:40 p.m. at the Quincy Youth Arena.

Last Saturday Quincy was blanked for the second time this season by rival North Quincy, 5 - 0, marking the first time

Quincy has lost to the Raiders twice in a season in nearly 20 years.

At the start of the season Sylvia admitted his big worry was offense and his fears have been borne out. Except for the game against winless Cambridge, Quincy hasn't scored more than one goal in any game. On top of this, his defense, expected to be the team's strong point, has been disappointing.

Farther last week Quincy lost to Newton North, 7 - 1, with Ed Boyle scoring the only goal unassisted.

Sophomore forwards Dennis Shannon and John Gleba played well in their first varsity game and Bill Cahill made several outstanding saves in goal.

Quincy Wrestlers Pin Foxboro For 6th

The Quincy wrestling team continues to roll merrily along and last week defeated Foxboro, 33-25, in a hard-fought meet to improve its record to 6-0.

Tim Cahill's Presidents met Brookline yesterday (Wednesday) in their opening Suburban League meet. Saturday they will meet North Quincy, Weymouth South and Weymouth North in an 11 o'clock quadrangular meet at the Vo-Tech gym and next Wednesday will be at Reading for a 7 p.m. meet.

The Foxboro meet was one of the hardest fought of the season and five of Quincy's wins were by decision. The Presidents won two bouts, 188 pounds (Gary Minassian) and the heavyweight bout (Chris Conner) by forfeit. Chris Mackie recorded the only pin at 100 pounds.

Dave Coulter won, 4-3, at 114; Mike Notarangelo won, 9-2, at 128; Tom McAuliffe won, 7-6, at 140; John Cacciatore won, 19-6, at 147, and Chris Constat won, 12-4, at 157.

FORMER North Quincy tackle Mike Panaro earned his first varsity letter at Northeastern this past fall. Panaro, a 6-3, 230-pound freshman was injured early but saw plenty of action. Coach Paul Pawlack hopes Panaro will fully recover from his injury and challenge for a starting position next year. The Huskies were 6-4-1 this season.

Priscella, Amoroso Reunited At B.U.

Former Quincy High basketball standout Steve Priscella has been reunited with his high school coach, Joe Amoroso, at Boston University.

Priscella is a junior on the Terriers' basketball team (4-3) and Amoroso joined the BU coaching staff this season as an assistant.

Priscella is seeing much more action this season and, according to Amoroso, is improving all the time.

"I knew Steve could be a fine college player and he is continuing to improve in every game," said Amoroso, who resigned as Quincy's coach after 10 years to become a Terrier assistant.

"He was one of the most coachable players I had in high school."

Priscella is delighted to be reunited with his high school skipper.

"It's great being with him again," said Priscella. "He was an outstanding high school coach and I learned an awful lot from him. I think he will be just as good a coach at BU."

Priscella had the best night of his college career last week when he scored 13 points, all in the final 11 minutes, to spark a 58-47 win over East Carolina. He was four for four from the floor and added five free throws.

Tracey Bowe On Bentley Volleyball Team

Tracey Bowe of Squantum, who attended Notre Dame Academy, is one of seven veterans on the Bentley College women's varsity volleyball team. She is a junior.

North Girls Roll

Traficante, Kelleher Unbeaten

Junior Georgia Traficante stayed unbeaten in the high jump and also won the 600 and sophomore Mary Ann Kelleher remained unbeaten with a victory in the two-mile as the North Quincy girls' track team rolled over Weymouth North, 62-24.

The victory improved the Raiderettes' record to 5-0.

Lou Trozzi's Raiderettes met Brockton yesterday and next Wednesday will take on Newton North at Newton at 3:30.

Traficante won the high jump at 4-9 and took the 600 in 1:44.

Kelleher won the two-mile in 11:59.7.

North's other winners were Diane Lindenfelzer in the 1000 (2:58.2), freshman Laura Ciulla, her first win in the 300 (42.3), Lisa Fitzgerald in the 50 (6.5), Eileen Crehan in the shot put (35.7%, her best toss), and the relay team of Traficante, Ciulla, Lisa Fitzgerald and Alice Reilly (4:43).

Other scorers were Tracey Corrigan, second, and Julie Walsh, third, two-mile; Tricia Barrett, second, and Tricia Leary, third, mile; Meg Leary, second, 1000; Leanne Fitzgerald, second, and Teresa Collings, third, 300; Maria McGurl, second, hurdles; Lisa Fitzgerald, third, high jump, and Noreen Connolly, second, shot put.

In the Raiderettes' previous victory over Hingham, Crehan had finished second in the shot put, Connolly third in the 50, Ciulla second in the 300, Traficante second and Leanne Fitzgerald third in the 600, Meg Leary second and Ann Toland third in the mile, Lindenfelzer second and Tricia Leary third in the two-mile and McGurl second in the hurdles.

Quincy Fathers Football Awards Banquet Jan. 22

The Quincy Fathers Club will hold its 31st annual Quincy High School football awards banquet Sunday, Jan. 22, at 7 p.m. at the Morrisette Post hall in West Quincy.

Reservations can be made with Frank Osborne, 98 Gilbert Street, Quincy (773-5436) and must be made by Monday, Jan. 16. No tickets will be sold after Monday.

Club president Buddy Page will be master of ceremonies and former Quincy football player Robin Carrera will be the guest speaker.

The following awards will be presented:

Matthew Ivil Award, most versatile player; Armando Moscardelli Award, best offensive lineman; George Underwood Award, best defensive lineman; Robert Primavera Award, best defensive back; Frank and Elenor Osborne Award, best linebacker; Paul V. Grasso Award (donated by Bill Osborne), unsung hero; 12th Player Award, donated by Quincy Firefighters Association; coaches Award, Queen's Trophy, cheerleader awards, senior, junior and sophomore awards.

The Frank and Elenor Osborne Scholarship Award will be given to a senior in June and the William Schaezel Award will be presented by the club to a North Quincy player.

St. Joseph's Goliath B's Defeat ENC, 30-15

St. Joseph's Goliath B basketball team scored an impressive 30 - 15 victory over Wollaston Nazarene in a Quincy YMCA Church League game.

Danny Jaehnig scored all eight of his points in the first half to propel St. Joe's into a 16 - 2 halftime lead. David Jennette played a fine game, combining aggressive rebounding and defense with a season's high 12 points. Billy Ryan held Nazarene's top scorer, Kris Myer, to two points, while scoring eight himself.

Anthony Battistone had two points while running the offense and hustling on defense. Ricky Morris filled in for the injured Tim Brillo and played well as did Mike Scolari, Billy Hutton, Jim Shugrue and Joe LaFleur.

Kip Caldwell led Nazarene with five points.

St. Joseph's will play undefeated St. John's B Saturday.

Girls C Team

Quincy's Girls C hockey team tied Newport, R.I., 3-3, in league action last week.

Sheila Graham scored the first goal with Diane

McCauley, Cedrone Pace N. Quincy's Win Over Quincy

Ed McCauley and Capt. Sid Cedrone sparked the North Quincy High School basketball team to a 38-15 lead at the end of three quarters and then the Red Raiders coasted to a 47-24 victory over Quincy for their fifth straight easy triumph.

McCauley had 13 points and Cedrone 10 before Coach John Mullarkey replaced his first stringers with the junior varsity for the final eight minutes of the game. Ed (Giffy) McKinnon topped the Quincy scorers with seven points.

But Mullarkey was not ready to claim an easy road into the Tech Tourney for his Raiders.

"Brookline and Stetson (Randolph) are the only two teams I am confident of winning from for the rest of the season," he said. "The others are going to be tough ones."

The North Quincy lineup included: McCauley, Hines, Barrett, Johnson, forwards; Collins, White, DiBona, centers; Cedrone, Finnegan, Sullivan, Doherty, Brigham, guards.

DONAHUE SPURNS OFFER

North Quincy Football Coach Jack Donahue said that he had been offered $6,700 a year to coach at Lowell High School but he turned it down to remain at North for a much lower stipend.

"I just don't think I'd like to leave North," Donahue told some 300 diners at the North Quincy football banquet. "I seem to have become part of the building itself. But I do wonder about we coaches working for peanuts."

NICHOLSON STARS

The Quincy Granite Chips found the big man they needed in Alec (Sonny) Nicholson and he scored 20 points to lead the Chips to a 50-41 victory over the Baintree Woodsums. Fred DeSantis had 10 points for Quincy.

WOLLASTON HC WINS

Wally Ford had the three goal hat trick and Mud Casale chipped in four assists as the Wollaston Hockey Club won a wild 9-7 victory over the Quincy Hockey Club for its fifth straight South Shore Hockey League decision.

KNIGHTS VICTORIOUS

Phil Conroy and Henry Hibbard propelled the North Quincy Knights of Columbus to a 25-12 lead at halftime and the Knights went on to a 49-32 triumph over the Watertown Knights, breaking a losing streak at the North Quincy gym.

SPORTS BITS '47

Elbie Fletcher, the Pittsburgh Pirates first baseman from Milton, and Munroe MacLean, the football and basketball coach at Quincy High School, were the speakers at the Men's Club sports night at St. Paul's Methodist Church . . . Paul Clem and Henry Hibbard led the Old Colony DeMolay basketball team to an easy 52-35 win over South Shore DeMolay of Weymouth . . . Mike Ryba, the former pitcher, was named to manage the Boston Red Sox farm club in Lynn of the New England League . . . The North Quincy High School rifle team, competing for the first time since 1942, defeated Baintree, 480-470 with Bernardi scoring 99, Chase 96, Crozier 96, Garrett 95 and Ready 94 . . . Leo Papile and Fred Mariani combined for 28 points to lead the Bryan Post to a 31-28 victory over the West Quincy Pals in a City Basketball League game . . . Goals by Bep Guidolin and Pat Egan led the Boston Bruins to a 3-2 win over the Chicago Black Hawks . . . Tommy Moylan, the Squantum Naval Air Base heavyweight, lost a three round decision to Howard Kane of Arlington at the Mechanics Building in Boston . . . Capt. Leo Luchini was given a gold football for making the all scholastic team at the North Quincy High School football banquet in the school cafeteria . . . The Professional Basketball Association of America banned the zone defense in order to produce higher scoring, more exciting games . . . The Lawrence Mohawks joined the New England Professional Football League, which already included Hartford, Bristol, Portland, Pawtucket, Providence, Fitchburg, Holyoke and the Quincy Manets . . . The Quincy High School basketball team sank only eight of 54 shots from the floor in a 27-23 loss to Brockton.

Drop Pair

Raiders At Newton N. Friday

The North Quincy boys' basketball team, following a victory over Quincy in the consolation game of the Weymouth South Christmas tournament, lost its first two Suburban League games last week, dropping its record to 3-4.

Ed Miller's Raiders played Brockton Tuesday, will be at Newton North Friday night at 7:30 and next Tuesday will host Cambridge Rindge and Latin at 3:30.

Last Friday North shot only 32 percent from the floor and missed 11 of 15 foul shots, allowing Brookline to come from behind for a 52-46 victory.

Chris Bunker led the Raiders with 20 points and Nick Gelsomini had eight points and pulled down 10 rebounds.

Lose League Opener

Presidents Host Brookline

Although the Quincy boys' basketball team continues to find the going rough, first-year coach Rick DeCristofaro is not discouraged.

The Presidents last week lost their Suburban League opener to Newton North, 59-50, to drop their record to 1-6.

Quincy played at Waltham Tuesday, Friday night will host Brookline at 7:30 at the Vo-Tech gym and next Tuesday night will play at Brockton at 7 p.m.

"The boys continue to play with great desire and we have been in just about every game," DeCristofaro said. "Arlington is the only team to blow us out but the boys refuse to quit and are giving me 100 percent in every game."

"I think before the season is over we will give the top teams in the league trouble and we could provide a few surprises. A lot of the boys didn't play last year and it is taking a little time for them to come around. But they are improving all the time."

Raiderettes Looking To Sharpen Offense

The North Quincy girls' basketball team, hampered all season long by poor shooting, lost its first two Suburban League games last week, 60-45 to Waltham and 40-35 to Brookline, dropping its record to 2-5.

Paul Bregoli's Raiderettes, whose strong defense has kept them in most games, played Brockton Tuesday, will host Newton North Friday at 5 p.m. and will play at Cambridge Rindge and Latin next Tuesday at 5.

North gave Brookline, favored to win the league title, a tough game last Friday with one of its better efforts.

Sophomore Karen Runge opened the scoring as she took Brookline's 6-2 center, Ruth Lamprey, inside on a nice move. However, Brookline then opened up a 10-4 lead midway through the quarter. The Raiderettes came back to trail, 12-10, at the end of the quarter, as Mary Holleran and Sandra Whitehouse hit on long jump shots.

North took a brief 15-14 lead on a basket by Ann

Duggan and a free throw by Whitehouse, but the Raiderettes went cold and Brookline took a 24-15 lead before Holleran hit two jumpers, the last one a 30-footer at the buzzer, to bring North two within five at halftime.

Both teams turned cold in the third quarter as North managed only two foul shots by Duggan and a jump shot by Runge. Brookline's Lamprey picked up her fourth foul midway through the quarter as North center Lynda Feeney did a fine job in a box out, with Lamprey fouling her.

Trailing by eight entering the final quarter, the North girls fell behind by 11 but again they came back behind Holleran, Chris Donovan and Eileen Warren to move to within four points with 28 seconds left. Hanya Bluestone then clinched it for Brookline with a free throw.

Debbie Cavanaugh, although scoring only two points, did a standout job on defense, holding Bluestone, who averages 18 points a game, to seven. Donovan also did a fine job, holding Lamprey to 12. The Raiderettes outscored the winners from the floor, but were outscored from the line, 14-5.

Holleran had 14 points, Runge had six points and seven rebounds, Donovan had seven rebounds and Cavanaugh had four steals and three assists.

Earlier in the week the North girls went to Waltham and took a quick 7-0 lead by Cavanaugh and Donovan. North maintained a 10-5 lead but from that point Waltham outscored the Raiderettes, 20-5, to take a 25-17 half-time lead.

The Hawks increased their lead to 42-29 despite the scoring and defense of Cavanaugh and Holleran, who continued their offensive pressure in the fourth quarter as North cut the lead to 48-40 with 2½ minutes left. North was forced to foul down the stretch and Waltham hit six for six to again pull away.

The three tri-captains, Cavanaugh, Donovan and Holleran, had 11 points each for the Raiderettes.

In addition, Cavanaugh, playing her best game ever, had four steals, Donovan had seven rebounds and sophomores Warren and Jean Welby played well.

"We played very well against a fine Brookline team," said Bregoli. "We are getting better each time we play and as the season goes on, we are going to get even better."

The Quincy Sun topped McGinn Sunoco, 4-2, as Joe Taylor scored twice and Ricky Ames and Craig Bentley one each. Carl Cangemi had two assists and Taylor, Erik Abboud and Ames one each. Bob Naucke and Bob Bubencik scored for McGinn with an assist for Mike Cieri.

The standings: Doran & Horrigan, 10-6-1; Johnson, 10-8-0; Quincy Sun, 8-5-3; Burgin Plattner, 5-8-3; McGinn, 3-9-3.

Quincy's Mite A team, sponsored by DAV 79, rolled over Dedham, 11-2, in the Greater Boston Hockey League.

Steve Bartkus, who has had an outstanding year, scored five goals and added three assists. Jeff Craig had two goals and Scott Joyce, Jamie Schaeztl, Matt McGowan and David Manning one each. Craig and Kevin Flaherty had two assists apiece and Danny Morrell, Jim Cipriano, Brian Bartkus and Schaeztl one each. Neil Mahoney and Tim Wassiege played well in goal.

The Mite A's went to the finals of the recent Santa Claus Tournament in Hingham before bowing to Braintree, 5-4.

Steve Bartkus had two goals and Joyce and McGowan one each.

Quincy defeated Weymouth, 6-4, with Bartkus having a hat trick and Steve Miller, Manning and Schaeztl a goal each. Joe Carinci, Flaherty, Joyce, Morrell and McGowan had assists.

Quincy then topped Plymouth, 5-0, with Steve Bartkus, Brian Sullivan, Brian Bartkus, Manning and Miller having the goals and Craig and Schaeztl having assists.

Dave Gendreau and Steve Randall scored for Washington with assists for Dave Hasenfuss and Ken Kelly.

Squirt A's Win Seahawk Tourney

The Quincy Squirt A team, sponsored by South Boston Savings Bank, won the recent Seahawk Invitational Tournament at Cohasset, finishing with a perfect 4-0-0 record.

MVP Timmy Collins led the team with 10 goals, including hat tricks in the first two games.

Quincy opened by rolling over Falmouth, 10-0, and followed up with a 10-1 breeze over Weymouth.

Quincy then prevailed, 7-3, over the Little Rangers from New York in the semifinals to move into the championship game against Hingham.

Quincy pulled out a 3-2 overtime win with Collins having two of the goals and Ronnie Last the game winner 30 seconds into overtime. John Witham assisted on the winning goal.

Other goal scorers in the tournament were Steve Carroll, Joey Bevilacqua, Billy Lydon, Mark Kelleher, Sean McCarthy, Danny Savage and Matt Kelley. Mike Lally and Richie Brooks had assists.

Quincy's goalie, Dennis Ruggere, backed up by the tremendous defensive play of Kelley, Last, Lally and Scotty McLory, allowed only six goals in the tournament, for outstanding 1.5 goals-against average.

The team, defending state champion, coached by Bob Carroll and Sonny Pugliese, dedicated the championship win to teammate Jason Radzevitch, who is recuperating after an illness.

In Greater Boston League action Quincy remained unbeaten with a 5-2 win over Belmont with McCarthy, Carroll, Collins, Witham and Bevilacqua scoring the goals.

Squirt B's Win K. Of C. Tourney

Quincy's Squirt B team, sponsored by Quincy Cablesystems, won the recent North Quincy K. of C. tournament with a 4-1 victory over Braintree at the Quincy Youth Arena.

In the championship game Sean McArdle scored the first goal with Brian Fitzgerald and Gerard Walsh assisting. Bob Fitzpatrick scored the game-winner and also had another goal and an assist. Joe Zona had the other goal and two assists and Kevin Mantville had an assist.

Quincy opened the tournament with a 5-4 loss to Hingham, with Walsh, Carrie Hughes, Joe Zona and Mathew Riley scoring the goals. Christine Barrett and Hughes had two assists apiece and Douglas Johnson, Karen McCabe and Zona had one each.

Quincy then went five overtimes to edge Cape Cod, 6-5, on Sean Vermette's goal by 4:49 of the fifth overtime session. Matthew Swierk assisted. Fitzpatrick had two goals and two assists, Shane Abboud, Walsh and Zona had one goal each and Vermette and John Gladu had assists.

In the quarterfinals Quincy rolled to a 10-2 win over Andover. Zona had a hat trick and two assists, Vermette two goals, Mantville two goals and three assists, Fitzpatrick a goal and three assists, Walsh and McArdle a goal each, McCabe three assists, Swierk and Riley two assists each and Sean Connelly, Amy Bertrand and Fitzgerald one each.

The semifinal game was a fine exhibit of defensive hockey with Quincy squeezing by Weymouth, 10-1, on Riley's goal. Abboud and Swierk assisted.

"If there were an MVP for the tournament, the award most certainly would have to be divided between our goaltenders, Jeffrey Bertoni and John Bertrand, for their outstanding play," said Coach Walter Swierk.

PSSB To Benefit From January Children's Concert

The Protestant Social Service Bureau, Quincy, will be among charities to receive proceeds from the January Children's Concert of the Mystic Valley Orchestra Sunday, Jan. 15. The concert will begin at 3 p.m. in Sanders Theatre on the Harvard University campus.

For more information on the concert, which will feature WBZ-TV news personalities Liz Walker and Bob Lobel, call 924-4939.

Amateur Talent Contest At Wollaston Theatre

The Wollaston Theatre will sponsor an amateur talent contest to search for a future star beginning Sunday, Jan. 15.

The contest will continue Sundays at 2 p.m. for 11 weeks.

People in this area and other communities will compete for a total of $820 in cash prizes.

During the first 11

shows, audience members will vote for the act that they liked best. During the 12th week, the Grand Finale, a panel of judges will choose the top winners.

Ed Bennett, producer and director of the shows, says the talent that has auditioned and been selected to compete is far superior to the amateur show that the Wollaston theatre presented four years ago.

Each and every show will display a complete variety of acts that will please every type of audience, says Bennett.

As an added attraction, Joe Vande and Dennis Lopez, local musicians, will appear as guests. Background music for the acts will be played by the "Harmony Plus" combo.

Doors to the Wollaston Theatre will open Sundays at 1:30 p.m. Performances will start at 2 p.m.

Part of the admission proceeds will be donated to The Good Will Performers.

Children's Theatre At Woodward

Diane Purdy's Children's Theatre Workshop will present "The Day the Clowns Cried!" and "Cinderella (More or Less!)", Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 14 and 15.

Show times will be 1 p.m. Saturday and 7 p.m. Sunday at the Woodward School, 1102 Hancock St., Quincy Sq.

Tickets may be purchased at the door, or by calling 331-4941, 331-5645 or 472-7865 for reserved seating.

Members of the children's theatre workshop are from Southeastern Massachusetts.

Many of the children may be seen on television commercials and specials, movies and magazine "prints".

- The death of Marine Cpl. Edward Gargano of Germantown.

- An $8 million development for North Quincy.

- A proposal to reduce fares and parking fees at Quincy Adams and Center MBTA stations during the reconstruction of the Southeast Expressway.

- An interview with Jeanne Reardon who is Mayor McCauley's new secretary.

- A report on a low interest mortgage financing for certain sections of Quincy.

- Mayor McCauley's comments on the draining of Swingle's quarry and the proposed tax rates for property reclassifications.

New Telephone Service Sun Ch. 8 Feature

Are you among the many wondering what to do about your telephone and telephone service?

For some answers to the many questions being asked by telephone patrons tune in Quincy Sun Ch. 8 today (Thursday), at 5 p.m. and Friday at 2 p.m.

In an interview with Ch. 8 News reporter John Noonan the Marketing Manager for the New England Telephone Company John Glennon advises patrons of what options are available.

Glennon suggests that patrons defer taking any action until after receiving the first telephone bill to be issued later this month. The telephone user will receive an itemized breakdown of the cost for services used during the past month.

Glennon points out there is a great deal of confusion occurring because of the FCC breakup of the Bell Telephone Corporation which became effective Jan. 1, 1984.

Quincy Sun Ch. 8 News will be bringing these types of news features to its viewers on a regular basis.

Bob Gohl is Ch. 8 News feature producer.

Harold Guest On Cabletalk

Senator Paul Harold is the featured guest on Cable Talk, the weekly public affairs program, to be cablecast tonight (Thursday) at 9 p.m. and Sunday at 9:30 p.m. on Quincy Community Television Ch. 3.

Harold reviews the 1983 Massachusetts legislative session and prospects for the 1984 session now underway.

Harold discusses legislation of importance to the city of Quincy such as financing and home rule. In an interview with host John Noonan he also comments on the 1984 Presidential election. Among other topics discussed are rules of budget, and local affairs.

AMA President On Ch. 3 Newsmakers

Dr. Frank J. Jirka, President of the American Medical Association, will be the special guest on the weekly Newsmakers program to be cablecast on Quincy Community Television tonight (Thursday) at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday at 9 p.m. on Ch. 3.

Dr. Jirka, a practicing urologist of Barrington Hills, Illinois, represents 250,000 licensed physicians throughout the U.S.

During the Newsmakers program he will be questioned by Herb Fontaine, WJDA news director; Dorothy Migell Jacobson, medical writer, Patriot Ledger, and John Noonan, of The Quincy Sun.

While visiting Quincy Dr. Jirka will be presented with an honorary citizen of Quincy award by Mayor Francis X. McCauley at City Hall.

The AMA President comes from a family with a background in medicine and politics. His father and paternal grandfather were physicians, as is his brother and brother-in-law.

His maternal grandfather, Anton Cermak, a Czechoslovakian immigrant, settled in Chicago and forged an ethnic alliance that eventually led to his election as Mayor of Chicago in 1931. An uncle, Otto Kerner, was also elected Governor of Illinois.

In a recent interview Dr. Jirka said the AMA is taking a very strong leadership role in resolving the problem of escalating health care costs.

He said the rapid advancement of technology and increased availability of services through Medicare, Medicaid, and private insurance has whetted the public's appetite for health care that is not just adequate, but optimal. Increased usage of health care facilities plus inflation contribute to health care costs in all sectors of the country, Dr. Jirka said.

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19

Long range personal goals demand more planning time. Stubborn relative becomes more relaxed and higher-up is willing to listen to your best ideas. Social life perks up.

PISCES - February 20-March 20

Peacemaking and guest speaking are the week's key activities. Weekend focuses on creative activities, perhaps with a partner. Friend's motives are spelled out by Monday.

ARIES - March 21-April 20

Obligations start to increase. make efficient use of free time. Personal success earns you praise and perhaps a financial bonus. Willpower's potent, why not finalize resolutions?

TAURUS - April 21-May 22

Use the new year to sharpen professional skills. Loved one is in an obliging mood now. Your enthusiasm is contagious and you may be able to motivate lethargic friend.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21

You can be surprisingly coy now. even secretive. Loved one on the other hand speaks right from the heart. Concentrate on appearance - a great time to give yourself a spruced-up look.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

Surprise guests offer some happy surprises through the weekend. Youngsters are helpful - once you invite them to participate. Knowledge of community happenings will prove advantageous.

LEO - July 23-August 22

Dull activities should not be postponed, once they're out of the way you can tackle livelier tasks. Relative becomes possessive. Speak out if you cherish your independence.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22

Year is off to a refreshing start, opinions are changing and interests are expanding. Financial dealings may be subject to delay. Overseas correspondence answers queries.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22

Romantic uncertainties are not postponed, once they're out of the way you can tackle livelier tasks. Relative becomes possessive. Speak out if you cherish your independence.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21

Untangle complex money matters before starting new financial ventures. Introduction to celebrity is high point of the week and can give you inspiration for a writing project.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22

Loved ones start seeing your point of view - but still prefer their own opinions. Time is right for taking on part-time job or developing interests in community project.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20

Be more conservative with funds, more generous in sharing ideas with older friend. Home life is hectic on weekend, with friends showing up late, early, not at all.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Determination, shrewdness, ambition and a realistic approach are your characteristics. Also, you resist new ideas. This conservative approach brings professional results by midyear, but friendship and romance demand fresh tactics and a great sense of humor.

CITY OF QUINCY
IN COUNCIL

ORDER No. 8
ORDERED: January 3, 1984

WHEREAS, the City Council of the City of Quincy, finds that the operation of retail business establishments of five thousand (5000) square feet or less of gross retail floor area have a disruptive effect on residential communities; and

WHEREAS, the operation of these business establishments between the hours of 11:00 P.M. and 7:00 A.M. has a particularly disruptive effect on the health, safety and general welfare of the City; and

WHEREAS, the Zoning Act (M.G.L. c. 40A) authorizes this Council to adopt and amend ordinances to regulate the use of land, buildings and structures to protect the health, safety and general welfare of the community; and

WHEREAS, this Council declares that adoption of this amendment will protect the health, safety and general welfare of the community; Now therefore, Be It Ordained, by the City Council of the City of Quincy, that the Revised Ordinances of the City of Quincy, 1976, as amended are further amended as follows:

In Chapter 24, The Zoning Ordinance, Article IV Use Regulations, Section 42 Classification of Uses, Subsection of 4 Retail Business and Consumer Services paragraphs 1 and 2 are amended to read as follows:

a.1 Stores Five Thousand (5000) square feet or less of gross retail floor area per establishment, primarily serving the local retail business needs of the residents of the vicinity, including but not limited to grocery, food, package, dry goods, clothing, hardware, florists, and drug stores; provided such establishment is not open for business between the hours of 11:00 P.M. and 7:00 A.M.

a.2 Stores Five Thousand (5000) square feet or more of gross retail floor area per establishment, primarily serving the local retail business needs of the residents of the vicinity, including but not limited to grocery, food, package, dry goods, clothing, hardware, florists and drug stores.

Wastewater Meeting At City Hall

Federal and state environmental officials will hold a public information meeting today (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall on proposed changes in wastewater treatment facilities in Boston Harbor.

The Environmental Protection Agency and the State Office of Environmental Affairs are seeking public reaction to recommendations that the 18 major wastewater facilities be cut to six for further study.

Four of the six options recommended by engineering consultants would discontinue use of the Nut Island plant as a treatment facility and convert it into a headworks.

Although all of the options continue use of Deer Island for primary or secondary treatment, major new treatment facilities at Long Island are recommended in two of the options.

The recommended options range in cost from $760 million to $983.5 million and will take up to 10 years to build.

"Both EPA and EOE are firmly committed to the completion of this study, which will lead to the long overdue improvement of wastewater facilities and water quality in Boston Harbor," said James Hoyte, secretary of the state office.

$8 Million Office Building Planned For North Quincy

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN Construction is scheduled to begin in the spring on a new $8 million, four story office building in North Quincy, which will house an estimated 500 employees.

Mayor Francis McCauley

and Planning Director James E. Lydon announced at a news conference Monday plans for the 100,000 sq. ft. office building at Newport Ave. Extension and Hancock St. which will take about 12 months to construct.

McCauley said the project is being developed by Antony Herrey, representing SCI Contractors Ltd., and will be owned by Hardwood N.V.

Herrey was also developer of 100 Newport Ave. which now houses CNA Insurance, Prudential Insurance and additional space for Kemper Insurance, and is about 85% leased.

The same group of investors for 100 Newport Ave. is involved in the new project said Herrey, who added that the major group is from Genoa, Italy.

The rectangular building with eight corner floors, will feature two elevators, interior atrium and a sky light, said Herrey.

Herrey said he anticipated there would be businesses such as a restaurant and bank on the first floor and one large tenant on the upper three floors.

About one fourth to one third of the employees will use public transportation, estimated Herrey who noted that the building be architecturally compatible with those in the nearby State Street South complex.

No construction firm has been chosen, said Herrey, and there are no prospective tenants yet.

The building has been in the planning stages for a few years, said Herrey, and awaited favorable marketing conditions.

Herrey said he also hopes to develop an adjacent five acre site in the future.

McCauley said there were no plans for urban renewal in the area.

Adams's House Request Continued By Board

The License Board voted Tuesday to continue to Jan. 17 a request for a common victualer license for Adam's House, 144 Franklin St., South Quincy.

The board suggested that applicant William A. Thomas of Bradford St., Quincy discuss the proposal with the Historic District Commission since the shop is across the street from the Adams Birthplace.

The shop formerly housed Lickidy Split ice cream and sandwich shop.

Thomas said he would operate the "small, family style restaurant" from 5 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday to Friday, 6 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays, and 6 a.m. to noon Sundays.

He said he planned to have 18-20 seats in the shop which he would operate with his wife, Diane.

C/V License Granted To Quincy Lobster

J.G. Quincy Lobster Inc., 138 Granite St., Quincy Center, was granted a common victualer license at Tuesday's License Board meeting.

Owner James E. Rendle of Wollaston told the board fried foods will be added to the menu of the shop which will move to a new building in the same area about Feb. 1.

Rendle said there would be 12-14 seats for customers in the new location.

The license was granted subject to approval by the Building, Health and Fire Departments.

500 At Sgt. Edward Gargano's Funeral 'We Are All Proud Of This Young Man'

Quincy paid a final, solemn tribute Monday to Marine Sgt. Edward J. Gargano, 21, of Germantown, a casualty of keeping the peace in Lebanon.

Some 500 people attended the funeral Mass at St. Boniface Church, Germantown, celebrated by the Rev. George F. Carlson, formerly of St. Boniface, now at Sacred Heart Church in Roslindale.

"We have varying reasons for being here," said Fr. Carlson in his homily. "Some with opinions on the morality of war; others with opinions on nuclear armament; others out of protocol.

"But we are all proud of this young man."

Fr. Carlson noted that Gargano was being buried on a state holiday honoring slain civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King. "another young man who gave his life."

Gargano was buried as a Marine sergeant, a higher rank for which he had qualified shortly before his death from a bullet fire by a sniper Sunday, Jan. 8, in Beirut, Lebanon.

A guard of honor of fellow Marines from the South Weymouth Naval Air Station accompanied the body, firing the traditional volley over the grave of their fallen comrade.

Sgt. Gargano's body arrived in Quincy late Friday accompanied from Logan International Airport by his brother, Army Pvt. Robert Gargano and the military contingent from South Weymouth NAS.

Pvt. Robert Gargano escorted his brother's body from his post in Germany to Dover Air Force Base in Delaware, where they arrived Thursday night.

Sgt. Gargano's father, Joseph, was unable to attend his son's funeral due to an illness. He is a patient at Quincy Hospital.

In addition to his father and brother, he is survived by his mother, Mary (Varrasco) Gargano, two other brothers, Timothy Gargano of Virginia, George Gargano of Quincy, and three sisters, Jane Gargano, Elizabeth Gargano and Lorie Ann Gargano, all of Quincy.

Funeral arrangements were by the Sweeney Funeral Services, 74 Elm St., Quincy Center. Burial was in the veterans' plot at Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

'Agonizing' Decision

Kelly Leaves Council For Housing Post

By TOM HENSHAW

Leo Kelly is giving up his seat on the City Council to accept a $25,138 post as manager of housing projects in West Quincy and Germantown.

His resignation is effective Friday.

Kelly's decision to quit the Council after 10 years ended two weeks of speculation that began when the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development approved his appointment on condition he leave the Council.

Kelly called the decision "an agonizing one."

"I have an opportunity to accept a position which, for many reasons, I should accept," he said in a statement read to his fellow councillors at Tuesday night's City Council meeting.

"But to do this, I must leave behind one of the most meaningful parts of my life.

"Rules and rulemakers, whether employed by HUD or someone else, often times never seem to see the human side of their dictates."

Ironically, Kelly was acting president of the Council during his last meeting, filling in for newly elected Council President Jame A. Sheets, who was out of town.

The text of Kelly's statement follows:

"During the course of one's life changes are inevitable. In some cases they are enlivening, in others wrenching and traumatic. The decision which I announce this evening is, to me, both.

"Almost a year ago I was informed of an available position with the Quincy Housing Authority. It was that of Project Manager for both the Drohan and Riverview apartment complexes and entailed responsibilities which singularly appealed to me. It is a people-oriented job in a field in which it is possible to make both meaningful and

New Office Building For Downtown Quincy

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has announced plans for the construction of a $1.9 million, four story office building on the site of the gasoline station at Hancock St. and Whitney Rd.

"This building," said McCauley, "along with the new Dimmock building across the street, will bring an additional 300 jobs to downtown Quincy."

The project is being developed by 1150 Hancock Realty Trust, made up of Arthur Simons of Newton and Ferdinand J. Kiley III of Quincy.

Simons said they are negotiating with several banks to occupy the first floor and with other organizations to fill the upper three stories.

Construction is scheduled to begin April 1 and completed by December.

But first the project will have to be reviewed by the Quincy Industrial Development Finance Authority Jan. 25 for approval of a $1.6 million industrial revenue bond and by the Quincy Historical Commission Jan. 30.

Simons said his group has been involved in about 35 projects in the Greater Boston area, mostly apartment renovations and condominium conversions.

This is their first office building built from scratch, he said.

Democratic Caucuses Take New Importance

Quincy Democrats will caucus Saturday, Feb. 11, to select 61 delegates and 12 alternates to the Democratic State Convention June 9, an event that has suddenly taken on new importance.

The delegates will be called upon to endorse a Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate to succeed Paul Tsongas. Candidates need 15 per cent of the convention vote to get on the September primary ballot.

The convention site has yet to be determined.

The local caucuses, all at 2 p.m., will be held at the following locations:

Ward 1 - Houghs Neck Community Health Center, 10 delegates, two alternates.

Ward 2 - Fore River Clubhouse, 12 delegates, two alternates.

Ward 3 - Granite Place Community Room, 11 delegates, two alternates.

Ward 4 - Lincoln Hancock School, 10 delegates, two alternates.

Ward 5 - Wollaston Methodist Church, nine delegates, two alternates.

Ward 6 - Atlantic Neighborhood Center, nine delegates, two alternates.

Block Grant Funds To Go Up Next Year

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said Tuesday he has been informed that Quincy's Community Development Block Grant money is being increased by 3.7 percent, or some $75,000 next year.

The new total will be $2,106,000.

City, Clerical Workers Reach Tentative Agreement

After 18 months of talks, a tentative contract agreement has been reached between Quincy and the city's 450 clerical workers, according to Mayor Francis McCauley.

The clerical unit of the Hospital, Library and Public Employees Union must ratify the agreement which includes raises amounting to 9 per cent.

McCauley said the two sides reached a tentative agreement Thursday on the pact which includes a 3 per cent raise retroactive to July 1, 1983 and a 6 per cent raise April 1, 1984. The increases will cost about $135,000 this year and about $265,000 the first full year, said McCauley.

Raises totalling 9.4 per cent had been sought by the union. A state fact finder had recommended 10 per cent.

McCauley called the raises in the contract fair for both sides.

The Police Dept. superior officer's pact would be the last contract awaiting settlement if the clerical workers ratify their agree-

Board Grants Licenses For Merrymount Alleys

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

William Noyes of Ashland was granted bowling licenses for Merrymount Daylight Alley, 17 Broad St., at Tuesday's License Board meeting.

Noyes' attorney, Jonathan Hay, said his client was spending $225,000 for the property and business which has been owned by Alfred and Norman Norris.

The two parties hope to pass papers on or before Feb. 1, said Noyes, who told the board he has had experience in the bowling business in Framingham.

Licenses granted were for 18 lanes, two pinball and five video machines.

Capt. Paul Nestor, representing the Police Department in absence of Chief Francis Finn, noted that Merrymount Alleys has more video games than the law now allows, because the permits were granted before the board's policy was established.

Nestor cautioned Noyes against allowing youngsters to congregate at the alleys.

"I don't allow kids to hang around," Noyes assured the board.

Reisberg Ward 1 Candidate

Merrymount businessman Bernard Reisberg said this week that he is a candidate for the City Council seat in Ward 1 should Leo J. Kelly decide to resign to go to work for the Housing Authority.

"If there is a special election, I will be a candidate," said Reisberg. "I have made it known to the members of the Council that I am interested in the post."

Should Kelly resign the seat, under the city charter, the vacancy would be filled by vote of the remaining councillors. But a move is afoot to change the charter to call for a special election.

Reisberg said he feels that Kelly's successor should be chosen by special election. Since the term would have almost a full two years to run.

"A special election would give the people of Ward 1 the privilege of electing an individual who will be representing them for the next two years," he said.

"If there were only a few months left to fill out the vacancy there would be no reason why the present councillors could not make the decision."

Reisberg, proprietor of Bernie's Modern Formal shop in downtown Quincy, has been a businessman in Quincy for the past 37 years and his father was a Quincy tailor for 25 years before him.

He has been active in veterans affairs and waterfront activities. He has been a member of the Ward 1 Democratic Committee for several years.

McCauley Asks Raises For Top City Officials

The City Council was asked Tuesday night to approve pay raises for a number of top city officials, including a $10,230 hike for City Solicitor Dean Nicastro.

Also up for raises, which would be retroactive to Jan. 1, are the Mayor's executive secretary, Peter Kenney, up $1,490, and his administrative assistant, Arthur Foley, up $4,339.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said the proposed raises for 41 key people in the city government average out to about 9 per cent with adjustments. "They are in line with what the union employees in the city are getting," said the Mayor. "These are the first raises this group has gotten since I've been in office the past two years."

McCauley defended the proposed raise for Nicastro, whose job is considered parttime, from $28,264 to $38,500, saying that the demands of the city law office have changed dramatically.

"There are many, many more law suits against the city than ever before," he said. "You can't appreciate the value of a good law office until you sit in the mayor's chair."

"I am trying to relate the solicitor's salary to the private sector, I would like to keep him."

McCauley noted that the proposed raises will have no effect on the property tax rate.

"The tax levy has been cut by $18.8 million or about 28 per cent in the last two years," he said. "It will be cut an additional $3 million next year."

"We are able to give these raises and stay within the bounds of Proposition 2½."

Recipients of the raises and the amounts would be: Mayor's executive secretary, Peter Kenney, from $24,450 to $26,650.

Mayor's Administrative Assistant, Arthur Foley, from $22,311 to $26,650.

Mayor's secretary, Jeanne Reardon, from $16,553 to $38,043.

City Council secretary, Louise Brabazon, from $56,553 to $58,043.

Clerk of Committees, Donna Pollara, from $16,553 to $18,043.

City clerk, John Gillis, from $24,692 to $26,914.

Assessor, chairman Elmer Fagerlund, from $26,995 to $29,425.

Assessors, James Papile and Patricia Ceriani, from $26,159 to $28,513.

Treasurer-collection, Franklin Jay, from $26,478 to $28,861.

Purchasing agent-parking clerk, Robert Denvir, from $24,450 to $31,000.

Solicitor, Dean Nicastro, from $28,264 to $38,500.

Assistant solicitor, Joseph MacRitchie, from $23,501 to $31,500.

Personnel director, Donald Hanson, from $24,450 to $31,000.

Rent grievance director, Jane Reikard, from $8,520 to $10,400.

Planning director, James Lydon, from $31,240 to $34,052.

Chief of police, Francis Finn, from $44,747 to $48,772.

Police, legal counsel, William Hickey, from $23,501 to $25,616.

Dog officer, Frank Berlucchi, from $14,831 to $16,166.

Chief of fire, Edward Barry, from $44,745 to $48,772.

Building inspector, Allan MacDonald, from $31,240

A money-saving free offer for these Changing Times

You probably know about the tax-saving benefits an Individual Retirement Account can provide. Perhaps you also know how much an IRA could mean to you later, as a tax-sheltered retirement plan.

What you may not know is how little money you need to open an IRA at Quincy Savings Bank.

All it takes to open a variable rate IRA here is $100. If you prefer a fixed rate account, you can open one for as little as $500.

Either way, the amount you deposit into a new IRA immediately gives you a tax deduction on your Federal income tax.

When you open a new IRA or set up an IRA rollover at Quincy Savings we'll give you a full year's subscription to Changing Times, Kiplinger's respected money-management magazine.

This limited time offer also includes two bonuses. The first is a 96 page publication called "99 New Ideas," the other, a helpful report on "You and Your Taxes" issued twice a year. All together, this free package will save you $18, so take advantage of this offer right away.

Once your IRA is established, of course, you can make additional deposits (tax deferred contributions) in any amount, whenever you have the money, throughout the year, as long as you stay within the allowable maximum.

Readers Forum Burgin Opposes Removing Police Chief From Civil Service

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

It was with some concern, as it must have been to many others, when I read that Mayor McCauley was considering the possibility of removing the office of Chief of Police from civil service status should a vacancy occur in the future.

Such a change could make the position an appointive one by the mayor, whoever he might be, to serve co-terminously with him. This, in my opinion, would be a drastic mistake in many ways.

Before continuing, may I make it perfectly clear that in no way should my thoughts be taken in criticism of Mayor McCauley for whom I have the highest regard and confidence. On the contrary, they are presented as the result of experience in city government as mayor for close to ten years and as a member of the city council for twice that number of years.

In my opinion, such a drastic change would result in complete chaos within both the Police Department and the city in general. It would provide either the present mayor or any successor with a political appointment that could be made regardless of qualifications or training in police work.

Such a move would, again in my opinion, completely demoralize the morale within the department by removing any incentive for ultimate leadership as chief from those who by education, training, study, and experience in police work have earned their positions in various capacities.

My thoughts are equally applicable to the Fire Department. Each has the responsibility of protecting the lives and property of our citizens -- day or night, in any emergency and should be led by one who has proven himself to be qualified through a competitive civil service examination. Placing the chiefs of both of these vital departments under civil service was accomplished in Quincy over sixty years ago. It has worked out well and has eliminated the purely political appointments by the mayor every time a change in administration came about. Why then should we go back to the "Choose-whom-you-want" days -- possibly with unfortunate results? I sincerely trust that the matter be dropped from further consideration.

Stay Alive!

By John Valante

RUBBER GLOVES AND HIGH VOLTAGE

Do you think you know how to stay alive? Don't bet your life on it. According to safety experts, what you THINK you know may kill you. During the next 12 months, several thousand Americans will kill themselves. Their deaths will be completely unnecessary. The common denominator in all cases: False knowledge. Here's a case in point:

When a New Jersey boy's kite got tangled with a high-tension wire, his father tried in vain to shake it loose. Donning a pair of rubber gloves, the man reached for the wire and was electrocuted instantly. "Dozens of people execute themselves every year because of the naive belief that they can use ordinary household rubber gloves to argue with a high tension wire," says the safety director of New York's Consolidated Edison Company. "Rubber gloves may be safe enough around 100-volt wires around the house, but they offer scant insulation against the thousands of volts surging through high-tension wires. When you have a high voltage problem, wait for the utility maintenance men."

Donnelly And Musical Chairs

The approaching retirement of Paul Tsongas from the U.S. Senate has sent ripples of political excitement all the way down to the Quincy City Council.

It could trigger the biggest game of political music chairs in many years. Cong. Brian Donnelly has expressed interest in running for the soon-to-be vacant Senate seat. So has Norfolk County Dist. Atty. William D. Delahunt of Quincy.

DONNELLY

Should Donnelly give up his seat in Congress, Sen. Paul D. Harold is interested in running for it. And so is Governor's Councillor Peter Eleey, Norfolk County Sheriff Clifford Marshall, and MDC Commissioner William Geary, all of Quincy.

Should Harold give up the State Senate seat, City Councillor Stephen J. McGrath would run for it under certain conditions. And, possibly, so would former Sen. Arthur H. Tobin, who Harold defeated in 1978.

Those would be just the Quincy candidates in what promises to be the best local electoral free-for-all in a good many years.

"I'm definitely interested in running for Congress," says Harold, who is in his third two-year term as state senator after a year and a half on the Quincy City Council.

Harold would have to forego running for the State Senate for a fourth term if he runs for Congress.

"There is no question that I would look at it hard and seriously," said Marshall, who was just re-elected sheriff in 1982 and does not have to run again until 1986.

Marshall says it is only a coincidence that he has scheduled his first fund-raiser in three and a half years for June in the clubhouse at Sullivan Stadium in Foxboro.

Eleey said there is a "very strong possibility" that he would run for the congressional seat if Donnelly leaves.

"It would be an honor just to participate in the race," says Eleey, who is in his second term as a governor's councillor and would have to give up the seat.

A good part of Councillor McGrath's future plans depends on Rep. Thomas F. Brownell's reaction to all the openings that suddenly have appeared above him.

"If Brownell runs for the state senate," says McGrath, "I'd run for his seat in the house. If not, I'd run for Harold's senate seat."

McGrath, a lawyer who lives in Quincy and practices in Holbrook, ran against Brownell for the House in 1978 and was soundly trounced.

Brownell says he has not yet made a decision on what office he would run for if Harold's senate seat opened up.

"There are a lot of possibilities and combinations but I don't know what is going to happen," he says.

"I prefer to act on facts. I don't act on fantasy. There's too much fantasy going around."

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey is also reported to be considering a state senate run should Harold move out.

Tobin, who lost the State seat of Harold in 1978 while he was also holding a second office as mayor, is now the clerk-magistrate at Quincy District Court and friends think he may be restless for the excitement of the political campaign.

"It's interesting," said Tobin. "I'm keeping my options open."

Friends say Tobin, no longer encumbered by the two jobs issue, would dearly love to win back his old senate seat as a matter of vindication.

Three state representatives from Boston are also active in Donnelly's 11th Congressional District but one of them hastened to take himself out of the race.

"I want to clear the air right from the beginning," says Rep. Thomas Finneran of Dorchester. "I'm not interested in going to Washington. My family and the district come first."

Rep. Paul White of Boston is reported to be interested in a congressional run and he would probably be a favorite since about one-fifth of the district's voters live in Boston.

Rep. Angelo Scaccio, also of Boston, was not available for comment.

The key to all the local musical chairs is Donnelly. Right now he says he's "50 per cent sure" he will run for the Senate.

Which, of course, also means chances are 50 per cent he won't run.

If he does go, be careful crossing Hancock St.

You could be run down by a dozen or so speeding candidates.

Quincy Quiz

Two winners in the Quincy Quiz this week.

Frances Morrill of 53 Holyoke St. and Carmine DiRamio of 62 Harriet Ave., North Quincy, win T-shirts.

Each week two Quincy Sun T-shirts and two Quincy Sun bumper stickers are offered as prizes in the Quincy Quiz.

The first two readers, one a mail subscriber, to submit to the Sun office in writing the correct answers to the week's five questions win T-shirts. The next two win bumper stickers.

50-50 Chance

Donnelly To Decide Senate Bid In 2-3 Weeks

By TOM HENSHAW
 Cong. Brian J. Donnelly says he will decide in two or three weeks whether or not he will run for the U.S. Senate seat that is being given up by Sen. Paul Tsongas for reasons of health.

Donnelly said Tuesday the odds on his running right now are 50-50.

"I am going to take two weeks to look at the political side of the decision," he said. "Then I'll take a few days with my family to find what I really want to do."

"A year from now, I don't want to look back and talk about what could have been. But I don't want to be a has been, either. If I lose I am out of the business completely."

Donnelly said he has called "all the candidates who have been mentioned" in the game of musical chairs that would inevitably follow his decision to give up the congressional seat.

"I told them the process that I am going through," he said. "I want to be fair. Their careers are on the line, too. I asked them to keep their horses in the barn for a couple of weeks."

Donnelly said he has been calling friends around the state "to see if I am a viable candidate. Some of the response has been excellent. Some have told me that I have too much to lose."

"People have told me that I have an ideal base for running in Boston and the suburbs," he said.

"I would have no problem meeting the 15 per cent threshold I would need at the June state convention in order to get on the ballot in the primary."

"There are 4,500 delegates to the convention so we are talking about 700 to 800 votes. The 11th Congressional District has 332 votes. I would go to the convention with a block of 400 votes."

"I would be the only Boston candidate. I would have the bulk of the Norfolk county delegates. I would be the only indigenous candidate from here to Provincetown."

"I could see myself wrapping up the four counties of Suffolk, Norfolk, Plymouth and Barnstable and then moving west."

Donnelly said he is happy with his work in the House of Representatives "but obviously I am interested in the Senate. As a senator, I would be one out of 100 instead of one out of 435."

On the other hand, he said, he could remain in the House without regret.

"Actually," he said, "I have achieved more as a member of the House than I ever thought I would. I have never given a thought to moving on to the Senate."

"Like all the politicians in Massachusetts, I was caught short by Tsongas' announcement. Everything indicated that he was running for reelection. I was shocked and personally saddened."

"I got to know him and his wife, Niki, and their children over the past six years. I admire him greatly."

"Too many people in office think only of politics at the expense of everything else. But he was able to walk away. He has something that not many people realize he has."

If he did decide to run for Senate, Donnelly said:

He figures it would take about $1 million to run a primary campaign, "if money is spent wisely and I put on a tremendous personal effort."

The strongest candidate the Republicans could put up would be Elliot Richardson, the cabinet-level handymen of the Nixon administration - "If he offered to run they would be crazy not to accept it."

After a five and a half years, he is still excited about being a member of Congress.

"When I went to my first White House banquet," he said, "I was seated beside Thad Cochran, the senator from Mississippi."

"He leaned over to me and said, 'Isn't this place great? I'll quit the business the day I walk in here and I don't get those trembles in my spine.'"

5-Alarm Fire Threatens Quincy Center

A pre-dawn five-alarm fire swept through the third floor of the four-story Coolidge Building, 1505-13 Hancock St., causing damage estimated at up to $50,000 and for a while threatening to spread throughout the downtown Quincy retail district.

Fire Chief William J. Sands said the probable cause of the fire was a defective chimney, adding that the fire may have been smoldering for a day or two before it was discovered at 5:30 a.m. by Charles Pappas, proprietor of a gym on the third floor.

"I was awakened by the smell of smoke," said Pappas. "I heard the crackle of flames. Jumping out of bed I started to open the door leading to the gym and I was met by a burst of flames."

"I slammed the door, threw that rope — which I have had there for a long time for just such an emergency — through the window and slid down it."

Heavily damaged by smoke and water were the stores on the ground floor, Kay's Jewelry Store, Robbie's Beauty Shop, Stevens Clothing Store and the Clothes Mart. Offices on the second floor, including that of Atty. Louis Goren, also were damaged.

HEDGES ENDORSED

Rep. Charles W. Hedges of Quincy and Court Clerk George C.P. Olsson of Plymouth, who defied the Republican State Committee to cast their votes for Kansas Gov. Alfred Landon at the 1936 National Convention, were endorsed by the Committee as unpledged delegates in 1940.

Hedges hailed the endorsement as a recognition of the "younger, progressive element in the Republican party." The Quincy legislator was a close friend of Cong. Joseph W. Martin of Attleboro, who has been mentioned as a possible presidential candidate in 1940.

DISTRICT PROTESTED

City Councillor Louis A. George and four other Quincy Point residents protested the new Third Norfolk District, which included Braintree, Weymouth and Ward 2 in Quincy, on grounds that it was unfair to separate Ward 2 from the rest of Quincy.

FARE ZONES EXTENDED

The Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. announced extensions of five cent fare zones for street cars and bus passengers, including a new one from Quincy Square to Centre and West Sts. in South and West Quincy.

Over 90% Satisfied With Cablesystems' Service

Quincy Cablesystems has released results of its subscriber survey conducted during October and November.

General Manager John King, said more than 1,100 Quincy cable viewers responded to the company's request to evaluate technical, billing and entertainment services.

Subscribers were also asked to rate their favorite channels and suggest new channels in the survey which was mailed with the October billing.

"Better than 90 percent of those who replied were satisfied with our overall service," said King. "Our ability to provide technical maintenance support in a timely way has been a source of pride for us. To have 77 percent of our subscribers rate our repair service good or excellent and offer statements like 'never had a problem' reinforce our commitment to that service effort."

The largest number of comments concerned repetition of movies on several premium television services which supply programming to Cable-systems. King reported company efforts to package compatible services and help subscribers be aware which services compete for the same top movies.

"We're glad to see the movie services negotiating so many exclusive contracts for new releases, to answer the subscriber demands for more distinct variety," said King.

Customer billing services received a 90 percent satisfaction rating. One area of concern was over billing due dates. According to King, the due dates are critical only for a subscriber who is a month behind in his bill and must pay to avoid disconnection.

The top channel on Cablesystems was HBO, chosen by 57 percent as among their four most-often viewed. Showtime and Cinemax followed among premium channels. The favorite channel of the basic service was ESPN a 24-hour sports network, followed by the Atlanta Superstation

WTBS, rock-video channel MTV and Nickelodeon, a channel of children's programming. Cable Health Network and USA followed in the rankings.

King also announced Russell McDonald of Madison Ave. South Quincy as the winner of six months of cable service for offering the best suggestion to improve service. McDonald's suggestion of a recorded message on a hot line during service interruptions will be implemented sometime during the winter.

"We received hundreds of helpful suggestions," said King, "and Mr. McDonald was the first with the best."

Mr., Mrs. Frank L. Bates, Sr. Celebrate 75th Anniversary

About 70 relatives and friends gathered recently at Pagnano Towers, Quincy Point, to celebrate the 75th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Bates, Sr.

The reception was held by the couple's children, Frank L. Bates, Jr., of Apopka, Fla.; John Bates, Harold Bates, Russell Bates, and Mrs. Kenneth MacDonald, all of Quincy.

They also have nine grandchildren, 12 great grandchildren and one great, great grandchild. Grandchildren attended from Florida, New York and New Hampshire and the Bateses renewed their wedding vows. The Rev. Joseph Racke, of St. Joseph's Church, officiated.

"They really enjoyed the celebration," said Mrs. MacDonald, "they got to see relatives and friends and former neighbors from West Quincy."

The Bateses were married Jan. 6, 1909 at St. Mary's Church, West Quincy.

Mrs. Bates, 92, the former Leona Rizzi, was born Oct. 28, 1891 in Quincy.

Mr. Bates, 94, was born Dec. 27, 1889 in Fairhaven. Head shipper for New England Confectionary Co., Cambridge, he retired in 1955.

The Bateses have lived at Pagnano Towers for 12 years. They lived for 63 years at 46 Bunker Hill Lane, West Quincy.

Bruins' Silk At New 7-Eleven Opening Saturday

David Silk, a member of the gold medal-winning 1980 U.S. Olympic hockey team and now playing with the Boston Bruins, will be special guest at the grand opening of 7-Eleven's newest store in Quincy Saturday, Jan. 21, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Silk will be on hand at the 7-Eleven located at 76 Franklin St., to pose with youngsters for free photos from 11:45 a.m. to 2:45 p.m.

7-Eleven, a major sponsor of the 1984 Summer Olympics, has the Olympics as the theme for the grand opening festivities. Also featured at the event will be "Sam, the Eagle", the official mascot for the Summer Olympics. "Sam", too, will be available for free picture taking. The character is designed by Walt Disney Studios especially for the Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee.

Silk is from Scituate and attended Boston University. After playing on the U.S. Olympic team in 1980, he played with the New York Rangers and was recently traded to the Bruins.

Other grand opening day plans include free frisbees and bicycle drawings.

The new franchisees of this 7-Eleven are Patricia and Michael Cunningham, who are natives of Quincy. The couple presently live on West St. in Braintree and plan this store to be run as a family business and to be involved with the community.

Mrs. Cunningham is a graduate of Quincy High

"SAM THE EAGLE" official mascot of 1984 Summer Olympics will be at 7-Eleven, Franklin St., Quincy Saturday.

School and attended Stonehill College in Easton and the University of Massachusetts in Boston. Her work experience includes retail, bookkeeping and managing a clothing store.

He husband was graduated from North Quincy High School, attended Massachusetts Institute of Pharmacy and Lee Institute, where he received his Massachusetts Sales Person's License. He also has 10 years retail supermarket experience.

This is the third 7-Eleven in Quincy and offers a full line of convenience grocery items.

7-Eleven is a division of The Southland Corporation, the world's largest owner and franchisor of convenience stores with over 7,300 7-Elevens across the United States and Canada. It is also a major corporate sponsor of the March of Dimes, the Muscular Dystrophy Association, and the 52 Association's ski clinics for the handicapped.

Philip A.G. Carbonaro, 67, Watertown Arsenal Chief

A Funeral Mass for Philip A.G. Carbonaro, 67 of Quincy, a retired chief of the Army materials research laboratory at the Watertown Arsenal, was held yesterday (Wednesday) in St. Mary's Church, West Quincy.

Mr. Carbonaro died Friday in a California hospital while visiting his sister.

Born in Boston, he lived in Quincy for many years.

He graduated from English High School and earned a chemical engineering degree at Northeastern University in 1939.

Mr. Carbonaro worked at the Watertown Arsenal for 35 years as director of the Rodman Engineering Laboratory and then as chief of the material laboratory of the Materials and Mechanics Research Center. After retiring a year ago, he was an engineering consultant for the Stone and Webster engineering firm in Boston.

He was a member of the John Quincy Adams Club and the Coast Guard Auxiliary.

He is survived by his wife, Lydia A. (Acciavatti) Carbonaro; three daughters, Gail V. Loveland of Schenectady, N.Y., Donna L. Drinan of Manchester, N.H., and Lori J. Phillips of Braintree; a sister, Tina Daniels of West Covina, Calif.; a brother, Bernard Carbonaro of Falmouth; and seven grandchildren. He was the brother of the late Joseph Carbonaro.

Funeral arrangements were by the Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave., Quincy. Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery.

Donations may be made to the American Heart Fund.

Warren Oberlander, 27

A funeral Mass for Warren Oberlander, 27 of Abington, formerly of Squantum, an air conditioner mechanic for AARCO in Cambridge, was held Monday in St. Ann's Church.

Mr. Oberlander was killed Saturday in a two-car, head-on collision on Route 44 in Raynham.

Born in Boston, he lived in Squantum before moving to Abington last October.

A graduate of Atlantic Junior High School, he attended North Quincy High School before transferring to Quincy Vocational Technical School where he graduated in 1974.

He had previously done volunteer work with handicapped youngsters.

He is survived by his mother, Eleanor (Lutz) Oberlander; a brother Michael McCarthy; and two sisters, Eleanor Oberlander of Abington and Kristine Oberlander of Buffalo, N.Y.

Funeral arrangements were by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston.

Charles G. Morse, 77, Owner Granite Company

Funeral services for Charles G. Morse, 77, of Quincy, owner and president of a local granite company for many years, was held Jan. 4 at the Deware Funeral Home, 576 Hancock St., Quincy.

Mr. Morse died Jan. 1 at Quincy City Hospital.

Born in Washington, he moved to Quincy 55 years ago from Bridgewater.

Mr. Morse was the owner and president of the Charles G. Morse Granite Co. formerly located on Willard St., West Quincy, until he retired in 1973. The company is now located in North Attleboro.

He was a past noble grand of Massachusetts Lodge One of the Odd Fellows.

He is survived by his wife, Lillian (Gustafson) Morse; two sons, Richard C. Morse of Quincy and Raymond F. Morse of North Attleboro; four daughters, Dorothy M. Newcomb of Brockton, Pricilla M. Morse of Quincy, Marion C. Metcalf of South Weymouth and Eleanor (Ellie) MacRitchie of Quincy; a brother, George Morse of Maine; four sisters, Florence Fair of Quincy, Dorothy Seppala of Quincy, Eleanor Corey of Georgia and Mable Pratt of Quincy; eight grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Burial was in Northville Cemetery, East Bridgewater.

John E. Hickey, 58, Law Firm Office Manager

A funeral Mass for John E. Hickey, 58 of Wollaston, office manager for the Boston law firm of Burke, Weiners, Moran, Hurley and Merrick, was held yesterday (Wednesday) in S. Ann's Church.

Mr. Hickey died Saturday at Quincy City Hospital after he suffered a heart attack shoveling snow.

Born in South Boston, he lived in Wollaston most of his life.

A graduate of Boston College, he was a World War II Army veteran.

He leaves a brother, Donald F. Hickey of Cambridge; three cousins, Robert A. Desmond of Wollaston, Doris K. Dolbec of Squantum and Jeanne M. Bold of Braintree.

Funeral arrangements were by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston. Burial was in Blue Hill Cemetery, Braintree.

Isabella Bailey, 89

Funeral services for Isabella (MacIntosh) Bailey, 89, a longtime resident of Quincy, was held yesterday (Wednesday) at the Wickens and Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams St., Quincy.

Mrs. Bailey died Sunday at Quincy City Hospital after a lengthy illness.

Born in England, she lived in Quincy for 59 years. Wife of the late Ernest Bailey, she leaves a son, Douglas J. Bailey of Weymouth; a daughter, Joyce Roberts of Cohasset; three grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Burial was in Blue Hill Cemetery, Braintree.

Mary M. McDonough, 96

A funeral Mass for Mary M. (Clark) McDonough, 96 of Quincy, a longtime resident of Quincy, was held Tuesday in Most Blessed Sacrament Church, Houghs Neck.

Mrs. McDonough died Friday in a Braintree nursing home after a lengthy illness.

Born in Boston, she lived in Quincy for 58 years. She attended Boston schools.

Wife of the late John R. McDonough, she is survived by four daughters, Ruth E. Reardon of Marshfield, Mary R. Betts of California, Grace M. Gibeault of Cambridge and Claire M. McDonnell of North Carolina; 22 grandchildren and 33 great-grandchildren. She was the mother of the late Joseph J. McDonough.

Funeral arrangements were by the Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave., Quincy. Burial was in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:

Procrastination, as everybody knows, means putting things off. It means not doing the thing you ought to do, when it ought to be done - whether you like it or not. It is a self induced arch-enemy to good intentions. And quite often it is needless.

For example, how long does it take to offer a helping hand? How long does it take to express a congratulation or compliment - especially when it is well deserved? How long does it take to make a phone call, or write a note or letter, or pay a visit in person?

These and other 'put offs' can and often do cause later regret. The regrets are often heard in funeral homes during visitation hours when last respects are shown. It is truly sad to hear someone say: "I was going to do it, but just never got around to it". This sadness can be avoided by doing things WHEN they ought to be done. If this thought strikes a note of response, why not do it NOW...

significant contributions to the lives of others. It is a position in a community in which I am intimately aware of the day-to-day problems; a community whose weaknesses I understand and strengths I have championed. I made the decision to apply, and after the interview process was selected by the authority to fill the position.

"In Washington, D.C., the Department of Housing and Urban Development cited a rule which stated that no public official could hold a HUD-funded position either during their tenure or for a period of one year from their point of termination. However, municipal government in Quincy is significantly different from other forms in Massachusetts and municipalities in other states. In Quincy, our City Council is not a policy-making board and effects nearly not at all the operation of the Housing Authority. The authority itself is a separate and autonomous board that functions independently of the City Council. With all of this in mind, the Quincy Housing Authority and their legal counsel field a lengthy opinion in Washington describing Quincy's government, and the respective functions of the City Council and the Housing Authority.

"Throughout this communication, it was strongly stressed that there was no conflict in the respective responsibilities, and that I should be granted a waiver from this rule. In response, the people in Washington, being removed from Quincy and perhaps not having a full understanding of our circumstances, ruled that I must leave the council.

"I have served on the Quincy City Council for over ten years and it has been one of the most meaningful parts of my life. It has allowed me to touch people, to help people improve their government, their environment and in some cases their lives. It has allowed me to intercede for people with their government work for them. It has provided me tremendous personal reward and satisfaction.

"Now I find myself at a junction; at a point in my life where a decision must be made. I have an opportunity to accept a position which, for many reasons, I should accept. But to do this, I must leave behind one of the most meaningful parts of my life.

"I have made this decision. It did not come quickly. It was an agonizing one. Rule and rulemakers, whether employed by HUD or someone else, often times never seem to see the human side of their dictates.

"I have decided to give up my Ward One Council seat effective Jan. 20, 1984.

"Thank-yous are due to many, but the most important one is to the people of Ward One.

"Thank you for having had the faith in me to have allowed me to serve as your Councillor for these many years. Thank you for your support, and more importantly, thank you for the enrichment that you have brought into my life. Most sincerely, I hope that I have done my best for you.

"Thank you to those Councillors I have served with both here and gone. Your friendships and alliances will always be remembered. Lastly, thank you to a city government and a city which has allowed me to play such a meaningful role.

"This has been an experience for which I will always be grateful."

WHAT'S MAKING THIS BOOK A BEST SELLER?

An 8 to 9.25% annual return—without tying up cash for long periods.

A Select Savings Account passbook is becoming a very popular item.

It's not surprising when you consider that a Select Savings Account is a great way to earn high interest that doesn't require an enormous minimum deposit. All you need to open one is a $500 minimum balance, and you can earn an annual rate of 8% (8.33% effective annual yield)—a lot higher than you could earn on a regular savings or NOW Account. When your passbook balance reaches $2,500 you begin earning 9.25% annually (9.65% effective annual yield).

And no, you don't have to tie up your money forever to get these rates. Just give us 90 days' notice of withdrawal. Otherwise, we're required to impose a penalty of one month's interest for early withdrawal.

The Select Savings Account even allows you to build your high interest account by making as many additional deposits as you like. And, to give you the best return on your money, we compound the interest daily. Interest rates are set monthly. Your principal and interest are fully insured up to $100,000 by the F.D.I.C.

All-in-all, it's easy to see why the Select Savings Account passbook is one of the most popular books around.

To open your account, just call 773-0500 and we'll send you what you need to get started—or stop by one of the 17 conveniently located Bank of New England-Hancock offices today.

Squantum Church Celebrates Dr. King's Life, Work

The life and work of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. was celebrated Sunday at both services of the First Church of Squantum.

Church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin spoke of the slain human rights activist as "one of the greatest Christian leaders that God has raised up in our midst" and praised Dr. King's commitment to the causes of justice, non-violence and the poor.

Both choirs participating in the services offered selections in keeping with the day. The Junior Choir sang a black spiritual, "I Thank God I'm Free At Last." The Chancel Choir sang "Precious Lord, Take My Hand", a traditional Southern spiritual. Both choirs were directed by Mary Ruth Scott.

Dr. Langevin led the congregation in a prayer for racial understanding, beginning with a confession of sin and ending with a commitment to fight racism in all its forms.

At the early service, the sermon was entitled, "Who Is God Anyway?" Guitarists Mary Ruth Scott and Andrew Ogilvie provided the music. Kristen Reister and Lori Ogilvie were ushers.

At the later service, the pastor preached on the topic, "How the Kingdom Has Grown." His text was "You are witnesses of these things!" (Luke 24:48) It was the second in a series of five sermons on the subject of evangelism.

Greeters at that service were May Lewis and Drucilla Warnes. Tore Wallin and Don Frazer served as ushers. The Fellowship Hour after the second service was hosted by Adelaide Nelson and Lorraine Josslyn.

The Annual Meeting of the church will be held Friday, Jan. 20, at 7 p.m. in Fellowship Hall. The meeting will be preceded by a Covered Dish Supper at 6 p.m. Officers and members of boards and committees elected Friday night will participate in an installation service Sunday morning at either morning service.

At 8:30 a.m., the sermon will be "Do You Know Who You Are?" At the second service at 10:30 a.m. the sermon will be "Is Jesus Really the Only Way?"

MODEL OF THE Hancock Meetinghouse of 1731, which later became United First Parish Church, is admired by the church minister, the Rev. Keith C. Munson, and archivist, Owen Della Lucca. Broad Meadows Junior High School students constructed the model in 1977 to commemorate the 150th anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone of the present building. The meetinghouse is the topic of a mini-series being presented by Della Lucca.

'A Slap In The Face' Bethany Sermon Topic

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach at both services Sunday, Jan. 22, at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddingdon and Spear Sts., Quincy Center.

Services will be held at 9 a.m. in the chapel and 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The sermon will be titled, "A Slap In The Face", based on the text from Matthew 5:38-48. Scripture readers will be Helen C. Cole in the chapel and Kathleen Cronin in the sanctuary.

During the 10 a.m. service, the sacrament of Christian baptism will be administered to Debra Lee and Kimberly, children of Mr. and Mrs. Gary M. Connors. Mrs. Mary-Ann Graham Connors will also be baptized with her two daughters.

The chancel choir, under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will sing as the offertory, "In Thee, O Lord, Have I Trusted" by Handel, and as the anthem, "O God, We Pray" by Arensky.

Sunday Church School will be held from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pupils from preschool through ninth grade. Nursery care is also provided during the 10 a.m. service for babies and young children.

Following the late service, a coffee and fellowship time will be held in Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the church school.

From 11:30 to 12:15, there will be a sermon feed-back session with Pastor Arnold in room 2 of the parish house.

The Bethany Youth Fellowship will leave Friday, January 27 at 4 p.m. from the church for a retreat weekend in Gorham, N.H., where they will be guests of the Gorham Congregational Church youth group.

There will be faith discussions, cross country skiing, games and worship. Serving as advisors will be the associate minister, Rev. Joel F. Huntington, Tora F. Huntington, Bruce Byrkman, Sylvia Sanchez, and Robert Peoples.

Drive Jan. 26 For H.N. Blood Bank

A drive to replenish blood in the Houghs Neck Community Blood Bank will be held Thursday, Jan. 26, from 3 to 8 p.m. at the Houghs Neck Community Center, 1193 Sea St.

The drive is sponsored by the Houghs Neck American Legion Post and the Houghs Neck Community Council with cooperation of the Red Cross Blood Donor program. Volunteers able to donate are urged to contribute to the bank where blood is available without charge to any resident needing transfusions.

Hot soup or stew will be served to volunteers at the Houghs Neck Legion Post Home, 1116 Sea St., during hours of the drive.

Quincy Civil Defense Seeking Volunteers

Quincy Civil Defense is seeking residents with four-wheel drive and all terrain vehicles and organizations with snowmobiles to volunteer in case of natural and man-made disasters or severe snow storms.

Deputy Director Anthony Siciliano suggests that interested residents call 472-6118 for more information.

2 CPR Courses

The Red Cross will offer two courses in Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (modular system) Thursdays, Jan. 19 and 26, from 6 to 10 p.m. and Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 23 and 24, from 6 to 10 p.m. at the Red Cross office, 1245 Hancock St., Quincy.

Pre-registration and fee prepayment are necessary and can be done by calling 471-5440.

Raiders Drop Heartbreaker To Newton North

By TOM SULLIVAN

The North Quincy boys' basketball team, which suffered a heart-breaking 42-41 loss to Newton North in the final two seconds last Friday night, hoped to end a four-game losing streak Tuesday when it faced undefeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin.

Ed Miller's hard-luck Raiders, who dropped to 3-6, will face cross-town rival Quincy next Tuesday at 7 o'clock at the Quincy Vo-Tech gym.

Last Friday at Newton North Quincy had a one-point lead with 11 seconds to play but, with a chance to wrap it up, missed the front end of a one-and-one and Newton drove down court and scored with just two seconds to play to pull out the win. The Raiders had one last desperation shot but missed.

"This was a really tough one for the boys to lose, but we had the same problems we have had all season long," Miller said. "We are awfully small and every team we have faced has had a big height advantage. Also, we have been in foul trouble in every game and we have been missing our own foul shots. We never should have lost the Newton game.

"It is tough for us to be playing these big Suburban League schools. We are the smallest in the league and such schools as Brockton, Waltham, Cambridge and others have many, many more boys to choose from."

Senior co-captains Chris Bunker and Paul Ryan turned in their usual fine games and led the Raider scorers with 11 points each.

"I brought up sophomore Mark Scanlan (one of North's top soccer players) from the junior varsity and he did a fine job running the offense," Miller said.

Earlier in the week North and Brockton played a rough and tumble game in which five players fouled out and Brockton, outscoring the Raiders, 26-8 from the foul line, took an 84-69 victory.

North had not only personal foul trouble but technical foul problems.

With North trailing 33-30, Bunker was assessed a technical foul for questioning a call and Miller was hit with a two-shot technical.

"Brockton hit on four of the five foul shots, added a basket on an offensive rebound and added another foul shot and in just a little more than a minute the score went from 33-30 to 41-30," Miller said.

"Bunker is our co-captain and team spokesman and all he did was ask what the foul was for. I admit that I got a little bit excited and they called the technical on me. But Bunker never should have been hit with that technical. Now we are chasing them and the game turns into a track meet."

Brockton, which improved its record to 6-3, is no kind of a team to play catch-up against. But, after trailing by 15 points, the Raiders drew to within eight, 58-50, on baskets by Jim Martin, Steve Warran and Steve Higgins, late in the third quarter.

"They beat us on the boards and we just gave up too many points," Miller concluded. "We played their type of game and it cost us."

Miller had good words for Higgins, who played a fine game on the boards and scored 16 points, mostly on outside shots. Ryan and Bunker again had big games with 18 points each.

ED CARROLL, former North Quincy player, is a starting power forward on the Plymouth State College basketball team. The 6-4, 205-pound sophomore is third on the team with a 9.2 scoring average and second in rebounding at 7.6 per game. "Ed is doing an excellent job off the boards and has really improved his shooting," said Coach Gary Emanuel. "He is an excellent athlete who could be a great player if he reaches his potential. He's a good leader with a strong physical body." Ed is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Carroll.

Presidents Squeeze By Brookline, 53-52

It was a long time coming, but the Quincy boys' basketball team finally returned to the win column last Friday night, squeezing by Brookline, 53-52, to end a five-game losing streak and improve its record to 2-7.

The Presidents played at Brockton Tuesday, will host undefeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin Friday at 7:30 and will be home to cross-town rival North Quincy next Tuesday night at 7.

Peter McCarron hit six-of-seven free throws in the last quarter and Bill Shaughnessy scored the winning free throw with two seconds left to give Quincy the win over Brookline, which had lost only once previously.

Quincy trailed throughout the game, was down 33-23 at halftime and 41-36 going into the fourth quarter. The Presidents used a relentless defense and outscored the visitors, 17-11, in the quarter to pull out the win.

Shaughnessy and McCarron had 12 points each and center Denis Downing had a big night with eight points, 11 rebounds and four blocked shots.

"I am very happy for the boys," said first-year coach Rick DeCristoforo. "They have never given up and have been in all but two games. I knew if they continued to hustle as they had been, they'd start to win."

"Our defense pulled us through this game as the boys continued to force fouls and they came through at the foul line. Downing turned in an especially outstanding defensive game."

Earlier in the week the Presidents had one of their few off-nights as they were walloped by Waltham, runner-up to Cambridge in the Suburban League, 73-36.

Downing had nine points and 11 rebounds for Quincy and Shaughnessy had nine points.

North Swimmers Continue To Surprise

The North Quincy swim team, young and inexperienced in several events, continues to surprise and, following two non-league victories, has won two out of three Suburban League meets for an overall 4-1 record.

Bill Walker's Raiders were at Brookline Tuesday for a league meet, today (Thursday) host Westwood in a 6 o'clock non-league meet at the Lincoln-Hancock School pool and next Tuesday will be at Brockton for a 3:30 league meet.

Last Thursday North defeated Newton South, 107-65, in a league meet as Scott Ferguson won the 100 butterfly in 1:04.1 and the 50 freestyle in 23.9 and Mark Wilkins won the 100 freestyle in 56.3 and took second in the 50 freestyle.

The other Raider winners were the 200 medley relay team of Dan O'Sullivan, Dan Moriarty, Mike Melanson and Robert Plante (2:05.3); Steve Mackay, 200 freestyle (2:15.1); Dave Stockless, 500 freestyle (6:11.8); Bert Jenkins, 100 backstroke (1:12.0), and Moriarty, 100 breaststroke (1:14.2).

Other scorers for North Quincy were Stockless, second, and Rob Weikel, third, 200 freestyle; Melanson, second, and Jenkins, third, 200 individual medley; Wilkins, second, and John Bangs, third, 50 freestyle; Eric Giordano, second, and Greg Toland, third, diving; Melanson, second, and Tom Farmer, third, 100 butterfly; Bangs, second, 100 freestyle; Mackay, second, and Sean Geary, third, 500 freestyle, and O'Sullivan, second, 100 backstroke.

Earlier in the week North had defeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 103-62, as Wilkins won the 50 freestyle (24.2) and 100 freestyle (55.5) and Melanson won the 100 butterfly (1:15.4) and the 200 individual medley (2:39.7).

Other winners were the 200 medley relay team of Jenkins, Melanson, Moriarty and Weikel (2:05.4); Stockless, 500 freestyle (6:19.8), and Moriarty, 100 breaststroke (1:15.8).

Also scoring were Mackay, second, and Stockless, third, 200 freestyle; Rance Gillespie, third, 200 individual medley; Bangs, third, 50 freestyle; Toland, second, and Giordano, third, diving; Plante, third, 100 butterfly; Bangs, third, 100 freestyle; Mackay, second, and Geary, third, 500 freestyle; Jenkins, second, and John Murphy, third, 100 backstroke, and Gillespie, second, 100 breaststroke.

Slattery's Hoop Boosts Maroons To Quincy Win

Weymouth Center Fred Slattery grabbed the ball off the backboard with 30 seconds remaining and put it through the hoop to give the Maroons a 21-19 victory over the Quincy High School basketball team, believed to be the first Weymouth win ever in the Coddington St. gym.

Ernest Caddy led the Quincy scorers with six points, all of them coming in the third period when the Presidents broke away to a 16-12 lead. The Weymouth victory ended a Quincy home winning streak that went back to 1938 when the team last lost to Attleboro.

The Quincy lineup included: Caddy, Broberg, Fleischer, forwards; Kotzen, Barba, centers; Sjostrom, Mavor, Mathieson, Vergobbi, Saldi, guards.

BC HIGH WINS

Ed Larkin scored the only goal and Coach Ken Hudson cleared his bench to give underclassmen some experience as the winless Quincy High School hockey team bowed to Boston College High School, 8-1, in a Bay State League game at Boston Arena.

ANDERSON STARS

Harley Anderson, the former North Quincy star, threw in nine points to lead the Quincy Trade School basketball team to a 30-21 victory over Somerville Vocational, the second straight win for Coach Bill Ryan's quintet.

The Quincy Trade lineup included: Anderson, Hatfield, Pettiti, forwards; Irving, center; Curto, Hamlin, guards.

MERCHANTS TRIUMPH

Parley had a three-goal hat trick and McCarthy, Carr and Dackers added two apiece as the Quincy Merchants hockey team walloped the Benjamin Club of Franklin, 11-3, on the Pla-Mor rink in Franklin.

The Merchants lineup included: Carr, McCarthy, Beebe, forwards; Dackers, Lawrence, defense; Gava, goal; Parley, Braddish, Hurd, Schofield, Rooney, spares.

NORTH LOSES

Bernie Killaran, normally the team's playmaker, turned scorer with 10 points but his performance was in vain as the North Quincy High School basketball team bowed to Watertown, 39-33, for its first loss of the season after six wins.

SPORTS BITS '40

Jack Pettinelli and Al Mountain, with six points each, led Marr's Granite Chips to a 34-22 victory over the Braintree Woodsums. . . Milt Schmidt set up Bobby Bauer and Porky Dumart for three goals as the Boston Bruins dumped the Toronto Maple Leafs, 4-1, before 15,000 fans at Boston Garden. . . Les Daniels scored both goals as Framingham blanked Quincy, 2-0, sending the Presidents down into the cellar in the Bay State Hockey League. . . Kressler was the high scorer with two points as Home Room 7-3 defeated Home Room 7-5 by a score of 2-1 in Central Junior High School basketball play. . . Abe Perkins and Hal Kapsis had 10 and nine points respectively to lead Coach Dave Lubarsky's Hebrew Congregation basketball team to an easy 35-15 conquest of the Bethany Congregational five in Church League competition. . . Roy Fenstermaker lifted 635 pounds at a body weight of 181 pounds to lead the Quincy weightlifting team to victory over Lawrence and Worcester in its first meet at Boston's gym. . . George Page had 13 points in a 42-39 victory by Marr's Granite Chips over the Rockland AA. . . The Newton YMCA broke Quincy's win streak with a 40-36 victory despite a 15-point outburst by Howie Martin. . . Fred Allen scored 26 points to lead the Patriot Ledger basketball team to a 108-46 trouncing of Coach Bruce Saunders' CMA Alphas of Weymouth. . . Coach Leland Anderson's Quincy High School wrestling team won its first Old Colony League match of the season over Needham. . . Women bowlers Jean McGuinness and Josephine Ward surprised their male counterparts by leading the Blacker and Decker Lumber Co.'s Quincy team to victory over the Boston yard. . .

Craig Cappacioli had 20 of his team 29 points as South bombed Central, 29-12, in the Junior High School basketball league.

Quincy Icemen Find The Range

Quincy's hockey team has been in a scoring drought all season but last week the Presidents finally found the range as it gained a win and a tie to improve its record to 2-6-1.

Bob Sylvia's team played Brookline yesterday (Wednesday) and next Wednesday will host Waltham at 6:40 at the Youth Arena.

Last Saturday the Presidents defeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin for the second time, 5-2.

Brian Provenzano and Tom McGrath each had two goals and an assist and John O'Connor had the other goal. Ed Boyle added an assist.

Goalie Bill Cahill was outstanding in goal as he had 28 saves.

Earlier in the week Quincy had come back three times to tie the score and wound up tying Brockton, 5-5.

Provenzano had a hat trick and converted a Boyle pass with a minute left to give Quincy the tie.

Provenzano also had an assist and Boyle and McGrath each had a goal and three assists.

Cahill had another good night in goal with 30 saves.

"We are the best 2-6-1 team I've ever seen," said Sylvia. "Once we find ourselves, watch out. No team is out-skating us and our problems is they've just been out-scoring us."

Sylvia had good words for Cahill, a transfer from North Quincy, and defenseman Mark Abboud and Brett Loid.

North Blanked By Newton N.

North Quincy's hockey team had been playing well and had been scoring at a good pace. The Raiders appeared ready to move up in the Suburban League and possibly make the state tournament.

But the hopes of Coach Kevin Jago and his team were dimmed last week when the Raiders were shut out for the first time by Newton North, which took a 6-0 win and dropped North's record to 4-4.

North must now win nine of its 10 remaining games to qualify for the tournament and hoped to start on its way last night (Wednesday) against Waltham. Saturday the Raiders will host Brookline at 7:50 p.m. at the Youth Arena and next Wednesday will play at Brockton at 6 o'clock.

"We had been putting the puck in the net and I felt if we could get everyone back healthy, we would definitely be a force to be reckoned with," said Jago following the Newton loss. "But tonight we just didn't come out ready to play. We didn't play with any intensity and we ran into a buzzsaw. We can't afford to have another bad night."

Jago has been without his starting goalie, Matt Higgins, for seven games but Dan Ceurels has been doing a good job replacing him. Going into the Newton game he had given up only seven goals in three games.

North outshot Newton, 28-26, but couldn't beat goalies Steve MacKay, Mark Buckley and Ken Castrietta.

The Raiders have two of the league's top scorers in Scott Messina (10 goals and four assists) and Rob Ready (four goals and 10 assists), but they were stopped by Newton as were Dave Tapper (eight goals) and Keith Smith (seven goals, four assists).

Quincy's veteran coach, Bob Sylvia, is a big booster of Messina's. "I think he's the best forward in the league," he said. "The kid never stops skating out there."

Jago is high on defenseman Peter Furtado and David Cooke. "Furtado is our steadiest player and he saved a goal against Newton when Ceurels was down and out," he said.

The Raiders had a goal disallowed as the officials ruled that the puck had been batted in by hand.

QJC Hangs On For 99-98 Win

The Quincy Junior College basketball team returned to action last week after a month's layoff and showed a lot of rusty spots, but managed to hold on for a 99-98 victory over Wentworth Institute to improve its record to 8-4 (7-2 in the Greater Boston Small College Conference).

The Jaguars, under first-year coach Bill Phelan, will host Mass. College of Pharmacy tonight (Thursday) at the Quincy Vo-Tech gym (7 p.m.). Saturday will play at Massasoit Community College in Brockton at 7:30. Monday will play Mass. College of Art at Boston State College at 7:30 and next Wednesday will be home to Bunker Hill Community College at 7.

"We didn't really play the game the way we wanted to, but we pulled it out and that's the main thing," Phelan said after the Wentworth squeaker. "Our objective was to slow it down, get the ball inside. We did that at times, but there were other times when we started to run too much and turned the ball over. We also had a little problem with fouls."

John Purland was saddled with four fouls in the first half and was held to four points but he came back with an outstanding second half to score 17 points, nine from the foul line, to help kill Wentworth's comeback.

QJC took a 46-32 lead as Steve Belcastro scored 19 of his 21 points, but Phelan had to bench Purland, the inside game stalled and Wentworth's Leopards scored the last six points of the half to tie the score at 53-53.

Wentworth's Jeff Bell, who led all scorers with 28 points, scored first in the second half to put Wentworth in front but Purland led a 7-0 run that gave QJC a 60-55 lead. A later 6-0 spurt had QJC ahead, 66-59, and that lead was extended to 78-67 on two free throws by Paul Gill, who led the Jaguars with 22 points.

Bell, who had 22 points in the second half, and Steve Pomfret, who had nine of his 19 in the second half, brought the Leopards back. Wentworth got into foul trouble of its own and QJC was able to take advantage as it had a big 35-21 edge from the foul line, 20-7 in the second half. Wentworth stayed close but Will Smith, who had 13 points, went 4-for-4 from the line in the final minute, including one with nine seconds left, to seal the win.

"Our defense wasn't really there," said Phelan. "I don't know if it was the layoff, but we were lax in that area. I hope it will improve by our next game. It should."

North Wrestlers Defeat Cambridge Rindge

The North Quincy wrestling team, enjoying its best season in several years, defeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 47-20, last week to improve its record to 5-2.

Steve Joyce's Raiders faced Brockton last night, Friday will beat Hingham at 4 o'clock and next Tuesday will wrestle at Norwood at 3:45.

In the win over Cambridge Al DiBella remained

Raiderettes Find Going Tough

The North Quincy girls' basketball team continues to find rough going and is still seeking its first Suburban League victory after losing last week to Brockton, 66-38, and to Newton North, 41-29.

Paul Bregoli's Raiderettes, whose shooting has proven their biggest problem all season, faced Cambridge Rindge and Latin Tuesday and next Tuesday will host Quincy at 5 o'clock.

Brockton, the defending league champions, rolled out to a 17-4 lead and North never could get back in the game. Sophomore center Karen Runge, who had 16 points (8-for 13), scored all four points in the quarter.

Brockton increased its lead to 38-14 at the half as North's cold shooting continued. Meanwhile, Helen Wyner, Brockton's outstanding sophomore guard, began heating up to help the Boxers to their big lead.

North tried to get back into the game behind the shooting of Runge and play of Lindsay Fenney and Chris Donovan in the third quarter behind the play of sophomores Jean Welby and Eileen Warren. Welby, a guard, took two charges and made several steals in the quarter, while Warren rebounded and shot well.

In the loss to Newton North the score was tied, 6-6, after a quarter as North Quincy continued its fine defensive play. The Raiderettes, who had 21 steals in the game, were led defensively by Debbie Cavanaugh who had five steals, and Mary Holleran, with eight.

Cavanaugh and Donovan led the first half scoring with four points each as North trailed, 15-14, at halftime.

Holleran hit for seven of North's nine third quarter points as the Raiderettes took a 23-22 lead into the final quarter.

North, however, got beaten on the fourth quarter tap and Newton scored on a layup, then ran off 12 more points in a row to put the game out of reach. Warren and Ann Duggan had all of North's points in the final quarter.

Not only did North's poor shooting continue to haunt it, but it also turned the ball over 27 times. Holleran led the scoring with 11 points.

St. John's Goliath B's Remain Undefeated, 40-29

St. John's Goliath B basketball team remained unbeaten after defeating St. Joseph's B team, 40-29, in a battle for first place in the YMCA Church League.

St. Joseph's, using an aggressive defense and some fine shooting, stayed close in the first half, trailing by only four points, 18-14, at the intermission.

But St. Joseph's could manage only three points in the third quarter as St. John's took a comfortable 11-point lead.

Frank Calabro had his best game of the season with 13 points for St. John's, while Ted Stevenson had 12 and Jamie Fennessey 11.

David Jennette led St. Joseph's with nine points, Billy Ryan, Dan Jaehnig and Tim Brillo had six each and Anthony Battistone had two.

St. Joseph's, dropping to 3-2, will face Houghs Neck Saturday.

Racquetball Registration Continues

Registration continues at the Quincy Recreation Dept. office, 100 Southern Artery, for the new

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19

You can be deceived this week. Be wary of opportunists in your midst. Recent career or academic ideas are being implemented. Be sure to receive your due credit.

PISCES - February 20-March 20

Taking the lead in financial and domestic decisions brings results by the end of this period. Partner is a little vulnerable. Be ready to offer advice and support.

ARIES - March 21-April 20

Clear up neighborhood disagreements while the year is still young. Older friends require more attention, though they may not be asking. Organizational skills are at an all time high.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22

You may be appointed or elected to an executive post. Week generally sees you in the limelight, winning admirers from several quarters. Watch tendency to spend too freely.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21

Week is sprinkled with touches of glamour. Partner's prestige increases - be the first to offer congratulations. Modest speculation may pay off by Tuesday-Wednesday.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

Creativity is accented, and there's definite financial potential to consider. Outspokenness can lead to showdown with superior. Use a more traditional approach in handling domestic problem.

LEO - July 23-August 22

Best advice? Don't seek any. Your own ideas are keen, and you've a tendency to lean too heavily on others. Long-distance news offers much encouragement on weekend.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22

Week favors entering into new projects, perhaps with a partner. Avoid acting on impulse. Bright romantic cycle starts in earnest by the end of this period.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22

Temper is a little short and your role of diplomat is put to the test. Responsibilities increase through the week. Prestige is enhanced by Tuesday or Wednesday.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21

Current role is to encourage others to live up to their potential. New recreational activities are accented. Opinions change about the commitment and maturity of friends.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22

Pay less attention to rumors, relying more on instinct and fact. Behind the scenes activities focus on your present work. Budding relationships are starting to blossom.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20

Romantic comeback is favored, but financial setback may come in the form of unexpected bills. Mingling with stimulating groups is part of a current intellectual trend.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You're a portrait of contradictions: unpredictable sometimes, but frequently fixed in opinions, an adventurer, yet also a homebody. Keeping an open mind leads to professional expansion by late spring. An eye for detail leads to a financially upbeat autumn.

BORN THIS WEEK

Jan. 19, actress Jean Stapleton; 20th, actress Patricia Neal; 21st, actor Telly Savalas; 22nd, singer William Warfield; 23rd, actor Randolph Scott; 24th, singer Neil Diamond; 25th, actor Dean Jones.

Cranch School Sold To Developer

The old Cranch School has been sold by the city to Housing Organization and Trust of Braintree for $150,000 for development into 17 condominium units. Walter M. Hesson of the HO Realty Trust turned over a check for $135,000 to Mayor Francis X. McCauley.

Tuesday morning. The city had received a $15,000 deposit on the property in November, 1982. Planning Director James Lydon said it is anticipated that the conversion of the building will begin April 1 and will be completed by Nov. 1.

Board OK's Restaurant License But Name Has To Change

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
William A. Thomas of Quincy will be able to operate a family style restaurant across from the Adams birthplaces, but he will have to come up with a name other than Adam's

House. The License Board granted a common victualer license Tuesday to Thomas for 144 Franklin St., South Quincy, with the stipulation that he chose another name for the restaurant. The new name, and the restaurant's sign, must be approved by the Building Dept.

Wilhelmina S. Harris, Superintendent, United States Department of the Interior, National Park Service, which maintains the historic sites sent a letter to the board protesting the proposed name after reading about it in last week's Quincy Sun.

"We wish to enter our protest against the name of this restaurant since it will make it more difficult for tourists to distinguish historical buildings from non-historical buildings," stated Mrs. Harris. Thomas said he has no objection to changing the restaurant's name.

Hours for the restaurant, at the former location of Lickidy Split ice cream and sandwich shop, will be 5 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday to Friday, 6 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays and 6 a.m. to noon Sundays.

1 Captain, 6 Lieutenants

Only 7 File To Take Police Chief Exam

By TOM HENSHAW

Six lieutenants and one captain have applied to take the Feb. 4 Civil Service examination to establish a list of candidates for police chief of Quincy.

The deadline for applications passed Jan. 15.

Chief Francis X. Flynn, 58, who underwent quadruple heart bypass surgery in December, 1982, was in Florida and unavailable for comment but he has said in the past that he has no plans to retire.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said he asked for the Civil Service exam so that a list would be in existence should Finn change his mind. The mayor would select a new chief from the top three on the exam.

Those who applied for the exam are Capt. William Murphy, 1st. John Flaherty, Walter Lynch, Francis Mullin, John Mulligan, Donald Riley and Robert Salvaggio.

Actually Murphy will take the exam as a lieutenant since he was promoted to captain only last July and an officer must be in rank for a year before taking promotional exams in that rank.

Had the test been scheduled after next July, only the five captains in the department would have been eligible.

Capt. Paul Nestor is the only captain who has had that rank for more than a year. The other captains, all named last July, are Walter Frazer, David Rowell, Frederick Laracy and Murphy.

The five captains and eight of the department's 10 lieutenants were eligible to take the Feb. 4 exam.

March, April Goals For Ward 1 Elections

Special elections could be held as early as March and April to fill the City Council vacancy in Ward 1 created by the resignation of Leo J. Kelly.

Council President James A. Sheets said he has been assured by legislators that a referendum will not be necessary in order to change the city charter which now calls for Kelly's successor to be named by the Council.

Councillor Patricia Toland, chairman of the Ordinance Committee, said she plans to call a meeting prior to the regular Council meeting Monday, Feb. 6 on the home rule petition for the charter change.

"I don't think there will be a lot of discussion about it," she said. "I don't see any problems with it."

Sheets and Toland met earlier this week with Councillors Joanne Condon and John J. Lydon Jr., sponsors of the home rule petition, to discuss strategy.

Sheets said he was assured by Rep. Robert Vigneau of Burlington, House chairman of Legislature's Local Affairs Committee, that no referendum will be needed if the Legislature passes the petition.

Since the best time to hold such a referendum would be in conjunction with the presidential primary March 13, the lack of a referendum would speed up the process.

Condon said she hopes the Council will pass the petition at the Feb. 6 meeting.

"I think the mayor will go along with the consensus," she said. "I think we can get it through the legislature quickly, possibly in a matter of weeks. Then we can hold the preliminary election and then the final."

She said Senate Councillor James R. McIntyre, former mayor of Quincy, has promised to throw his considerable support behind the petition.

"Our goal," she said, "is to have the primary in March and the election in April. I think six weeks between the two is long enough."

Condon said she has had a

Annual City Census Starts This Week

The census taking will go on for about three weeks.

Each census taker carries identification consisting of a gold city seal with the name of the bearer in a red case.

"positive response" to the home rule petition from the people of Quincy.

"No one thinks the City Council should appoint the councillors from Ward 1," she said, "especially since Leo's term had practically two full years to run."

Kelly resigned after 10 years on the Council last Friday, Jan. 20, to take a $25,138 post as manager of two federally funded housing projects in Germantown and West Quincy.

He had been sworn in to a sixth two-year Council term only 17 days before.

Biggest Development Wins Approval

The Planning Board gave its approval last week to the biggest development in the city's history, a $200 million office complex planned in West Quincy by a family from the Middle East nation of Kuwait.

The project, called Crown Colony Place, is planned for the Old Colony Crushed Stone land off Centre St. and would provide up to 12,000 new jobs and $6 million in new city taxes.

State environmental office approval is needed before construction can get underway.

After 4 Suspicious Fires

Some Court Sessions Shifted To City Hall

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Quincy District Court is conducting some of its sessions at City Hall this week after four fires last weekend damaged parts of the courthouse on Chestnut St. and left an acrid smell throughout.

Some of the hearings being held in the Council Chambers are civil motions, civil trials, arraignments such as driving under the influence, and restraining orders.

The fires Friday night were "positively of suspicious nature" said Dep. Chief Carl Valenti who added that a dollar estimate of damage was not available.

Valenti said there would be "heavy loss" from the fires which are being investigated by the Fire Prevention Bureau, State Fire Marshal's Office and Quincy Police.

Forcible entry was made through a judge's chamber where a window was broken, said Valenti.

The largest fire was in the main Juvenile Probation office, and smaller fires were set on a desk in a judge's chamber and in two small offices, Valenti said.

A portion of the juvenile records section was destroyed, said Valenti, and considerable machinery, such as computers, was damaged.

$344,295 In Construction

Building Inspector Allen F. MacDonald reports that 52 permits for building estimated to cost $344,295 were issued during the month of December.

Receipts for the month were $39,311, plus $1,741 for public safety inspections.

There was also extensive heat and smoke damage to the lower level of the building, and moderate smoke damage to the rest of the building.

"It was a pretty smoky fire," said Valenti, who noted that several fire fighters suffered smoke inhalation but were able to remain on the scene.

Five pieces of Fire Department equipment were at the scene for an hour and a half.

Permits issued included a one-family house at $35,000, a mercantile building at $25,000, 34 residential alterations at $146,495, four other alterations at $49,800, four removals at $61,600, six signs at $5,400 and two miscellaneous projects at $21,000.

Children Hurt In Car Accident

Three young children were injured Saturday when the car in which they were riding struck a tree on Stedman St., West Quincy, near the South Boston Savings Bank.

Jacqueline, 12, Jesse, 7, and Christopher Dyke, 4, were treated and released from City Hospital.

Police said the car driven by Susan M. Dyke, 34, of East Wareham, was struck by another car and struck the tree.

The driver of the second car was identified as Robert R. Reardon, 19, of Milton.

Seasonal Crime

Crime in Quincy had a distinctly seasonal note one day last week. Someone stole a snow shovel valued at $13.95 retail from the Atlas Hardware store, 401 Billings Rd., North Quincy.

John Kane Elected QCH Board Chairman

At the recent reorganization meeting of the Quincy City Hospital Board of Managers, John W. Kane was elected chairman for 1984.

Kane had served as vice chairman of the board and chairman of the bylaws committee. He was appointed to the board by Mayor Francis X. McCauley in January, 1982.

JOHN W. KANE

GERALD MARQUIS

LAWRENCE O'DONNELL

Kane is a retired president of the Shawmut Melrose-Wakefield Bank and Trust Company. He started his career in banking as a teller in 1950.

A graduate of Harvard University, he holds a masters degree from Boston University and a law degree from Boston College Law School. An alumnus of the Stonier Graduate School of Banking, Kane is also a member of the Massachusetts Bar.

Kane is a board member of the South Shore Mental Health Center and the Neponset Community Health Center.

He also served as chairman of the special City Council Committee that studied QCH in 1980 and as a trustee of the Melrose-Wakefield Hospital for several years.

Gerald Marquis, a member of the Board of Managers and Chairman of the Long Range Planning Committee, was elected vice chairman of the board. Marquis is Director of Planning and Community Development for the City of Watertown.

Lawrence F. O'Donnell, who was chairman of the Board of Managers for the past two years, was elected secretary. When he was elected, O'Donnell was thanked by his fellow board members and Hospital Administration for his years of dedicated leadership to the Board.

An attorney, O'Donnell is senior partner of the Boston law firm, O'Donnell, O'Donnell and O'Donnell.

Mary Crowley Gregoire To Seek Ward 1 Seat

Mary Crowley Gregoire, daughter of former City

Councillor David J. Crowley and City Treasurer

Roberta Crowley, has announced her candidacy for the City Council from Ward 1.

The successor to Leo J. Kelly, who resigned Friday, will be either chosen by the Council under current charter provisions or by special election if a proposed charter change goes through.

Mrs. Gregoire, who lives in Houghs Neck and is employed by the Union Warren Banks, would be the first woman ever to run for the Ward 1 Council seat.

Her brother, David J. Crowley Jr., ran for the Ward 1 seat against Kelly in 1977 and lost by a better than 2-1 margin. He has also indicated interest in running in a special election.

Mrs. Gregoire noted in her announcement that she supported Kelly in all his campaigns, understands the problems of the Nut Island Sewage Treatment plant and will work like Kelly to solve them.

She has lived in Ward 1 all her life and helped her father in his campaign and aided his efforts to establish the Quincy Housing Authority. Her father was councillor from 1946 to 1955.

She is also the niece of former State Treasurer John F. Kennedy, who lives with her and her husband, Henry Gregoire.

The Gregiores have three children, Paul, a junior at Old Dominion University in Virginia; David, a freshman at Suffolk University in Boston; and Michele, a junior at Fontbonne Academy in Milton.

Mrs. Gregoire attended Atherton Hough School, Woodward School for Girls and Mount Ida College in Newton.

State Aid Increase Disappoints McCauley

By TOM HENSHAW
Mayor Francis X. McCauley says he is disappointed in the promised $2,156,596 in state aid for Quincy, adding that it may be insufficient to cope with increased costs in fiscal 1985.

"I had hoped," he said, "that the increase in state aid for Quincy in fiscal 1985 would at least equal the net increase of $3,446,904 in fiscal 1984."

McCauley noted that the increases proposed by Gov. Michael S. Dukakis in communications to area legislators Monday could be offset by an increase in county or metropolitan charges in the cherry sheet.

"The fiscal 1984 charges increased by $170,000 or 2.9 percent over fiscal 1983 charges," he said.

"A similar 2.9 per cent increase in fiscal 1985 would amount to $175,000 and reduce the local aid increase of $1,981,596."

Sen. Paul D. Harold said the city is getting less of an increase than last year because it has reached the limits of Proposition 2½ and does not qualify for some aid received while it was cutting.

Harold said the Dukakis administration looked at the financial demands being made on the local communities as well as its ability to raise money when calculating the state aid formula.

In spite of his disappointment, McCauley said he was pleased to have the state aid figure made available so far in advance of city budget preparations.

He said he plans to begin fiscal 1985 budget sessions with department heads during the first week in February.

"Knowing the amount of increase of the major components of local aid will enable us to structure the fiscal 1985 budget in a much more knowledgeable fashion," he said.

McCauley has estimated that the budget for fiscal 1985 will be about $75.8 million with no layoffs of city employees and no cuts in municipal services.

The mayor noted that the court-ordered payback of the General Dynamics overassessment will add a net of $800,000 to Quincy's debt service in the 1985 budget.

Also, he said, the city will have to write off an additional $2,437,000 in property taxes assessed but not paid on General Dynamics' Fore River shipyard property.

"And abatement settlements to two utility companies will be due and payable starting in 1985," said McCauley. The amounts of those settlements have not yet been decided.

City Gets Go-Ahead To Drain Quarry

City Solicitor Dean Nicasastro has ruled that the city owns Swingle's Quarry in West Quincy and can sign a contract with J.F. White Contracting Co. of Newton to drain and fill it.

But Mayor Francis X. McCauley has indicated that he will not sign the contract with White until it is determined exactly what kind of material can be dumped in the quarry hole.

Swingle's Quarry, which is more than 300 feet deep in some places, is where Paul Gooch, 17, of Brockton drowned last June 20 when he jumped from a 50-foot ledge into the water.

His body has not been recovered despite the efforts of scuba divers and electronic underwater search equipment. An earlier try to drain the quarry ended when one wall collapsed.

The White Co. submitted the best bid for draining and filling the quarry, agreeing to drain it free of charge and pay the city for the privilege of dumping waste solid fill into it.

"A 1969 ordinance limits what can be put into the quarry," said McCauley. "Dean Nicasastro will review this ordinance to see if it is compatible with the proposed White contract."

McCauley said the ordinance appears to ban the dumping of demolition material and rubbish from outside the city, which is where most of White's material will come from.

The mayor said he will meet with City Councillor James A. Sheets, Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson, officials of the White Co., Nicasastro and the Gooch boy's parents next week to discuss the matter.

Validated Parking Lot Work Underway

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said Tuesday work will get underway this week to get the Ross Parking Garage and the UDAG garage on Burgin Parkway ready for validated parking.

"All the material is on the site except for the ticket booths," said McCauley. "We are starting with the covered parking areas and move to the John Hancock and Ross Parking areas later."

The mayor said everything points to an early spring opening of the parking facilities under the management of Kinney Systems, Inc., of Boston.

Meanwhile, Planning Director James Lydon suggested that more than 100 more parking spaces can be created in the parking area by taking out the islands and having special spaces for small cars.

"The parking areas were built more than 30 years in the era of big cars," he said. "Now there are many more small cars but they are still parking Volkswagens in spaces built for Cadillacs."

He noted that the UDAG garage, which was built four years ago, has reserved 35 to 40 per cent of its spaces for small cars.

Snow Cost $110,000

The first snow storm of the new year cost the city $110,000 for snow removal, Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson reported this week.

The city spent $14,352 for sand and salt, $25,000 for calcium, $3,800 for gas and diesel fuel, $43,000 in wages (including $23,000 in overtime), $18,000 for outside contractors, and $735 for meals.

The period covered by the storm was Tuesday, Jan. 10, through Monday, Jan. 16. Cost of the latest storm was not available.

Conservation Hearing

The Quincy Conservation Commission was scheduled to hold a public hearing yesterday (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m. on a plan by Newport Management Corp. to build an $8 million, four-story office building at 5-47 Newport Ave. Extension.

Volunteer Drivers Sought For Area Cancer Patients

The Quincy / Milton Chapter of the American Cancer Society is looking for volunteer drivers to transport cancer patients to medical treatment centers in Brockton and Boston.

Dennis Sweeney of Quincy, who has been named to coordinate the ACS's local "Road to Recovery" program, estimates about 20 drivers are needed.

The program will aid cancer patients in Milton and all sections of Quincy. Volunteers from both areas are welcome.

"There is a cure for many cancer patients, but getting to it can be a problem," Sweeney said.

"We're looking for people who can spare as little as one morning, or afternoon, a month to drive a cancer patient along his or her road to recovery."

"The need is critical," he said. Patients undergoing radiation therapy, chemotherapy, or a combination of the two cannot drive themselves because of side effects, such as weakness, fatigue, and nausea.

Anyone interested in becoming a local "Road to Recovery" volunteer should contact the American Cancer Society's Brockton office for an application at 583-8515.

First Mortgage Funds Available

Funds are available through the Massachusetts Housing Finance Agency (MHFA) for income eligible families to finance first home mortgages.

Ninety-five per cent of the cost of purchase and rehabilitation of the home will be financed at an interest rate of 10.65 per cent for a term of 30 years.

Maximum family income under the program is $29,000 for a family of one, $35,000 for a family of two, $38,000 for a family of three, $41,000 for a family of four, and $3,000 for each additional member.

Interested and eligible parties should call Planning Director James E. Lydon at 773-1380, extension 442.

Quincy Quiz

Two winners in the Quincy Quiz this week.

Funice L. Tulimieri of 383 Belmont St., Wollaston, and Mark Postell of 89 Cotton Ave., Braintree, win T-shirts.

Each week two Quincy Sun T-shirts and two Quincy Sun bumper stickers are offered as prizes in the Quincy Quiz.

The first two readers, one a mail subscriber, to submit to the Sun office in writing the correct answers to the week's five questions win T-shirts. The next two win bumper stickers.

Only one member of a household is eligible to enter in any one week and no one is eligible to win more than three T-shirts.

This week's Quincy Quiz:

1. What is the name of the coach of the North Quincy High School wrestling team?
2. Who was the last city councillor, prior to Leo J. Kelly, to resign from the City Council?
3. The New England Islamic Center in Quincy Point was dedicated in: 1937? 1948? 1964?
4. True or false: The first bridge across the Fore River from Quincy Point to North Weymouth was opened in 1812.
5. Welgate Circle is located in what section of the city?

Answers to last week's Quincy Quiz:

1. Richard J. Koch Jr. is the chairman of the City Council's Finance Committee.
2. False. Joseph J. LaRaia was never a city councillor from Ward 4.
3. Francis X. McCauley is the 27th man to serve as mayor of Quincy.
4. Optometric Associates are located at 680 Hancock St., Wollaston.
5. Myopia Rd. is located in the Wollaston section of the city.

Will Houghs Neck Split Vote?

With a brief exception, Houghs Neck has had a sort of monopoly on the Ward 1 City Council seat for nearly 40 years.

CROWLEY

This year, some observers think, the Neck could lose that grip in the special elections to pick a successor to Leo Kelly who stepped down to take the $25,138 post as a Quincy Housing Authority project manager.

There are so many potential candidates that if only half of them officially get into the race they could split up the Houghs Neck vote enough to let someone from another part of the ward slip in.

Of the dozen or so possible candidates so far, some 10 are from Houghs Neck.

The Neck had little effect on the Ward 1 seat until David (Jim) Crowley won it in 1945 after it was vacated by state Rep. William Jenness. The latter, who lived on Upland Rd., had occupied the seat since 1938.

During the city's stormy marriage with Plan E from 1950 to 1959 there were no ward councillors. Crowley served at-large through 1955.

Charles Shea of Houghs Neck defeated Henry Kidluff for the Ward 1 seat in 1959. Francis McCauley another Houghs Neck resident, won the seat in 1963.

Edward Graham of Germantown, the first and only non-Houghs Neck resident since Crowley took the seat in 1967 and Kelly succeeded him in 1974.

Right now, it looks like a scorecard may be needed to keep track of candidates who plan to run, are thinking of running or would like to run.

A brother-sister feature is also shaping up with David Crowley and Mary Crowley Gregoire of Houghs Neck both running for the seat once held by their late father, Young Dave Crowley, ran against Kelly.

Downtown businessman Bernie Reisberg of Merrymount says he is definitely a candidate.

Other names being mentioned as possible candidates include, from Houghs Neck.

Also being mentioned are David Fine and Lawrence Butler, former Quincy Housing Authority board member, both Merrymount residents. And, William Dwyer of Adams Shore who ran against Thomas

KELLY

Brownell for state representative.

Germantown is yet to be heard from.

Some observers actually think that if too many Houghs Neck candidates get into the race, two strong contenders from other sections of Ward 1 could win the preliminary election and one of them the seat in the final.

Maybe.

CITY CLERK John Gillis says the preliminary election will probably be held in April if the home rule petition providing for it is approved by the City Council, the state legislature and Gov. Michael Dukakis.

He doesn't think a referendum on the charter change is necessary because the City Council would be giving the power to the electorate to elect a successor to Kelly, instead of trying to take it.

GILLIS

MEANWHILE, on the state level, Norfolk County Dist. Atty. William Delahunt of Quincy is reported a "definite" candidate for the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by Paul Tsongas.

Delahunt is expected to make it official shortly.

Unlike Congressman Brian Donnelly, Delahunt has nothing to lose. He still has four years go to on his district attorney term. Should he lose a bid for the senate, he would still be D.A.

Donnelly, however, would have to vacate his Congressional seat to run for the Senate.

Some local political observers don't think Donnelly will make the run after he has carefully thought it all over. He's still young enough for a future run at something big.

DONNELLY

THRED OF POLITICS? Here's one for a change of pace:

Joe Pacetti the popular letter carrier who delivers the mail in the downtown Quincy area recently got away for a little vacation in Barbados. While there he sent a post card to the gang at The Quincy Sun.

Nine days later, home from Barbados, and back to work, he got to deliver the post card in person.

Chamber 'Buttonhole Session'

Speaker Thomas McGee of the Massachusetts House of Representatives and Atty. Gen. Frank Bellotti head a list of officials who will take part in the sixth annual State Legislative Buttonhole Session sponsored by the South Shore Chamber of Commerce Jan. 26.

The event will be held at the Sheraton-Tara, Braintree, from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. for Chamber members and their guests.

"The Buttonhole Session is an opportunity for business people to get together with their legislators and state officials and express their views," said Chamber President John C. Doody.

Doody said legislators "respond positively to this opportunity because it is also a good way for them to explain their positions to the business community."

Other legislators attending will be Sen. Alan McKinnon, Sen. Paul Harold, Sen. Ed Kirby, Sen. Joseph Walsh, and State Reps. Mary Jeanette Murray, Robert Cerasoli, Emmett Hayes, Joseph Manning, Thomas Brownell, Peter Forman, Thomas Kennedy, Elizabeth Metayer, John Flood, Frank Hynes, and Charles Mann.

Other participants will be Administration and Finance Secretary Frank Keefe, Elder Affairs Secretary Richard Rowland, Public Safety Secretary Charles Barry, Transportation Secretary Fred Salvucci, Environmental Affairs Sec. James Hoyte, and Energy Sec. Sharon Pollard.

Also taking part will be Banking Commissioner Paul Bulman and MDC Commissioner William Geary.

Tickets for the event are available through the South Shore Chamber of Commerce at 479-1111.

Medical Insurance Alert For Elderly

South Shore Elder Services, Inc., alerts older residents to a type of medical insurance advertisement now being sent by direct mail to many of the 65 plus population in Massachusetts.

Both the envelope and its contents look very official, a spokesman said. Federal statutes are quoted. Even the page set-up describing what Medicare covers in 1984 and what this particular insurance plan could add are so designed that the reader could mistakenly connect the material with federal programs. The advertisement requests a return by a particular date and infers it would be risky business to ignore this information.

All of this is advertising. The company sending out this material is located outside of Massachusetts and is acting through the mail. The company has no connection with Medicare. The office of the Attorney General is pursuing this matter further (727-8048). In the meantime, seniors are cautioned to review information carefully.

Storms Place Schools Near 'No Classes' Limit

By TOM HENSHAW

Because of two religious holidays last fall and two recent snow storms, the Quincy public school system has only one more "no school" day remaining in the event of more snow or some other emergency.

The State Board of Education requires that youngsters be given the opportunity to attend school 180 days a year, says School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, and Quincy budgets 185 days to cover emergency cancellations.

If the school system is forced to go over the five-day emergency allotment, the time has to be deducted from vacations or, in the case of the Blizzard of February, 1978, by eliminating teacher workshop afternoons for the rest of the school year.

"The state can waive the 180-day requirement," said Dr. Creedon, "but it is rarely done since its reimbursement to the cities and towns is based on the number of days its children attend school. The Board of Education is very conservative."

Cancelling classes for the day due to a snow storm is not a quick decision.

It means that John Brown, director of school plant maintenance, has to stay up all night supervising the system's plowing equipment, three trucks, two bombadiers and one front end loader and monitoring weather conditions and forecasts.

Dr. Creedon wants to hear from Brown in time to make his decision on school closing before 6 a.m.

"The first consideration is the safety of the walking and bus-riding school population," said Dr. Creedon.

"Is it going to keep snowing? Are the roads and sidewalks icy? Are the sand trucks out? What are the prior conditions? If there is no snow on the ground then three new inches is nothing. But if there is already eight inches down, the little ones can't be seen.

"Also there is no point in opening the schools if the teachers who live outside of Quincy can't get to school."

"All this has to be balanced against the fact that it costs the city about $300,000 a day for services like teacher salaries and heating that are not rendered when classes are cancelled."

Once the decision is made to cancel schools for the day, there is a score or more telephone calls to be made.

The first ones are made to WJDA and five Boston radio stations and three television channels to let the youngsters know that there is no school. Each station has a code that is used to verify the call.

"A lot of fine young minds have been turned to trying to break the code," said Dr. Creedon. "Some youngsters have called WJDA to say that they are calling for me and that schools are closed for the day. They all fail due to the code."

Other calls are made to the MDC and Quincy police to cancel crossing guards, the milkman and food services to cancel deliveries, the bus garage and local private schools, which usually go along with the public school decision.

Snow storms are not the only reasons for cancellation of classes. Water main breaks and breakdowns in the heating systems of individual schools have also caused the "no school" flag to go up.

Several years ago a water main broke in front of the now defunct Great Hill School in Houghs Neck while the pupils were en route to classes. There would be no water in the school when they arrived.

"We couldn't send the kids back home because we didn't know who would be there," said Dr. Creedon. "So we put them on buses and distributed them among the other schools in the area."

Schools are never closed down during the day because of a storm or a coming storm.

"A lot of parents work and there would be no one home," said Dr. Creedon. "Also it would disrupt traffic patterns. Drivers are not alert to kids during the school day. Also we would have to find crossing guards and bus drivers."

The safest place for a kid to be when a storm is coming is the classroom. Until his or her safety is guaranteed, no one is going home."

Quincy's Yesterdays

By Tom Henshaw

Chief Bishop Denies Police Ignore Curfew

Police Chief Ernest H. Bishop denied that the city curfew law, signalled by two toots on the fire whistle at 8:55 p.m., was a dead issue in Quincy since many times his officers had used it to take unrestrained boys and girls, 16 and under, off the streets.

"Of course, it is enforced," said Bishop, "and it is of great value. I don't suppose the time will ever come when there will not be a curfew law to fall back on in Quincy."

The curfew ordinance provided that "no child under 16 years of age shall be, loiter or remain upon any street, highway, park or other public way or place in this city after the hour of 9 o'clock in the afternoon of any day," unless accompanied by an adult.

"Suppose a boy makes a practice of staying out beyond a reasonable hour at night," said Bishop, explaining the rationale for the curfew law.

"First, the reason for it is neglect of parents or grandparents. Then because there is no restraint on the part of the parents the boy develops a liking for staying out at night."

"This eventually brings him into the companionship of older boys who could influence him along paths that would lead to serious consequences."

ADAMS HIGHWAY?

An informal poll of Quincy residents to select a new name for the Southern Artery drew 171 responses with 17 of them suggesting that the road be called Adams Highway and 18 picking some other name with Adams in the title.

Other proposals that drew more than one vote included: Pilgrim Highway, eight; Lindbergh Highway, six; Granite Highway, three; Myles Standish Highway, four; Thomas Morton St., three; Merrymount Highway, three; and John Hancock Highway, three.

PHARMACY TOPICS

By Edward David R.Ph.

New chewing gum to help smokers quit contains real nicotine. You'll need a doctor's prescription to get it, and since nicotine is dangerous — it is important to keep the gum in its child-resistant package.

Experimental technique uses electromagnetism to "melt" arterial plaque. So far it works on rabbits and rats, says its Chicago developer.

Neurologists are using video-games-like tests to measure patients' hand-eye coordination and to track symptoms. Delicate machinery measures responses by the millisecond and is objective in judgment.

Single-tooth injections of dental anesthetic "take" faster and leave the patient with less afternumbness, says the Los Angeles dentist who helped develop the procedure. It's already in use across the country.

Rectal thermometer is more reliable than an oral one, especially if the patient breathes rapidly. Research at the University of New Mexico School of Medicine points to a 1.2 degree discrepancy.

WHAT'S MAKING THIS BOOK A BEST SELLER?

An 8 to 9.25% annual return—without tying up cash for long periods.

A Select Savings Account passbook is becoming a very popular item.

It's not surprising when you consider that a Select Savings Account is a great way to earn high interest that doesn't require an enormous minimum deposit. All you need to open one is a $500 minimum balance, and you can earn an annual rate of 8% (8.33% effective annual yield)—a lot higher than you could earn on a regular savings or NOW Account. When your passbook balance reaches $2,500 you begin earning 9.25% annually (9.65% effective annual yield).

And no, you don't have to tie up your money forever to get these rates. Just give us 90 days' notice of withdrawal. Otherwise, we're required to impose a penalty of one month's interest for early withdrawal.

The Select Savings Account even allows you to build your high interest account by making as many additional deposits as you like. And, to give you the best return on your money, we compound the interest daily. Interest rates are set monthly. Your principal and interest are fully insured up to $100,000 by the F.D.I.C.

All-in-all, it's easy to see why the Select Savings Account passbook is one of the most popular books around.

To open your account, just call 773-0500 and we'll send you what you need to get started—or stop by one of the 17 conveniently located Bank of New England-Hancock offices today.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

The fate of humanity is dependent on its supply of hope. What oxygen is for the lungs, such is hope for the meaning of human life. If we ever lose our hope, whether we are young or old, we are finished. We may continue to eat, sleep, talk, move about, but in a meaningful sense, we cease to live if we have no hope.

The Bible has much to say about hope. St. Paul speaks about hope along with faith and love as the three outstanding virtues in Christian life. The entire career of St. Paul is an example of the power of hope to sustain a person through the greatest trials that life can offer.

There is something irresistible about hope in the midst of hopelessness. Certainly nothing could have been more hopeless than the figure of Christ on his cross and the despairing figures huddled at the foot of it. All hope was gone. He was crucified. But from that lonely, forsaken figure comes the promise that all men shall one day be freed from that which confines and binds them. All men can live in terms of that hope...

Laity Sunday At Bethany Church

Jan. 29 is designated as Laity Sunday at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Centre.

The 10 a.m. worship service will be conducted entirely by lay persons of the congregation. There will be no 9 a.m. chapel service this week.

Laity Sunday reaffirms one of the principles of the Protestant tradition, the "priesthood of all believers." This theological tenet teaches that all Christians, ordained and unordained, by virtue of being baptized in Christ's name and into his church, share in the responsibility of being ministers of Jesus Christ.

The first 10 minute sermon, titled "Sharing Faith with Children", will be preached by Gerard Capobianchi. It will be based on the text found in the Gospel of Matthew 18:1-7. Kathleen Cronin will preach the second sermon titled "A Glimpse of God" using the text in Matthew 25:31-40.

The opening liturgy will be conducted by Dr. Henry F. Paterson Jr., while the comments on church life and work and the dedication of the offering will be led by David S. Carr.

Scripture readers will be Sylvia A. Sanchez and Lisa Birr, who will read from the braile New Testament. Nancy J. Cosgrove will offer the congregational prayer and Howard S. Willard Sr. will close the service with prayer and the benediction.

The Bethany Men Singers, under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist and choir master, will present two selections.

The Silesian melody, "Fairer Lord Jesus" will be sung as the offertory and James McGranahan's "My Redeemer" will be the anthem. The Bethany Men Singers group is composed of Edmund Aluisi, Win Bettinson, Richard S. Carr, Robert McLain, Thomas Newton, Richard Phillips, Richard W. Pinel, and James Wilcox.

Church School classes will also be held from 10 to 11 in the parish house for pre-school through 7th grade. Nursery care is provided for babies and young children.

Following the worship service, a time for fellowship and light refreshments will take place in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to attend and share in the worship and fellowship.

Catholic Schools Week At St. Joseph's

Along with the other three Catholic Schools in Quincy, St. Joseph School will celebrate Catholic Schools Week Jan. 29 - Feb. 4.

Some of the high points of the week will be:

An open house day for parents, registration for next year's first grade, teacher appreciation day, a luncheon for teachers and clergy including those clergy from parishes other than St. Joseph's who have students attending the school.

St. Joseph School has a history of some 57 years of service to Quincy and Quincy Point.

REV. JOSEPH DOWNEY, pastor, and Sister Anne Judge, SND, principal, review plans for Catholic Schools week at St. Joseph School.

JWV Post To Honor 6

Quincy Jewish War Veterans Post will honor six local high school students Sunday, Feb. 12 at its 30th annual "Classmates Today -- Neighbors Tomorrow" breakfast meeting.

The breakfast will begin at 9:30 a.m. at Beth Israel Synagogue, 33 Grafton St., Quincy Point.

The post will honor the following students chosen by their classmates as best exemplifying brotherhood in their daily activities: Johnny Hui-Chung Li, Quincy High School; Elaine Sugarman, North Quincy High School; Lisa Marie McNulty, Quincy Vocational Technical School; Brian A. Fox, Weymouth South; Eric A. Gagnon, Weymouth North; Judith Bloom, Hull High School.

Presentation of citations to student honorees will be made by local officials, leaders within the veteran's organizations and post officers.

Committee members are past commanders Irving Isaacson, Harvey Solomon, Dave Minkofsky, Ralph Paul, Nathan Goldberg and Commander Jason Stone.

Valentine Liturgy At St. John's Feb. 11

Married couples may renew their marriage vows at a special Valentine liturgy Saturday, Feb. 11 at St. John the Baptist Church, Quincy Centre.

The ceremony will take place during the regular Mass at 7 p.m. It will be followed by a social in the church hall, with music and dancing until 11 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

In addition to the special Saturday evening liturgy, parish couples will be invited to renew their vows at the Sunday liturgies at 9:30 a.m. and 11 a.m.

The Spiritual Development Commission of the Parish Council has planned the liturgies to honor the concept of devoted family life and to provide a source of sanctification for those parishioners who dedicate themselves to the married state.

The Valentine liturgy represents an opportunity for husbands and wives to renew their marriage vows collectively, to offer prayers of thanksgiving and ask the blessing of God upon their union, their homes and families. It is suggested that the couples in attendance take seats in the center section of the church.

All are welcome, from newlyweds to diamond wedding anniversary celebrants!

There will be no charge for the Saturday evening entertainment following the liturgy in the church hall.

Refreshments for the social will be sponsored by the Parish Activities Commission of the Parish Council.

Foster Care First Parish Topic

United First Parish Church (Unitarian), Quincy Sq., will sponsor a presentation Thursday, Feb. 2, on the shortage of foster homes in the community.

The presentation, which will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Parish Hall, will be given by Jennifer Holme, foster care recruiter for the Department of Social Services.

Residents can learn what they can do to help remedy the situation.

In the area served by the Department of Social Services of Quincy, Milton and Randolph, there are 116 children in foster care and only 20 foster homes, according to the department.

Catholic Schools Week Jan. 29 To Feb. 4

Four Quincy schools will be among those celebrating Catholic School Week, Jan. 29 - Feb. 4 across the United States.

During this annual national celebration, those involved in Catholic Schools celebrate their contributions to the field of education.

Quincy schools which will be participating are St. Ann's, Wollaston; St. Mary's, West Quincy; Sacred Heart, North Quincy, and St. Joseph's, Quincy Point.

This year the theme of the week is "Catholic Schools - Beacons of Hope." Catholic schools have operated in this country for the past 240 years. The first Catholic school was begun in Berks County, Pa. in 1744.

Purpose of this annual celebration is to build community awareness of the involvement in Catholic Schools across the country.

Cambridge Too Much For Raiders, 45-29

Although the North Quincy boys' basketball team lost its fifth game in a row last week, 45-29, to undefeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin, the Raiders turned in one of their finest defensive efforts of the season.

Ed Miller's Raiders (3-7) played Quincy Tuesday. Friday will be at Waltham at 7:30 and next Tuesday will host Brookline at 7.

Cambridge's 45 points were by far its lowest output of the season. Unbeaten in 11 games, six in the Suburban League, Cambridge has been beating most teams by 30 or more points and usually scores in the 70s and 80s.

"The boys did a tremendous job on defense but Cambridge was just too big and had too much of everything for us," Miller said. "They have a terrific team and I was proud that we could hold them to such a low total.

Paul Ryan had 15 points for North, Chris Bunker had eight, and Nick Gel-somini, scored seven points and was five-for-six from the foul line. Ken Runge and Steve Higgins were especially outstanding on defense.

Quincy Bombed Twice

The Quincy boys' basketball team met two of the Suburban League powers last week and was wallowed in each to drop its record to 2-9.

Rick DeCristofaro's Presidents played North

Quincy Tuesday, Friday will host Newton North at 7:30 and next Tuesday will be home to Weymouth North at 8 p.m.

Last Friday the Presidents went up against the class of the league, Cambridge Rindge and Latin, which improved its record to 11-0 with an easy 82-42 victory.

John Evans, one of the top scorers in the league, almost equaled Quincy's total points with 23. Cambridge has rolled over everyone this year, most wins being by 30 points or more.

Earlier in this week Brockton handed Quincy an 81-51 setback.

Sean Foster led the Presidents with 13 points.

Raiderettes Snap 5-Game Losing Streak

The North Quincy girls' basketball team is still looking for its first Suburban League victory, but last Friday the Raiderettes snapped a five-game losing streak with a 62-55 win over Barnstable of the South-eastern Conference.

Paul Bregoli's North girls, with a 3-8 record, played Quincy Tuesday and will host Barnstable next Thursday at 5 o'clock.

The Raiderettes trailed only once in the Barnstable game, 2-0, but a Chris Donovan foul shot and a Karen Runge basket gave them a lead they never relinquished.

North led, 22-14, after one quarter as Debbie Cavanaugh had six points and Runge and Donovan four each. Barnstable cut the lead to 34-26 at half-time. Cavanaugh and Runge added four points each while sophomore Eileen Warren hit for two and did some fine rebounding.

Runge and Donovan continued to dominate inside, each scoring six points in the third quarter and junior Ann Duggan scored four.

Cavanaugh and Mary Holleran keyed the defense in the quarter with numerous steals as North led, 54-36, going into the fourth quarter. Bregoli rested his starters with six minutes left.

Runge had 15 points and seven rebounds, Cavanaugh had 12 points, six assists and seven steals. Holleran and Donovan had 11 points each and Duggan eight.

Earlier in the week North lost to Suburban League-leading Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 57-38.

The Raiderettes fell behind at the start on a basket by Tanya McRae, but Holleran hit a jumper to tie the game. Cambridge then opened up a 10-2 lead but backup center Lynda Feeney hit on a jumper and added a free throw to cut the gap to 10-5. Cambridge, paced by McRae and the league's leading scorer, Dolores Williams, again pulled away.

Rindge and Latin pulled away, 32-14, at the half.

North had good performances from Cavanaugh and sophomores Jean Welby and Warren.

North picked up the defensive intensity in the second half as it held Cambridge to four baskets as the Raiderettes came up with many steals led by Cavanaugh and Holleran. Holleran had five points and Cavanaugh hit a layup off a steal and went two for three from the line.

Midway through the fourth quarter North had cut the lead from 18 to seven points but turned the ball over twice in a row and missed two free throws. Donovan had five fourth quarter points to finish with eight, Holleran had 11 points and Cavanaugh eight.

The game was marred by 57 fouls and Cambridge had 45 free throws and North 30. Five Raiderettes fouled out.

ANN MCCARRON of Quincy is a member of the Plymouth State College women's basketball team. A power forward, she came off the bench to score a season-high 14 points against St. Anselm's and leads the team with a free throw percentage of 93 percent. The daughter of George and Mary McCarron, she is a junior physical education major and is a 1981 graduate of Quincy High where she played on the volleyball, softball, basketball and cross country teams.

Carroll Sets Plymouth State Record For Rebounds

Sophomore power forward Ed Carroll of North Quincy, who has had an outstanding season for the Plymouth State College men's basketball team, recently broke the school record for most rebounds in a game when he took down 24 in a 100-91 loss to New Paltz, N.Y., State.

The 6 - 4, 205-pound former North Quincy star is second on the team in rebounding and third in scoring.

Kiwanis Hockey Tourney Feb. 20

The Quincy Kiwanis Club's 11th annual International Youth Hockey Tournament will take place at the Quincy Youth Arena during school vacation week, Feb. 20-26.

The Class A, AHA-sanctioned event will feature 60 teams from Austria, Canada, New York, New Jersey, New England and Greater Boston. Competing in the double elimination tournament will be teams from four divisions: Bantams, Pee Wees, Mites and Squirts.

A pass good for admission to all games can be purchased from any Quincy Kiwanian or at the door for $4. Single admissions at the door are $2, for adults, $1, for students 12-18 years and children under 12, free.

Proceeds are used to provide scholarships, camperships and other charitable endeavors sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Quincy.

● YMCA Church League

St. John's Junior Girls In Top Spot

St. John's Junior girls' basketball team defeated Most Blessed Sacrament, 17-9, at Atlantic Middle School in the battle of the unbeaten to take sole possession of first place in the Quincy YMCA Church League.

Deirdre Murphy was outstanding for St. John's with eight points and 15 rebounds in the hard-fought game. Hope Spooner had six points and played aggressive defense, Caitlin Shiels had two points and Debbie Panaro one.

Panaro, the team's leading scorer, sacrificed her chance at scoring when she was put at point guard in order to run the offense.

Kellene Duffy, Kristin Bruno, Jennifer Bouley, Kristen Luosey, Sharon Southwick and Christine Delaney all played well as they held Blessed Sacrament well below its scoring average.

For Blessed Sacrament, Karen Boussey scored seven points and Debbie Hall had the other two.

Saturday St. John's will face St. Albert's and Blessed Sacrament A will meet Blessed Sacrament B.

St. Joseph's Goliath B's Defeat HN

St. Joseph's Goliath B basketball team returned to the win column with a 26-13 victory over a scrappy Houghs Neck club in Quincy YMCA Church League action.

Dave Jennette keyed the win with 10 points and some strong rebounding. In a sloppy game marred by a large number of fouls, St. Joseph's managed only an 8-4 halftime lead. A strong third quarter and foul trouble on Houghs Neck's part sealed the victory for St. Joseph's.

Billy Ryan had six points for St. Joseph's, Timmy Brillo three and Dan Jaehnig, Billy Hutton and Mike Sclaro two each.

while the unsung hero, Anthony Battistone, had a point. Ricky Morris and Jimmy Shugrue were held scoreless but played well on defense.

Steve Robinson had seven points for Houghs Neck before fouling out.

St. Joseph's will next face Fort Square Saturday at the YMCA.

St. John's Midget Girls Edge St. Joseph's

St. John's Midget girls' basketball team remained in second place in the Quincy YMCA Church League with a last minute 17-15 victory over St. Joseph's.

Joanne Rugnetta hit on two free throws to break a 17

-17 tie and give St. John's the win.

Kelly Snow and Regina Murphy played strong defense and Rugnetta had 10 points, Amy Baker four and Meagan Shields three as St. John's improved to 5-1.

St. John's will next play St. Albert's Saturday at Broadmeadows Middle School.

Johnson Rear Commodore Mass. Bay Yacht Assn.

Greenhalgh Leads Quincy To Biggest Win

Bob (Bones) Greenhalgh scored 19 points as the Quincy High School basketball team chalked up its greatest victory ever, a 45-11 decision over Brockton, for its third straight overwhelming win. It was the first time in three years Brockton had lost on the home court.

Coach George Clark's Quincy boys so dominated the game that Brockton was able to score only three points in the entire second half, which some 50 Quincy fans that followed their team thought was ample atonement for the many humiliations suffered in Brockton.

The Brockton second team gained some measure of revenge by hammering the Quincy jayvees, 25-10 with Karlstrom getting four points and Halloran, Fisher and Mattson two each for the Presidents.

The Quincy second team lineup included: Ross, Bassett, Mattson, forwards; Fisher, center; Halloran, Folger, Karlstrom, guards.

QUINCY GIRLS BOW

The Malden AC showed up with only five players so the Quincy YWCC basketball team played without its side center and lost, 36-13, with the visitors' Helen Bassett scoring 26 points. Sybil Bailey of Quincy worked hard to stem the Malden tide.

The Quincy lineup included: R. Hall, I. Hall, forwards; S. Bailey, center; D. Treco, M. McCobb, M. Sells, guards.

CHECKERS LOSE

Dorey, Mahoney and Listman peppered the hoop to keep the North Quincy Checkers in the basketball game for the first quarter but the Walpole Town Team eventually prevailed, 49-31, to hand the Checkers their second straight loss in the North Junior High School gym.

The North Quincy lineup included: Dorey, Listman, forwards; Jacobson, center; Topham, Philbrick, Mahoney, guards.

ALL STARS WIN

Gub Anderson was the big gun with 13 baskets and three free throws for 29 points as the Quincy All Stars opened their home season with a 50-28 victory over the U.S. Veterans basketball team of Boston.

The All Stars lineup included: Anderson, Barry, forwards; Dugan, Haddad, centers; Zanowski, Sivad, Foley, guards.

BETHANY ADVANCES

Johnny Bagon popped in seven baskets to lead the Bethany Church basketball team to a 27-14 victory over Wollaston Methodist and take over second place in the Greater Quincy Interchurch Basketball A League.

SPORTS BITS '28

Capt. Comparato scored eight of his team's 11 points as the Quincy High School basketball team won its seventh straight victory, 11-10, over Winthrop. . . Carl Snow was seen as the successor to Sylvester Meagher as commodore of the Quincy Yacht Club. . . Fred Thayer and Charley Crowley won the four-ball, best-bale golf tournament at the Wollaston Golf Club. . . Dorey's 13 points led the North Quincy Checkers to a 35-14 win over the Kingston Town Team. . . The Legislative Committee on Legal Affairs held a public hearing on a petition by Fred Doe of North Quincy to permit Sunday baseball in Massachusetts. . . Francis Hogan, the former Boston Braves catcher, now with the New York Giants, was the main speaker at the annual banquet of the Quincy Trojans football team at the Elks Grill. . . THESE GYMNASTS from the Somersault Center of North Quincy have been enjoying a good season. Front, left to right, Marianne Janik, Trishia Fontecchio, Jessica Scheller, Lori Breen and Jodi Trafon. Second row, Shannon Mellor, Joanne Ryan, Kelly Ryan, Lynn Rimovitz and Allyson Palmer. Third row, Carolyn Janik, Debbie McArdle, Kelly Cameron, Stefanie Shamshak, Anne O'Sullivan, Allison Lawrence and Lara Dower. Back row, Karen McDermott, owner and coach Tom Fontecchio and Coaches Allen Cree and Patty Anderson.

Somersault Gym Team Competes In Hyannis

The girls Class III gymnastics team from the Somersault Center in North Quincy traveled to Hyannis to compete against the Taurian Gym School and the girls, trying to qualify for the state championships, fared well.

In the junior division (9 and 10) Jodi Trafon placed third on uneven bars, Allyson Palmer won the uneven with a 7.5 score, Lynn Rimovitz, in her first meet, placed second in vaulting at 7.8, and Marianne Janik had a good day placing third in vault and floor exercise and all-around. She placed second on beam at 7.45.

In the intermediate division (11-13), Keli Ryan, in her first meet of the year, was nervous but showed good potential. Carolyn Janik placed second on the beam, Anne O'Sullivan was second in vaulting at 8.05 and placed fourth all-around at 29.55. Allyson Lawrence took third in vaulting and won on uneven bars at 7.65, and Maureen Furey had a good day as she placed second on bars, first in vault at 8.35 and second all-around.

The boys' team traveled to Academy Gym School to qualify for the states with more than 80 boys from the South Shore competing.

In Class IV all boys improved their scores. Todd Elwell, in his first year, improved his score by two points, Joe Hayes placed fifth on rings at 8.5, Ryan Hazel placed third on high bar at 8.17, and Dennis Lawrence had a fine day as he placed in six events, taking first in vaulting at 9.3 and third all-around at 48.9.

In Class III Paul Coska keeps improving in his first year at this level and is scoring 8 or better in vaulting. Nat Goodale placed second on rings, third on high bar and sixth all-around at 45.2, Joe Haran came back after being sidelined and placed third on rings and parallel bars and was fifth all-around at 45.3, and Rob Feeley keeps getting better each week as he won the vaulting at 8.8 and placed fourth all-around at 45.7.

The Class II team swept its division. John Redmon placed fourth all-around, Steve Winger placed third at 46.4, his best ever, Dave Johnson broke the 50's and took second all-around and Gerry Haran, on track to make the nationals, won the all-around at 54.9. Last year he was 18th in the country.

The boys will go to New Hampshire Saturday for the The boys will go to New Hampshire Saturday for the New England Cup championships.

North Track Team In 2 Big Wins

The North Quincy boys' track team, which had been having trouble winning despite some outstanding individual performances, had a big week last week with two victories, improving its record to 3-5.

Colin Powers won the shot put (40-3), was second in the 50-yard dash and ran on the winning mile relay team to lead the Raiders over Weymouth North, 58-26, in a Suburban League meet.

Other North winners were Kevin Kelly, 300 (38.1); Arthur Collings, 600 (1:28.0); Jeff Stryker, 1000

(2:35.0); Scott Coyne, two-mile (10:29.8); John DeLappe, high jump (5-6); and the mile relay team of Tom Kearney, Powers, Tom Wildes and Coyne (4:01.1).

Other scorers were DeLappe, second, hurdles; Kearney, third, 50; Bob Alfano, second, 300; Joe Bangs second and Trevor Ames third, 600; Wildes, third, 1000; Heath Petracca, third, mile; Harry Morash, second, two-mile; Collings, second, high jump, and Chris Ricciuti, third, shot put.

North Quincy defeated Don Bosco, 51-34, in a non-league meet as Powers and DeLappe each won two events.

Powers won the 50-yard dash (6.0) and the shot put (40-1/2), while DeLappe won the hurdles (7.9) and the high jump (5-8).

Also winning for the Raiders were Collins, 300 (35.2); Stryker, 600 (1:17.6) and the 1600-yard relay team (3:38.0).

Coach Bart Petracca feels several of his Raiders, who improved in every meet this winter, will do well in the coming state championship meet.

North Pins Hingham

North Quincy's wrestling team rolled over Hingham, 47-16, last Friday in a non-league meet to improve its record to 7-4.

Steve Joyce's Raiders faced Norwood Tuesday, will host Quincy Saturday night at 7 o'clock and next Wednesday will be home to Plymouth-Carver at 7.

Jim White, who has been one of North's most consistent winners, improved his record to 10-1 in leading the Raiders to their easy win over Hingham.

Earlier North had broken even against Weymouth teams in a quadrangular meet at Quincy, then lost to Brockton.

In the quadrangular meet North defeated Weymouth North, 36-22.

North Quincy's winners were Tom Kallenberg by pin at 114 pounds, Steve Golden, 11-2 decision at 121; Don Green by pin at 128, Pat Bull, 12-9 decision at 140; Terry Stark, 6-5 decision at 147; White, 17-0 decision at 157; and Rich Ragusa, 5-2 decision at 187.

The Raiders lost to Weymouth South, 30-24.

Winning Raiders were Scott Fitzgerald, 2-0 decision at 107; John Pater, 4-2 decision at 134; Stark by pin at 147; White, 12-9 decision at 157; John Webb by pin at 169 and Al DiBella, 4-2 decision in the heavyweight bout.

UCT Widens Lead

UCT increased its Mite-Squirt House League lead to three points with a victory and a tie during the past week.

UCT edged Bo Car Printing, 2-1, on goals by Christine Barrett and Joe Carinci. Todd McIver, Jamie Schaeftz, Keith McNaught and Kevin Barrett had assists. Jim Smith scored for Bo Car.

UCT tied Lydon Russell, 3-3, with David Cooper, Brian Campbell and Christine Barrett scoring for UCT. Carinci, McNaught, Aidan O'Donoghue and McIver had assists. Mike Christopherson, Peter Nee and Doug Johnson scored for Lydon with assists for Johnson, Nee and Chris Conner.

The Paul Harold Club edged Balducci's, 4-3, as Mike O'Brien scored two goals and Steve O'Brien and Jeff Craig one each. Craig had three assists. Mike O'Brien two and Steve O'Brien one. Dan Boylen, Doug Nolan and Kevin Boylan scored for Balducci's with Leo Hughes, Nolan and Ralph DiMattia having assists.

The forfeit win for Balducci's two weeks ago was reversed and Lydon Russell was the winner, 2-0. Christopherson and Ben Johnson had the goals and Dan Morrell and Jay Evans had assists.

The standings: UCT, 11-4-3; Harold, 9-5-4; Lydon Russell, 5-6-7; Balducci's, 5-9-4; Bo Car, 4-10-4.

Pee Wee B's Win Pair

The Pee Wee B team, sponsored by A&T Movers, won two games over the weekend to stay atop the Greater Boston League.

Quincy defeated Dedham, 4-1, in the first game of the state playdowns which determine which teams from different geographical areas go on to the state championships in March.

Bob Kane had two goals and Matt Buccella and Brian Zimmerman one each. Joe Fasano, Brian Taylor and Rob Carroll had assists. Fine defense and outstanding goaltending by James Tiberio and Scott Cunningham made the difference. Quincy also blanked Westwood, 6-0, as the defense and goaltending again were superb. Taylor had two goals and Steve Connolly, Zimmerman, Kane and Kiely Morris one each. Buccella, Mark Cafano, Fasano, Mike Hughes and Mike Baylis had assists. Jim McCarthy, Carroll, Bob Miller, Sean Doherty, Bob Scott and Morris excelled on defense.

Suburban Cuts Marines Lead

Suburban Disposal cut Caddy Marine's Midget House League lead to three points with a 4-3 win over the Marines.

Fire Extinguisher defeated Quincy Fire Dept., 6-3, and Baskin Robbins outlasted Rogan Hennessy, 10-8.

The standings: Caddy, 9-

3-4; Suburban, 8-5-3; Fire Dept., 8-7-1; Baskin Robbins, 6-9-1; Rogan Hennessy, 6-9-1; Extinguisher, 5-9-2.

Youth Girls Roll, 5-2

The Quincy Youth Girls' hockey team continues to roll along and last week defeated Canton, 5-2.

Lisa Steen, Sheila Graham, Christine Doonan,

Merri Roman and Midge Lawlor scored the goals, while Nancy Toland and Doonan had two assists apiece and Marissa Zona and Roman one each. Goalie Jill Rennie stopped a first period penalty shot and was outstanding throughout. Also contributing to the win were Michelle Belanger, Diane Murray and Jean Gill.

Washington, Colman's Tie, 5-5

Two games in the Quincy Youth Arena Senior Hockey League were postponed by snow last week and only two games were played.

Washington Tap and Colman's played to a 5-5 tie with Mark Manganaro scoring the tying goal for Washington late in the game. Danny Flaherty, Joe Cyr, Ed Curran and Pat Clifford had the other Washington goals and Clifford, Mark Kelly and Ken Kelly had assists. For Colman's Joe McConville had two goals and Bruce Hodges, Mike Mafra and Ed Mullen one each. Mullen had two assists and Ted Weidemann, McConville, John Yaxter and Frank Guest one each.

Joe's Pub defeated Kelly's Pub, 4-1, with Mike Doyle scoring two goals and Fred Moynihan and Steve Barrett one each. Dan Cronin, John Barrett, Jeff MacCune and Rick Cox had assists. Frank McGinnis scored for Kelly's and Paul Cooney assisted.

The standings: Kane's Place, 13-0-1; Fowler House, 11-2-1; Joe's, 7-5-3; Kelly's, 6-7-2; Colman's, 5-8-2; Hofbrau, 5-8-1; China Star, 3-11-0; Washington, 2-11-2.

Squirt A's Win Tourney Opener

Quincy's Squirt A team, sponsored by South Boston Savings Bank, opened state tournament play with a 5-2 victory over King Philip, with Matt Kelley's outstanding play on defense the key to the win.

Quincy went ahead, 3-2, early in the second period on a goal by Danny Savage, with Mark Kelleher assisting. Quincy's defense took over and shut down King Philip the rest of the way.

Other scorers were Timmy Collins, Steve Carroll, Sean McCarthy and Joey Bevilacqua. Billy Lydon, Collins, Carroll and Bevilacqua had assists.

Goalies Richie Brooks and Dennis Ruggere were outstanding.

Raiderettes Defeat Newton N.

The North Quincy girls' track team improved its record to 6-0 last week, defeating Newton North.

The Raiderettes Wednesday faced equally unbeaten Cambridge Rindge and Latin in the meet which would decide the Suburban League championship.

One Fox's team will face Brockton Friday at 5:30 p.m. at Cambridge in a meet postponed by snow earlier.

They will finish the league season next Wednesday against Quincy at 3:30 p.m. at Newton North.

Mary Ann Kelleher is unbeaten this season in events ranging from the 600 to the two-mile and last week in a 51-35 victory over Newton North. She ran the fastest 1000-yard run in the '84 this year (2:43.3) to remain undefeated.

North's Georgia Traficante, the team's best in the 600 and an outstanding high jumper, is sidelined with a knee injury which kept her out of the Cambridge meet. She was sure to be missed against such a strong team as Cambridge, which last week improved to 6-0 with a 46-40 victory over Weymouth South.

The Raiderettes' other winners against Newton North were Lisa Fitzgerald, 50-yard dash (6.6); Maria McGuirl, hurdles (7.8); Eileen Crehan, shot put (35-8); Diane Lindenfelzer, 600 (1:35.6); Tracey Corrigan, mile (5:36.1), and Julie Walsh, two-mile (12:20.2).

The other scorers were Crehan, third, 50; Norcen Connolly, second, shot put; Fitzgerald, second, high jump; Laura Ciulla, third, 300; Theresa Collings, third, 600; Tricia Barrett, second, 1000; Meg Leary, second, mile, and Ann Toland, third, two-mile.

Several Raiderettes made excellent showings last Saturday in the Mass. State Track Coaches' Association invitational meet at Harvard.

Kelleher broke her own school record in the two-mile, placing second in 11:08.5. Crehan was third in the shot put at 38-1½ and in all seven of her throws during the day bettered her previous best. Fitzgerald was fifth in the 600 at 1:28.9 and the two-mile relay team of Leary, Barrett, Corrigan and Lindenfelzer was second at 9:59.5.

Stay Alive!

By John Valante

OFF HIGHWAY - OFF LIGHTS

Vacationers who insist upon driving long distances in one stretch may unwittingly make themselves targets for tragedy. For instance - it's late at night, and you're suddenly engulfed in fog on an unfamiliar road. Concerned about the hazards of covering unknown roads, you decide to pull over to the side of the highway. As a safety precaution, you leave the car lights on.

According to the American Automobile Association, this procedure may be tantamount to signing your death warrant. Indeed, it was responsible for a fatal accident on Connecticut's Merritt Parkway not long ago. When a motorist's tire blew, he pulled off the road onto the grass. It was dark and he did not turn off his tail lights. When another car came speeding along, its driver followed the red tail lights, roared up onto the grass and crashed into the parked car killing its occupants.

The moral: When your car is stationary on or near the highway, light a flare or wave a flashlight, but keep your tail lights off!

New Cable Ch. 3 Series On Working Women

"It is expected that 85% of all women will be working outside the home by 1990," says Dr. Lonnie Carton.

"Better planning and preparation by women today will both enhance their job options and increase their job satisfaction.

To aid in this preparation, "Learning in the Community" or LINC, a new five part television series, will be aired by Quincy Community Television on Ch. 3 in April.

The first part of each program will show workshops led by Dr. Carton, broadcast journalist of the nationally syndicated radio program, "The Learning Center." Quincy women will participate in the program at Quincy Cablesystems.

Alicia Coletti, director of the Quincy Junior College Women's Center, will host live follow-ups after each workshop.

Viewers will be able to participate by calling the studio and talking with guests who have knowledge of area resources.

A "next day" telephone number will be given for additional calls or for personal counseling.

Programs and some of the topics they will cover are:

The First Step: Making Changes, awareness that change is normal and also difficult for most people, learning to control change.

Getting Through the Roadblocks, resolving personal and family issues, change can be beneficial to families.

Homework is For Grownups, Too, determining personal interests and goals, learning about community and educational resources.

Making Choices, learning to set priorities and to delegate, making goals realistic.

On Your Way, measuring progress, making change work for you, being ready and persistent.

The five and a half hour videotape program is produced in collaboration with Quincy Junior College, Dr. Lonnie Carton's Learning Center and Quincy Community Television.

It is sponsored by a grant from the Massachusetts Department of Education, Bureau of Student, Community and Adult Services.

Low-to-moderate income women who must make the transition to the working world are the focus of the pilot series.

Through cable television, "Learning in the Community" will be available to Quincy, Milton and Randolph viewers.

To accommodate residents unable to watch at home, many Quincy organizations and family service associations plan opportunities for group viewing.

During 1984, tapes of the program will be shown in many cable systems throughout eastern Massachusetts, with a total audience of 350,000 to 500,000 families.

Quincy Community Television Ch. 3 (QCTV) will be closed for one week, between Wednesday, Jan. 25 and Tuesday, Jan. 31, to take inventory of equipment and tapes.

Regularly scheduled programs on Ch. 3 will not be shown during this period.

Regular cablecasting will resume Wednesday, Feb. 1.

QCTV is interested in suggestions as to how it can bring viewers better community television, change programming hours or operate more efficiently.

QCTV is also interested in viewers comments on local programming. Write to: Quincy Community Television, c/o Quincy Cablesystems, 81 School St., Quincy, Mass. 02169. Attention: Lori Cohen.

Ballet, Jazz Classes At Beechwood Center

Eight week Ballet and Jazz classes will begin Feb. 7, and continue through February and March at Beechwood Community Life Center, Wollaston, forty-five minute classes are led by Maureen Kiley who has had 20 years experience as a dance instructor.

The schedule is: ages 5-8, ballet I, 5:30-6:15 p.m.; ages 5-8, ballet II, 6:15-7 p.m.; ages 9-12, Jazz I, 7-7:45 p.m.; ages 9-12, Jazz II, 7:45-8:30 p.m.

A Tuesday morning Yoga class from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. with Helen Burgess is also beginning.

Call the center at 471-5712 for information about either course offering.

Dan Roden Receives Art Award

Dan Roden of Quincy was recently awarded a Gold Key in the Boston Globe Scholastic Art Awards Contest.

A student at Archbishop Williams High School, Braintree, he is a student in Mrs. Maureen Parziale's art class.

Picture Book Story Hours Continue

Picture Book Story Hour continues Thursdays at 10:30 a.m. in the Central Children's Room of the Thomas Crane Public Library, Quincy Square. A few openings remain for children ages 4 and 5. Parents may register their child in person or by calling the children's librarian, Paula Sitarz, at 471-2400, ext. 38.

Picture Book Story Hours expose 4 and 5 year olds to books with literary and artistic merit through storytelling and book talks.

They also use finger plays, rhymes, songs, films and filmstrips to enhance the children's library experience.

STARSCOPE

by Clare Annsell

WEEK OF: JANUARY 26

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19

Friends are ready to volunteer your time, your home, your money. Work circumstances change quickly and adaptation is the key. Gentle relative shows his/her great strengths.

PISCES - February 20-March 20

Superiors are skeptical, but don't discard your ideas prematurely. More logic, less instinct, brings results in spheres of friendship and health. Relative feels philanthropic.

ARIES - March 21-April 20

Accounting/bookkeeping tasks take a large chunk out of the week, but you must avoid shortcuts. Updating is important too, review priorities, wardrobe, correspondence before month's end.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22

Avoid recklessness, especially in money-related matters. Visitors provide week's best entertainment. Research activities are high on agenda, along with educational trips.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21

Salesmanship is strong - especially if you're attempting to sell your ideas. Small feuds are scattered through the week. If at all possible, keep hidden in the background.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

A cheerful week for friendship and romance, with long-awaited commitment cemented at last. Keep rivalry on a friendly level. Family problem needs a lighthearted approach.

LEO - July 23-August 22

Good week for expanding social circle, for traveling, for making travel plans. Coworkers are less than sensitive. Pisces or fellow Leo steps in to friendship picture.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22

Relatives are super-critical, but friends surprise you with their unexpected assistance. At last, communications are positively spotlighted - overdue mail and calls come all at once.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22

Outstanding week for making long-term plans and articulating goals for 1984. Romance benefits from increased generosity - in terms of time, kind words and small gifts.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21

Information you absorbed late in 1983 suddenly becomes relevant. Close relationships require some grooming. Appointments may be cancelled with little warning.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22

In making purchases, caution and comparison shopping are all-important. Romance partner is willing to take initiative - a new role but one you should greatly appreciate.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20

Favors are returned through the week. Watch tendency to overreact to small problems. Friend is in a silly mood and you may be the subject of good-natured practical jokes.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You're broadminded and a humanitarian, and you cherish your com-forts. Standards are high, but are they realistic? An honest examination of your goals makes them easier to attain. Real estate, travel, and moves are favored through the next twelve months.

BORN THIS WEEK

January 26th, singer Eartha Kitt. 27th, actress Donna Reed. 28th, actor Paul Newman. 29th, actor John Forsythe. 30th, actress Tammy Grimes. 31st, actress Jean Simmons. February 1st, actor Stuart Whitman.

Clear A Path For The Mailman

Boston Postmaster Philip L. Sullivan is asking the general public to assist the Postal Service in its efforts to deliver mail during the winter storm period by clearing a path for the mailman.

Letter carriers are not required to deliver mail where dangerous conditions exist. The main winter hazards that impede mail delivery are ice and snow on sidewalks, driveways, stairs and porches. Postmaster Sullivan requests that all public and private approaches to residential mailboxes be cleared of ice and snow to prevent slips and falls that can result in painful, costly injuries to area mailmen.

"When residents reduce or eliminate walking and driving hazards around their home, the safety of all members of the community, including the mailman, is greatly improved," Sullivan added.

Adam's House Changed To Penn's Hill Restaurant

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The owner of a recently licensed restaurant across from the Adams Birthplaces in South Quincy has complied with a License Board directive to come up with a name other than Adam's House.

William A. Thomas of Quincy submitted a new name, Penn's Hill Restaurant, to the Building Department and the name was accepted, according to Building Inspector Allan MacDonald.

MacDonald said he did not know when the restaurant would open.

The License Board granted a common victualer license last week to Thomas for 144 Franklin St., South Quincy. Hours for the restaurant, at the former location of Lickidy Split ice cream and sandwich shop, will be 5 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday to Friday, 6 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays and 6 a.m. to noon Sundays, Thomas said.

Wilhemina S. Harris, Superintendent, United States Department of the Interior, National Park Service, which maintains the historic sites, sent a letter to the board protesting the name Adam's House after reading about it in The Quincy Sun.

Miss Harris said the name of the restaurant which would make it difficult to distinguish historical buildings from non-historical buildings.

$2,000 Garage Fire

An estimated $2,000 damage was caused to a garage in West Quincy by a fire apparently started when a kerosene lantern was accidentally tipped over.

The lantern was being used to keep pipes from freezing at a trucking garage owned by Joseph Vissa, 20 Furnace Ave., according to Acting Dep. Chief Patrick Clare.

There were no reported injuries.

Couple Hurt

A Dorchester couple was injured Saturday night when their car struck a parked automobile on Copeland St., West Quincy, in front of the 7-Eleven store.

Richard D. Worsdell, 40, and Clare Worsdell, 43, were treated and released from City Hospital.

Cutlass Recovered

A 1977 Cutlass, reported stolen earlier by William Arienti of 76 Bennington St., South Quincy, from the North Quincy MBTA parking lot, was recovered early Tuesday badly damaged in Weymouth.

'Better Quincy' Committee Formed

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has formed a Committee for a Better Quincy, headed by banker Charles Pearce, to examine the possibility of upgrading various sites in Quincy.

The committee will first look at the area of Saville Ave. and Faxon Ave., near the Bargain Center, which McCauley cited for possible future development in his inaugural address last month.

"The committee," said McCauley, "will bring together city officials, business people and developers from outside the city to see what can be done with some properties."

A similar committee, he said, was planned by the former Mayor Arthur H. Tobin but legislation setting it up failed to pass the state legislature.

"We decided that we don't need legislation," said McCauley.

The mayor said the idea for a Committee for a Better Quincy came from a group that was put together to foster development in the city of Springfield.

Members of the Quincy committee are:

Charles Pearce, chief executive officer of the Quincy Savings Bank, chairman; Peter O'Connell of OCB, Inc., developers, vice-chairman; William Kelley, president of the Hancock Bank.

William Austin, president of the South Shore Bank, Ronald Zoolek, executive vice president of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce; Planning Director James Lydon and Arthur Foley, the mayor's aide.

Final Reval Figures Ready Next Week

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said Tuesday that final revaluation figures for property in the city are expected to be ready for review by the State Department of Revenue by next week.

Municipal Appraisal

Services of Fall River is completing its field work and notices will be mailed to those property owners who have appealed their new valuations, he said.

Once the state has given its approval, the mayor and the City Council will be able to get down to business of preparing a plan for classification of property for rate setting purposes.

McCauley is shooting for an April 1 deadline for getting out tax bills for the last half of fiscal 1984.

Services Held For Brother, Sister Killed In Fire

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Joint funeral services for an elderly brother and sister who died Monday in a Quincy Point fire were held Wednesday at Wickens and Troupe Funeral Home, Quincy Center.

Matthew Hart, 79, and Lillian Burgess, 83, died in a two-alarm fire which caused an estimated $75,000 damage to their home at 112 Arnold St.

Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery.

The fire started on a living room couch and was apparently caused by careless disposal of smoking material, according to Dep. Chief Carl Valenti.

The single family, wood frame structures was already heavily engulfed in flame when the fire department arrived, said Valenti. A second alarm was sounded immediately.

Told of two elderly persons in the two story building, fire fighters entered the home and found the bodies of Mrs. Burgess and Mr. Hart on the living room floor.

The fire had been burning for a considerable amount of time, said Valenti, and a six foot round hole had been burned through the living room floor into the cellar.

Firefighter Stephen Badger complained of chest pains and was treated at Quincy City Hospital and released. Several other fire fighters suffered smoke inhalation but remained on duty.

Fire Chief Edward Barry and Dep. Chief Herbert

Rourke were at the scene. The last piece of fire equipment left after more than three hours at the house.

Valenti said the home, which was practically destroyed, had no smoke detectors which have been required since 1981.

"Quite possibly," said Valenti, "if there had been smoke detectors, these people might have been saved."

Mr. Hart and Mrs. Burgess, born and educated in England, moved to Quincy 70 years ago.

The son and daughter of the late Matthew and Ada (Bulmer) Hart, they had lived in the Quincy Point house for more than 60 years.

Sheets Sees Easy Passage

Council Ready To Approve Ward 1 Election

By TOM HENSHAW

It appears that the City Council is ready to call for a special election to fill the vacant Ward 1 Council seat, with preliminary balloting possible in April.

"I think it will be passed without amendment and on an 8 - 0 vote," said Council President James A. Sheets.

Before the Council is a home rule petition asking the State Legislature to approve a charter change that would fill any Council vacancy by special election rather than by the other councillors.

The petition was introduced at the Jan. 17 Council meeting by Councillors Joanne Condon and John J. Lydon Jr. and sent to the Ordinance Committee for hearing.

Councillor Patricia Toland, chairman of the Ordinance Committee, said the petition will be heard Monday, Feb. 6, at 5:55 p.m. prior to the Council meeting at 7:30 p.m.

"The home rule petition will definitely be acted on Monday night," said Sheets.

He said he feels it will take some five weeks to get the petition through the Legislature, after which the City Council will have to meet to set the dates for preliminary and general elections.

"I don't see the preliminary election being held before April or early May," said Sheets, "with the final election the following month."

Mayor Francis X. McCauley, who has been lukewarm to any special election because of the expense, said he will sign the petition and send it along to the Legislature.

But, he said, he would rather that the petition be amended to call for special elections in the event of ward vacancies but have councillors at large elected by fellow councillors.

"Jay MacRitchie (assistant city solicitor) says there would be no legal problems with such an amendment," said the mayor. "I have asked him to convey my concerns to the Council."

McCauley said the cost of a special ward election (about $6,000) does not concern him as much as the possible cost of a special election citywide.

McCauley Vows To Fight School Suit

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said he hopes the School Committee will have second thoughts about its plan to sue the Mayor over the non-payment of some school raises granted in 1979 but never paid.

The suit was proposed by School Committeewoman Mary Collins at the last committee meeting but it was tabled when McCauley objected. It was expected to come up again yesterday (Wednesday).

If it passes, McCauley said, "the City Solicitor will have to defend me and it is going to cost the city money on both sides."

The mayor said he already has an opinion from the School Committee's attorneys, Murphy, Lamere and Murphy, saying that payment of raises to retired teachers is "subject to challenge as gratuitous."

Collins wants the committee to pay some $17,000 in raises to teachers who retired in 1983 in spite of the fact that a court ruled three years ago that the city does not have to pay.

"As mayor," said McCauley, "I can't go around paying money to people when the court says we don't have to."

"I'm not sure how Murphy, Lamere and Murphy could take the case to court," he added, "when they already support my position."

ELDERLY brother and sister, Matthew Hart, 79, and Lillian Burgess, 83, died early Monday morning when fire swept their home at 112 Arnold St., Quincy Point.

Civil Court Sessions Still At Other Sites

Some civil sessions of the Quincy District Court are still being held at locations other than the courthouse on Dennis Ryan Parkway while repairs are being made to fire damage.

Four fires of a suspicious nature, the largest of them in the main Juvenile Probation office, broke out in the courthouse over the weekend of Jan. 20-22. Clerk-Magistrate Arthur

H. Tobin said the courtrooms are being closed one at a time while repairs are made, chiefly to the electrical systems.

Displaced civil sessions are being held in the Council Chamber at City Hall and the Conference Room at the South Shore National Bank.

Tuesday's session at City Hall was cancelled because of the snow storm.

Tobin said the outside sessions probably will go on for the rest of the week. About 99 percent of the court activities are back in the courthouse after being held in other locations last week, he said.

Reisberg Announces For Ward 1 Councillor

Bernard M. Reisberg of Merrymount, a prominent downtown Quincy businessman for 37 years, has announced his candidacy for the City Council from Ward 1.

The new councillor will be chosen either by vote of the current Council members or in a special election to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Leo J. Kelly.

"As a homeowner, businessman and taxpayer, I have the maturity, experience and vision to continue the high quality of leadership which has always been true of Ward 1," Reisberg said in his announcement.

"I will continue the fight to clean up Quincy Bay so that the economic and recreational benefits will again accrue to all our people. "We must protect our coastline as well as our open spaces and oppose any necessary encroachment."

"I will be ever watchful of the taxpayers' dollars, yet try to maintain a high level of municipal services."

"I will work for the general welfare of our senior citizens and the needy."

Reisberg and his wife, Marilyn, who live at 1399 Quincy Shore Drive, own and operate three "Bernie's Formal Shops" in downtown Quincy, West Quincy and Brockton.

He is past president of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association.

Reisberg has received appointments from five mayors to serve on the Downtown Development Committee, the committee on funding a new City Hospital and as an assistant harbor master.

He also serves on the Christmas Festival Parade Committee and for the past several years has organized and promoted the Quincy Bay Race Week Beauty Pageant.

He is a charter member of the board of trustees at Quincy Junior College.

Reisberg is a member of the Ward 1 Democratic Committee, the City Committee and the Merrymount Association.

He is a veteran of World War II with Army Corps service in the Far Eastern Theater.

He is also a member of the Probus Club, the South Shore Cerebral Palsy, the Quincy Lodge of Elks, the Massachusetts Justices of the Peace Association.

He is currently vice-commander of the Mass Bay Yacht Clubs Association and past president of the Commodore's Club of America and the Quincy Bay Race Week Association.

His son, Steven, is lawyer in New York City, and his daughter, Donna, is wedding consultant for Bernie's Formal Shops.

In Washington: McCauley Finds Support For Police Chief Selection

Mayor Francis X. McCauley returned from three days at the U.S. Conference of Mayors in Washington with new ammunition in his proposal to reform the selection of a police chief in Quincy.

McCauley has proposed that, instead of naming a chief for life under good behavior through Civil Service, the city hire police chiefs like any other city department head.

This could be either for a period of years continuously with the mayor's term or by contracting for his services for a fixed period of years.

McCauley said that the mayors and police chiefs of Houston, Texas, and Minneapolis, Minn., attended the mayors' conference to explain the methods used in their cities.

Both are chosen by an incoming mayor for the duration of his term in the same manner as Quincy picks a public works commissioner.

"The concept of a chief coming up through the ranks by way of Civil Service is strange in other parts of the country," said

McCauley. "That's not the way it's done."

"In other cities, the chief is an agent of the mayor's policies. They feel that if the mayor is a law and order man he should have a police chief who thinks like him."

McCauley said his thoughts on the subject are "no reflection" on Police Chief Francis X. Finn, despite the fact that a Civil Service exam to establish a list of possible successors is set for Saturday.

Finn, 58, who underwent heart surgery in December, 1982, says he is not retiring.

Sears Sale Prospects Pleases McCauley

Mayor Francis X. McCauley says he is "obviously pleased" that two real estate developers are in bidding competition to purchase the old Sears building on Hancock St., vacant since 1980.

It was disclosed this week that F.X. Messina of Braintree and Robert Merowitz of Newton both are seeking to purchase the building from Meredith and Grew of Boston, agents for the Faxon Trust.

"No question about it," said Planning Director James Lydon, "this is the most exciting prospect we've had for the building. It is not contingent on having a major retail store as tenant."

Lydon said both developers are talking about retail tenants at least on the Hancock St. level, possibly with offices or light industry on the Parkingway level.

"Our interest is to continue the retail facade to draw people to Hancock St.," said Lydon. "Our second aim is must to get people in the building."

He said finalization of the sale to one or the other developers now appears to hinge on ironing out some of the contingency details.

Car Hits House

A car, believed to be stolen, crashed into a house at 87 Fenno St., Wollaston, early Saturday morning. No one was reported injured.

The auto, a 1979 Ford Ltd., was registered to Federal Wine and Spirit, Inc., 29 State St., Boston.

The car was found abandoned after damaging the hedge, a tree, the house columns, steps and light

Cash Taken

James Graham of 274 Washington St., Quincy Point, reported to police Saturday that $100 in cash was stolen from his home by thieves who entered through a sliding glass panel door.

Burgin Parkway Underway May 1

Construction of the $6 million, 1.2-mile Burgin Parkway Extension from the Southeast Expressway to Quincy Square will finally get underway around May 1.

A spokesman for the State Department of Public Works said contractors will be asked to bid on the job late next month or in early March.

The DPW spokesman said construction will be going on at the same time the Expressway from Quincy to Boston is being rebuilt but it is not expected to impact commuters.

The whole project, including land-taking, utilities relocation and drainage will cost some $9.2 million.

$3,500 Chimney Fire

A chimney fire early Monday at 969 Quincy Shore Drive resulted in an estimated $3,500 damage and no reported injuries.

Dept. Chief Carl Valenti said the fire was located where the chimney goes through the roof and started in the fireplace.

It was due to a defective chimney, said Valenti.

The house is occupied by Mark Cuddy and owned by Maura Cavigan.

Valenti said there were smoke detectors in the home, but they weren't working.

If: A Big Political Word

If can be a pretty big word — especially in politics.

DELAHUNT

Like if Norfolk County Dist. Atty.
William Delahunt should run for the U.S. senatorial seat being vacated by Paul Tsongas.

And, if he should win, it could bring back to the political ring the man Delahunt succeeded as district attorney.

But if Delahunt runs for the Senate and loses, he would still be district attorney. He has three years left on his present term.

There are a few coincidences involved for Burke.
There's Delahunt the man who succeeded him as district attorney, may be a candidate for the U.S.
Senate. David Bartley who was Burke's fraternity brother at U-Mass-Amherst is already an announced candidate.

And, Burke himself, was a candidate for U.S. Senate at the Democratic state convention in 1972. He got over 100 votes but John Droney got the nomination. Just as well for Burke. Droney went on to take a drubbing from Republican Edward Brooke.

Burke, who has a good law practice is getting itchy to return to the old campaign trail.

He may — if.

CONG. Brian J. Donnelly will hold a news conference Friday at 9:15 a.m. in the State House, Boston, to announce his 1984 election plans.

Donnelly will either run for re-election to a fourth two-year term in Congress or for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by Sen. Paul Tsongas.

Local observers think he will pass up the Senate run.

BURKE

DONNELLY

WHILE THE City Council Chambers were being used for Quincy District Court proceedings last week because of fire damage at the courthouse, some people were cutting through the adjacent offices of the City Council.

The interruptions didn't seem to bother Council President James Sheets who gave one group a smile and told them, "We have an open door policy here."

SHEETS

MILESTONE: Tom Currier, Strum of the Hum'n
Strum harmony team, and his wife,
Helen, are celebrating their 54th wedding anniversary. Formerly of Quincy, they now live in Reston, Va.
(They get The Sun by mail to keep up on what's happening back in their old hometown). Max (Hum) Zides died several years ago. He and Tom were one of the best harmony teams ever — and two of the nicest guys ever to come along.

GARY FINE of Squanto Rd., Merrymount, is still interested in running for the Ward 1 City Council seat vacated by Leo Kelly. Fine is a 22-year-old insurance company representative and son of WJDA news director Herb Fontaine.

SPEAKING OF FONTAINE, he will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Norfolk County Bar Association Feb. 6 at 6:30 p.m. at Rossi's Restaurant, Washington St., Dedham.

YOU'RE A Houghs Neck "young oldtimer" if you can remember the Saturday night boxing matches sponsored by the USO at the old Manet Lodge. And if you especially remember a couple of youngsters who fought one another several times and then went on to win a few political battles: Walter Hannon and Leo Kelly.

Readers Forum A 'Thank You' From Quincy District Court

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
Sometimes it takes adversity to prove that we are not just a group of individuals but a real community.

The Quincy District Court suffered a fire on the night of Jan. 20, 1984. The fire extensively damaged a courtroom and various offices and the smoke from the fire spread throughout the building causing more damage and leaving a heavy odor of smoke in the courthouse. The court building had to be closed for an entire week.

As soon as the community learned of our situation generous offers of assistance poured in. The court was able to establish temporary courtrooms in the Council Chambers and Conference rooms, in both the old and new City Hall, as well as in the South Shore National Bank, the Quincy Savings Bank and the South Shore
Chamber of Commerce.
Without them, criminal and civil sessions would have been ceased and hundreds of cases, many of a serious nature, would not have been able to be handled.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank all who assisted us. The list is long, but it shows how impressive and widespread the effort was to aid us.

We at the Quincy District Court acknowledge and thank the following:

Mayor Francis McCauley
of the City of Quincy and his staff.

The President of the Quincy City Council, James Sheets and the staff in his office.

Mr. John Gillis, Quincy
City Clerk and his staff.

Mr. Herbert Blake,

Golden Names Advisor On Women's Issues

Richard D. Golden, a candidate for the state senate, has named Nancy Callahan of Quincy to be his campaign advisor on women's issues.

"The needs of women require a woman's perspective," said Golden. "Many issues unique to women need to be addressed and Nancy is well qualified to assist in articulating my concern for these issues.

"Equal pay for equal work, job training for displaced homemakers and adequate day care are only some of the issues that must be addressed on Beacon Hill.

"Nancy's proven competency and enthusiasm will help us translate women's needs into necessary legislative action."

Callahan, a 1979 graduate of the University of Massachusetts in Amherst, is currently employed as a librarian with the state. She is a former co-chairman of the Women's Political Action Committee.

In addition to being an advisor, Golden said she will serve as liaison between the various women's social and professional groups throughout the district and his campaign committee.

"I know Richard Golden to have a sincere interest in promoting issues concerning women and I believe I will be able to work with him to shape policies which are in the interest of all women in our district," said Callahan.

DeCristofaro To Head Pollard Task Force

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has named City Councillor Theodore P. DeCristofaro to head a task force to work with residents of Ward 2 on the future of the Pollard School.

The school was abandoned by the School

Department in June, 1982, and was set to be sold for development when residents of the area finally made their protests heard.

The task force will offer technical and practical advice and assistance to the residents who are interested in maintaining all or part of the school as a community center, McCauley said.

In addition too DeCristofaro, members of the task force are:

City Councillor Patricia Toland, Dr. Cecil Paul, director of the Beechwood Knoll Community Life

Center; Arnold Levine, former Quincy educator; Susan Spelios of the Planning Department; Jay MacRitchie, assistant city solicitor.

The group will meet with residents in the next two weeks, the mayor said.

Gas Leak At Vacant School

A gas leak at an Adams Shore school under demolition resulted in the evacuation of four homes until the threat of danger passed.

Quincy Fire Department apparatus arrived at the Nathaniel S. Hunting School early Saturday afternoon after a construction worker reported smelling gas. Officials had thought the gas had been shut off.

A broken gas line going into the building was discovered. Boston Gas Co. sealed the leak until gas to the school could be shut off.

Fire Chief Edward Barry and Mayor Francis McCauley were at the scene. Albartross Road was closed for a short time.

Dep. Chief Thomas Gorman Jr. said safety precautions were taken. The QFD was on the scene for about 45 minutes.

CPR Course Feb. 6

A Red Cross Cardio-pulmonary Resuscitation (lecture method) course will be held Mondays, Feb. 6, 13 and 27, from 7 to 10 p.m. at the Red Cross office, 1245 Hancock St., Quincy.

NQHS Soccer Boosters Breakfast

The North Quincy High Soccer Boosters Club will sponsor an all-you-can-eat pancake breakfast Saturday from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. at the Atlantic Memorial Congregational Church on Newbury Avenue to benefit the boys' soccer team.

Tickets are $2 and can be purchased from players and cheerleaders and can also be purchased at the door.

Smith Quits School Board To Be Auditor

Alexander Smith resigned from the School Committee, apparently to clear the way for his appointment to the $4,500 a year post of city auditor. Although re-elected in November, he had not been sworn in but had attended recent School Committee meetings in an unofficial capacity.

SMITH

In his statement Smith said he resigned "in fairness to the School Committee in order that they may proceed with a full board and to clarify any so-called technicalities that have or may arise as to my eligibility to be a candidate for city auditor."

Feb. 2-8, 1950

Smith's resignation came the day after the Council postponed a vote on the election of an auditor when Councillor Carl W. Anderson, who supported ex-Councillor William J. Papile for the job, suggested Smith had disqualified himself by attending School Committee meetings.

Anderson asked City Solicitor Arthur I. Burgess for a ruling on the question but Burgess declined to make a snap judgement on such an important matter so the Council voted to give him one week to come up with a decision.

Voting with Anderson to defer the question were Councillors David J. Crowley and Alfred G. Helfrich. Voting against were Councillors Edna B. Austin, Amelio Della Chiesa and Frank N. Orcutt. Mayor Thomas S. Burgin cast the deciding affirmative vote.

Under the Plan E Proportional Representation voting system, Smith's successor would be chosen from the runners-up in the 1949 election, with Paul K. Duffey and Ethel B. Wiley the leading candidates.

ARTERY OVERPASSES

City Manager William J. Deegan Jr. reported to the City Council that the State Department of Public Works was considering the feasibility of building overpasses on the Southern Artery at Washington St. and at Sea St. as part of a $100 million state road building program.

Quincy Teen Mothers Program Honors Supporters

THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE honored several community groups and churches for their personal and financial support of the Quincy Teen Mothers Program. Former School Committee vice chairwoman Mary P. Collins presented a certificate of appreciation to the Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister of Bethany Congregational Church, where the program is based.

ALTRUSA CLUB OF QUINCY was among the organizations honored by the Quincy School Committee for support of the Quincy Teen Mothers' Program. Altrusa Club president Rhonda Bailey, left, accepts the certificate from vice chairwoman Joan Picard, also a member of Altrusa.

PHARMACY TOPICS

By Edward David R. Ph.

Good news: in the last ten years, the average number of decayed teeth per child in the U.S. has fallen by a third. Fluorides are usually given credit for the change.

To alleviate the pain of terminal cancer, doctors at Houston's M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute now inject an opiate directly into the brain. Method gets greater effect from smaller doses of morphine, with fewer side effects.

A ten-minute "walk outdoors" boosts energy levels and relieves tension, according to experiments at California State University in Long Beach. In tests it even worked better than a candy bar!

Earlier detection of lung cancer may be possible with a new diagnostic device developed at the University of California at Santa Barbara. Fluorescence bronchoscope can help detect tumors when they are only several cells thick.

Traveler's diarrhea responds quickly to the antibiotic trimethoprim, especially in combination with sulfamethoxazole, according to tests reported in the New England Journal of Medicine.

North Boosters Banquet Sunday

Jim O'Connor, athletic director and former football coach at Catholic Memorial High School, will be the featured speaker Sunday night at the annual North Quincy High Football Boosters Club banquet at the Sons of Italy Hall.

Numerous awards will be presented following a dinner at 6 p.m.

Club president George Wilkins will be the toastmaster and Vicker DiGravio Jr. is the banquet chairman.

The top award will be the annual Jack Donahue Award to the best North player in the Quincy game and will be presented by the retired North coach. The winner was selected by the coaches.

Other awards will be the Father Cornelius Heery Award for best sportsmanship, the Robert Schaeztl Award, the William Schaeztl Memorial Award given by the Quincy Fathers Club, and a new award this year, the Quincy Firefighters Award to the 12th player. There also will be awards to the best offensive and defensive players and the Most Valuable Player.

Among those being honored are all North football players from freshmen through seniors, the cheerleaders and the football queen.

Coach Ken McPhee will announce next season's captains.

Other club officers are Vice President John Ellis, Treasurer Sylvia Gelsomini, Corresponding Secretary Janet Coughlin and Recording Secretary Nancy Kearns.

The club's chairpersons of various committees are Joe Gelsomini, Joanne Kelly, Cheryl Iacabucci and Alice Rency.

Deware Funeral Home Announces New Pre-Arranged Funeral Services

The Deware Funeral Home, 576 Hancock St., Wollaston, is participating in the Massachusetts Funeral Directors Association's new statewide program of pre-arranged funeral services.

The new program will enable individuals to make detailed funeral and financial arrangements on a "pre-need" basis. By making the important funeral decisions in advance, a person can be assured that his or her wishes will be carried out.

Pre-payment can relieve family members of any financial stress, assuring them that funds will be available when needed to offset or completely cover funeral expenses.

The cost of the services selected can be guaranteed at today's prices. Payments can be made all at once or over a period of months or years with no interest or carrying charges. All prepayments are placed in trust in the New England Funeral Trust.

For more information on the new pre-arranged funeral services, contact Deware Funeral Home 472-1137.

WHAT'S MAKING THIS BOOK A BEST SELLER?

An 8 to 9.25% annual return—without tying up cash for long periods.

A Select Savings Account passbook is becoming a very popular item.

It's not surprising when you consider that a Select Savings Account is a great way to earn high interest that doesn't require an enormous minimum deposit. All you need to open one is a $500 minimum balance, and you can earn an annual rate of 8% (8.33% effective annual yield)—a lot higher than you could earn on a regular savings or NOW Account. When your passbook balance reaches $2,500 you begin earning 9.25% annually (9.65% effective annual yield).

And no, you don't have to tie up your money forever to get these rates. Just give us 90 days' notice of withdrawal. Otherwise, we're required to impose a penalty of one month's interest for early withdrawal.

The Select Savings Account even allows you to build your high interest account by making as many additional deposits as you like. And, to give you the best return on your money, we compound the interest daily. Interest rates are set monthly. Your principal and interest are fully insured up to $100,000 by the F.D.I.C.

All-in-all, it's easy to see why the Select Savings Account passbook is one of the most popular books around.

To open your account, just call 773-0500 and we'll send you what you need to get started—or stop by one of the 17 conveniently located Bank of New England-Hancock offices today.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

There are obvious inequalities among men. Some are rich. Some are poor. Some are great and well known. Some are humble and little known. The inequalities exist as long as life exists. Only at death does the inequality cease... At death, all men are equal for we all must die.

Much has been written through the years about funeral practices and procedures which equalizes man's parting from the earth. One of the most interesting writings we ever read came from an agnostic who evaluated funeral rituals, mourning and bereavement.

He wrote, "These practices are the expression of affectionate yearning for the dead, the piling up of memories and intentions, thoughts and longings, the proper channel through which men give vent to their deep inconsolable sorrows. Sacramental acts beautify death and thereby lessen its ugliness, beautify sorrow and thereby heal its wounds, beautify the feeling of reverence by serving the dead as if serving the living."

The words seemingly could have been written recently. Actually, they were written by the Confucian philosopher, Hsun Ch'ing - more than 2000 years ago!

Grand Monarch Visits Quincy, Taleb Grotto

Robert J. Black, grand monarch of the Supreme Council of the Grotoes of North America, Mystic Order of Veiled Prophets of the Enchanted Realm, recently visited Quincy and the Taleb Grotto with his wife, Betty.

Black, administrative leader of over 50,000 "prophets" who are members of the grotoes of North America, attended a Grand Monarch's reception.

Arthur E. Johnson, past monarch of the Taleb Grotto and grand chief justice of the supreme council and his wife, Barbara, tendered the reception.

During ceremonies the next day at City Hall, Mayor Francis McCauley, his wife, Sandra, Sen. Paul Harold and State Rep. Thomas Brownell welcomed Black and his wife to Quincy.

Black and other officers then proceeded to the Quincy Historical Society at Adams Academy for a tour. Herbert Holmes, Mrs. Doris Oberg and H. Hobart Holly arranged lectures and presentations.

The Grand Monarch's luncheon was held at Bentley's, followed by a tour of First Parish Church.

Special arrangements for the church visit were made through Mrs. Walter Wrigley of the church staff.

William Flavin, historical lecturer, prepared a resume on the Masonic influence and the church's history.

Black visited the Quincy Masonic Temple for a fraternal visit and reception, followed by the Grand Monarch's Banquet, Taleb Grotto's Memorial Service and Installation of Officers.

The tour and reception were arranged by prophet Arthur Senter, marshal of Taleb Grotto, and Arthur E. Johnson, grand chief justice of the Supreme Council.

The reception of the grand monarch and the fraternal responsibilities were the duty of monarch Emory Swanson and monarch-elect Stanley Trask Jr. and officers of 700 member Taleb Grotto.

Installing officers were Craig MacPherson, past monarch of Taleb Grotto, and Donald Jackson, Sr., installing marshal.

2 St. Joseph Students Championship Spellers

Two students from St. Joseph School, Quincy Point, were junior high spelling champions and participated in the annual spelling bee at Catholic Memorial High School, West Roxbury.

Sandra Doherty and Justin Haddad, both seventh graders, brought home championship certificates indicating they were top spellers in their class.

'Centering Down On God' Sermon At Bethany

Holy Communion will be celebrated Sunday, Feb. 5, at both the 9 a.m. chapel service and the 10 a.m. sanctuary service in Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Centre.

The senior minister, Rev. J. William Arnold, will preach the sermon at both services on the theme, "Centering Down On God" based on texts from James 1:2-8 and Matthew 6:24-34.

Scripture readers will be Lois Nordstrom in the chapel and Beatrice Siddens in the sanctuary.

Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will serve as liturgist.

The service will also be broadcast over WJDA, 1300 kc, at 11 a.m. The radio communion commentary will be narrated by Esther G. Sauter.

Deacons and deaconesses of the congregation will prepare and serve the Holy Communion. Robert L. Lockwood will be the server at the chapel service. At the sanctuary service, the following will serve: Helene Crofts, Lena M. Foster, Mary Lou Glaman, William F. Greene, Jean Ann MacLean, Corinne M. Mikami, Darryl K. Mikami, Kinia Mikami, and Edwin E. Roberts.

During the sanctuary service, the chancel choir, under the direction of Peter

E. Krasinski, organist, will present the anthem, "O Lord, Increase My Faith," by Orlando Gibbons.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pre-school through ninth grade. Nursery care will be provided for babies and young children.

At 11 a.m., there will be a coffee hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Church School.

For information, contact Pastor Arnold at the Church, 479-7300.

Raiders Down Quincy, Waltham

By TOM SULLIVAN

The North Quincy boys' basketball team has come alive and had its best week of the season, culminating with its biggest win of the year, 58 - 49, over Waltham Friday to improve its record to 5-7.

Ed Miller's Raiders played Brookline Tuesday, will be at Brockton Friday night at 7:30 and will host Newton North next Tuesday at 3:30 p.m.

Turning in its best two-way game of the season, North handed Waltham, in second place in the Suburban League, only its second loss Friday.

"The kids did a fantastic job," Miller said. "Two things helped us last week. First, Steve Warren, who had been playing strictly as a reserve, came along and earned a starting berth and he was tremendous at Waltham. He had 15 points and 11 rebounds. He gives us another good scorer and an outstanding rebounder. Second, Nunzio Carbone returned for his first two games of the season after recovering from an appendectomy and he played well against both Waltham and Quincy.

"Chris Bunker, the number one scorer in the league, had a great game with 17 points, 11 rebounds and four steals."

Earlier in the week North's pressure defense was too much for Quincy to handle and the Raiders topped the Presidents for the second time, 54 - 32.

This was North's first league win over Quincy, the first three-point decision being in the Weymouth South Christmas Tournament.

The Raiders started slowly but broke away in the second half.

"The key was our defensive play in the first quarter," Miller said. "We had a lot of shots that didn't drop, then we changed upon defense and caught up."

North led, 6 - 3, after a quarter, and 22 - 14 at halftime. It took a 36 - 24 lead into the final quarter, then pulled away with an 18 - 8 advantage.

North had 15 points, while he, Ken Runge and Warren stood out on the boards. Bunker had eight rebounds, Runge seven and Warren five. Carbone, in his first game, had eight points and Paul Ryan, the league's number three scorer, added 10.

Frustration Continues To Stalk Presidents

This has been a frustrating season for the Quincy boys' basketball team and the Presidents' frustrations hit a new high last Friday night when they suffered their most heartbreaking defeat, 54 - 53, to Newton North in overtime.

Rick DeCristofaro's Quincy team, trying to bounce back from a loss to North Quincy, trailed most of the way, but came back to go ahead with eight seconds to play. However, a Newton player hit a free throw to send the game into overtime.

With five seconds left in overtime, Quincy led, 53 - 52, only to have Newton's Bob Lockwood hit a 25-footer at the buzzer to give Newton the victory.

"Now I know how Gary Williams (Boston College coach) feels," said a disappointed DeCristofaro. "After BC had lost to Syracuse on a 45-foot shot at the buzzer, Gary said he would work on his 45-foot defense. Now I plan to work on our 25-foot defense."

Quincy, now 2-11, played Weymouth North Tuesday, will host Waltham Friday night at 7:30 and next Tuesday will play at Brookline at 3:30 p.m.

"The loss to Newton definitely was our toughest," DeCristofaro said. "The kids gave a real gutsy performance as they were trying to come back after losing to North Quincy."

Newton led, 48 - 43, late in the game but Sean Foster and Jim Stasio scored to put Quincy ahead but the untimely foul allowed Newton to tie the game and send it into overtime.

"Denis Downing had a fine game with 17 points and 10 rebounds and Bill Shaughnessy (10 points) and Peter McCarron (nine) also were outstanding," the first year Quincy coach said. "Foster and Pete O'Connell have improved tremendously and it was Foster's basket that gave us the lead with eight seconds left in the game. It was a fine effort by everyone and it is just bad the kids had to lose it."

"Downing, Stasio, Shaughnessy, Foster and McCarron have been our key players all season, but everyone has given me 100 percent and no one has ever given up. We have been beaten badly in only three Suburban League games (undefeated Cambridge, Brockton and Waltham) but we have held our own with the other league teams."

Earlier in the week the Presidents were unable to cope with North Quincy's pressure defense as the Raiders won, 54 - 32.

This was North's second win over Quincy but the first game was not in the league. It was a three-point win in the Weymouth South Christmas Tournament.

"We just didn't react to North's pressure defense," said DeCristofaro, who was North coach Ed Miller's assistant the past three years. "They did a great job on defense and that made our offense sputter. We just made a few errors on offense and that allowed North to pull away from us."

"We wanted to get the ball into our big men, Mike Flynn and Downing, but only managed to do that a couple of times in the first half. Stasio played a real good game defensively and rebounded well and also had six points."

North led all the way, holding Quincy to three points in the first quarter for a 6 - 3 lead, widening it to 22 - 14 at the half and 36 - 24 after three quarters. The Raiders had a big 18 - 8 edge in the finale as the Presidents were only 10 for 31 from the floor.

Runge 'Perfect Point Guard'

Ruggiero Finds Answer For Bridgewater At North

Sun Sports

North Quincy's Bo Ruggiero went to Bridgewater State in 1982 as the head coach of women's basketball.

In his first season Ruggiero directed the team to an unprecedented (17-8) season and a berth in the NCAA Division III Regional tournament.

For his efforts he was selected New England's Division III "Coach of the Year," an award voted on by his fellow coaches in New England.

It was a great season, but could Bridgewater State continue its amazing success in the 1983-84 season? This is the question Ruggiero was asking all summer.

One of his main concerns was to find a guard to replace either Karen Croteau or Dede Enabenter, who graduated last June. Both were co-captains and mainstays in the Bridgewater fastbreak offense and pressure defense.

To solve this problem Ruggiero traveled to his old alma mater, North Quincy High, and found JoAnn Runge.

"She was just what I was looking for," exclaims Ruggiero. "JoAnn is the perfect point guard. She runs our offense, has great court sense in knowing where her teammates are, and can penetrate to the basket when she has to."

Runge was an all-around athlete at North Quincy High where she played volleyball, basketball and softball. While under coach Paul Bregoli, she was named to the All-Scholastic team in her senior year in basketball.

The 5-6 communications major is one of the main reasons why Bridgewater NORTH QUINCY'S JoAnn Runge, one of the top players on the Bridgewater State College women's basketball team, shown with Coach Bo Ruggiero, also from North Quincy.

State is currently 15-0, ranked fourth in the nation, and first in New England for Division III. She is averaging 9.0 points per game, shooting 54% from the field (29/54), 73% from the line (19/26), and leads the team in both assists and steals.

"JoAnn's progress has been outstanding," Ruggiero remarked. "For a freshman to take control the way she has shows great poise on her part. She's really a 'fun' player to watch."

So while Bridgewater State fans can enjoy watching JoAnn play for three more seasons, North Quincy fans may spot Bo Ruggiero in the stands in the near future looking for another star to help Bridgewater State continue as a Division III power in women's basketball.

North Swimmers' Depth Defeats Waltham

North Quincy's swim team had only one individual winner in addition to a relay win but the Raiders had enough depth to defeat Waltham, 96-74, last Friday and improve its record to 5-3.

Bill Walker's Raiders will face Quincy Saturday at 10 a.m. at the Lincoln-Hancock School pool and then will compete in the Suburban League championship meet at Brookline Feb. 11. North has never lost a swim meet, boys or girls, to Quincy.

Mike Melanson's victory in the 200 individual medley was North's only individual win against Waltham. The only other win came in the 200 medley relay with Bert Jenkins, Dan Moriarty, Tom Farmer and Brendan Walsh.

North's depth paid off as David Stockless was second in the 200 and 500 freestyles and Mark Wilkins was second in the 50 and 100 freestyles.

Earlier in the week North had bowed to Brockton's undefeated league powerhouse, 95-77.

Moriarty won the 100 breast stroke, edging Brockton's outstanding Paul LeVie. Wilkins finished second in the 50 and 100 freestyles and also keyed the winning 400 free style relay team, teaming with Walsh, John Bangs and Melanson.

Melanson took second in the butterfly and third in the 200 individual medley, while Erick Giordano placed second in diving.

North lost two key performers who had been consistent scorers. Dan O'Sullivan lost the tips of two fingers when his hand became caught in a snow blower, and Rance Gillespie, a top breast stroker, has pneumonia. However, the Raiders' depth has paid off since those two were sidelined.

Wilkins has qualified for the South Sectional meet in the 50 freestyle and Bangs and Walsh are close to qualifying in the same event.

Quincy Matmen Defeat North

The Quincy wrestling team has a new coach this season but it has made no difference as the Presidents, under Tim Cahill, are soaring along just as they did under Carmen Mariano for nine years.

Last Saturday Quincy defeated North Quincy, 38-18, to improve its record to 11-0.

The Presidents met Cambridge Rindge and Latin yesterday (Wednesday), will host Waltham Saturday night at 7 o'clock in its biggest test of the season (Waltham is also 11-0) and next Thursday will host Marshfield at 7. On Saturday, Feb. 11, Quincy will go to Brockton to meet the Boxers, who are 11-1. The meets with Waltham and Brockton will decide Quincy's chances of winning a sixth straight Suburban League title.

Steve Joyce's North team, which has faltered after a fine start, faced Plymouth-Carver yesterday (Wednesday). Saturday will be at Newton North at noon and next Wednesday will go to Stoughton for a 6:30 meet.

Quincy's Mike Notarangelo and Dave Coulter remained undefeated against North Quincy. Coulter winning a 14-6 decision over North's Scott Fitzgerald at 107 pounds and Notarangelo pinning Don Greenwood at 128.

Quincy's other winners were Chris Mackey by forfeit at 100, Tony Souza, 12-2 decision over Tom Kallenberg at 114; Dave Murphy, who pinned John Palma at 134; Brian Mahon, 7-1 over Pat Bull at 140; John Cacciatore, 13-8 over Terry Stark at 147 and, Dan Macauley, who pinned John Webb at 169.

North winners were Steve Golden, 5-2 over Rob Cabezas at 121; Jim White, 6-2 over Chris Constat at 157; Rich Ragusa, who pinned Gary Minasian at 168, and heavyweight Al

DiBella, who pinned Chris Connor.

Earlier in the week Quincy had rolled over Burlington, 50-8, with Notarangelo staying unbeaten the hard way, handing two-time state champion Ron Travaglini his first shutout at 128.

Macauley had a good day winning by pin at 169 and Souza won at 114 by a wide 32-1 margin.

North Quincy was wallowed by undefeated Norwood, 34-16, with the Raider winners Fitzgerald, 11-7 decision at 107; Golden, 8-0 decision at 128; Stark, 8-7 decision at 157; White, 3-0 decision at 157; and DiBella, 7-4 decision in the heavyweight class. Ragusa battled to a draw at 187.

Ramponi, Salvaggi Pace Quincy Win

Pete Ramponi and Dick Salvaggi touched off an 11-point spurge in the final four minutes to propel the Quincy High School basketball team to a 44-33 victory over Chelsea, assuring the Presidents of no worse than second place in the Great Boston League.

Ramponi and Salvaggi had eight of the final 11 points as Quincy, which was nursing a 31-29 lead at the time, suddenly pulled away to capture its ninth win in 10 starts and remain one game behind undefeated Somerville in the league race.

Ramponi had 15 points and Salvaggi had 11 in addition to limiting Chelsea's star Capt. Arnie Goodman to nine points, well below his average of 20 per game.

The Quincy lineup included: Ramponi, Burke, Wheelock, forwards; Drake, Ciriello, centers; Campbell, O'Rourke, Salvaggi, LoCicero, guards.

NORTH LOSES

The long set shots of Gus Cunco and the sweeping hooks of Bill McLaughlin added up to 29 points but it was not enough as the North Quincy High School basketball team lost, 48-39, to powerful Attleboro, which already clinched a tourney spot.

Cunco had 16 points and McLaughlin 13 as the Raiders trailed by only 31-29 late in the third period before Attleboro pulled away.

The North Quincy lineup included: Cunco, Dodd, forwards; Drachim, McLaughlin, centers; Kilpatrick, Player, guards.

SKATERS UNDEFEATED

Jim Curry, Hyman Wong, Ted Rouillard and Bob Wotton scored the goals as the Quincy High School hockey team recorded a 4-1 victory over Whitman at the Pla-Mor Rink in Bridgewater to run its South Shore League unbeaten slate to four straight games.

The Quincy lineup included: Curry, Wong, Burke, forwards; Rouillard, Wotton, defense; Whitney, goal; Gray, O'Brien, Jackson, Sheppard, McEvoy, spares.

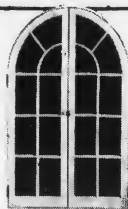

NORTH TOPS CLASS C

Tom Neville won the 300-yard run and started the North Quincy relay team off to a victory as the Raider indoor track team, which didn't exist a year ago, won the State Class C championship by a wide margin over second place Belmont.

Chosen to compete in the New England interscholastic championships at Boston Garden March 8 were Tom Sullivan, hurdles; Bryce Mutch, 50-yard dash; Neville; Warren Holmberg, 600-yard run; and Ray Doherty, shot put, all of North Quincy.

SPORTS BITS '50

Jack Curry clinched in 19 points to lead the Pneumatic Scale team to a 51-26 drubbing of Weymouth Art Leather in a Greater Quincy Business and Industrial League game at the Point Junior High School gym. . . . Newly released figures showed that the Quincy High School football program netted $563.60 in 1949 and the North Quincy program netted $506.81. . . . Warren Mills scored the only goal as the Quincy City Hockey Club bowed to the Hudson Hurricanes, 3-1, in a Greater Boston Amateur Hockey League game at Boston Arena. . . . Ted Williams signed a contract with the Boston Red Sox for 1950 for an estimated $100,000. . . . J.D. (Pop) McIntyre, former Quincy athlete and one of the nation's pioneer speed boat racers, died at his retirement home in St. Petersburg, Fla., at the age of 72. . . . Al Elkhill and Bobby Alexander scored 12 points between them in a big fourth period as North defeated Point in a Junior High School basketball league game. . . . North Girls Move In On 4th League Title

The amazing young North Quincy girls' track team needed only a win yesterday (Wednesday) over Quincy to capture its fourth Suburban League championship in five years and finish with a remarkable five-year dual meet record of 43-1-1.

Lou Tozzi's Raiderettes (8-0) were overwhelming favorites to finish with an easy win over the First Ladies. They will compete in Class B of the state relays Saturday at Boston University.

The North girls, with top scorer Georgia Traficante sidelined (North's best in the 600 and high jump), won the battle of the undefeated last week with a 52-34 victory over Cambridge Rindge and Latin, the Raiderettes' last major hurdle in their quest for another league title.

"This was just a magnificent effort by our kids," said Tozzi. "We had personal best performances from 14 of our 17 competitors and this was the incentive to do it in."

Tozzi was forced to do some shuffling and moved sophomore Mary Ann Kelleher from the two-mile to the 1000 and she remained undefeated and set a league record of 2:46.6.

"We broke the meet open with a one-two in the 600," Tozzi said. Diane Lindenfelzer (1:32.9) took 3½ seconds off her best in winning and Leann Fitzgerald, a freshman, beat her best time by nine seconds in taking second.

"Julie Walsh, a junior, improved her best time by 17 seconds, placing second in the mile at 5:38."

North's other winners were Lisa Fitzgerald in the 50-yard dash (6.5), Tracey Corrigan, two-mile (12:15); Eileen Crehan, shot put (36.7), and the 4x440 relay team of Lisa Fitzgerald, Laura Ciulla, Lindenfelzer and Kelleher (4:23.1).

Other scorers were Ciulla, second, 300; Tricia Barrett, third, mile; Ann Toland, third, 1000, taking five seconds off her best time; Meg Leary, second, two-mile, turning in her best time, 12:19; and Tricia Leary, third, two-mile; Maria McGuire, second, hurdles; Lisa Fitzgerald, third, high jump, and Noreen Connolly, second, shot put with her best effort, 34-11.

North followed up last Friday with a 53-33 victory over Brockton.

Raiderette winners were McGuire, hurdles (7.8); Kelleher, 600 (1:35.3); Lindenfelzer, 1000 (2:56.2); Corrigan, mile (5:31.3 her best time); Walsh, two-mile (12:23.6); Lisa Fitzgerald, high jump (4-8), and Crehan, shot put 36½-6½.

Other scorers were Toland, second, two-mile; Tricia Leary, third, mile; Meg Leary, second, 1000; Barrett, second, and Theresa Collings, third (her best time, 1:41.7), 600; Ciulla, second (her best time, 41.8), 300; Lisa Fitzgerald, second, 50, and Connolly, third, shot put.

North Defeats Cambridge, Brockton

The North Quincy hockey team kept its slim tournament hopes alive last week with two victories to improve its record to 7-4.

Kevin Jago's Raiders played Quincy for the third time yesterday (Wednesday) and Saturday will host Suburban League-leading Newton North at 7:50 p.m. at the Youth Arena.

North defeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 6-1, last Saturday, paced by Scott Messina's two goals, both in the opening period. Rob Reidy also scored in the first session to give the Raiders a 3-0 lead.

Keith Smith, Rich Horrigan and Dave Tapper scored in the second period. Goalies Matt Higgins and Dan Cuervels shared the goatie duties and both played well.

Earlier in the week the Raiders topped Brockton, 5-2, with Smith scoring a second period goal to snap a 2-2 tie.

Dave Fasano and Jerry Martin scored in the first period and Reidy and Tapper scored in the third period to clinch the victory.

Goalie Matt Higgins turned in an outstanding job with 25 saves.

"The kids know they have to keep winning and they know that every time they step on the ice, the season is on the line," said Jago.

"Against Brockton the kids were as psyched up as any North team I've seen in six years. They were ready to fly and you could feel it in the locker room. The coaches didn't have to say a thing."

Martin scored his first varsity goal in that game and Jago had good words for him.

"He was a journeyman junior varsity player who wasn't projected in our varsity picture," Jago said. "He was all-league in football and although he is a bit awkward at times, he's strong enough to cover himself."

"Peter Furtado has been outstanding on defense. He is playing close to 80 percent of the game and he's been our stalwart in defense, the guy who takes control and gets the puck out of the zone. He's always been steady and now he's making the big plays."

Tracy Maloney Wins Letter At Tufts

Tracy Maloney, a senior from Quincy, has won a varsity letter with the New England champion women's tennis team at Tufts University.

Playing number three singles, Tracy, the daughter of Phil and Frances Maloney, posted a 5-5 record in dual match play. She followed by winning the

"C" singles in the N.E. Tournament by sweeping four straight matches, including a 6-2, 6-4 upset over Trinity's Sandy Greene in the finals.

Tracy and Lisa Goldstein teamed up to post a 2-1 record in doubles competition.

Tracy is a former tennis and basketball standout at Thayer Academy.

First Ladies Rebound To Upset Newton N

The Quincy girls' basketball team, which has had a frustrating season, bounced back from a loss to North Quincy to upset Newton North, 49-41, last Friday for its first Suburban League win of the year.

The First Ladies, under first-year coach Bob Uhlir, played at Weymouth North Tuesday, will beat Waltham Friday at 5 o'clock and next Tuesday will host Brockton at 5.

Cindy Morrell, a consistent performer all season long, played another outstanding game and led Quincy's scorers against Newton with 13 points and Linda Mahoney contributed eight as the First Ladies turned in an excellent two-way game.

Earlier in the week the Quincy girls had stayed with North Quincy most of the way, taking a 9-8 first quarter lead and being tied, 15-15, at halftime.

The Raiderettes, however, opened up a 27-20 lead in the third quarter and went on to win, 40-29.

"I was extremely happy with the way our girls played throughout the game," said

Uhlir. "They hung tough all the way and I thought Cindy Morrell (10 points) played an outstanding game. Karla Robertson was tremendous on defense and freshman Terry Duggan (6 points) showed great potential for a first-year player."

"North Quincy played a solid game defensively. The sportsmanship on the part of all the players and coaching staff is what this sport is all about and I'm very happy to have become a part of it."

Quincy Icemen Shock Waltham

Quincy's hockey team turned in two of its better performances of the season last week, but the best it could do was come out with a split.

Bob Sylvia's Presidents (3-7-1) played North Quincy for the third time yesterday (Wednesday), Saturday will play at Brockton at 4 p.m. and next Wednesday will host Cambridge Rindge and Latin at 6:40 p.m. at the Youth Arena.

The Presidents played their best game of the season to shock Waltham, 3 - 2, only the second loss of the Suburban League season for Waltham.

Brian Provenzano scored his second goal of the game with three minutes left in the game to win it.

Provenzano scored his and the team's first goal in the second period and Marc Abboud increased the lead with an assisted goal. Waltham rallied to tie it, then Provenzano scored the clincher. Ed Boyle assisted on both of Provenzano's goals.

Bill Cahill had an outstanding game in goal with 35 saves.

Waltham had a two-man advantage late in the game, but Cahill made seven saves in the final 90 seconds to preserve the win.

Last Saturday Quincy just missed an even bigger upset as it dropped a 6-5 squeaker to league-leading Newton North.

Mark Chambers, who had two goals, scored late in the game to pull the Presidents within one, but they couldn't come up with the equalizer.

John Gleba, Boyle and John O'Connor had the other goals for Quincy.

Raiderettes Defeat Quincy

The North Quincy girls' basketball team defeated Quincy, 40-26, last week for its first Suburban League win, then dropped a 46-45 heartbreaker to Waltham, making its record 4-9.

Paul Bregoli's Raiderettes played Brookline Tuesday, will host Brockton Friday at 5 o'clock and next Tuesday will be at Newton North for a 5 o'clock game.

North received an outstanding performance from senior tri-captain Mary Holleran, who scored a career-high 22 points against Quincy. North trailed, 9-8, after a quarter as Holleran scored all eight points.

The teams were tied, 15-15, at halftime. Senior tri-captain Chris Donovan picked up her third foul but, again, backup center Lynda Feeney came in to do a fine job of filling in, grabbing several rebounds. Her foul shot tied the score at the half.

North came out fired up in the third quarter with Holleran and Debbie Cavanaugh played standout defense and had many steals. Holleran hit for 10 points in the quarter, many on drives to the basket. North led, 27-20, going into the fourth quarter.

Holleran had 10 steals and five rebounds in addition to her 22 points. Cavanaugh ran the offense well and played a fine floor game, while Donovan and sophomore Karen Runge dominated the boards.

North jumped out to a 14-8 first quarter lead against Waltham as Holleran had six points and Donovan, Runge and Ann Duggan all scored easy baskets.

North increased its lead to 22-10 in the second quarter as Waltham couldn't solve the Raiderettes' tenacious defense. However, Waltham converted 10 of 12 foul shots so, despite North outscoring the visitors by 12 points from the floor in the half, it held only a 24-20 halftime lead. North didn't have a free throw in the half.

Holleran, who had 10 first half points, went cold and had only one long jump shot in the second half. North was on top, 36-31, going into the final session as Donovan hit for two baskets, one a long corner jump shot, and Duggan also scored.

The Raiderettes saw their lead evaporate as Waltham again began a parade to the foul line. Waltham went ahead with 1:30 left in the game on two foul shots.

With 43 seconds left and North trailing by two, Duggan made a fine pass to Runge, who was fouled as she drove to the basket. She made one shot and Waltham turned the ball over with 30 seconds left, but North missed a jump shot. Holleran then was called for an intentional foul as she was going for the ball. Waltham went up by three with 12 seconds left and then allowed Duggan a layup for the final one-point margin.

Holleran had 14 points, Donovan had 10 and Runge nine.

"The Quincy win by our girls and Holleran was immense," Bregoli said. "I thought Cavanaugh, Donovan and Feeney played well. The Waltham loss was hard to take because we outplayed them all the way. You hate to complain, but the officiating was not at its best. We lost the game at the line and that was only because we hardly ever got there."

St. John's Junior Girls Win 6th

St. John's Junior Girls basketball team improved its league-leading record to 6-0 with a 19-6 victory over St. Albert's in the YMCA-Church League.

Caitlin Shiels was the game's high scorer with nine points and Debbie Panaro, Kellene Duffy and Hope Spooner had three each. Deirdre Murphy, Kristen Luosey, Christine Delaney and Kristin Bruno played aggressive defense.

For St. Albert's, Barbara Kelly, Shannon O'Connor and Kerry Lievi had two points each.

St. John's will play Our Lady of Good Counsel Saturday and St. Albert's will face Most Blessed Sacrament B.

St. Joseph's Goliath B's On Top

St. Joseph's Goliath B basketball team broke open a close game in the fourth quarter and defeated Fort Square, 31-20, in the YMCA-Church League.

Each team had a 4-2 record going into the game and were tied for second place.

The game was nip and tuck through three quarters with St. Joseph's leading 18-16.

David Jennette had 11 of his game-high 15 points in the second half. Dan Jaehnig had six points, Anthony Battistone four, Billy Ryan three, Tim Brillo two and Ricky Morris one. Ryan, Brillo and Battistone had an excellent job breaking Fort Square's press and setting up some easy baskets.

Fort Square was led by Dave Allen with 12 points and a fine floor game.

St. Joseph's will play Our Lady "B" team Saturday at the Y.

St. John's Goliaths Win

St. John's Goliath B basketball team rolled over Our Lady of Good Counsel, 45-17, to stay on top of the YMCA-Church League with a 7-0 record.

Ernie Light led the scoring with 10 points, Jamie Fennessey had eight, Dan McLaughlin seven, Frank Calabro six, Lance Panaro five, E. J. Hartnett four, Brian McNeil three and Mike King two.

St. John's B will play St. John's A Saturday while Our Lady will meet St. Joseph's B.

Stay Alive!

By John Valante

TOURNIQUETS ARE OUT

What would you do if, as a result of an accident, an arm or leg began to bleed profusely? Apply a tourniquet, right? Wrong!

"Too many people do not realize that a tourniquet shuts off the blood supply. If it's left on too long, gangrene may set in and amputation may be necessary," says the director of health and safety for Scouting USA. Safety authorities discourage the use of tourniquets except as a last resort or when supervised by first-aid experts. According to the experts, "More people have been lost from a tourniquet applied poorly or left on too long than from not having one at all."

By applying pressure at the injured spot you can stop almost any bleeding. Even the most severe bleeding can usually be arrested with a large compress - a handkerchief or a piece of shirt - held firmly on the artery until the blood clots and the wound can be bandaged.

However, such measures should never be taken with head wounds, because pressure may force pieces of a fractured skull into the brain. Instead, have the victim lie comfortable with the head slightly raised until medical help arrives.

Vocational Education Week Cable TV Program Feb. 8

Quincy Community Television will celebrate Vocational Education week with a special presentation Wednesday, Feb. 8.

"Wouldn't You Like to Be a Tech-er, Too?" will be presented at 7:30 p.m. on Cable Ch. 3.

A live call-in question and answer session will follow the half hour program. Parents and students are encouraged to call in their questions about the programs at Quincy Vocational Technical School.

Christine Sullivan of Quincy Cablestems produced the videotape in which students, parents, teachers, counselors and administrators are questioned on girls in non-traditional areas.

The Quincy Vo-Tech students speak about their initial feelings of isolation and fears of the unknown.

A support group, organized to help the girls in non-traditional courses, helps diminish the feelings of isolation.

The support group is composed of 15 girls ages 13 to 18 who are enrolled in Quincy Vo-Tech courses such as carpentry, metals and machines, and auto repair.

The group meets with school principal, Joseph Mazzarella and Marie Hurley, Title IX/622 liaison, to discuss issues of concern to the students.

Issues range from handling male reaction in the shop to dealing with discouragement in a field where young women have had little experience.

Other meetings have included films, union personnel and school speakers.

Although there are 159 girls out of 744 students at Quincy Vo-Tech, only 15 are in "non-traditional" areas.

The main reasons these girls enroll in these areas is the same as the boys: they can learn to do something that interests them and they can make good money at it.

Parents of these girls, interviewed for the program, tell why they support their daughter's choices:

"I know she'll be able to be independent and be able to support a family if she needs to."

TEACHER RESOURCE BOOKS for those who work with children's literature were purchased as a retirement gift for William Phinney, seated, second right, which he turned over to the Thomas Crane Public Library. Phinney retired as assistant superintendent of instruction in the Quincy Public Schools. Cable delivers. Just ask the Rabbit.

In high school, John Baldassini was so quick on the athletic field that he was labeled the Rabbit. That was 42 years ago. Today the Rabbit still gets around. Delivering mail on the same 3½ mile route in North Quincy to over 375 homes. The name has stuck and so has his love of sports.

So it was only natural that when cable came to Quincy that the Rabbit ran to cable. "It brings me all the sports I could possibly want. Twenty-four hours a day. Celtic games and title fights that aren't on regular TV. Games from as far away as Atlanta and as close as Quincy. There are even two channels with nothing but sports.

In fact, I became so involved with the programs that we had cable installed for my wife. Then my son and daughter. Everyone found something that they liked. It seemed a shame not to be able to see them all."

So, the Baldassini's became a three-cable family. The Eyes of Quincy show them their neighborhood, show them the world, Sports, health, music, films, you name it. The Rabbit and his family have it. It's just a hop, skip and a jump away.

THE HOLY SPIRIT

O Holy Spirit, thou who are all knowing, who brightens every path that may reach my ideal, though who giveth me the divine gift of forgiving and forgetting wrong done unto me and who in every instant of my life art with me. I'd like in this short dialogue to affirm my gratitude for all your blessings and reaffirm once again that I never want to part from thee through the illusion of material things around. My desire is to be with thee and all loved ones in perpetual grace. Thank you for your mercy on me and mine.

(Person should pray 3 consecutive days without revealing petition. Within three days grace will be attained regardless of how difficult the petition may be.)

A Papa Gino's restaurant, expected to be the most modern in the area, is set to be the major tenant in a new $300,000 building to be constructed in Wollaston Center.

The License Board granted a common victualer license Tuesday for the restaurant at Hancock and Beale Sts.

The site has been vacant since an April, 1982 fire which caused more than $500,000 damage and destroyed a Pizza Chef restaurant and several other businesses.

Susan Cleary, real estate coordinator for Papa Gino's, said about $400,000 would be invested in the restaurant.

Sabina Kavanagh is building the structure which will house her beauty academy on the second floor, Papa Gino's and another business on the first floor.

L & R Construction of Reading is scheduled to start work on the building in three to four weeks and September is the anticipated completion date, according to Joseph A. Donahue, of Donahue Associates / Architects Planners.

About 30 to 35 full and part time employees will be needed at the restaurant which will have 84 seats and a salad bar, said Miss Cleary.

Hours will be Monday to Thursday, 11 a.m. to 10 p.m., Friday and Saturday, 11 a.m. to 11 p.m., and Sunday, noon to 10 p.m.

Joseph Salerno of Papa Gino's said there would be a console juke box but no video games at the restaurant to be managed by Anthony Antidormi of Burlington.

The main entrance will be on Beale St., with an emergency entrance on Hancock St.

Papa Gino's has a 20 year lease, said Cleary.

"I have no doubt it will look nice on the corner," said Building Inspector Allan MacDonald, "but I have reservations about the saturation of the area (with similar type establishments)."

City Clerk John Gillis and Fire Chief Edward Barry agreed the new building would improve the area.

Ward Councillor Stephen McGrath said the vacant lot is hurting the area and the new building would be an asset.

Donahue told the board the structure could not be built without Papa Gino's lease agreement.

The license was granted with the stipulation that plans be submitted to the Health Department, signs be approved by the Building Department, and fire extinguishing plans be submitted to the Fire Department.

Construction must be started by March 15 and completed no later than Dec. 31 or the license will be automatically revoked.

Costs Mount In Shipyard Settlement

The costs of the city settlement with General Dynamics Company relative to over-assessment of the shipyard are still mounting much to the surprise of members of the City Council.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley requested an appropriation of the City Council Monday night in the amount of $4,652.50 to cover the cost of legal fees and expenses of Atty. William B. Golden, former City Solicitor, for services rendered as outside representative of the city during the period June 27, 1983 to January 6, 1984.

Speaking for the appropriation order City Solicitor Dean P. Nicastro told the Council Golden had resigned as the City's special counsel on the General Dynamics case and that the money requested represents Golden's final billing to the city.

The breakdown was for $4.2 hours at $85 an hour for Golden plus $45.50 in paralegal and other disbursements.

According to a breakdown of legal fees and outside appraisers costs in the General Dynamics case the total tab to Quincy taxpayers for the fiscal years 1979 through 1983 amounts to $285,376. Excluded from this amount was the final bill for Golden's services.

Councillor Joseph LaRaia commented that many parties had been involved in the shipyard case since its beginnings. He said:

"When I think of all the parties involved and the so-called racketeering that's going on down at the shipyard and the use of the word 'racketeering' is a word I read in the newspaper. That's not my word, but the word of the Justice Department, and others regarding the management of the shipyard. When I think of the way they have handled their business down there, and the costs to the city of Quincy, the only one who lost out in this whole operation is obviously the taxpayer."

Later Councillor John Lydon criticized a home rule petition submitted by Mayor Francis McCauley asking that the city of Quincy be granted legislative approval to write off as a bad debt the sum of $2.5 million being carried as an account receivable on the

Only Five Take Exam For Police Chief

By TOM HENSHAW

Four lieutenants and one captain took the Civil Service exam Monday to establish a list of candidates for police chief of Quincy.

They were Capt. William Murphy, Lts. Francis Mullin, John Mulligan, Donald Riley and Robert Salvaggio.

Two other officers, Lts. Walter Lynch and John Flaherty, who applied to take the exam did not take it. They gave no reason.

Mayor Francis X. Mc-

Cauley said he asked for the exam to establish a list of candidates should Chief Francis X. Finn decide to retire.

Finn, 58, who underwent quadruple heart bypass surgery in December, 1982, has said he has no plans to retire.

Should Finn change his mind and a list of candidates is available, Mayor McCauley would select a successor from the top three scores on the exam.

Personnel Director Don Hansen said it usually takes from six months to a year for Civil Service to grade the exam and announce the list.

Council Approves Charter Change For Council Election

By JOHN NOONAN

The City Council has voted 8 to 10 to approve a home rule petition requesting the State Legislature to allow a city charter change so that a special election to fill the vacant Ward 1 Council seat can be held.

The Council seat was vacated last month when former City Councillor Leo Kelly resigned to accept a position with the Quincy Housing Authority.

The present city charter stipulates that vacancies on the City Council must be filled by appointment by the city councilors. The petition approved by the Council Monday night calls for a special election by the people to fill any council vacancy.

Earlier the Council, meeting as the ordinance Committee, voted to approve the charter change after an attempt was made by Councillor Joseph LaRaia to amend the language of the petition. LaRaia's amendment would specify filling a vacancy occurring in a 12 month period from the day the councilor, any councilor, took the oath of office.

Councillor Joanne Condon took exception to the amendment inviting that the petition as prepared by Assistant City Solicitor Jay MacRitchie was quite clear as that LaRaia's amendment would only confuse the issue.

At question was the day the councilors, following a regular election, are sworn in. Presently a new council takes office at swearing-in ceremonies on the first Monday in January following election. This year the first Monday was a holiday, New Year's fell on Sunday but was celebrated on Monday. The Council therefore did not take office until Tuesday, Jan. 3.

The petition now goes to the State Legislature where it is expected to be enacted within a few weeks. Council President James Sheets urged that the Council be kept informed of the progress of the petition as it goes through the legislative process.

The petition was introduced at the January meeting of the Council by Councillors Condon and John Lydon Jr.

Mondale, Glenn Delegates Chosen

Supporters of presidential candidates Walter Mondale and John Glenn have chosen six delegates and two alternates each to represent them at the Democratic National Convention in San Francisco in July.

But first Mondale and Glenn have to win at least 16 per cent of the vote in the state's March 13 presidential primary.

The delegates will be assigned to the convention from the 11th Congressional District in proportion to the vote received by their candidate, with 16 per cent needed for one delegate.

Mondale delegates chosen were:

Sen. Allan McKinnon of Weymouth, Sen. Paul D. Harold of Quincy, MDC Commissioner William Geary of Quincy, Margaret MacKenzie of Weymouth, Kathleen Kelley of Quincy and Judith Haman of Rockland.

Mario Traficante of Quincy and Ruth Walsh of Randolph, alternates.

Glenn delegates chosen were:

Governor's Councillor Peter Eley of Quincy, John Buckley of Abington, Ronald Iacobucci of Quincy, City Councillor Patricia Toland of Quincy, Catherine Breen of Rockland and Paula Golden of Quincy.

Lawrence Palazzi of Braintree and Monica Lydon of Quincy, alternates.

Police Matrons Pay $8 Per Hour

The City Council approved an ordinance increasing the rate of pay for police matrons when on-duty from the current $6.75 to $8 per hour.

Michael Cheney In Ward 1 Council Race

A third candidate has formally entered the race to succeed Leo J. Kelly as city councillor from Ward 1.

He is Michael T. Cheney, 30, of Houghs Neck, a diesel mechanic for the MBTA, who has been active in school and civic affairs for the past eight years.

The City Council Monday night passed a home rule petition to change the city charter so that Kelly's successor can be elected by the people of Ward 1 and not by the other members of the Council.

"I am pleased the Council chose to pass the home rule petition," said Cheney. "It would have been unfair to the remaining councillors and most importantly to the people of Ward 1 if the City Council had chosen to fill the unexpired term.

"Now that it is clear there will be an election, I look forward to bringing my candidacy to the people of Ward 1. As a homeowner and father of three children I have a deep interest in the future of our ward and of our city."

Cheney, a resident of Houghs Neck for eight years, is currently president of the Atherton Hough PTA, a delegate to the Citywide PTO, a member of the Houghs Neck Community Council and an access card holder in Quincy Community Cable Television.

He is an executive member of Local 264 of the Machinists Union, chairman of the union's community services and a delegate to the Greater Boston Labor Council.

He was Ward 1 coordinator for jobs and justice to the Democratic State Convention and Ward 1 delegate to the 1983 Democratic Issues and Convention in Springfield.

Previously announced candidates for the Ward 1 seat are Mary Crowley, Gregoire of Houghs Neck and Bernard Reisberg of Merrymount.

City To Proceed With Swingle's Plans

The city plans to continue its investigation into the environmental concerns involved in the draining and filling of Swingle's Quarry in West Quincy.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley met last week with the principals in the quarry project, including members of the Gooch family of Brockton, whose son Paul, 17 drowned in the quarry last June.

Also at the meeting were representatives of the J.F. White Co., which has been chosen to drain and fill the quarry, City Solicitor Dean Nicastro, Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson and City Council President James A. Sheets.

"The Gooches are anxious to get on with recovering their boy's body," said McCauley, "but there are certain things that have to happen before we get involved."

"Councillor Sheets raised the concern that, if the quarry is filled in, where will the spring-fed water go? What effect will it have on nearby Granite Rail Quarry?"

"We decided to get together with J.F. White and draft an agreement while geologists are looking at the environmental concerns to see what problems will arise."

$17 Million N.Q. Project Moves Ahead

By JOHN NOONAN
The City Council, upon recommendation of the council Downtown and Economic Development Committee, Monday approved certain amendments to an order that will allow final negotiations for the $17-million 200 Newport Avenue building project to go forward as planned.

The order authorizes Mayor Francis McCauley to execute and deliver on behalf of the city a lease of the air rights above the North Quincy MBTA parking lot to the 200 Newport Avenue Realty Trust, developers of the project.

On March 1, 1982 the City Council adopted an order authorizing the mayor as chief executive officer of the city to execute an amended version of a lease which increased the space leased by 3,575 square feet of ground rights on the parcel in order to allow the developer to construct retail space at the ground level of the office building to be constructed in the air rights.

The City Council and mayor also approved an Urban Development Action Grant for the development of a 350 car garage facility. Without the UDAG the development would not have been possible.

The project consists of an 8-story office building with the garage and air rights amounting to $17 million.

Mark C. Dickinson, spokesman for the Realty Trust, told the City Council, that construction of the project can commence within a matter of days following approval of the amendments which are legal and technical in nature. He said the project is expected to be completed by March 1985.

$51,058

For Landfill Operation

The sum of $51,058.67 was transferred by vote of the City Council from the landfill receipts to the landfill operations account.

The transfer was recommended by Mayor Francis McCauley upon request of Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson.

No Change In Polling Places

The City Council has set March 13 as Presidential Primary Day in Quincy.

Voters will have the opportunity to vote for a state committeeman and state committeewoman, ward committee members, and presidential candidates at local polling places which will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

City Clerk John Gillis said the polling places will remain the same as they were during the last city election in November 1983.

McCauley Set To Fund New City Contract

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said Tuesday he is preparing financial orders and ordinance changes to satisfy the terms of a new contract with city employees.

Members of the Hospital, Library and Public Employees Union voted by a 3-1 margin to ratify the contract giving them a 9.18 per cent raise, most of it retroactive, over two years.

And now it's back to the drawing board for John Keefe, head of the union, who starts negotiations for a new contract Feb. 15.

The newly ratified contract, covering the period of July 1, 1982 to June 30, 1984, calls for a 3 per cent raise retroactive to July 1, 1982, and a 6 per cent raise effective April 1, 1984.

The contract expires

June 30, 1984.

Keefe said the vote in favor of ratification was 165-46 for hospital and city employees and 24-8 among library workers. There are about 440 members of the union.

Sample pay hikes for the largest classifications of workers are $12,701 to $13,866 for clerk-typists and $13,569 to $14,814 for senior clerks.

Board Cautions Restaurant Applicant

BY NANCY McLAUGHLIN

A local businessman would like to open Vic's Restaurant at 524 Sea St., Adams Shore, but the License Board is cautioning him that the area has been a trouble spot.

The board continued to Feb. 14 a request from Victor Cucaro of Rock Island Road, Houghs Neck, for a common victualer license.

Cucaro is to submit plans to the Health Department, and check with the Fire and Building Departments.

A request for a common victualer license for Vittorio's Ice Cream, Inc., 552 Sea St., was withdrawn without prejudice because negotiations are incomplete.

Cucaro, a native of Argentina who has lived in Quincy for 10 years, said he would serve breakfast, lunch and dinner at the restaurant.

A clothing manufacturer, Cucaro said he would manage the restaurant which would be open 6 a.m. to 9 p.m. or midnight.

City Clerk John Gillis noted that the board should be especially careful in considering the request, since the area currently has no city councillor to represent it.

Ward 1 Councillor Leo Kelly recently resigned his council seat to accept a position with the Housing Authority.

Police Chief Francis Finn called the area of the proposed restaurant "a hot bed."

"You have no idea of the problem," Finn told Cucaro. "The location attracts young people. It has been a nightmare for 25 years."

"It's very difficult to enforce the law. I think you are biting off more than you can chew."

Cucaro said he thought he could improve the area.

Fire Chief Edward Barry said that the restaurant should be open until 9 p.m. at the latest.

Despite the warnings, Gillis maintained that Cucaro was entitled to try to make the business a success.

"If everything is up to snuff," said Gillis, "I'd have to vote for it."

Gregory Galvin Named To Planning Board

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has named Gregory F. Galvin, a Squantum attorney, to a five-year term on the Planning Board, succeeding T. David Rafferty whose term expired this month.

Galvin, who lives at 54 Wedgewood St., is a partner in the law firm of Gross and Galvin of South Weymouth. He was a member of the Rent Grievance Board from 1973 to 1975.

A graduate of Curry College with a masters degree from Boston State College and a law degree from the New England School of Law.

He and his wife, Joan, have four daughters.

A 'Thank You' From Richard Wilson Family

Dear Friends and Neighbors,

On behalf of myself, my daughter, KellyLee, Dick's family and my own family, I would like to take this time to thank each and everyone of you for your many kindnesses to us all during the darkest moment of our lives at the untimely death of my beloved husband - Dick Wilson. Dick was a very special, kind, warm, considerate, caring human being, and he touched a lot of people in his short 43 years on this earth. And the outpouring of love, kindness, prayers, generosity, and friendship during this terrible heartache has been overwhelming and very much welcomed and appreciated.

I would have liked to thank all of you personally, but it was impossible to do because there were so many people at the wake, funeral, and Mass that I did not get a chance to see you all especially being in the state of numbness that I've been in.

My heart is full of gratitude for whatever you may have done to ease our pain and show your concern and sympathy, and I hope you will allow me to thank you by way of the following poem because words don't come easy to me and this says what I feel in my heart.

"Perhaps you sent a lovely card, or sat quietly in a chair,

Perhaps you sent a floral piece, if so, we saw it there,

Perhaps you spoke the kindest words, as any friend could say,

Perhaps you were not there at all, just thought of us that day.

Whatever you did to console our hearts, we thank you so much whatever the part."

Thank you all from the bottom of this broken, yet grateful heart.

Mrs. Richard (Carol Lee) Wilson

Local Teams Of 1930's Better Treat Than Super Bowl

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

After watching the Raiders trounce the Redskins in the Super Bowl for which fans paid 60 bucks a ticket to see, I couldn't help thinking of the 1930's when I was a teenager.

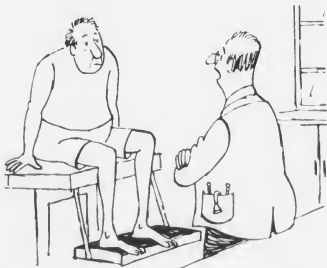

We used to walk down to "the Oval" (now Veterans Memorial Stadium) and drop a dime or quarter into the hat and see some great football games involving the Trojans, Manets, North Quincy Alumni and others.

The Dallas Cowboys may be "America's Team", but the South Quincy Trojans were "my" team! Some of my favorites on that team were: Orre Carella, Les Duggan, George Mills, Joe Erwin, Steve Burke, Deke DeCoste and Vic Lange. I'll never forget some of the great players on the other teams, also, such as: Nick Malvesti, Vic DiGravio, Steve Freeland and Cap Bryan.

We didn't have much money in those Depression days, but we teenagers had a lot of fun rooting for "our" team.

The Music Stopped

The music stopped before the musical chairs could move.

Congressman Brian Donnelly's decision not to seek the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by Paul Tsongas brought a lot of planned political movement on the local front to a dead stop.

If Donnelly had said "yes," State Senator Paul Harold was all set to jump in as a candidate for Donnelly's 11th District Congressional seat. He was ready to go the day before.

Rep. Thomas Brownell or Rep. Michael Morrissey or both would have been tempted to run for Harold's seat which he would have had to give up. (Harold has a challenger in Rick Golden.)

And, if Brownell or Morrissey had gotten into the state senate race, you might have seen Councillors Stephen McGrath, Joanne Condon or Richard Koch, Jr. eyeing the state representative seats.

Although he wasn't mentioned much, a familiar figure might have come back to the political trails to seek Donnelly's Congressional seat.

Former Mayor-Senator James McIntyre who for years had been considered heir apparent to the 11th Congressional seat when the late James Burke held it, reportedly was seriously thinking of making a bid if Donnelly ran for the U.S. Senate.

McIntyre, now Massachusetts Senate counsel, would have been a formidable contender for the seat.

Another challenger might have been Governor's Councillor Peter Fleecy, McIntyre's nephew which would have made it even more interesting although the feeling was that if McIntyre got into the race, Fleecy would not have.

But, alas, all the "ifs", the "maybes" and the "might have beens" will remain just that.

The music has stopped.

THE POLITICAL TEMPERATURE is warming up in Ward 1.

As of this writing there are four official candidates for the City Council seat vacated by Leo Kelly to take a Quincy Housing Authority project manager's post.

The four: Mary Crowley Gregoire, daughter of late City Councillor David (Jim) Crowley; businessman Bernie Reisberg, Michael Cheney, president of the Atherton Hough PTA and Kevin Davis, AT and T service manager.

The latter two sailed their hats into the ring this week. Crowley, Cheney and Davis are Houghs Neck residents and Reisberg lives in Merrymount.

Some dozen or so names have been tossed around as potential candidates but only these four so far have taken the official step.

With at least four candidates, there will be both a preliminary and final special election with two to be nominated and one to be elected.

Meanwhile, there's talk of a "mystery" candidate getting into the race. His name hasn't been mentioned in all the speculation about potential candidates.

LEO KELLY, was honored by the Adams Shore Community Association Monday night at a reception in the Adams Shore Library.

Association President Lillian Austin presented Kelly with a plaque commemorating his "years of dedication to and fine representation of the people of Adams Shore."

A flag pole in O'Hare Circle in Adams Shore also was named in honor of the former councillor, who resigned his seat Jan. 20.

"It was a real pleasure for me to work with a group such as the Adams Shore Community Association, which is dedicated to getting things done," said Kelly.

Some of his accomplishments for the ward, he said, were bringing a halt to the proposed filling of a portion of Quincy Bay for expansion of the Nut Island Sewage Treatment Plant.

Also the establishment of the Manet Health Center in Houghs Neck, the expansion of the Merrymount School, and the naming of a park and a playground for Greg McKinnon and John Brill, deceased youths.

Present at the reception were Mayor Francis McCauley and Sen. Paul Harold. Kelly's old colleagues on the Council were holding a meeting and unable to attend.

PROUD MOM-POP Dept. Melissa McCauley and Julie McCauley, daughters of Mayor and Mrs. Francis McCauley, have received notices of academic achievements for the fall semester. Melissa, a senior at Northeastern University majoring in Physical Therapy, was on the Dean's List with Highest Honors. Julie, a junior at Tufts University, majoring in Occupational Therapy, also attained Dean's List status.

Cranch School Proposed For Historical Register

The 84-year-old Cranch School at 270 Whitwell St., which was abandoned as a school building two years ago, is being considered for nomination to the National Register of Historic Places.

The building recently was purchased by the Housing Organizational Trust for $150,000 for development into a multi-unit apartment house.

Inclusion in the National Register will enable the developer to receive a tax break for rehabilitation.

Adams Site Land Plan On Review

The Land Protection Plan for the Adams National Historic Site is available for public review Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. until Feb. 27 in the administrative offices.

The plan is required of all public lands to spell out what provisions have been made for privately owned land within their boundaries. The Adams site has none.

Regular airmail service was first established in 1918.

Donnelly Bows Out Of Senate Race, Criticizes O'Neill

By TOM HENSHAW

Things were a little quieter on the political front this week, now that Cong. Brian Donnelly has taken himself out of the U.S. Senate race.

All those local office holders who were eying Donnelly's seat should be glad he has gone back to the more prosaic task of running for re-election.

Donnelly announced his non-candidacy last Friday at a State House news conference in which he also criticized "those who would seek to make the Massachusetts Democratic party their own private political machine."

He was referring to the rule which specifies that a candidate must receive 15 per cent of the vote of delegates to the state convention in order to have their names appear on the ballot.

"My experiences of recent weeks," he said, "have convinced me that the Democratic party in this state is in the process of reversing its long-held tradition of openness and inclusion."

"It is replacing it with a very dangerous approach which comes close to that of exclusion and machine-like dominance by would-be party bosses."

"On behalf of the hundreds of thousands of Democrats in the commonwealth of all political philosophies who are being excluded from this process I pledge my energies to reverse this trend."

"Today is not a declaration of candidacy but it is a declaration of a personal commitment against those who would seek to make the Massachusetts Democratic party their own private political machine."

Donnelly declined to name the "would-be party bosses" but he criticized House Speaker Thomas P. (Tip) O'Neill for his early support of Cong. James Shannon for the Senate seat being vacated by Sen. Paul Tsongas.

"The Speaker broke his own rule that all politics is local," he said. "He did the wrong thing."

Donnelly told the news conference he felt he had a good shot at being elected to the Senate but "I am a man with unfinished agenda in the Congress."

"Although the U.S. Senate is alluring," he said, "I am truly happy in what I do."

As a senior member of the House Budget Committee, he said, "I can affect national policy at a time when fiscal priorities are of prime concern."

Fin. Com. Meets To Cut Record $22.7 M Budget

Chairman John J. Quinn announced that the City Council's Finance Committee would meet Feb. 23 to start cutting the record $22.7 million city budget for 1963 that was submitted by Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa.

The new budget was almost $2 million more than that passed in 1962 with the major increases going to schools, $606,000; hospital, $230,000; pensions, $177,000; debt charges, $73,000; health, $81,000; welfare, $81,000; and veterans services, $35,000.

QUINN
1963

Della Chiesa said he will later submit a supplementary budget of about $550,000 to cover general salary increases and widows' annuities recently approved by the Council.

In his budget message to the Council, the Mayor said the city ended the year with a balance of $1,440,640 in the excess and deficiency fund, of which $976,271 was free available cash.

DELLA CHIESA

RETAIN HISTORIAN

The City Council moved to retain the services of City Historian William Churchill Edwards, who was facing mandatory retirement at the age of 70 in March.

The Council passed a resolve offered by Councillor David S. McIntosh asking Mayor Della Chiesa to see if legislation could be passed allowing Edwards to serve after the age of 70.

No one is indispensable, said McIntosh, but Edwards was just about irreplaceable in his immense knowledge of the city's history.

city's books.

The money was initially entered as an account receivable for an anticipated property tax payment to the city. However the court ruling against the city in the over-assessment of the shipyard property allowed that the General Dynamics Company did not legally have to make that $2.5 million payment to the city.

Arthur Foley, administrative aide to Mayor McCauley, said the home rule petition would merit the city to write off the account as a bad debt over a five year period at the rate of $500,000 each year, rather than write off the entire $2.5 million in one year.

LaRaia and Lydon were joined by Councillors Stephen McGrath, Joanne Condon, Patricia Toland and Richard Koch in questioning Foley and Nicastro about the surprise appearance of the home rule petition to write off the account as a bad debt over five years.

City Clerk John Gillis was asked to rule on whether or not the City Council could make a motion to reconsider the entire General Dynamics case settlement. Gillis said that the council could not adopt a motion to reconsider the settlement at that meeting but could at the next regular meeting of the Council.

Nicastro cautioned the council against a motion to reconsider at this time because bonds for the first payback to General Dynamics under the court judgement are to be issued by the city around the first of March.

"You will be throwing a monkey wrench into all the work that has been done," he said. "The bond issue has already been approved and you will be making my job more difficult," Nicastro said.

Auditor Robert Foy offered an opinion that the council could move to reconsider or amend the home rule petition at a later meeting to request writing off the $2.5 million bad debt over a ten year period rather than the five years specified.

After a prolonged discussion of various aspects of the overall General Dynamics costs to the city the Council voted to approve the appropriation order of $4,652.50 to Mr. Golden.

Action on the home rule petition was deferred until the next regular council meeting.

Commissioner Tours Quincy Schools

Dr. John Lawson, the state commissioner of education, was scheduled to take a tour of the Quincy public schools yesterday (Wednesday).

School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon outlined this schedule for Dr. Lawson's four-hour visit, starting at 8:45 a.m. with a half hour briefing in Dr. Creedon's office, followed by visits to:

Force ROTC programs and the English Department, chaired by Bruce McDonald at Quincy High School.

Then the Vocational Technical School to see how high school youngsters and older junior college students can function in the same educational environment at the same time.

The tour winds up with lunch at the Three Seasons Restaurant in the Vo-Tech School with the principals of all public schools, during which Dr. Lawson will answer their questions.

The Teen Aged Mother program at Bethany Church, where 17 young mothers attend classes in a learning nursery environment on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. It's one of three such programs in the state, operated in part by a $40,000 state grant.

$125,000 TAX SAVINGS

QUESTION: Please explain the latest change in the tax code which gives home sellers a tax exemption of up to $125,000 when he sells his home?

ANSWER: This is one of the best tax breaks for homeowners to come out of Washington in a long time. The law permits a one-in-a-lifetime exclusion of up to $125,000 of profit on a home sale. To qualify an individual must be 55 years old and have owned and occupied the house for three out of the previous five years before the sale. The tax change does not eliminate the previous rule which permits you to postpone profit if you buy a home that costs more than the one you sell.

IF YOU'RE OVER 55, you're in for a great tax break when you sell your home.

Dental Health Program

A Comprehensive Dental Health Education Program for senior citizens is being held Fridays through March, 11 a.m. to noon, prior to the senior luncheon.

Sponsored by South Shore Elder Services, Inc., The South Shore Dental Society, the American Cancer Society, and Community Dentists, it is held at the Houghs Neck Community Center, 1193 Sea St.

Program coordinator is Jackie Anapolle, public health dental hygienist.

With the growing geriatric population, is important to reach those out in the community who do not see dental health as a priority, says Miss Anapolle.

At Houghs Neck Center

Main Component of the program is the educational thrust designed from a survey given at the onset of the program. Some of the topics are: Dentures, changes due to aging, financial barriers, periodontal disease, prevention and nutrition.

This program has been offered at eight nutrition sites since 1981. The original funding came from the department of elder affairs.

Over 178 elders have had their mouths examined by area dentists, and patients were referred for treatment at reduced rates.

For more information, contact Kathy Bryanton at 335-1310 or Nicci Marchi at 770-0681.

WHAT'S MAKING THIS BOOK A BEST SELLER?

An 8 to 9.25% annual return — without tying up cash for long periods.

A Select Savings Account passbook is becoming a very popular item.

It's not surprising when you consider that a Select Savings Account is a great way to earn high interest that doesn't require an enormous minimum deposit. All you need to open one is a $500 minimum balance, and you can earn an annual rate of 8% (8.33% effective annual yield) — a lot higher than you could earn on a regular savings or NOW Account. When your passbook balance reaches $2,500 you begin earning 9.25% annually (9.65% effective annual yield).

And no, you don't have to tie up your money forever to get these rates. Just give us 90 days' notice of withdrawal. Otherwise, we're required to impose a penalty of one month's interest for early withdrawal.

The Select Savings Account even allows you to build your high interest account by making as many additional deposits as you like. And, to give you the best return on your money, we compound the interest daily. Interest rates are set monthly. Your principal and interest are fully insured up to $100,000 by the F.D.I.C.

All-in-all, it's easy to see why the Select Savings Account passbook is one of the most popular books around.

To open your account, just call 773-0500 and we'll send you what you need to get started — or stop by one of the 17 conveniently located Bank of New England-Hancock offices today.

By Edward David R.Ph.

New drug that lowers high blood pressure has been approved by the FDA. Six-year test of guanadrel sulfate indicates fewer, less severe side effects than with traditional antihypertensive drugs.

Neuroradiologist at New York University has found a way to starve tumors of their blood supply. Designed originally for benign tumors of the face and neck that were crowding normal tissue, the technique can also be used to shrink operable tumors before surgery.

Your doctor "reads" your fingernails for symptoms of disease. White lines across the nail bed, for instance, may point to liver disease.

When a mother-to-be continues her allergy shots during pregnancy, she may also protect her child against allergy, according to a study at the Kaiser-Permanente Medical Group in Los Angeles.

Home pregnancy tests are private and inexpensive, but not foolproof. A positive reading is usually accurate; with a negative reading, a patient may still be pregnant. Test again, or see your doctor.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

It seems there are a lot of politicians committed to drastic social and economic reform. Certain economists also appear willing to change previously successful customs and procedures for the purpose of improvement. Read what Lincoln said about some of the things we refer to.

"You cannot bring about prosperity by discouraging thrift. You cannot strengthen the weak by weakening the strong. You cannot help the wage payer by pulling down the wage payer. You cannot help the poor by destroying the rich. You cannot keep out of trouble by spending more than you earn. You cannot build character and courage by taking away man's initiative and independence. You cannot help men permanently by doing for them what they could and should do for themselves.

Won't you agree he said a mouthful? ...

Chamber Seeks Awards Nominees

The annual dinner for the South Shore Chamber of Commerce will be held Friday, March 23 at Lantana in Randolph.

The Community Development department is seeking nominations of people to receive the Annual Leadership Recognition Award at the dinner.

The committee is chaired by Chamber Board of Director member Paul MacElhiney, Vice-President of Duncan MacKellar Insurance Agency in Weymouth.

All nominations should be addressed to: Nominating Committee - Leadership Award, South Shore Chamber of Commerce, 36 Miller Stile Road, Quincy 02169.

Last year's Leadership Awards were presented to James McIntyre as "Statesman of the Year," and

Thomas Flatley as "Businessman of the Year."

Individuals proposed must have made contributions that have forwarded the South Shore Chamber's objective of building a sense of Community in the region and in providing leadership in matters of regional concerns as it affects the quality of life and economic prosperity. Categories for the annual awards are not automatically the same each year to allow for a broad range of individual possibilities.

Each nomination letter should give specifics on why that individual should be considered and tell what contributions have been made.

Deadline for receipt of letters is March 1. Nomination forms are available from the South Shore Chamber. To receive the form call 479-1111.

Evangelism Series Concludes At Squantum Church

The five-week series of sermons on Christian evangelism concluded Sunday during the 10:30 a.m. service at the First Church of Squantum.

Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor, preached on the subject, "Evangelism Here: When and How."

His text was Romans 10:14: "And how are they to believe in him or whom they have never heard? And how are they to hear without a preacher?"

Greeters at that service were Mary and Stewart Scott. The Chancel Choir sang, "Glory" by Richard Baker. This piece was introduced to church members first during the Billy Graham meetings in Boston last year.

Hymns included "O Zion, Haste, Thy Mission High

Fulfilling," "Jesus Shall Reign Where'er the Sun," "O for a Thousand Tongues to Sing" and "Christ for the World We Sing."

For the offertory, pianist Minda Hurd played "Andante" from "Rustic Sonata" by William D. Armstrong.

Ushers were Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott. The Fellowship Hour was hosted by Doris Longmire and Isabelle Preston.

Members and leaders of Boy Scout Troop 24, sponsored by the church, were present at the first service at 8:30 a.m. in recognition of Boy Scout Sunday. Also attending with the boys, who were all in uniform, were Troop Committeewoman Mardi Petrosius and Scoutmaster John Labenski with his wife, Alice, and their two children.

Patti Hurd and Hazel Mayne were in charge of refreshments.

The second service began with the pastor telling a story about "The Spider and the Wasp." Later he gave a sermon on the subject, "Listening to God's Word." The text was "Every athlete exercises self-control in all things." (1 Corinthians 9:24-27).

There will be only one service Sunday, Feb. 12, at 10:30 a.m. because the whole church has been invited to the Valentine Breakfast Sunday at 9:15 a.m. Proceeds will be used to help send young people to Christian camps this summer.

The menu includes orange juice, scrambled eggs, sausage, hash browned potatoes, a muffin and beverage.

Reservations can be made by calling the church office at 328-6649.

The Evening Friendship Circle will sponsor a Pot Roast Dinner Friday, Feb. 10, at 6:30 p.m. to be followed by a variety show performed by members and young people in the church.

Mary Ruth Scott is directing the show. Proceeds will benefit the work of the Evening Friendship Circle.

Reservations may be made by calling Barbara Frazer at 328-0502.

Eucharistic Service Sunday At St. Chrysostom's

The Rt. Rev. Roger Blanchard, retired Bishop of Southern Ohio, will visit St. Chrysostom's Episcopal Church, Wollaston, Sunday, Feb. 12, for a 4 p.m. Service of Confirmation.

A group of 15 youth and adults will be presented to the Bishop in the Eucharistic Service. In addition to those being Confirmed or Received, other parishioners are invited to renew their Baptismal Vows.

Bishop Blanchard, acting for the Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Massachusetts, will preach and celebrate the Eucharist.

A reception will follow the service. The public is welcome.

CHECKS FOR $25 were presented to winners in an essay contest held recently by St. John's News, the parish newspaper of St. John's Church. There were two divisions, adult and junior, in the contest on the theme, "What Christmas 1983 Means to Me." From left, are winners Mrs. Virginia Siteman, Carolyn Hartnett, 11; with the Rev. William McCarthy, pastor.

'Risk Of Compassion' Bethany Sermon Topic

There will be two worship services Sunday, Feb. 12, in Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Centre, at 9 a.m. in the chapel and 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. Joel F. Huntington will preach the sermon at both services on "The Risk of Compassion," based on scriptural texts from Deuteronomy 24:19-22 and Luke 14:1-14.

Lay scripture readers will be Alice Greene for the early service and Clara MacLean for the late service. The senior minister, the Rev. J. William Arnold, will assist in leading the worship at both hours.

During the sanctuary service, the Chancel Choir, under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will present as the offertory "Brother James' Air" arranged by Gordon Jacob, and as the anthem "Sine Nomine" by R. Vaughn Williams.

The service will also be broadcast over WJDA, 1300 kc, at 11 a.m. by delayed-tape.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pre-school through ninth grade. Nursery care will be provided for babies and young children.

At 11 a.m., there will be a coffee hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Church School.

For information, contact Pastor Arnold at the church, 479-7300.

Kindergarten Registration At St. Mary's Feb. 29

Registration for a kindergarten program at St. Mary's School, West Quincy, will be held Wednesday, Feb. 29 from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. in the school library.

Registration for Grade 1 students will take place Feb. 15, from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. in the school library.

Birth certificates, baptismal records, and medical reports must also be brought at this time. Screening will be done at a later date.

Linda Trubiano Awarded Medeiros Scholarship

Linda Trubiano, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Trubiano of Quincy, was recently selected as the 1983-84 recipient of the Cardinal Medeiros Memorial Scholarship.

Leo Medeiros, brother of the late Cardinal, and his wife presented the award to Miss Trubiano at ceremonies held at Laboure Junior College, Boston.

A senior majoring in nursing, Miss Trubiano is currently employed at the Carney Hospital, Dorchester.

Jeffrey MacDonald Honor Student

Jeffrey MacDonald of Quincy, recently received Second Honors for the first marking period of the school year at Xaverian Brothers High School, Westwood.

Take care of your own funeral arrangements now.
So your family won't have to later.

By not taking care of your own funeral in advance, you force someone close to you to do it for you.

For the person who accepts the responsibility, making arrangements at the time of need is likely to be filled with uncertainties. The uncertainty of not knowing what you really wanted. Your personal preferences. Perhaps, a favorite dress or suit. A special prayer. A clergyman with whom you are especially close. The uncertainties are endless.

The kindest thing you can do for your family is make your own funeral arrangements far in advance of need. That way everybody will know the kind of funeral you would like to have.

For more information on pre-arrangement or pre-financing, write for our free booklet, "No Greater Kindness for Those You Love."

If you have any questions, give us a call or stop by.

Richard Malvesti Promoted To Army Lt. Colonel

Richard J. Malvesti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Malvesti, of 29 Shirley St., West Quincy, was recently promoted to Lt. Colonel in the U.S. Army.

Lt. Colonel Malvesti, a 1963 graduate of Quincy High School, received his commission upon graduation from Alfred University, Alfred, N.Y.

He served in Vietnam in 1969-1970 as a Senior Advisor where he received two Bronze Stars, one with a V for Valor.

He has served tours with the 2d Battalion (Ranger) 75th Infantry at Ft. Lewis, Washington, and the 82d Airborne Division at Ft. Bragg, North Carolina.

RICHARD J. MALVESTI
In 1980, he graduated with honors from the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College, Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., and received his Master of Science Degree in Logistics Management from the Florida Institute of Technology.

Lt. Colonel Malvesti is currently serving with "Special Forces" at Ft. Bragg, N.C., and has been selected to command the 4th Battalion (Airborne) 325th Infantry in Vicenza, Italy, beginning in May, 1984.

He presently lives in Fayetteville, N.C., with his wife, the former Carol Del Zoppo of Niagara Falls, N.Y., and daughters Michele and Daniele.

No School Money For Books, Supplies

There may be more money in the School Department budget for fiscal 1985 but there will be no new money for pencils, paper, textbooks or other supplies.

Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon unveiled his $25.9 million budget, up $1.3 million from the previous year, for the school year, for the School Committee last week.

All the extra money will go to pay negotiated salary hikes for teachers and other employees.

Creedon said there may be some money available for books and supplies if a large number of teachers retire and they do not have to be replaced due to declining enrollment.

Creedon called it "a very sad situation."

Aid To Blind Topic For First Baptist Meeting

The "Happy Roundup" meeting, an activity of the Social Action Committee of the First Baptist Church of Wollaston, 81 Prospect Ave., will be held Tuesday, Feb. 14, at 12:30 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall.

A luncheon will be served. Mrs. Gigi Linheart of the Massachusetts Commission for the Blind, will speak on the distress of becoming blind, or being blind, and on the services the Commission provides for such people.

Reservations for the luncheon must be made by Feb. 13, by calling the church office, 472-0824. The public is invited.

Quincy Camp Fire Remembering Veterans With Valentines

Quincy's Camp Fire clubs will join 275 councils nationwide in making and distributing more than 109,000 valentines to veterans in V.A. hospitals across the country.

Young people in Quincy Camp Fire will work with other Camp Fire clubs in the South Shore area to provide remembrances for the 1,000 veterans in the Brockton Hospital.

Some of the participating clubs include:

Donna Gilmartin's Blue Birds, who are making valentine cards and writing letters of appreciation to the veterans; Fran Meade's Blue Birds, who will compose original valentine poems; Elaine Moffett's Blue Birds, who used their club dues to purchase red combs for the veterans.

Gail Free's Adventurers, who made lacey valentines and sewed and stuffed heart shaped pillows for gifts; Stephanie Mahn's Adventurers, who created special valentine tray favors and filled them with mints and nuts for the Feb. 14th dinner trays; and the Furnace Brook Trail-seekers, who made cut paper cards and magnetic love bugs.

Those participating in the project will receive a Camp Fire emblem combining the American Indian symbol for "love" with a heart to symbolize Valentine's Day.

Financial Planning Topic For Simmons Club

The South Shore Simmons Club will meet Feb. 14 at 8 p.m. at the Old South Union Church, South Weymouth.

Beryl Bunker, executive vice president of the John Hancock Insurance Company, will speak on financial planning and investment.

Refreshments will be served. Guests are welcome. Contact Debra Sargent at 749-5085 or Margaret Kearney at 934-2907 for information and directions.

Emblem Club Meets

The Quincy Emblem Club was scheduled to meet last night (Wednesday) at 8 p.m. at the Elks Home, Quincy Center.

Hostesses were Sue McGregor, Charlotte Wilson, Sheila MacDonald, Lucy Flaherty and Marie Wilkie.

A snip-it party took place after the meeting.

Gordon Sullivan Army Brigadier General

Gordon R. Sullivan, son of Mrs. Penuel E. and the late Russell E. Sullivan, 10-0 Southern Artery, Quincy, was recently frocked to the rank of brigadier general, according to Army sources.

Frocking is a military practice similar to promotion. According to Department of the Army sources selected officers may wear a rank higher than their own under certain conditions. These conditions include being on a promotion list for the higher rank and serving in a position requiring the higher rank.

Army personnel who have been frocked to a higher rank have all the responsibilities of the new rank, but they receive pay and allowances only for the rank they actually hold -- usually one grade lower than the frocked rank.

A promotion date for Sullivan has not been announced, although his future promotion to brigadier general has been approved by the president.

Sullivan is currently serving as the Assistant Commandant of the U.S. Army Armor School at Fort Knox. The Armor Center trains all U.S. Army and Marine Corps personnel in tank combat skills.

Sullivan is a graduate of the Army War College, and holds a bachelor's degree in history from Norwich University and a master's degree in political science from the University of New Hampshire.

His military career includes tours in Vietnam, Korea and Europe. His awards include the Legion of Merit, Bronze Star Medal and Purple Heart.

Sullivan and his wife Gay, the former Gay Loftus, have three children, John, Mark and Elizabeth. Mrs. Sullivan is the daughter of Dr. Edward R. Loftus and the late Miriam (Carr) Loftus, long time residents of Quincy.

Presidents Defeat Weymouth N., Bow To Waltham

The Quincy boys' basketball team, which has had a frustrating season under first-year coach Rick DeCristofaro, turned in one of its better performances last week in defeating Weymouth North for its third win of the year, but later bowed to Waltham to make its record 3-12.

The Presidents played at Brookline Tuesday, will host Brockton Friday night at 7:30 and will be at Cambridge Rindge and Latin next Tuesday night at 7.

"This was kind of a breath of fresh air," DeCristofaro said following a 61-52 win over Weymouth North. "We had a rough one against Newton in our previous game (a one-point overtime loss on a 25-foot desperation shot at the buzzer) but we kept our composure and we got a fine win."

The Presidents, with senior Jim Stasio scoring 20 points, took a 14-8 first quarter lead and were up, 28-20, at the half.

Weymouth climbed back into the game in the third quarter as Brian Connors (14 points) hit for two quick jumpers bringing his team to within four, 28-24, and Weymouth trailed by three, 41-38, going into the final session.

"They shot very well in that quarter and I think we got careless in our zone," said DeCristofaro. "So then we just got our composure back and I think we were too big for them."

Quincy held Weymouth scoreless for five minutes and scored 13 unanswered points to pull safely ahead.

Denis Downing, the number four scorer in the Suburban League, had 17 points and Bill Shaughnessy had six points and played an outstanding two-way game. Sean Foster had 10 points for the Presidents.

Waltham, one of the league powers, handed Quincy a 55-41 setback to improve its record to 11-4. Shaughnessy had 14 points for Quincy. Stasio added 12 and Peter McCarron, Mike Bates and Mike Flynn all turned in impressive performances.

AT ITS annual meeting in Sturbridge, the New England Lawn Tennis Association made an award to the Kenneth Rickson family of Quincy as the N.E. Lawn Tennis Family of 1983. Seated, Kenneth Rickson, left, and Mildred Rickson. Standing, Jane (Rickson) McGuinness, Linda Rickson, Mark McGuinness and Sally (Rickson) Goldman.

Raiders Drop Pair

North Quincy boys' basketball team, which the previous week had won a pair of games, lost two last week to drop the Raiders' record to 5-9.

Ed Miller's Raiders met Newton North Tuesday, will play at Cambridge Rindge and Latin Friday at 3:30 p.m. and next Thursday will be home to Quincy at 7 p.m.

Despite fine performances from Chris Bunker, the Suburban League's top scorer, and Ken Runge, North Quincy bowed to powerful Brockton, Suburban League runnerup, 82-57, last Friday.

Big and experienced Brockton just had too much manpower for the Raiders.

Bunker scored 11 points and Runge had 10 to lead the Raider attack.

Earlier this week North had bowed to Brookline, 63-56, as Sophomore Ken Snowden, one of the best in the league, had 18 points.

Bunker led the Raiders with 16 points and Paul Ryan, the No. 2 scorer in the league, scored 13.

Youth Girls Team Bows

The Quincy Youth Hockey girls' team lost to Hobomock II, 4-2.

Both Quincy goals were scored by Christine Doonan with assists from Sheila Graham and Colby Mahoney.

Goalie Jill Rennie played an outstanding game and Graham and Michelle Belanger starred defensively.

First Ladies Upset Waltham, 39-37

The Quincy girls' basketball team which has had a rough season but has improved in every game under first-year coach Bob Uhlir, last week upset Waltham, 39-37, for its second Suburban League win of the season.

The First Ladies, who had upset Newton North the previous week, took a 2-13 record into Tuesday's game against Brookline. They will play at Brockton Friday night at 7:30 and will host Cambridge Rindge and Latin next Tuesday at 5 o'clock.

In the big win over Waltham, Cindy Morrell, who has had an outstanding season, scored 17 points as Quincy overcame a six-point halftime deficit.

Michelle Miller had 10 points and Carolyn Leonard four, while Terry Duggan, Carla Robertson, Kelly Burke and Linda Mahoney all played strong games.

"This was an excellent all-around effort by the girls," said Uhlir. "This team has never given up and has steadily improved. The girls did a great job in beating Newton North and I was pleased with their performance against North Quincy, although we lost. They have played much better than their record indicates."

Earlier last week Quincy had lost to Weymouth North, 43-34, as Morrell scored 10 points and Miller added eight.

Weymouth's Kelly O'Brien with 18 points and seven rebounds and Sue Hurley with 13 points and four steals proved too much for the First Ladies to handle.

Tozzi: 'Most Rewarding Year'

North Girls Breeze To 9-0 Season Record

By TOM SULLIVAN

When the season began for the North Quincy girls' winter track team, Coach Lou Tozzi was concerned about continuing the Raiderettes' amazing record over the past five years.

The North girls had won three Suburban League titles in four years and entered the season with a 34-1-1 mark since Tozzi took over as coach five years ago.

Tozzi had his youngest team this winter as well as the smallest squad in numbers.

"We lost some outstanding leadership with the graduation of 11 seniors including some of the finest athletes around," Tozzi said. "But we're hoping our great tradition, pride and motivation can keep us competitive."

Well, the young Raiderettes, with only five seniors, proved competitive and then some!

North began the season by avenging its only loss in five years when it upset Weymouth North and went on to breeze through the Suburban League and finished last week with a 9-0 record as it rolled over Quincy, 69-14.

So the Raiderettes won their fourth league crown in five years and now have a five-year mark of 43-1-1.

"This had to be my most rewarding season," Tozzi said. "These kids were just fantastic and the younger girls did a remarkable job. I was never prouder of a team and the girls certainly did continue the school's great tradition and determination."

The outstanding runner this winter was sophomore Mary Ann Kelleher, who sat out the Quincy meet as did some of the other top performers. Running anything from the 600 to the two-mile, Kelleher had the league's best time in the 600 (1:32.4) and in the 1000 (2:46.0). She was undefeated during the season.

Another top performer was freshman Tricia Barrett, who was beaten only by Kelleher in cross country and had an outstanding winter track season.

Junior Georgia Traficante was one of North's best in the 600 and the top high jumper. She missed the last three meets but the Raiderettes still came through with a great win over undefeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin, then followed up with wins over Brockton and Quincy to complete the unbeaten season.

North's relay team also had the best time in the league (4:23.1).

In the victory over Quincy freshman Leanne Fitzgerald, who improved in every meet, won the 600 in 1:40.7.

Sophomore Noreen Connolly, who did well all season, won the shot put with her best ever throw of 35-1/4.

Of the Raiderettes' 69 points, 62 came from underclassmen. Watch out for them again next season!

North's other winners were Lisa Fitzgerald in the 300 (41.9), Julie Walsh, mile (5:39); Tricia Barrett, two-mile (12:04.1); Maria McGuri, hurdles (7.8); Lisa Fitzgerald, high jump (4-8), and the relay team of Jo-Ann Zdzankowski, Cheryl McCarthy, Alice Reilly and Leanne Fitzgerald (5:00.1).

Other scorers for the Raiderettes were Teresa Collings, second, and Ellen Gordon, third, 50; Reilly, third, 300; McCarthy, second, and Kristin Killilea, third, 600; Ann Toland, second, and Liz Toland, third, 1000; Zdzankowski, second, and Laura Barrett, third, mile; Tricia Leary, second, two-mile; Laura Ciulla, second, hurdles; Missy Silkwood, second, shot put, and Collings, second, high jump.

Winless Quincy had two winners. Sharon Steen in the 1000 (3:03.4) and Mary Lou Wirtz in the 50-yard dash (6.6).

Also scoring for the First Ladies were Maura Norton, second, 300; and Amy Beardsley, third, shot put.

With another unbeaten league season out of the way, the Raiderettes went to Boston University last Saturday for the annual State Coaches Relays and easily won their fourth championship in five years.

This Saturday the North girls will seek their fourth state Division I championship in five years at Harvard. The meet starts at 10 a.m. with the Raiderettes competing against 60 other teams.

Competing against 30 other teams last Saturday, North won all four events it entered to easily win the Class B crown with 40 points. Falmouth was second with 24 points and Acton-Boxboro third.

North won the 4 x 800 relay in 9:54.5 with Tricia Barrett, Meg Leary, Tracey Corrigan and Diane Lindenfelter, who ran an excellent anchor leg to come from behind and win with a 2:26 leg.

North also won the 4 x 440 relay in 4:09.8 with Lindenfelter.

Ciulla, Kelleher and Lisa Fitzgerald, who ran a brilliant anchor leg to come from 40 yards behind and win with a 58.8 leg.

The sprint relay team of Kelleher (800 meters), Lisa Fitzgerald (400 meters), Ciulla (200 meters) and Leanne Fitzgerald (200 meters) won in 4:10.3 with Kelleher running a fine 2:19.

The Raiderettes completed their sweep with a win in the shot put with a combined distance of 28.79 meters. Eileen Crehan threw 10.49 meters, Connolly 10.30 and Silkwood 7.90.

Keeley and Kevin Grogan had the other goals. Jack Crowley had four assists, Murphy two and Kevin Grogan, Ed Grogan and Paul Carey one each. Chip Linscott, Steve Dymant and Jack Aldred scored for Beau's, while Ken Gardiner had two assists and Aldred, Charlie Chambers and Paul Gallivan one each.

QHS Hockey Team Near Tourney After 2-2 Tie With Revere

Coach Bill Hutchinson's Quincy High School hockey team moved a step closer to a berth in the State Tournament by holding first place Revere to a 2-2 tie in a Metropolitan Hockey League game at the Boston Arena.

Dick Brunstrom and Dick Burrell scored the goals that gave the Presidents a 2-1 lead in the third period only to have Revere's Don Robinson convert a rebound by Harvey Terhan to tie the game with only a minute and 27 seconds left to play.

But it was the sterling defensive play of Steve Marini and Bob Carroll in front of goalie Bob Stewart that made the two Quincy goals stand up for the deadlock.

The Quincy lineup included: Sheffer, Valle, Burrell, forwards; Marini, Carroll, defense; Stewart, goal; Bonani, Erickson, Brunstrom, Pulfisier, spares.

NORTH WHIPS SPELLMAN

Richie Erickson scored 20 points and the four other Raider starters all reached double figures as the North Quincy High School basketball team overcame Cardinal Spellman of Brockton, 66-51. North needed to win its last three games to make the state tourney.

The Raider lineup included: Bryan, Erickson, Curran, forwards; DeBeer, Kiley, centers; Olson, Stevenson, guards.

QJC TOPS NEWTON

The Quincy Junior College basketball team used a balanced attack to take a 23-4 lead at the end of the first period and coast to a 76-49 victory over Newton Junior College. Bill Donovan scored 24 points for Quincy.

The QJC lineup included: Hanson, Cook, Stirling, Woodman, forwards; Slauon, MacNeill, Devine, centers; Harrison, Kaufman, Spadorcia, McNeal, Donovan, guards.

STBS GET WORKOUT

Coach Marty Finnegan gave his bench a workout as the Quincy High School basketball team overran Revere 77-50 in a Greater Boston League game. Ken DiBona had 23 points and Ed Ferguson 19 for the Presidents.

The Quincy lineup included: Ferguson, McCollom, Salter, Scanlan, Mullen, Conroy, forwards; Pizzi, Orlo, Raymond; centers; McWilliams, DiRamio, Kuja, DiBona, Mariano, Gustafson, guards.

NORTH EARNS TIE

Tom Joyce scored two goals and Dean Nicholson had one but it was not enough as the North Quincy High School hockey team, seeking its first victory of the season after eight losses and four ties, battled to a 3-3 deadlock with Don Bosco.

The North Quincy lineup included: Leith, Joyce, Nicholson, forwards; Lippens, Zona, defense; DesChamps, goal; Burke, Nickerson, Rucky, DeCoste, McDonald, spares.

SPORTS BITS '63

Bill Sullivan scored three goals and Ralph Anderson and Ted Ahola had two each as the Wollaston Koch Club blasted Braintree, 11-4, in an Old Colony Hockey League game. . . . Jim Knights' 26 points showed the way for the Eastern Nazarene College basketball team in a 113-90 victory over Eastern Baptist College. . . . Ron Zoia of North Quincy, quarterback-halfback, a back at Hofstra College, signed a contract with the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League. . . . Walt Fitzgerald, with 12 points, led Point to a 36-27 victory over South in a Junior High School Basketball League game at the Point gym. . . . Rookie goalie Ed Johnston stopped all but one shot fired at him as the Boston Bruins edged the Montreal Canadiens, 2-1. . . . Ray Baltz led all the scorers with 36 points but his Eastern Nazarene College basketball team bowed to Babson 95-94 in overtime at Wellesley. . . . George Burke had 66 points, hitting on 80 per cent of his shots from the floor, as the Koch Club of North Quincy outlasted St. Joseph's, 133-125.

Luke's, Budget, Grogan Win

Mark Maranes scored two goals, including the game winner, to spark Luke's Lounge to a 5-4 victory over Dayce's Place in Executive Hockey League action at the Youth Arena.

Chet Brunstrom also had two goals and Rich Gibbs one. Kevin Sullivan, Charlie Ahearn, goalie Ralph DiMattia, Gibbs, Andy Pihl and Mackey had assists. For Dayce's Kevin Lewis had two goals and Bob Cavallo and Dave Mullen one each. Fred Fawcett, Mullen and Ed Linehan had assists.

Duck Mullally scored twice and had an assist to lead Budget Rent-A-Car over Adams Sports, 3-1.

Hank Dondero had the other goal and Steve Leofanti and Art Boyle had two assists each. Dennis O'Connell had Adams' only goal with Billy Hansen and Paul O'Brien assisting.

Grogan's Business Machines defeated Beau's Place, 6-3, with John Murphy and Jay Powers having two goals each. Jim

Somersault Boys Gym Team Wins N.E. Cup

The boys' gymnastics team from the Somersault Center in North Quincy turned in an outstanding performance last weekend in Salem, N.H., to win the New England Cup, completely dominating the meet. Teams from all over New England took part.

Somersault won with a score of 183.1, 30 points better than the runnerup team.

The team was made up of Carl Noble (first all-around), Gerry Haran (third all-around), Roberto Weil (sixth all-around), Dave Johnson (seventh all-around), Steve Wingert, John Redmon, Joe Haran and Nat Goodale.

The girls' team traveled to Academy Gym School but did not fare as well.

Placing for the Center were Maureen Furey, first on bars and third on floor exercise; Marianne Janik, third on beam; Lori Breen, fourth on beam, and Carolyn Janik, fifth on bars.

North Girls Bow To Brookline, Brockton

The North Quincy girls' basketball team continues to find rough going and last week lost to Brookline, 56-31, and to Brockton, 59-41, dropping its record to 4-11.

However, Coach Paul Bregoli is pleased with the performance of several of his younger players and, together with the junior varsity owning a 12-2 record, he has a lot to look forward to next season.

The Raiderettes played Newton North Tuesday, will host Cambridge Rindge and Latin Friday at 5 p.m. and will be home to Barnstable next Tuesday at 5 p.m.

The North girls played a tough first quarter against Brookline with Mary Holleran, the Suburban League's No. 4 scorer, scoring six points and Ann Duggan hitting on three of four free throws as the teams were tied, 9-9, at the end of the quarter.

Brookline began going to its 6-2 center, Ruth Lampry, in the second quarter and she scored 11 points as Brookline outscored North, 18-6, to hold a 27-15 halftime lead.

The home Hawks pulled safely away in the third quarter, again outscoring North, 18-6, to take a big 45-21 lead into the final session. Debbie Cavanaugh had two baskets in the quarter.

Holleran had 10 points in the finale to wind up with 18 points and Cavanaugh had eight.

At home against Brockton, tri-captain Chris Donovan was impressive in the opening quarter with six points but North trailed, 16-11, after one.

The Boxers widened their lead to 30-19 at the half as Brockton's Liz Garner scored 10 points. Sophomore Karen Runge had four of her six points in the quarter.

Brockton's press gave North trouble in the third quarter as the Raiderettes turned the ball over seven times and were outscored, 13-4. Donovan was all of North's offense, playing especially strong off the offensive boards and scoring six points.

Bregoli inserted some sophomores in the fourth quarter and they responded well as they whittled Brockton's lead to 10 points with 2½ minutes left.

Eileen Warren made her presence felt with seven points. Jean Welby ran the offense well and added four points on four of five from the foul line and Annmarie Hughes came up with four steals in a fine defensive effort.

Donovan led North with a career high 14 points and seven rebounds. Warren added seven points and Runge six.

North's junior varsity won both games last week, including a 45-40 win over Brockton, which had won 25 games in a row. Ted Stevenson's jayvees are 12-2 and 8-1 in the league.

Warren had 14 points, Hughes 12 and freshman Maureen Donovan 11 against Brockton.

After Quincy Win Newton N. Dims Raiders' Tourney Hopes

The North Quincy hockey team defeated Quincy for the third time this season last week but later lost to Suburban League-leading Newton North to put a serious crimp in the Raiders' tournament hopes.

The Raiders, now 8-5, will host Waltham Saturday at 7:50 p.m. at the Youth Arena and next Wednesday will be home to Brookline at 6:40 p.m.

Quincy (3-9-1) played Cambridge Rindge and Latin yesterday (Wednesday) and Saturday will play at Brookline at 6 p.m.

North, which had shut out Quincy twice earlier, met a much improved Quincy squad but won for the third time, 5-3.

"North Quincy is the best team I've seen this year and should be a tournament team," said Quincy coach Bob Sylvia. "There's something about them, they just have that desire to win."

The Raiders scored twice in the first 1:16 of play on goals by Keith Smith and Dave Tapper and made it 3-0 later in the first period when Scott Messina scored. Dave Fasano, Jerry Rich Horrigan and Pette Furtado had assists.

Quincy's Tom McGrath scored early in the second period with Kevin Provenzano and Brett Loud assisting, but Messina scored his second goal with Fasano and Smith having assists. Provenzano scored for Quincy to make it 4-2 with McGrath and Ed Boyle assisting.

In the final session McGrath scored again with Boyle and John DiPietro assisting and Tapper wound up the scoring for North with John Reinhardt and Rob Reidy assisting.

North's tournament hopes were dimmed Saturday when it bowed to Newton North, 6-3.

Messina had a goal and assist and Jay D'Angellis and Smith had a goal each. Reinhardt had an assist.

North goalie Matt Higgins suffered his first defeat after seven wins and a tie.

Quincy, which earlier had come from behind three times to tie Brockton, was bombed last Saturday by the Boxers, 10-2.

DiPietro and Provenzano had the only Quincy goals with assists for Provenzano, Boyle, Mike Hays and John O'Connor.

Everybody In Act As St. Joseph's Goliath B's Win

St. Joseph's Goliath B basketball team, using a fine team effort which saw every player score, defeated Our Lady B team, 39-22, in Quincy YMCA Church League action last Saturday.

St. Joseph's started many of their younger, less experienced players and they responded well.

St. Joseph's started slowly, leading by seven at the half, but put its fast break in high gear and withstood a third quarter

Our Lady rally.

Anthony Battistone, David Jennette and Mike Scolari had six points each. Billy Ryan five, Billy Hutton, Tim Brillo and Ricky Morris four apiece and Dan Jaehnig and Jimmy Shugrue two each.

James Dennis and Joseph Benz paced Our Lady with nine points each.

St. Joseph's (6-2) will face Our Lady A Saturday at 1:30 at the Quincy High girls' gym.

St. John's Junior Girls Defeat Our Lady

St. John's undefeated Junior girls' basketball team got off to a slow start, but ended up on a winning note as it defeated Our Lady, 26-11, in the YMCA Church League.

St. John's led, 8-3, at halftime after a 2-2 first quarter. The winners then got their offense rolling and improved their record to 7-0.

Deidre Murphy led the way with nine points, Debbie Panaro had seven, Hope Spooner and Caitlin Sheils four each and Kristen Bruno two. The defense was led by Kellene Duffy, Kristen Luosey, Sharon Southwick and Christine Delaney.

Rebecca Chicino had four points for Our Lady's with three for Paula Tolson and two each for Laurie and Suzanne Sullivan.

St. John's will play St. Albert's and Our Lady's will meet Blessed Sacrament Saturday.

Intermediates Remain Undefeated

St. John's Intermediate girls' basketball team remained undefeated and blasted St. Joseph's B team, 21-2, in the YMCA Church League.

Lisa Riggs led the way with a season's high of 14 points. Tina Calabro had three points and Chris Foy and Sandy Scalata two each. Dawn Aimola and Diane Heeney sparkled in defense.

St. John's will meet Our Lady Saturday.

St. John's Goliath B's Down A Team

St. John's Goliath B basketball team defeated St. John's A, 33-28, to improve its record to 8-0 and remain in first place in the YMCA Church League.

St. John's B was led by Dave Lawless' 12 points. Frank Calabro scored six, Teddy Stevenson and Brian McNeil three each, Lance Panaro, Ernie Light, Jamie Fennessey and Mike King two apiece and E. J. Harnett one.

For the A team Scott Grant was all over the court and had 10 points. John Lutz had eight and led the rebounders, Brian Show had six points and Anthony Rugnetta four.

Saturday St. John's B will meet St. John's C and St. John's A will face Fort Square.

YMCA Gym Team In Good Performance

The South Shore YMCA turned in a good performance last weekend in gymnastics competition against the Melrose Y.

In vaulting Katie Danner placed first with an 8.0 score, Jennifer Bouley (7.8) was second, Nicole Owen (7.7) third and Jennifer Berger scored 7.5.

On uneven bars Denise VanSchagen took third place at 7.7, Owen had 7.6 and Zoe Bohl 7.2.

On balance beam Bohl took third at 7.4, Janine Connell had 7.3 and Dawn Mantion 6.9.

On floor exercise Connell won at 8.2, Jennifer Bouley had 7.6, VanSchagen 7.5 and Tally Cahill 7.0.

Mite A's Win

Quincy's Mite A team,

sponsored by DAV 79, defeated Wellesley, 8-1.

Steve Bartkus had a hat trick, including two unassisted goals; Jeff Craig had two goals and David Manning, Matt McGowan and Steve Miller one each. McGowan had two assists and Brian Bartkus, Jamie Schaeztl, Brian Sullivan, Scott Joyce, Doug Nolan and Jim Cipriano one each.

Neil Mahoney was outstanding in goal.

Stay Alive!

By John Valante

DON'T PANIC

The rule in any emergency is DON'T PANIC. A case in point: In Los Angeles, a man was bitten on the leg by a mad dog. He darted into his car and raced frantically to the nearest hospital to obtain immediate treatment for rabies. He was so terrified that he lost control of his car on the way and was killed in a crash with an oncoming car. He would be alive today if he had not had the mistaken belief that all animal bites must be treated at once.

Rabies develop in dogs within ten days, but it requires a longer incubation period in humans, leaving adequate time to seek medical help. Although bites around the neck or head do require immediate medical attention, those on the legs or arms do not.

One of the most important things to remember if bitten by a dog is to somehow make sure that the dog is kept alive and in a controlled place for at least ten days to two weeks so it can be checked for rabies. Remember that not all dog bites are from rabid dogs. In fact, the opposite is true. Only three cases of rabies from dog bites were recorded in this country last year.

Pee Wee B's Continue Romp

Quincy's Pee Wee B team, sponsored by A&T Movers, continue to romp through the Greater Boston League with recent wins over Westwood and Belmont.

Quincy ran away from Westwood, 15-0, led by hat tricks from Bobby Kane and Stevie Connolly. Mike Baylis and Mark Cafano had two goals apiece and Bob Miller, Brian Zimmerman, Mike Hughes, Matt Buccella and Joe Fasano one each.

In one of the best games of the season, Brian Taylor scored a goal to break a 2-2 tie in the third period and Hughes scored an insurance goal in a 4-2 victory over Belmont.

Connolly and Cafano had the other goals, while Cafano had two assists and Kane, Buccella, Jim McCarthy and Zimmerman one each.

The line of Cafano, Connolly and Buccella gave Belmont fits every time out. The goaltending of Scotty Cunningham and James Tiberio, along with outstanding defense by McCarthy, Carroll, Miller, Doherty, Scott and Morris, proved to be the difference.

• Senior Hockey

Kane's Racks Up 15th Win

There appears to be no stopping Kane's Place in the Quincy Youth Arena Senior Hockey League.

Kane's ran its record to 15-0-1 with a 10-3 romp over China Star, while second Place Fowler House kept pace with a 5-1 win over the Hofbrau to remain four points behind.

Ed Kane had a big night for Kane's with five goals and he added two assists. Mark Paolucci had two goals and an assist and Dave Hurley, Tom Cahill and Paul Duggan a goal each. Dave Peters had four assists, Jim Fitzpatrick three and Hurley, Mark Andrews and Cahill one each. Kevin Mallyn, John Picard and John Shields scored for China Star with assists for Picard, George Lavoy and Tom Bamberg.

John Norton, Jack Campbell, Peter Janis, Scott Richardson and Bob Brennan scored for Fowler House and John Quinn, Steve DiGiovanni, Mike Fuy, Bob Hayes and Chris Gorman had assists. Mark Giordani scored for Hofbrau with assists for Joe Sullivan and John Baylis.

Raiders Keep Swim Win Record Over Quincy Intact

North Quincy still hasn't lost a boys' or girls' swim meet to Quincy.

Last Saturday the boys easily defeated the out-manned Presidents, 116-47, to improve their record to 6-3 and assure Coach Bill Walker of another winning season. Quincy dropped to 1-6.

The two teams will compete in Saturday's Suburban League championships at Brookline.

"We have a dedicated bunch of kids," said Walker. "They swim an average of 5000 yards a day and that's a lot of work."

Coach Fileen Crafley of Quincy feels that her young team is improving. "We have a way to go, but we're coming along," she said.

North started off by winning the 200-yard medley relay with Dan Moriarty, Dan O'Sullivan, Mike Melanson and Mark Wilkins and never looked back.

Quincy's best event was the 50-yard freestyle in which the Presidents took first, second and fourth. Shaun Frenette won, Sean Galligan was runnerup and Jackie Kilrain fourth.

North's winners were Dave Stockless in the 200 freestyle, Eric Giordano in diving, Melanson in the 300 butterfly, Brendan Walsh in the 100 freestyle, Stockless in the 600 freestyle, Jenkins in the 100 backstroke and 200 freestyle, and Moriarty in the 100 breaststroke.

Quincy's only other win came in the 400 freestyle relay with Jim Mayo, Karl Johnson, Frenette and Kilrain.

Earlier in the week Quincy had captured its only win of the year, 81-60, over Cambridge Rindge and Latin.

Mayo won the 100 freestyle and 200 freestyle and swam on the winning 400 freestyle relay team with Johnson, Kilrain and Jim Regan.

Steve Schow won the 100 breaststroke. Regan was first in diving. Tom Savoie won the 100 backstroke and the 200 medley relay team of Savoie, Schow, Billy Milne and Galligan also won.

Bradley Assistant Coach At U. Of Maryland

Ron Bradley, former North Quincy High basketball standout who set all kinds of scoring records while playing for Eastern Nazarene College, this season is an assistant to Coach Lefty Driesell at the University of Maryland, which is ranked fifth in the nation.

Bradley, who played for his father, Carroll, now athletic director at ENC, has several goals and one is to be head coach at a Division I school.

As an assistant to Driesell, one of the country's top coaches, he is on his way to that goal.

Ron, who coached the ENC teams for five years (compiling a 96-51 record), spend a few years at Driesell's basketball camp and got to know the famed coach well. Two years ago he asked Driesell about volunteering as an assistant and he was receptive to the idea.

While volunteering he worked toward his doctorate in sports psychology at Maryland and last season he was hired as a part-time assistant and he became a scout and a recruiter.

This season a long-time Driesell assistant resigned and Bradley was signed as a fulltime aide.

Bradley has traveled to 35 states recruiting high school players and also scouts teams in the Atlantic Coast Conference, of which Maryland is a member. He helps run practices and sits on the bench with Driesell during important ACC games.

"It's hectic, but it has been rewarding," he said. "There's a lot of pressure at this level that doesn't exist at a lower level. I'm really proving myself all over again. My main job is recruiting and scouting and both have their challenges."

"We think we have what it takes to win a national championship. We just have to keep playing smart basketball. I really can't think about the future now. This is my future. It's hard to believe I'm coaching alongside Lefty Driesell. It's really a thrill. I do have goals and one of them is to be a head coach at a Division I program."

• St. Ann's Hockey

Riley, Ideal Hold Division Leads

The Riley Club continues to lead the Bantam Division of St. Ann's Hockey League by a single point following a 6-1 victory over Bike 'n' Blade.

Ed Criceni had two goals and an assist, Rich Dondoro a goal and assist, Kevin Drake, Bill Kubik and John DiCarli a goal each, John Carroll two assists and Bob Bina and Kevin Zanardelli one each. Rick DiCarlo scored for B'n'B with Kevin Jay assisting.

Lydon Russell rolled over Plaza Olds, 13-5, as Al Kisten had two goals and an assist, Mike Thomas two goals and an assist, Mike Noonan a goal and five assists, Adam Swan two goals and two assists and Paul Carty a goal. For Plaza Brian Callow had two goals and an assist, Steve Doran a goal and two assists, James Morris a goal and an assist, Scott Nettles a goal and George Murphy an assist.

The standings: Riley, 6-3-1; Lydon Russell, 5-3-2; Bike 'n' Blade, 4-5-1; Plaza, 3-7-0.

In the Pee Wee Division Ideal Elevator widened its lead to five points with a 4-2 win over Colonial Federal. Joe Puliafico had a goal and two assists, Kevin Karlberg a goal and assist, Jason Swan and Rich Brooks a goal each, Mark McDonald two assists and Chris McDermott one. For Colonial Matt Johnson had a goal and an assist and Jim Carey a goal.

Koehane's edged Fitzpatrick Roofing, 3-2, on goals by Chris Deshler, Joe Tosone and Scott Machie. Machie had an assist. Eric Visocchi and Brian Connolly scored for Fitzpatrick with assists for Rich Brooks and J.J. Purpure.

The standings: Ideal, 8-2-0; Fitzpatrick, 5-5-1; Koehane's, 5-5-1; Colonial Federal, 2-8-0.

Cable delivers. Just ask the Rabbit.

In high school, John Baldassini was so quick on the athletic field that he was labeled the Rabbit. That was 42 years ago. Today the Rabbit still gets around. Delivering mail on the same 3½ mile route in North Quincy to over 375 homes. The name has stuck and so has his love of sports.

So it was only natural that when cable came to Quincy that the Rabbit ran to cable. "It brings me all the sports I could possibly want. Twenty-four hours a day. Celtic games and title fights that aren't on regular TV. Games from as far away as Atlanta and as close as Quincy. There are even two channels with nothing but sports.

In fact, I became so involved with the programs that we had cable installed for my wife. Then my son and daughter. Everyone found something that they liked. It seemed a shame not to be able to see them all."

So, the Baldassini's became a three-cable family. The Eyes of Quincy show them their neighborhood, show them the world. Sports, health, music, films, you name it. The Rabbit and his family have it. It's just a hop, skip and a jump away.

Dr. Steven M. Kahn Relocates Office

Dr. Steven Kahn announces the relocation of his dermatology practice to Suite 206 in the Seton Medical Building, 2110 Dorchester Ave., directly behind Carney Hospital.

The new office will be open six days a week. New office hours will be extended for patients' convenience to include days, evenings and Saturdays.

Dr. Kahn did his undergraduate training at Brown University. He attended the University of Cincinnati Medical School in Ohio.

His postgraduate training in Dermatology was at the Boston University and Tufts New England Medical Center Training Program.

Upon completing his training, he was appointed to the teaching staff at Boston University Medical Center and Tufts New England Medical Center where his responsibilities included both inpatient and outpatient care, and teaching students and physicians training in both medicine and dermatology.

Prior to beginning his private practice, Dr. Kahn worked at Little House Health Center and Neponset Health Center in Dorchester as consulting dermatologist.

Dr. Kahn has been active in local community affairs. Recently, he was elected medical vice president of the Quincy/Milton American Cancer Society Unit. The Quincy/Milton Unit is involved with public and professional education programs emphasizing early detection, prevention and treatment of cancer. In addition, it is involved with fund raising activities for cancer research.

Dr. Kahn serves as a volunteer member of the Executive Committee, a volunteer of the Board of Directors, and a member of the Professional Education Committee.

In addition to this work with the American Cancer Society, Dr. Kahn has given many lectures in the community to physicians, nurses, nurse practitioners, students and other community organizations covering a number of topics including common skin diseases and skin cancers. Currently, Dr. Kahn has staff privileges at Carney Hospital, Milton Hospital, Quincy City Hospital, University Hospital and Tufts New England Medical Center Hospital.

In addition, Dr. Kahn serves as a dermatology consultant for the Boston Home.

As a Dermatologist, Dr. Kahn is specially trained to diagnose and treat skin problems. He has a special interest and expertise in skin surgery and skin cancers.

Speedy Muffler Granted License

Speedy Muffler King, Inc., was granted a license Tuesday for 498-512 Southern Artery.

Mobil Station owned by Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Ruggeri.

Atty. Patricia Hunt, representing Speedy

Muffler, said the building will be upgraded and will include four bays for the installation of mufflers and shock absorbers and light repairs.

City Clerk John Gillis said Speedy Muffler was granted a license for a nearby Southern Artery location a few years ago, but never picked up the license.

John McGinley, Speedy Muffler real estate manager, said that was because of economic factors.

In response to a question by Fire Chief Edward Barry, McGinley said that old mufflers would be stored in a dumpster and removed twice a week or as often as necessary.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald objected to Speedy Muffler's plan to use the current ground sign at the station.

"Southern Artery is bad enough as it is," said MacDonald. Gillis agreed the signs don't add anything to the city.

McGinley said the absence of such a sign would cause "quite a hardship" to Speedy Muffler.

The license was granted for 300 gallons of gasoline in tanks of cars, 450 gallons of oil stored above ground in tanks.

Kevin Davis Ward 1 Council Candidate

Kevin B. Davis, 33, of Rock Island Rd., Houghs Neck, a service manager for the AT and T Information Systems, has announced his candidacy for the vacant City Council seat from Ward 1.

A lifelong resident of Houghs Neck, Davis has seven years active duty and seven years service with the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve, in which he is a captain.

He is a graduate of Quincy High School in 1969, obtained a degree in business administration from Quincy Junior College in 1973 and from Stonehill College in 1975.

He is a member of the Houghs Neck Legion Post and the Tripoli Chapter of the Marine Corps Reserve Officers Association and a former member of the South Shore Council for Children and the South Shore Community College Association.

Davis and his wife, the former Sandra K. Little, have three children, ages 4, 9 and 13.

O'Brien's Bakery Granted License

The License Board granted a common victualer-take out only license Tuesday for O'Brien's Bakery, 148 Granite St., Quincy Center.

The license was granted with the stipulation that any cooking odor problems be corrected.

James J. O'Brien, who also operated O'Brien's Bakery in Wollaston, said that hours would be 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily, and 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Sundays.

The bakery will be located near The Fruit Basket, at the former site of a fish market which is moving next door.

New Ordinance Bans All Night Food Stores

The City Council

Monday night adopted an ordinance that limits the number of hours certain food or convenience stores may remain open for business.

These stores may not be open from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m.

The ordinance was proposed by former City Councillor Leo J. Kelly after rumors began to circulate that the White Hen Pantry at 200 Sea St., Merrymount, was planning to open 24 hours a day.

Open Space Designated

The City Council approved two ordinance changes designating certain parcels of land in the vicinity of Rock Island Cove and Broad Meadows as open space.

Residents of those areas packed a public hearing held at City Hall recently to voice their approval of the Open Space designations.

Cerasoli, Sheets Clash On Election Charter Change

Quincy's legislative delegation is split over a home rule petition to change the city charter to permit vacancies on the City Council to be filled by special election.

"You can be sure I'll see that the bill won't pass," said Rep. Robert Cerasoli, citing the expense of a special election to fill the seat of a councillor at large.

"I will do everything in my power to see that the bill gets passed," said Rep. Thomas F. Brownell.

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey says he "has a problem" with the bill and Sen. Paul D. Harold says he doesn't see any problem facing the bill on the Senate side.

Council President James A. Sheets says he is concerned and a little bit puzzled by Cerasoli's opposition.

"Power is being given back to the people," said Sheets. "We are extending democracy. Why is he saying that is not the way to do it?"

"He is saying that one person in the 160-member House of Representatives can defeat the will of the people. I'm not willing to buy that argument."

"If he is successful there can be a long delay, but I'm not conceding that he will be successful."

"Clearly, the people of this city prefer to have the selection of a candidate to fill a vacancy in their hands."

The matter came up when Leo J. Kelly resigned the Ward 1 seat on the Council with nearly a full term to go and it was discovered that under the charter his replacement was to be chosen by fellow councillors.

"I signed the home rule petition because it is important to take action to select a new Ward 1 councillor," said Mayor Francis X. McCauley. "A ward councillor is close to his community and the seat should be filled as soon as possible."

"But I have some of the same concerns that Cerasoli has with the possible cost of filling and at large vacancy. A ward election is only about $6,000 but an at large election could be $40,000 to $60,000."

Braintree May Sue

McCauley Says 'No' On T Walk Access

By TOM HENSHAW

Braintree officials have made a strong pitch to have the MBTA open a pedestrian access from Independence Ave., South Quincy, to the Quincy Adams MBTA station.

The reply from the city of Quincy and the MBTA is "no."

Peter Kenney, executive secretary to Mayor Francis X. McCauley, said Braintree Selectman Anthony Mollica indicated he may recommend legal action to obtain the access.

There is an existing access ramp from Independence Ave. to the station but it is closed to pedestrian traffic and reserved for the use of emergency vehicles only.

Residents of the immediate area in South Quincy fear that if the access is opened their streets will be clogged with illegal parkers and filled with traffic as commuters are dropped off.

"We have no intention of opening the access," said McCauley, "and the MBTA has promised to abide by its agreement that the ramp is to be used for emergency vehicles only."

McCauley said the subject came up recently when the MBTA notified him that residents of Independence Manor, an elderly apartment building in Braintree, had asked for a meeting to make their pitch.

The meeting was held Monday with Kenney representing Mayor McCauley and about 50 Braintree residents.

including three of the five selectmen, in attendance.

"Our response," said Kenney, "was that the city has no intention of opening that accessway and the MBTA has no intention of forcing us to open it."

"The problems that could arise from opening the access would affect South Quincy and not Braintree," said McCauley. "They were thoroughly aired at a meeting in the Adams School some years ago."

"I am going to honor the wishes of the residents of South Quincy and the MBTA is going to honor its agreement with us."

Finn Repeats: 'I'm Not Retiring'

Police Chief Francis X. Finn says he is not going to retire, despite the fact that a Civil Service exam to establish a list of possible successors was taken two weeks ago.

"This is the kind of pressure I don't need," said the chief, who underwent quadruple heart bypass surgery in December, 1982.

"Some people seem to think that I am a lame duck chief. A tremendous amount of people and organizations in this city have asked me not to retire."

"I have spent almost 36 years on the job, 18 years as chief, and I guess some people are concerned about change because change creates fear."

Finn said he does not think much of Mayor Francis X. McCauley's idea that the chief's job could possibly be taken out of Civil Service.

"It's not the thing to do in a city this size," he said. "It took a long time to gain the trust of state and federal agencies. We deal with."

He indicated that the same state and federal agencies would not trust a department whose chief might change with the changing of administration in City Hall.

He noted that Brockton's chief is not under Civil Service and "there is a severe trauma in the department with each change."

School Committee To Take Up Budget

The School Committee was scheduled to take up the school budget for fiscal 1985 last night (Wednesday) from 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. prior to the regularly scheduled meeting.

Then the committee will hold a full budget session Wednesday, Feb. 29, starting at 7:30 p.m.

"We are looking to have the school budget ready for presentation to the City Council at the April 2 meeting," said Mayor Francis X. McCauley, who is also the chairman of the School Committee.

Meanwhile, McCauley continues to hold meetings on the general government budget with several departments scheduled to discuss their needs with him Wednesday, Feb. 22.

The arc Cemetery, Retirement, Debt Service, Police, Harbormaster, Civil Defense, Animal Control and Traffic Control.

That will leave only the Police Department and several unclassified sections he is aired later.

McCauley directed his department heads to turn in level-funded budgets, with the addition of any raises negotiated and funded by the City Council.

The only department head to go over level-funding, said McCauley, was Chief Edward Barry "and we cut that back to bring it in line."

Squantum Commuter Boats Ready March 19

Marina Bay Commuter Co. has entered into an agreement with Aluminum Boats Inc. of River Ridge, La., to modify two boats to operate as commuter shuttles between Squantum and Rowes Wharf in Boston.

The boats could start operating as early as March 19.

Modifications began Jan. 28 on the two 77-foot aluminum-hulled, ocean-going sisterships Independence and Liberty so they will be able to seat 136 passengers for a daily total of 24 trips to Boston.

Modifications are scheduled to be completed March 10.

"The trip from Louisiana, weather permitting, should take between six and eight days, which will make us operational March 19," said Arthur F. Casey, president of Harbour Crossing Co.

Marina Bay Commuter

COMMUTER BOATS from Squantum to Boston will look like this artist's rendering when they arrive in Boston in March from Louisiana.

Co. is a partnership between Harbour Crossing Co. and Boston Harbor Marina Co.

Casey said reservations from Marina Bay in Squantum to Boston and back may be made on a monthly basis.

"We will have coffee, snacks and newspapers in the morning, and a cocktail in the evening if the commuter prefers," said Casey.

"We'll have shuttle every half hour during rush hours, which means 1,400 people enjoying their commute instead of suffering through it."

Casey said the "cooperation of state and local officials has far exceeded our expectations."

He cited particularly State Transportation Secretary Frederick Salvucci, Boston Redevelopment Director Robert Ryan and State DPW Commissioner Robert Tierney.

"And on the Quincy side, the efforts of Mayor Francis X. McCauley and the South Shore Chamber of Commerce have been invaluable," said Casey.

At Democratic Caucuses Mostly Uncommitted Delegates Chosen

By TOM HENSHAW
Quincy Democrats have chosen 61 delegates and 12 alternates to represent them at the Democratic State Convention June 9 in the Centrum in Worcester.

Most of the delegates appear to be uncommitted to any candidate for the open U.S. Senate seat, except for five in Ward 5 that are committed to David Bartley.

Those selected at Democratic caucuses in each ward on Saturday include:

Ward 2 - Daniel Raymond, Clifford Marshall, Charles Hamilton, John Franceschini, Peter O'Neill, Carmine D'Olimpio, Louise Marshall, Joanne Cerasoli, Sharyn

Raymond, Barbara Chaisson, Barbara Maguire and Nina Picardi. Alternates: Stephen Tobin and Patricia Myers.

Ward 3 - John J. Lydon Jr., Peter Eley, Joseph Grant, James French, Robert Gibbons, Paul Barbadoro, Sherry Mel, Molly Hirschberg, Donna French, Anna Robinson and Geraldine Kleiman. Alternates: Michael Manolakis and Angela Manolakis.

Ward 4 - James A. Sheets, Richard J. Koch Jr., Joseph J. LaRaia, Mario Traficanti, Timothy Donovan, Bernice Mader, Regina Moriarty, Grace Barr, Roma Vangel and Kathleen Kelly. Alternates: Joseph Shea and Barbara Crowley.

Ward 5 - Ronald Iacobucci, Daniel O'Sullivan, George Burke, Charles

Phelan Jr., John Keenan, Suzanne Johnson, Jean Marie Burke, Patricia Tolan and Kathleen Burgess. Alternates: Robert Quinn and Amy Buckley.

Ward 6 - Joseph Lydon, William Phelan, Thomas Bowes, Herman Musgrave, Thomas Koch, Linda Bowes, Joanne Morrissey, Pauline Stanton and Joanne Condon. Alternates: Richard Powers and Patricia Yovino.

The Ward 5 delegates pledged to former House Speaker David Bartley are Iacobucci, O'Sullivan, Phelan, Johnson and the two Burkes.

Losers in the Ward 5 delegate contest were MDC Commissioner William Geary and School Committeeman Nicholas Verenis.

Registration High For March Primary

Registration of new voters in Quincy has been going all at a brisk pace, very heavy for a presidential primary, according to City Clerk John Gillis.

"We've had a couple of hundred today and we're still going," said Gillis on Tuesday, the last day for new voters to register for the March 13 primary.

The registration at City Hall was scheduled to be open until 10 p.m. Tuesday and no final count of new voters was available at press time.

The last time voter registration was tallied in Quincy was Oct. 19, 1983, for the city election, at which time there were 47,226 voters -- 21,327 Democrats, 6,391 Republicans and 9,508 unenrolled.

Cerasoli On Wrong Track

The proposed city charter change to give the people the right to fill City Council vacancies has some politicians playing a familiar refrain.

They're against it because it will cost the taxpayers money. Sounds admirable. One of them is Rep. Robert Cerasoli who is quoted as saying: "If they start fooling around with having special elections for councillors at-large, it could run into lots of money."

Fooling around? When it comes to fooling around, some politicians especially some on Beacon Hill are experts at it. Like when it comes to voting themselves pay raises, taking off on junkets and slipping unpopular legislation through in the wee hours of the morning while the opposition is dozing.

Those kinds of things run into lots of money, too, for taxpayers who have long been round-shouldered from carrying a tax burden that gets heavier and heavier. But, that's another story.

Back to the proposed charter change. The City Council, as you know, recently passed a home-rule petition for a charter change to hold special elections for all city council vacancies that occur with a year or more to go on the term.

The petition was introduced by Councillors John Lydon and Joanne Condon because of the Ward 1 situation where Councillor Leo Kelly resigned his seat to accept a $25,000 Quincy Housing Authority federally funded project manager post.

Kelly was hardly a week into his new term when he was approved for the job. He wanted to remain on as a councillor but the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development said he couldn't wear both hats.

Kelly took the one with the job stenciled on it which, personally, was a good fit. After all, you can't make a career of being a ward councillor and job opportunities like that don't come along too often.

Kelly left the council reluctantly but also left it with a virtual two-year unexpired term.

Under the present charter, the remaining councillors would elect Kelly's successor. It would take actually only five a majority of the eight remaining councillors to make the decision.

We've said it before: why should a councillor from Ward 2, Ward 3, Ward 4, Ward 5, Ward 6 or any of the three at-large councillors decide who will represent the people of Ward 1 for a near two-year period?

Fortunately, the present remaining eight councillors don't think they should either because they unanimously passed the Condon-Lydon home rule petition. It now needs approval by the state legislature.

And, there, Cerasoli wants to tinker with it.

He apparently doesn't mind a "temporary" charter change to allow a special election to fill the Ward 1 seat.

But he wants a final charter change to go through a two-year review — a process which entails election of a charter commission and a city-wide referendum.

But, in this particular charter change, why drag feet through such a slow-motion-and costly-process?

All this charter change will do is take the power out of the hands of a few city councillors to fill council vacancies and place that power in the hands of the people where it really belongs.

If it were the other way around — taking the power from the public and handing it to a few councillors — then Cerasoli would be on the right track. But in this case, he is on the wrong track.

Cerasoli, doesn't represent the entire city — only one ward — Ward 2. But instead of helping eight councillors who do, he wants to hinder them. And, he never let them know he planned to fire a torpedo on Beacon Hill.

Why should the people have only the right to fill a ward council vacancy but not an at-large vacancy when there is a year or more to go on the term? They should have the right in both cases.

Mayor Francis McCauley and Rep. Michael Morrissey are leaning with Cerasoli, favoring special elections for ward council but not for at-large council vacancies. Again, the cost factor pops up.

Senator Paul Harold and Rep. Thomas Brownell, however, are backing the home rule petition to give the voter the right to fill vacancies whether they be ward or at-large. And, that's where the right belongs — with the voter.

If politicians are sincerely concerned about the cost of a special election, there's one way they could help eliminate such costs. Simple: eliminate the need for special elections.

All they would have to do is make a pledge when seeking office: a pledge they will complete the term before seeking greener pastures.

Pledge they will not take a conflicting public appointment during that term.

And, they might pledge not to run for a second office while still in the first. By running for a second office while still holding the first, it gives them insurance should they lose. But if they win and there is a conflict of some kind between the two offices, then there's a resignation and another vacancy.

With the exception of a death, a serious health problem, a job transfer out of state or something like that — there wouldn't be a need for special elections to fill vacancies.

And politicians — who create most of the vacancies — wouldn't have to worry about how much money it would cost the taxpayers to fill them.

Just make that pledge. And, keep it.

Red Ribbons For 'Our Boys'

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
Starting with Valentine's Day, our day of "Love", let's show our soldiers far a way that we care by letting Red Ribbons fly from the Old Oak Tree and everywhere!

May there be world peace real soon and our boys back home again safely but until then let the Red Ribbons Fly!

Come on America, Let's Do It!

Praises Brownell

As Chairman

At Mondale Caucus

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I would like to call public attention to the excellent job Representative Thomas Brownell of Quincy did as Chairman of the 11th Congressional District - Mondale Caucus held Sunday, Feb. 5, at the Atlantic Middle School, in North Quincy.

An overflow of over 500 people attended the Caucus which lasted approximately three hours. The Caucus proceeded very smoothly, due in part to the cooperation of those in attendance. But, a large degree of the credit should go to Chariman Brownell for his fairness and patience, his clear instructions to the delegates and efficient handling of the balloting simplified the process and avoided confusion.

Tom Brownell is one of the finest men I have met in or out of government and this is reflected in his conscientious, hard working approach to his responsibilities in the Legislature.

Representative Brownell deserves to be commended for a job well done.

Quincy Quiz

No winners in the Quincy Quiz this week.

Each week two Quincy Sun T-shirts and two Quincy Sun bumper stickers are offered as prizes in the Quincy Quiz.

The first two readers, one a mail subscriber, to submit to the Sun office in writing the correct answers to the week's five questions win T-shirts. The next two win bumper stickers.

Only one member of a household is eligible to compete in any one week and no one is eligible to win more than three T-shirts.

This week's Quincy Quiz:

1. The current Plan A charter was adopted by the voters of Quincy in: 1888? 1947? 1955?
2. What is the name of the newest member of the Quincy Planning Board?
3. What well-known Quincy business establishment is located at 65 School St.?
4. True or false: The police chief, the fire chief and the public works commissioner of Quincy are all chosen under Civil Service.
5. T.D. King Square is located in what section of the city?

Answers to last week's Quincy Quiz:

1. Bob Uhlir is the coach of the Quincy High School girls basketball team.
2. The first mayor of Quincy was sworn in on Jan. 7, 1889.
3. The Chuck Wagon is located at 656 Washington St., Quincy Point.
4. False. The mayor of Quincy is a member of the School Committee by virtue of his office, and he does have a vote.
5. Guido J. Cicconi Square is located in the South Quincy section of the city.

French Students Bid Quincy 'Bon Jour'

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
If you heard a chorus of "Bon Jours" and "Ca Vus" around Quincy that sounded pretty authentic recently they were.

A group of 18 foreign exchange students from Perigueux, France, visited the city, its officials, historical sites, North Quincy High School and schools.

The French students are involved in an exchange program with South Burlington Vermont High School.

Bob Sheurmer, foreign language department head at South Burlington High School, wanted the French students to experience a large city high school.

Both South Burlington and Perigueux are rural communities.

Sheurmer contacted the French Consulate in Boston and they referred him to Nancy Kelly, North Quincy High School French teacher. She will be the next president of the Eastern Massachusetts Division of the American Association of Teachers of French.

Miss Kelly, foreign language department head Nan Martyak, North Quincy High staff members and Parent Board members arranged for the students' visit.

In addition to meeting NQHS students, they visited Mayor Francis McCauley, local historical sites and stayed overnight in host homes.

A day of sightseeing in Boston followed the visit to Quincy.

ANNA MARTINEZ, left, one of the 18 foreign exchange students from Perigueux, France, chats with Jane Monahan, student teacher at North Quincy High School.

Fraud Prevention Program For Senior Citizens

Quincy Savings Bank is sponsoring a Fraud Prevention Program For Senior Citizens at 1000 Southern Artery, Wednesday, Feb. 22 at 2 p.m.

Among the participants will be specialists from the Massachusetts Division of Banks, a Quincy law enforcement officer and Quincy Savings Bank officials.

The program will help teach seniors how to protect themselves.

Participants will detail the more popular scams and answer questions.

Officials advise that senior citizens who are approached by people claiming to be bank examiners or promising a get-rich scheme should contact the police or their bank officials.

They also suggest that the best protection is a healthy skepticism. If it sounds too good to be true, it probably isn't true.

Planning Board To Meet On Zoning Changes

The Planning Board will meet Thursday, Feb. 16, at 4 p.m. in the second floor conference room at City Hall to consider several amendments to the city zoning ordinance.

Three of the proposed amendments are concerned with the building of roads across land zoned for open space to make it easier for construction of an access road to Boston Harbor Marina.

Another proposal would bring the city ordinance governing lot size, area and width in compliance with the state law.

Mayor McGrath Dies At 72

Former Mayor Thomas J. McGrath, 72, who was known as the "watch dog of the treasury" during his 12 years on the city Council and six years as mayor, died at his home, 11 Thayer St., Quincy Center.

McGrath, a linotype operator at the recently defunct Boston Transcript until he was elected mayor for the first time in 1926, was city treasurer at the time of his death, having been appointed in 1943 by Mayor Charles A. Ross, his arch rival in four bitter elections.

"He was a tried and true public servant whose great love for this, his native city, transcended most things in his life," said Ross, who lost closely contested mayoral elections to McGrath in 1926 and 1928 and beat him twice in 1932 and 1934.

"He was the soul of honesty and integrity and with him public office was positively a public trust," said City Council President Frank N. Orcutt.

LT. HURLEY CITED

LT. Paul E. Hurley, son of Dr. and Mrs. William R. Hurley of 100 Greenleaf St., Quincy Center, was cited by Admiral W. F. Halsey, commander of Naval forces in the South Pacific, for his conduct in eight battles with the Japanese.

"Lt. P.E. Hurley, by his skillful and coordinated control of the gun battery of his ship was largely instrumental in the damage done to Japanese naval units and the defense of his ships from enemy attacks," said the citation.

"His courage in an exposed station while the ship was repeatedly straddled by gun fire and subjected to torpedo attacks was an inspiration to all on board."

MacEWAN RESIGNS

Edwin J. MacEwan, secretary of the Quincy Chamber of Commerce for the past eight years, announced that he was resigning that post to become executive vice president of the New Haven, Conn., Chamber of Commerce.

Breast Cancer Education Program Scheduled

A free breast cancer education program will be held Wednesday, Feb. 29, at 7:30 p.m. at the Atlantic Neighborhood Association, with Rose Mysiuk, R.N. and Bea Sweatt, R.N.

The project, which is being sponsored by the Quincy Milton Unit of the American Cancer Society will include a free breast examination and individual instructions in the proper method of self-examination. The ACS film "Breast Self-Examination" will be shown and educational literature will be available.

An estimated 114,000 new cases of breast cancer were reported in the U.S. in 1983. But, with early detection and prompt treatment, the five-year survival rate is as high as 85 percent.

For further information on the Feb. 29th program call 328-3729.

Robert Johnston In Ward 1 Council Race

Robert L. Johnston, headmaster of the Woodward School for Girls, will announce his candidacy for the Ward 1 seat on the City Council Wednesday, Feb. 22, at 7:30 p.m. at a reception at the Quincy Yacht Club.

"As a school administrator, I understand the importance of being highly accessible and responsive to my constituents," said Johnston, who lives at 46 Bay View Ave., and has been a Houghs Neck resident since 1944.

"The residents of Ward 1 deserve these qualities in their councillor. The ability to follow through is an essential quality for holding this office. People expect action and they have a right to get it from their councillor."

Johnston said he favors a proposal to change the Nut Island Sewage Treatment Plant from a treatment plant to a pumping station.

"I am the candidate who lives closest to the Nut Island plant," he said. "The clean water issue is at the top of my agenda. Every time I look out my window, I am reminded of what has happened to our once beautiful bay, and shoreline.

"This is the ward where I have lived since I was a child. My wife and I own our home here. I want the opportunity to do my part in keeping our community a good place to live."

A graduate of Quincy High School, Johnston holds three degrees from Boston University, including one from the Graduate School of Theology.

Under his leadership since 1979, the Woodward School student body has increased from 88 to 148 and the annual budget has gone from just over $100,000 to $500,000.

He is a member of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce's Business-Education Partnership Task Force, the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, the Quincy Historical Society and the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

Johnston and his wife, the former Carol Schuerch of Houghs Neck, have two children and one grandchild.

WHAT'S MAKING THIS BOOK A BEST SELLER?

An 8 to 9.25% annual return—without tying up cash for long periods.

A Select Savings Account passbook is becoming a very popular item.

It's not surprising when you consider that a Select Savings Account is a great way to earn high interest that doesn't require an enormous minimum deposit. All you need to open one is a $500 minimum balance, and you can earn an annual rate of 8% (8.33% effective annual yield)—a lot higher than you could earn on a regular savings or NOW Account. When your passbook balance reaches $2,500 you begin earning 9.25% annually (9.65% effective annual yield).

And no, you don't have to tie up your money forever to get these rates. Just give us 90 days' notice of withdrawal. Otherwise, we're required to impose a penalty of one month's interest for early withdrawal.

The Select Savings Account even allows you to build your high interest account by making as many additional deposits as you like. And, to give you the best return on your money, we compound the interest daily. Interest rates are set monthly. Your principal and interest are fully insured up to $100,000 by the F.D.I.C.

All-in-all, it's easy to see why the Select Savings Account passbook is one of the most popular books around.

To open your account, just call 773-0500 and we'll send you what you need to get started—or stop by one of the 17 conveniently located Bank of New England-Hancock offices today.

For best results, streptokinase must be given within 3-6 hours after a heart attack to dissolve blood clots in the heart's major blood vessels, clinical studies suggest.

Some stroke victims and other brain-injured people have shown dramatic improvement in the mobility of their limbs with the use of topical anesthetics such as benzocaine, says a Boston physical therapist.

Breast feeding is now government policy. U.S. Department of Health and Human Services hope to increase percentage of women nursing their children from 45 percent to 75 percent, with as many as 35 percent continuing six months or more, it was reported.

Women with IUDs should avoid aspirin and other anti-prostaglandin medications, which may interfere with the efficacy of the contraceptive device.

In Loving Memory of

Patrick J. Stanton

1961 - FEBRUARY 15TH - 1984

May his soul and the souls of all the faithful departed through the mercy of God rest in peace. Amen.

Lord make us an instrument of thy peace.

Where there is hatred let us sow love. Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by his wife, daughter, sons, daughters-in-law and grandchildren.

Holy Sacrifice of the Mass was celebrated at St. Mary's Church - West Quincy - Wednesday Feb. 15th and also one to be offered at Our Lady of the Assumption Church in Florida.

Donald M. Deware

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:

Many of us are concerned with the problems our Government in Washington face today. Perhaps we can find some reassurances in remembering some problems faced by George Washington in the years that made us independent.

He had a problem of men. The states' militia were all short time volunteers. Enlistments were constantly running out at the wrong time. Descriptions were frequent. He had a problem of officers. The officers were to be elected by the men in this democratic army. Some were elected who were better vote getters than soldiers. Congress gave promotions to many men who were not as capable as the men who were leading troops in battle. Many good officers resigned rather than serve under these politicians. He had a problem of food and supplies. It was not uncommon to hear the cry: "No bread, no meat, no soldiers!" He had a problem of soldiers' health. Inadequate food, clothing, and shelter caused many to become violently ill.

These were some of the problems in 1776. They were just as difficult for the men of the Revolutionary period as our problems are today. We, as a nation, came through that critical period. However difficult and complex our problems may seem to us today... are we not, as a nation, equal to them?

Union Congregational Elects First Woman Moderator

An 88 year precedent was overturned recently at the annual meeting of Union Congregational Church, Wollaston when a woman was elected moderator for the first time in the church's history.

Edith Costa, in her address to the congregation as new moderator, expressed her eagerness and commitment to helping direct the church toward more community involvement and developing programs for Young Adults. She also discussed working with the Church Growth Committee in its efforts at increasing church membership as well as promoting fund raising events to underwrite the $52,200 budget that was accepted unanimously by the church at the annual meeting.

The congregation expressed its thanks to William Baker, who was stepping down as moderator, and presented him with a plaque recognizing his eight years in that post.

Annual reports were given by church committees. In keeping with the renewed spirit, the congregation voted unanimously to institute the position of Church Growth Chairperson as an official of the church.

Other officers elected for 1984 are: Frank Hartman, treasurer; Gertrude Kimball, clerk and financial secretary; Karen McDonald, assistant financial secretary; Lois MacDonald, memorial fund treasurer; Doris Bryant, auditor.

Committee Chairpersons for 1984 are: Donald Ricketts, trustees; Leavitt Lombard, deacons; Dorothy Hall, deaconess; William Roberts, annual pledge drive; Ottilie Scales, music committee; Doris Farrar and Dorothy Archer, delegates to the Mass Conference of the United Church of Christ; Cynthia Lane, delegate to the Inter-Church Council.

JEANS SAFER THAN DRESSES

Some parents may bemoan the fact that little girls don't look like they used to. The old saw about it being hard to tell the difference between boys and girls because they both wear long hair and jeans may have its merits - but not when it comes to burn safety. Your daughters may be far safer in blue jeans or slacks than they are in dresses.

Public Health researchers at Johns Hopkins University have noted a dramatic drop in burn fatalities since the middle 1960's, especially among school-aged girls. They feel the increased popularity of pants among females is a major reason for the change.

In the 1950's, girls suffered a much higher rate of burn fatalities than boys. Dresses that exposed the legs and frilly clothes made of flammable fabrics shared the blame. But by the late 1960's, with slacks and jeans in full-till style for the girls, the ratio was reversed.

Happily, the overall rate of fatal burns nationwide for boys as well as girls has fallen sharply during the same period thanks to fire retardant clothing and improved medical techniques for burn care.

$17 Million N.Q. Office Building Gets Go-Ahead

Ground will be broken shortly for a $16.7 million, eight story office building at 200 Newport Ave., North Quincy, by Dickinson Development Co. of Braintree and Macomber Development Co. of Boston.

The final papers for the building were signed Monday, including an agreement with the MBTA that will permit construction in air space over the current parking lot at the North Quincy MBTA station.

Planning Director James Lydon said work on the site will begin in the next few days and official ground-breaking ceremonies will take place March 15.

The facility will include a 360-car parking garage to be financed by a $1 million Urban Development Action Grant (UDAG) that will be repaid to the city over a period of 15 years.

The building will include 150,000 square feet of office space and 3,200 square feet of retail space.

License Board Briefs

The License Board took the following action at Tuesday morning's meeting at City Hall:

- Granted a one day alcoholic license to the North Quincy Red Raiders Hockey Booster Club for a dance Friday, Feb. 24, 7:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall.

- Granted change of corporate structure of West Quincy Motors, Garfield St. Weikko Luoma will be semi-retired, and his sons, Douglas and Philip, will own the corporation.

- Continued to Feb. 21 a request from John DeBartolo for change of location of South Shore Auto Sales, 45 Copeland St., to 134 Penn St., and a Motor II (used car) license.

Ward Councillor James Sheets asked that the request be continued so that area residents could be notified.

- Continued to Feb. 21 a request from General Dynamics Cafe, 97 E. Howard St., Quincy Point, for a common victualer license.

Manager Howard F. Piper is to check with the Quincy Fire Department on extinguishing system requirements.

- Postponed to Feb. 28 a request from Andrew Fink for common victualer and Lord's Day licenses for Premier Fitness Center, 91 Newbury Ave.

Commission Approves NQ Office Building

The Conservation Commission has given its approval to a proposed $8 million, four-story office building at the intersection of Newport Ave. Extension and Hancock St., North Quincy.

The approval is conditional on Newport Management Corp. making certain drainage improvements to satisfy abutters.

Quincy Hospital Medical Program On Ch. 3

Quincy City Hospital's Medical Staff and its Department of Training and Education is sponsoring a television cable program "The State of the Art", to be aired Feb. 21.

The monthly series deals with community awareness of current health issues with an opportunity for viewers to call in and ask questions.

The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. on Ch. 3.

This month's host, Dr. Gerald Rosenblatt, will introduce Dr. Dennis Goldin, Director of the Division of Rheumatology at Quincy City Hospital, who will answer questions on: "Current Treatment of Arthritis."

Quincy residents are encouraged to watch this community produced health education program to become more aware of arthritis and the over 1000 disorders that this prevalent disease encompasses.

Blue Fudge Group At Talent Contest

Blue Fudge musical combo from Berklee College of Music will headline the "Search for Future Stars" talent contest Sunday, Feb. 19, at 2 p.m. at the Wollaston Theatre, Beale St.

Ed Bennett, producer of the shows, says "I wish that everyone in the area who hasn't seen any of our past shows in the last five weeks would come to see what wonderful entertainment we have to offer.

"If they would come to one show, they would never want to miss another one."

"All they have to do is ask the 350 or more patrons who have not missed any of our performances."

Doors open at 1:30 p.m. Acts in the last show that qualified for the finals were: Lisa Modano, Bernard Haugh, the Park Aides, Deirdre Murphy and Sarah Edwards.

Dr. Gerald Rosenblatt Reappointed QCH Physician-in-Chief

Dr. Gerald Rosenblatt, M.D., has been reappointed by the Board of Managers as Chairman and Physician-in-Chief of Quincy City Hospital's Department of Medicine.

First elected to the position in 1975, Dr. Rosenblatt has held the position of Physician-in-Chief for eight years.

A graduate of Quincy Schools, Dr. Rosenblatt obtained his M.D. degree from Boston University in 1959 and his M.P.H. degree from Yale University. He interned at Boston City Hospital and completed his residency training at Beth Israel Hospital in Boston.

Certified by the American Board of Internal Medicine, Dr. Rosenblatt is a fellow of the American College of Physicians, the American College of Chest Physicians and the American Medical Association.

DR. GERALD
ROSENBLATT

While serving as a U.S. Public Health Officer in 1963, Dr. Rosenblatt studied heart disease among the Hawaiians. He became one of the few non-Hawaiians to visit the secluded island of Niihau, off the coast of Kauai.

After returning to Boston, he received a Medical Foundation grant to continue heart research at Boston State Hospital and Tufts Medical School. He is the author of several scientific publications relating to heart disease.

The Department of Medicine at Quincy Hospital comprises medical specialties including internal medicine, family practice, dermatology, neurology and psychiatry.

As Physician-in-Chief, Dr. Rosenblatt will oversee a variety of projects including expansion of medical and out-patient facilities and purchase of modern medical diagnostic and therapeutic equipment.

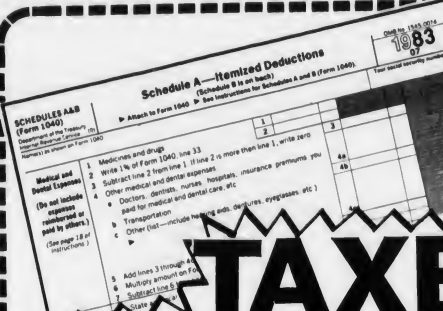

A member of Medical Associates of Quincy, Inc., 21 School St., Quincy Center, Dr. Rosenblatt practices internal medicine and cardiology. He holds faculty appointments at both E-ston University and Tufts University Medical Schools.

Conservation Corps To Meet Feb. 15

Chapter 60 of the Civilian Conservation Corps Alumni will meet Wednesday, Feb.

15, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Beechwood Knoll School, 225 Fenno St., Wollaston.

Plans for the April convention will be discussed.

Raiderettes Win 4th State Track Crown

By TOM SULLIVAN

The remarkable young North Quincy girls' track team has no more worlds to conquer.

The Raiderettes, with only five seniors, capped an unbelievable season last Saturday when they won their fourth state Division I championship in five years at Harvard.

Lou Tozzi's North girls, defeated by Falmouth last season after winning three years in a row, upset that team last week to win with 44 points, while Falmouth scored 39. Fifty-six teams competed in Div. I.

The Raiderettes earlier had won their fourth Suburban League title in five years with a 9-0 record, then followed up with the State Coaches Relays crown, also the fourth in five years.

Last week only two seniors figured in the scoring as the North girls amazingly took a 32-0 lead over Falmouth.

"What more can I say?" asked Tozzi. "I've used all my superlatives. This was just a fantastic group of girls and the younger girls surpassed all my expectations. Not only did only two seniors score in the state meet, but 62 of our 69 points against Quincy in our last dual meet were scored by underclassmen."

The Raiderettes, competing without Georgia Traficante, who would have been favored in the high jump, and Meg Leary, who would have been a certain scorer in the mile, had only one winner, Lisa Fitzgerald in the 600, who finished in 1:27.1, but North's depth paid off.

Lisa also ran an excellent anchor leg on the relay team, overcoming a 25-yard deficit with a 59.1 effort to put the Raiderettes in third place with a time of 4:10.4.

Mary Ann Kelleher, unbeaten during the regular season, finished second in the two-mile in 11:16.4, after finishing third a year ago, and Tracey Corrigan finished fifth in 11:44.2.

Diane Lindenfelzer was one of the Raiderettes' big surprises of the day, finishing third in the mile in 5:16.6. She had been sidelined for eight months prior to the fall cross-country season.

The shot put clinched the win for North as it scored 12 points, with Eileen Crehan placing second with a toss of 36-4½ and Noreen Connolly, who came up with the four best throws of her career, took fourth at 34-8.

Freshman Laura Ciulla, who ran a good 62.6 leg, Lindenfelzer and Kelleher joined Fitzgerald on the relay team.

Three Raiderettes barely missed placing. Marie McGurl reached the semifinals of the hurdles, freshman Tricia Barrett placed seventh in the 1000 and another freshman, LeAnne Fitzgerald, took ninth in the 600.

"Again I want to give an awful lot of credit to my assistant coaches, Mike Burke, Jeff Hennessy, John Furey and Bart Petracca," Tozzi said. "They are a very dedicated group and did a fantastic job."

The North Quincy boys' team placed eighth in Class B with 15 points.

Jeff Stryker finished second in the 1000 in 2:16.5, Jim Kennedy was sixth in the 600 in 1:18.4 and the relay team finished third 3:33.3.

North Icemen Upset Waltham

The North Quincy hockey team rebounded from a disappointing one-goal loss to Suburban League-leading Newton North to upset Waltham, 5-2, last Saturday and improve its record to 9-5.

Kevin Jago's Raiders played Brookline yesterday (Wednesday), will host Brockton Saturday night at 7:50 at the Youth Arena and next Tuesday will wind up the regular season at Cambridge at 6:30.

Keith Smith scored two goals and had two assists to lead North over Waltham. Scott Messina had a goal and three assists and Rich Horrigan and Dave Tapper each scored a goal.

Goalie Matt Higgins, defeated only once this season, played a strong game.

A Good Season For North Swimmers

At the beginning of the season the North Quincy boys' swimming and diving team was young and inexperienced.

With only four seniors, it looked like a tough season and Coach Bill Walker was hoping the Raiders would be able to hit the .500 mark.

However, the young North team had its best season and last week upset a strong Westwood team, 89-82, to finish with a 7-3 record.

Westwood had a 9-1 record going into the meet and had beaten such strong teams as Natick, Wellesley, Framingham North and Framingham South, all perennially strong clubs.

The lone loss was to Bay State League champion Needham by seven points.

Westwood won eight of the 11 events but all but one North swimmer scored and the Raiders' depth paid off and they clinched the win with a second place in the 400 freestyle relay, the final event.

"This was a really fine season and everyone of the boys deserve credit for their hard work and dedication," Walker said.

"It was quite an achievement to beat a team like Westwood and every one of our swimmers and divers performed well."

North's winners were the 200 medley relay team of Mark Wilkins, Dan O'Sullivan, Dan Moriarty and Mike Melanson; and Wilkins in the 50 freestyle and 100 freestyle.

Other scorers were Dave Stockless, third in the 200 freestyle; Bert Jenkins, second, and Rance Gillespie, third, 200 individual medley; Brendon Walsh, third, 500 freestyle; Matt McCusker, second, and Eric Giordano, third, diving; Melanson, second and Tom Farmer, third, 100 butterfly; Walsh, third, 100 freestyle; Stockless, second, 500 freestyle; Jenkins, second and O'Sullivan, third, 100 backstroke, and Moriarty, second, 100 breaststroke.

In last Saturday's Suburban League Championships North Quincy finished fourth place with 164 points and Quincy finished last with 32. Brookline won with 286 points, followed by Brockton with 248 and Newton North with 179.

The Raiders qualified eight swimmers and a diver for the South Sectionals Friday and Saturday at the Lincoln-Hancock School pool.

North scorers were Wilkins, second, and Walsh,

10th, in the 50 freestyle; Wilkins, third; Walsh, seventh; Rob Weikel, ninth, and John Bangs, 11th, 100 freestyle; Melanson, third; Farmer, fifth, and Robert Plante, ninth, 100 butterfly; the 400 freestyle relay team of Bangs, Melanson, Walsh and Wilkins, fourth; the 200 medley relay team of O'Sullivan, Moriarty, Farmer and Weikel, fifth; Giordano, fifth; Greg Toland, ninth, and McCusker, 10th, diving; Melanson, sixth, 200 individual medley; Stockless, eighth, and Steve MacKay, 10th, 500 freestyle; Moriarty, seventh, and Gillespie, ninth, 100 breaststroke; Stockless, ninth; MacKay, 11th, and Weikel, 12th, 200 freestyle, and O'Sullivan, seventh, and Gillespie, ninth, 100 backstroke.

Creedon, White Spark North Over Quincy

Joey Creedon scored seven points and sparked the Raider defense and teammate Charlie White also had seven points and turned in a fine floor game for the North Quincy High School basketball team won a close 26-23 decision over Quincy.

Jack White scored a quick opening basket for the Raiders and they were never headed as they romped to a 17-7 lead at halftime and stood off a determined Quincy rally in the second half for the win. Buddy Page had eight points and Norm Young seven for Quincy.

The North Quincy lineup included: C. White, MacDonald, J. White, forwards; Meade, Humphrey, centers; Creedon, Reid, guards.

The Quincy lineup included: Honkalehto, Quintilliani, Page, forwards; Young, center; DeNardo, Bernstein, MacKinnon, guards.

The following week both teams lost to powerful Brockton.

Mort Bernstein was the big gun for Quincy with seven points but Brockton prevailed, 30-27, while Tom Meade's 11 points for North Quincy was lost in Brockton's fast break which ran up a 42-29 victory.

NO. 1 FOR BLESSED SACRAMENT

Sam Phelan scored 14 points and Jack Monahan added 10 as the Blessed Sacrament basketball team bombed St. Chrysostom's, 41-19, for its first victory of the season in the Greater Quincy Sunday School League.

The Blessed Sacrament lineup included: Phelan, Sartori, forwards; Bennett, center; Monahan, Hughes, guards.

The St. Chrysostom's lineup included: Carter, Mitchell, forwards; Cahill, center; Riley, Harrington, Collins, guards.

ST. MARY'S TRIUMPHS

The St. Mary's Senior basketball team got rolling in the second half behind the hot shooting of Whitey Klevas and went on to a 54-23 victory over the Watertown Arsenal at Mechanics Building in Boston. Klevas had 15 points.

The St. Mary's lineup included: Mathieson, Graham, Perna, Angelini, forwards; N. Salvati, center; Klevas, Hart, E. Salvati, guards.

OLD COLONY WINS

The big four of Eero Ruuttila, Chan Cushman, Paul Clem and Fred Roach scored all but four of their team's points as the Old Colony DeMolay basketball team romped over Medford DeMolay, 44-30. Ruuttila led the way with 14 points.

The Old Colony lineup included: Cushman, Ruuttila, Alexander, forwards; Roach, center; Clem, Pollard, Elz, David, guards.

Quincy Wrestlers Finish With Strong 15-1 Record

Quincy's wrestling team finished another outstanding season under first-year coach Tim Cahill last Saturday when it defeated Brockton, 33-28, to complete the regular season with a 15-1 record.

The only loss was to undefeated Suburban League champion Waltham.

The Presidents thus improved their record to 159-30-1 since the sport was brought back in 1975 and 144-11-1 since 1976. Carmen Mariano had been Quincy's coach since 1975 and Cahill was his first captain.

Mike Notarangel and David Coulter completed undefeated seasons as they both won against Brockton. Notarangelo took a 7-2 decision at 128 pounds and Coulter battled to a 4-4 draw at 115.

Chris Mackey pinned his opponent at 101, Tony Souza won by pin at 108, Rob Cabezas won by pin at 122, John Cacciatore won, 12-3, at 141, and Gary Minnassian won by pin at 188.

In their previous meet the Presidents had defeated Marshfield, 42-21.

Mackey won, 4-0; Coulter won by pin, Souza won by pin, Cabezas won by pin, Tony Venturelli won by pin at 128, David Murphy won by pin at 133, Cacciatore won by pin, and Chris Constat won, 10-6, at 148.

Earlier Quincy had overwhelmed Brockton, winning every bout.

Mackey won, 8-4; Coulter won by pin, Souza won, 4-2; Cabezas won, 14-0; Notarangelo won by forfeit. Joe Monahan won, 12-6, at 134; Cacciatore won, 19-2; Constat won by pin, Brett Satkus won, 10-2, at 157; John Heath won by forfeit at 169, Minnassian won, 7-2, at 187, and Chris Connor won by pin in the heavyweight bout.

Quincy is given an excellent chance of winning its sixth South Sectional title in seven years Friday and Saturday.

YMCA Gym Team Shines

The South Shore YMCA Class III gymnastics team made a fine showing against Andover Y.

In vaulting Erin McNaught scored 8.6 for second place, Nicky

Manton scored 8.5 for third place, Lori Novak and Dawn Hartnett each scored 8.2 and Wendy Lampa 7.8.

On bars Manton had 8.5 for second place and Lampa had 7.5 for third.

On beam Manton and Novak tied for third place with 7.9 scores.

On floor exercise Manton won with 8.7, Lampa had 8.0, Novak 7.9 and Amy Beardsley 7.6.

The Eyes of Quincy

Presidents Look Good But Drop Pair

Quincy boys' basketball team lost two more games last week to drop its record to 3-14, but the Presidents turned in two fine efforts before losing.

Rick DeCristofaro's Presidents will play at North Quincy tonight (Thursday) at 7 p.m. in their final Suburban League game and will finish its season Monday night at 8 at Arlington in a non-leaguer.

Last Friday Quincy did a good job against powerful Brockton, second place team in the league, but the Boxers proved too big and experienced and handed the Presidents a 68-47 setback.

"I thought we hung in there for a long time," said first-year coach DeCristofaro

"Our defense was good and we were giving them just one shot at the hoop. In the first half they were missing and we were able to set up on offense and get the good shots.

"The turning point was in the last minute of the first half and the opening moments of the third quarter. We had lapses on defense and allowed them to control the ball on offense. But no matter how you look at it, our kids came to play tonight."

Brockton coach Vic Ottiz was impressed with the Presidents' play. "I thought that Quincy played very hard tonight," he said.

"They made us earn this victory but then they always do despite their season's record."

Denis Downing, one of the top scorers in the league, had 13 points as did Bill Shaughnessy. John McLaughlin, Jim Stasio and Peter McCarron all played excellent defense.

Earlier in the week Quincy dropped a 64-63 squeaker to Brookline after leading, 24-20, at the halftime.

The Presidents trailed by seven with a minute and a half to play but came back and Daron Tucker's basket made it 64-63 with just a second left.

Shaughnessy paced the Presidents with 18 points, Downing added 14 and Stasio had 10.

Cambridge Rindge Again Too Much For North

The North Quincy boys' basketball team found out for the second time last Friday it can't compete with powerhouse Cambridge Rindge and Latin as the Raiders absorbed a 73-35 wallop to drop its record to 5-11.

Ed Miller's North team will host Quincy tonight (Thursday) at 7 p.m. in its final Suburban League game and will wind up its season Tuesday night at Somerville in a 7:30 non-league game.

"As I have said before, we just can't compete with clubs like Cambridge and Brockton," Miller said. "Cambridge (Suburban League leader and 15-1 on the season) is just awesome. We played hard but we couldn't stay with them."

North's Chris Bunker, the league's top scorer, paced the Raiders with 10 points and Paul Ryan, also in the league's top five, was held to four points but played well defensively.

Earlier in the week North dropped a 56-54 overtime thriller to Newton North, which earlier had edged Quincy on a desperation 25-foot shot with eight seconds left in overtime.

North led most of the game but missed the final two shots in regulation time. The Raiders had led by as many as 10 points.

Bunker had 21 points and scored North's only overtime points with a field goal and two foul shots. Ryan had a good night with 13 points and another good defensive game.

Quincy Outskates Cambridge, Bow To Brookline

The Quincy hockey team, which has had a disappointing season, turned in two fine performances last week but could get only an even break and the Presidents' record dropped to 4-11-1.

Bob Sylvia's Quincy team will play at Waltham Saturday night at 6 p.m. and will finish the season with a home game against Suburban League-leading Newton North at 6:40 at the Youth Arena.

Last Saturday the Presidents dropped a 5-4 squeaker to Brookline.

John DiPietro, John Gleba, John Kelley and Tom McGrath scored the Quincy goals. The Presidents had a lot of scoring chances but Brookline's goalie stopped 25 of 29 shots.

Bill Cahill and Tony Koury split the goalie chores and had 24 saves.

Earlier in the week Mike Hays had a hat trick to lead Quincy over Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 9-3.

Sophomore Scott McGahey scored his first two varsity goals, McGrath had two goals, Mark Walsh had his first goal of the year and Ed Boyle had one. Brett Loud had three assists.

Koury, a junior, had a fine night in goal with 30 saves.

McAdam Team Holds Koch Women's League Lead

Ellen McAdam and her teammates have taken an early lead in the second half of the Koch Club Women's Bowling League with 19 wins and 5 losses.

Closely behind are Joanne Colluppy with an 18-6 mark, Shirley MacNeil with 17-7. Four teams are tied with 12-12 records: Pat Lawlor, first half winner, June Hillier, Debbie Davis and Mary Ellen Walsh.

Ginny Rowe is 9-15, Barbara Lombardi, 5-19 and Mina Scanlan, 4-20. Mary Ellen Walsh leads the league with top average of 106.2 and is joined in the top 10 by Theresa Bonetti, 104.5; June Hillier, 101.6; Barbara Murphy, 100.6;

Debbie Davis, 99.3; Debra Koch, 97.8; Edie Maher, 97.0; Pat Lawlor, 96.7; Carol Johnson, 95.9, and Marge Finlay, 93.8.

Mary Ellen Walsh also has the best individual three string total of 356, top single string of 150 and the most spares with a total of 136.

Theresa Bonetti and Carol Johnson are tied for the most strikes, with 20.

Pat Lawlor and her teammates have the League's high team three string total of 1459 while Mina Scanlan and her combine own the best team solo string of 529.

The league will enter two teams in the South Shore

Women's Tourney at the East Weymouth Bowldrome in March.

The A squad will include Mary Ellen Walsh, Theresa Bonetti, Barbara Murphy, Debra Koch and Edie Maher with Maureen McDonald as the alternate. The B team will consist of Pat Lawlor, Carol Johnson, Marge Finlay, Ginny Rowe and Debra Maher with Ellen McAdam the alternate.

Women are invited to join the league and may register as regular or spare bowlers. Prospective members are welcome to visit any of the weekly sessions Mondays at 7 p.m. at the Merrymount Daylight Alleys.

Raiderettes Turn In 2 Good Performances

The North Quincy girls' basketball team turned in two of its finest performances of the season last week but had to be satisfied with an even break in one-point games.

Paul Bregoli's Raiderettes (5-12) played at Barnstable Tuesday and will play at Quincy today (Thursday) at 5 o'clock.

Last Friday the North girls played a superlative game against unbeaten Suburban League-leading Cambridge Rindge and Latin but bowed, 46-45, on a desperation off-balance shot by Bonnie Fitchett with six seconds to play.

Tied, 6-6, midway through the first quarter, Cambridge pressed full-court and ran off 10 straight points. However, a spectacular three-quarter court shot by Mary Holleran at the buzzer moved North to within 16-8 as the quarter ended.

North held Cambridge to one second quarter basket as a collapsing zone defense shut out the Warriors' 6-2 center, Tanya McRae. Karen Rungge, who played a fine all-around game, scored two baskets, had two assists and three rebounds in the quarter. In addition, sophomore Jean Welby, starting in place of Debbie Cavanaugh, and Sandra Whitehouse, who played despite being ill, did a fine job of running North's offense.

Welby also scored a big basket at the buzzer to leave

Cambridge ahead by just two, 20-18, at the half. Lynda Feeney, replacing Chris Donovan in the second quarter, was steady and grabbed three rebounds.

Cambridge increased its lead in the third quarter as Fitchett scored six points, while Rungge and Holleran countered for North with four each. Welby and Ann Duggan made several nice passes in the quarter.

North's Donovan, asserting herself in the fourth quarter, keyed a Raiderette surge. She also hit two jump shots and sophomore Annmarie Hughes was impressive, running the offense and hitting two foul shots to tie the score at 40-40.

Rungge, who finished with 15 points and five rebounds, gave North its only lead of the game with 13 seconds to play. After a time out, Cambridge got the ball to Fritchett, who threw up an off-balance shot which hit off the board and dropped in for the win.

North, which was 7 for 8 from the line in the final quarter, was led by Holleran's 16 points, three assists and eight steals. Donovan had eight points and six rebounds.

Earlier in the week the North girls edged Newton North, 36-35, at Newton.

North had a 5-4 lead after a quarter despite missing eight layups. North had only two baskets by Holleran in the second quarter and the Raiderettes trailed, 16-9, at the half. Feeney did an exceptional job on the boards and had five rebounds in the half.

North's defense tightened in the third quarter, keyed by Cavanaugh, who had eight steals on the day. Holleran hit for two more baskets while Cavanaugh, Duggan and Donovan also contributed to the offense.

Trailing, 22-19, entering the final session, Holleran hit for two free throws to close the gap to one. After trading baskets, North's Karen Koski gave the Raiderettes their first lead since early in the game, taking a nice feed from Cavanaugh. North also got a big lift from sophomore center Eileen Warren, who scored three points and grabbed 12 rebounds in a little more than a quarter.

Holleran heated up in the quarter and hit three jump shots, while Cavanaugh and Donovan also had big baskets. North, up by one with 39 seconds to play, turned the ball over with 13 seconds left but Carol Ventura, who had 18 points for Newton, missed a 15-foot jumper with four seconds left and Cavanaugh slapped the rebound out to half-court to preserve the win.

Holleran had 18 points, while Donovan and Cavanaugh had five and four respectively. Cavanaugh had four assists and Duggan did a superb job on defense, holding Newton's leading scorer to one basket.

● YMCA Church League

St. John's Samson A's Win Playoff Berth

St. John's Samson A team clinched a playoff spot in the YMCA Church Basketball League with one game left as it won twice during the past week.

St. John's topped previously unbeaten Nazarene, 14-9, with David Jolley scoring 10 points and Matt Flynn four. Robert Cibotti, Pat Shea, Jamie Arnstein and David Pellegrini played fine two-way games.

St. John's A also defeated St. Joseph's B, 21-18, with Jolley having 11 points, Flynn seven and Steve Wassiliw two.

Strong defense by Cibotti from Chris Robbins and Vinnie Contrino and Arnstein's offensive ball control made for an exciting game. Ed Pettinelli, Robert Wilkosky and Shea played strong defense.

St. John's A will finish the regular season Saturday at 4:30 against St. John's B at Broad Meadows Middle School.

Our Lady's A's Defeat St. Joseph's Goliath B's

St. Joseph's Goliath B team dropped a close 32-29 decision to Our Lady's A team in YMCA Church Basketball League action.

Mark Malloy had 15 points and Dan McCuskey 11 for Our Lady's.

St. Joseph's got off to a slow start and trailed by as many as nine points, but fought back to take the lead, 23-22, after three quarters. But poor shooting and costly turnovers proved fatal in the final quarter.

Dan Jaehnig and David Jenette led St. Joseph's with nine points each, Billy Ryan had six and Tim Brillo five. Ricky Morris played his finest game of the season and sparked defensively.

Earlier St. Joseph's rebounded from a 10-2 first quarter deficit to defeat the Boston School for the Deaf team of Randolph, 48-39.

St. Joseph's, which has lost twice to the older and bigger team, rallied behind the outstanding efforts of Jenette (19 points) and Brillo (18). Anthony Battistone had six, Jaehning three and Jimmy Shugrue two.

St. John's Goliath B's Clinch Playoff Spot

St. John's Goliath B team improved its record to 9-0 and clinched a playoff spot in the YMCA Church Basketball League, with an easy 43-12 win over St. John's C team.

Frankie Calabro paced the winners with 10 points, Jamie Fennessy, Lance Panaro and E.J. Hartnett had four each and Eric Light, Teddy Stevenson, Dave Lawless, Brian McNeil, Dan McLaughlin and Mike King two each.

For the C team Dan McCarthy and John Cicceroni had four points each and Jim Fennessy and David Beatrice two each.

St. John's B will play St. Joseph's A and St. John's C will meet Houghs Neck Saturday.

St. Joseph's Intermediate B's Down Point Cong.

St. Joseph's Intermediate B team defeated Point Cong. 19-13, in one of the best played defensive games of the YMCA Church Basketball League.

Ralph Bevilacqua was outstanding on defense, breaking up plays and blocking shots whenever Point penetrated.

St. Joseph's also edged

Wollaston Nazarene, 22-20, with Brandon Farrell scoring the winning basket with 13 seconds left. E.J. Nordstrom was high scorer for St. Joseph's.

St. John's Samson B's Roll By Houghs Neck

St. John's Samson B team kept its YMCA Church Basketball League playoff hopes alive with a 15-7 victory over Houghs Neck. John MacNeil scored nine points for St. John's, which led by only one point at the half. Jake Costa, Jamie Bruno and Matt Fennessy had two points each. Jim Delaney and John Berggren stood out on defense.

St. John's Junior Girls Remain Undefeated

Martinelli Team Takes Koch Men's League Lead

Mike Martinelli and his team have moved into the lead with 18 wins and 6 losses in early second half action of the Koch Club Men's Bowling League.

Jim Broadbent and Mike Doyle are tied with 16-8 marks. Dan Walsh is 14-10, Steve Mancuso, 10-14, Larry McGue, 9-15, Tony Monti, 8-16, and Dave Prescott, 5-19.

The Koch Club team in the South Shore Men's Bowling Tourney Sunday topped the V.I.P.S., 1611-1607, as Mike Martinelli fired a 351 for the Koch unit and Mike Doyle 348. The Koch entry will return Sunday at 12:30 p.m. as one of the 36 surviving teams.

Tom Koch scored a 366 to lead all scorers in the weekly "320" scoring club and was joined by Mike Martinelli, 359; Tommy Bowes, 347; Russ Melanson, 335; Dan Brennan, 334; Dave Salvati, 327; Tony Monti, 326; Bill Duquette, 325, and Bob Woodman Sr., and Steve Mancuso, 320 apiece.

Martinelli has the league leading average of 111.4. In the top 10 with him are Steve Mancuso, 107.1; Tony Monti, 105.7; Jim Broadbent, 105.4; Larry McGue, 102.5; Dan Walsh, 101.8; Mike Doyle, 101.6; Dave Prescott, 101.4; John Broadbent, 100.4, and Tom Koch, 100.

Larry McGue has the best individual three string total of 386 and Martinelli has the top single string of 154.

Steve Mancuso and his teammates have the top team three string total of 1562. The Martinelli team has the high team single string of 587.

The league is seeking two regular bowlers. New members are welcome to join and participate as regular or spare bowlers.

The league, in its 34th season, bowls Tuesdays at 7 p.m. at the Wollaston Boulevard Bowldrome.

'Let's Celebrate February' Assembly At Central

Students at Central Middle School will attend a "Let's Celebrate February" assembly today (Thursday) Feb. 16.

Patrick Murphy will begin the program with a narrative, "All About February". The sixth grade chorus will sing several selections that speak to the Valentine, Love and Friendship.

They will be directed by Mrs. Marion Clancy. The Morning Chorus will also sing several selections.

Members of the Executive Board will appear in an original skit. The cast includes Eileen Campbell, Barbara Carroll, Kathy Gralton, Darian Litif, Daniel McLoughlin, Matthew Norton, Angela Venezia and Christine Venezia. During the skit the girls will deliver a singing telegram to Principal Louis DiMartinis, and Daniel McLoughlin will sing "If I Ruled The World", from the musical "Pippin".

The school band will play some pop tunes, in keeping with the assembly theme, and a Gershwin medley. John Greene will close the program with a review of the signs of the zodiac and what they may mean to the middle school listener.

The band will play under the direction of Bernard Goldstein. Dramatic coaching is under the supervision of Mary Catherine Iannoni.

Historical Society Receives $5,000 From Bergfors Fund

The Quincy Historical Society's endowment fund has received a gift of $5,000 from the Fred E. Bergfors Fund.

The $5,000 is part of a $10,000 gift from the Bergfors Fund to support the society's educational, exhibition and collection activities.

The Fred E. Bergfors Fund was established by Fred E. Bergfors Sr. with earnings of the Quincy Oil Co., which he organized in 1916 and managed until 1976.

The Fund provides financial assistance to non-profit institutions and to individuals in South Shore communities to promote science, medicine, music, art, literature and human welfare.

Trustees of the fund are Mrs. Fred E. Bergfors Sr., Fred E. Bergfors Jr., Mrs. Elaine M. Prang and Mrs. Constance B. Rice.

CHECK FOR $5,000 from the Fred E. Bergfors Fund is presented by Mrs. Constance Bergfors Rice (right) to Mrs. Doris S. Oberg, president of the Quincy Historical Society, for the society's endowment fund.

HOLLYWOOD - Starting today, as an exclusive feature, I'll become your connection to the exciting people, places, and events here in the entertainment capital of the world.

Let's get started with some true love news from Tinseltown. To celebrate his wife, Marianne's 40th birthday, super-singer, Kenny Rogers gave her a party and a box of Cracker Jacks. Not much of a present you say? Read on folks, the Gambler's got a lot of class.

Just as all boxes of Cracker Jacks have a surprise inside, Kenny's special gift was no exception. When Marianne got to the bottom of her batch of caramel corn and nuts she found a 40-carat diamond ring!

While the ring is great, what really puts a sparkle in Marianne's eyes is the love transcended every time Kenny dedicates the moving love song, "She Believes In Me" to his wife who he claims not only saved his career, but more importantly, his life.

My New York video connection tells me Jane Fonda is set to release her third exercise video program, "The Challenge." The 90-minute tape will be released internationally in April, and it's said to be an advanced version of her top-selling original "Workout."

Fonda's new offering will feature a 70-minute warmup and cool-down session, and a 20-minute "dance aerobics" stint in which Fonda and two male dancers elaborate on her work-out and shape-up concepts.

Also HBO has announced an upcoming video clip concert featuring Linda Ronstadt slated for a late spring home showing. The program will be distributed under the "Elektra-Visio" label, the first home video program from Elektra Records.

Don't be surprised to see Michael Jackson guest-star on the highly rated ABC-TV prime-time soap, "Dynasty."

Jackson, who is hotter-than-hot (in more ways than one!) with his multi-million seller "Thriller," enjoys the program very much, and can be seen often on the set enjoying an inside peek at production.

"Dynasty's" producers hope to entice Michael into a guest shot into the high roller world of the Carringtons and Colbys.

Only problem is Michael Jackson's current bank account could buy and sell Blake Carrington and his very unique family.

Also coming from the "Dynasty" set is word that Pamela Sue Martin, the pretty lady who plays Fallon, is not real happy playing third string to Linda Evans and Joan Collins. She wants her part beefed up a bit. I'll bet if the writers could find a way to link Fallon with Mr. Jackson, Pamela Sue would quickly unpack her bags.

Remember... to succeed, you've got to have connections.

Got a question for your favorite star? I'll track 'em down for you. Send questions and comments to James S. Leach c/o THE VIDEO CONNECTION, 22761 Pacific Coast Hwy., Malibu, California, 90265.

Residents Sought For Television Audience

Channel 5 is seeking Quincy residents to sit in the audience for the taping of a prime time show called "TV on Trial" Friday, Feb. 24, at 7 p.m. in the North Quincy High School auditorium.

The program will pit the general managers of Boston TV Channels 4, 5 and 7 against the city's television critics in a discussion of the responsibilities of television stations to the public.

The program will be aired in prime time in April.

Anyone interested in attending the taping session should call Rochelle Joseph at Channel 5, 448-0400, extension 245.

The Eyes have it.

WEEK OF: FEBRUARY 16

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19

Sensitive family matters dominate your time. do your best to solve them by Monday. Caution is keyword; check for potential household hazards and correct them effectively.

PISCES - February 20-March 20

A week in which you meet several interesting people. each with a different point of view. Cultural activities are highlighted. Volunteer projects can boost your confidence.

ARIES - March 21-April 20

Financial picture improves, thanks to your commonsense approach - and a minor windfall. Surprise news seems uneventful, but read between lines. Friends resist your best ideas.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22

Use leisure time constructively, organizing upcoming-travel plans or taking on medium-sized repair tasks. Relatives are unexpectedly blunt about money matters.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21

You're in the limelight, and the week ends with an increase in your overall status. Be careful about making loans to people whom you really don't know as well as you think.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

Charm is strong and helps you survive some minor crises in the neighborhood. Romance shows its sentimental side, but don't ignore the practical matters at hand.

LEO - July 23-August 22

Emphasis is on education and travel, possibly in tandem. Self-image is strong and you do well at interviews or on the stage. Misunderstandings are scattered through the weekend.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22

In any relationship - romantic, professional - the accent is on ingenuity. Friendship with Aries or Leo can be struck this week. Battle with bureaucracy is won by Wednesday.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22

Extended obligations come to a happy conclusion and the week is marked by a series of new beginnings. Indications of improved life-style change begin to appear.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21

Steady financial gains are enhanced by unexpected travel opportunities. In romance, key is to appeal to partner's sentimental side - which isn't as simple a task as you think.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22

A transition period, in which priorities are shifting and friendships undergo reevaluation. Watch out for self-indulgent streak which can play havoc with diet or budget.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20

Financial progress is offset by unexpectedly high costs. Nostalgic period may find you tracking down old friends, returning to favorite haunts, rummaging through albums.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Friendly as you are, you know how to keep your distance. You're willing to lend a hand and you're an optimist. Sometimes you rebel for the sake of rebelling. A more open mind can lead to improved financial status by late autumn, early winter.

Cable delivers. Just ask the Rabbit.

In high school, John Baldassini was so quick on the athletic field that he was labeled the Rabbit. That was 42 years ago. Today the Rabbit still gets around. Delivering mail on the same 3½ mile route in North Quincy to over 375 homes. The name has stuck and so has his love of sports.

So it was only natural that when cable came to Quincy that the Rabbit ran to cable. "It brings me all the sports I could possibly want. Twenty-four hours a day. Celtic games and title fights that aren't on regular TV. Games from as far away as Atlanta and as close as Quincy. There are even two channels with nothing but sports.

In fact, I became so involved with the programs that we had cable installed for my wife. Then my son and daughter. Everyone found something that they liked. It seemed a shame not to be able to see them all."

So, the Baldassini's became a three-cable family. The Eyes of Quincy show them their neighborhood, show them the world. Sports, health, music, films, you name it. The Rabbit and his family have it. It's just a hop, skip and a jump away.

OVERPRICING CAN BE COSTLY

QUESTION: Several REALTORS have told me that my house is overpriced by about 20% and, in the long run, could cost me money. How can this be?

ANSWER: Because overpricing stops buyers from considering your home. No matter how much is spent on advertising, an overpriced home will not sell. Prime prospects who should have bought, have gone elsewhere to buy. When a home remains unsold too long, interest stops because buyers become wary. Eventually your house will sell, but for less than you could have realized had you priced it realistically. Use extreme caution in pricing your house more than 5 percent above its market value.

OVERPRICING A HOUSE will lose more good prospects than anything else.

New Police Expense Bid May Hit Snag

By TOM HENSHAW

Mayor Francis X. McCauley plans to resubmit to the City Council an order transferring $35,000 from a surplus in payroll account to the expense account to avoid a possible disruption in police services.

But the City Council, which rejected the transfer order before, may not even take it up at its next meeting since two of its members will not be present, reducing the Council to six members.

Chief Francis X. Finn told a news conference last Friday that his department is on "the brink of disaster" and will run out of expense money, possibly as soon as this week.

"In a very short period of time, we will be forced to grind down on our services to the public," he said. "Our expense account is presently, by my best estimate, around $6,176 of spendable money.

"This is not near enough money to carry us through. As early as next week we will be forced to make severe cutbacks and grind the department services down to an unacceptable level of performance."

The irony of it, he said is that the department has more than $400,000 in its personal services (payroll) account due to unfilled but funded positions in the department.

In late December, Finn requested a transfer of $35,000 from personal services to expenses and Mayor McCauley passed the request to the Council, which voted 5 - 2 against it.

"Cruiser repair and maintenance, medical bills for police officers and many other routine expenses will not be able to be honored with the amount of money we have left," said Finn.

"This will necessitate me to take these cruisers off the roads and reduce my expenses to this level."

Council President James A. Sheets, who was not present to vote on the transfer request at the Council's Jan. 16 meeting, said he personally has not decided how he will vote.

"I want to ask the chief several questions," he said.

"Why do we have a problem with the expense budget as early as Feb. 1? Has the Police Department overspent tremendously or was there too little in the expense account in the first place?"

"Did the mayor keep certain salaries in the budget knowing that he was not going to fill them? Why didn't he put the money in the expense account and knock out the positions in the first place?"

"There has to be a lot of convincing done and it does not look particularly good."

Councillor Stephen J. McGrath, one of those who voted against the transfer Jan. 16, said he is concerned because "we budgeted extensive money for personnel and now we have no money left over."

"They should be truthful when they put the budget together," he said.

"And I have a problem with the chief handling the matter with a press conference without contacting any of the councillors. I'm only a phone call away. I'd be happy to talk to him."

"The whole thing is much ado about nothing," McGrath added. "It should be easy to resolve. We don't have to make a federal case out of it."

McGrath is one of two councillors who will be unable to attend Feb. 21 meeting. He will be on vacation and Theodore P. DeCristofaro will be in Washington on National Parks Service business.

Mayor McCauley denied that he had been anything less than up front with the Council when he overfunded the payroll and underfunded the expense account in the police budget.

"I did not deceive them with the budget," he said. "Most of the positions were filled when they were put in the budget. Since then there have been retirements. The money piled up but not by design."

He conceded that he trimmed $35,000 from the police budget's energy expense account but he added that the real culprit is the new computer system that monitors Police Department finances.

"We used to be able to transfer money between line items as long as we lived within the bottom line," he said. "With the computer it's a different ball game. Now you can't overspend lines."

He noted that William Grindlay, the man who monitors the police budget, has encumbered some $250,000 of the $415,000 expense budget to be used only for specific items, such as energy, gasoline, communications.

That money can't be touched for any other expense item.

This is the mattress designed by professionals who understand the design of the human body - the Posture Committee of the International Chiropractors Association. The critical center 1/3 of the Spinal-Guard mattress has been specially reinforced with heavier coils. Its special construction gives extra support to the heaviest part of your body. Helps keep your body in a firm, level sleeping position all night long. You wake rested. And Spinal-Guard could relieve the discomfort of a backache caused by sleeping on a saggy mattress. You not only get Extra support, but extra sleeping comfort, too, thanks to Spinal-Guard's luxurious layers of cushioning.

And that's edge-to-edge comfort because of Spinal-Guard's Flex-edge non-sag support construction.

Put your money to work for you with an INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNT.
Although the government says the maximum contribution each year is $2,000, even amounts smaller than that will still give you relief on your Federal taxes — besides, all the interest is tax deferred as well.

At Quincy Cooperative Bank we offer high interest rates and all you need is $10.00 to start an IRA.

So come see us or call us — we will be glad to answer all your questions.

QEA Threatens Suit Over Retired Raises

The Quincy Education Association served notice Tuesday that it may go to court to try and force the city to pay 1979 pay raises to 17 members who have retired since the contract was signed.

"It is absolutely unconscionable that the Mayor refuses to process payment on an item that the School Committee has voted to pay and has the funds to pay," said QEA President Mary Curtin.

"The association will not tolerate such unfeeling behavior.

"Our legal advisors are now determining whether we initiate the suit immediately or complete the grievance procedure first.

"But there is no question that the association will support its members and follow this case to court."

Members of the School Committee, led by Mary Collins, also have been contemplating bringing suit against Mayor Francis X. McCauley to force payment to the retired teachers.

McCauley's stand on the matter has been that an earlier court decision ruled that the city does not have to pay any of the raises that were negotiated in 1979 but never funded.

Curtin called the issue "a cancer that has eaten away at the school system for five years now."

"All school employees are morally and ethically entitled to the salary increase that was duly negotiated with the School Committee," she said.

Validated Parking May Be Ready April 1

If the good weather keeps up there may be validated parking in downtown Quincy lots by April 1.

One of the problems, said Mayor Francis X. McCauley, is that the factories that make the black top surfacing material are closed for the winter.

With good weather, they may reopen early so that black top will be available for use in the John Hancock and the Ross Parking areas.

"We are hoping for an early spring opening," said McCauley. "We have been talking about April 1. So far, the weather has been cooperating."

McCauley said there is a possibility that validated parking, managed by Kinney Systems of Boston, will get started in the parking areas before they are resurfaced.

Meanwhile, Cincinnati Time, which has the validating contract, is working on converting the municipal garages to the validated system.

McCauley plans to meet with downtown merchants, both members of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association and nonmembers Tuesday, Feb. 28, at 6 p.m. to discuss validation.

"Validation is only one factor in the system," said the mayor. "It can work without it but it will work better with a large number of merchants taking part in it."

Board Approves Finn's Police Details Proposals

The License Board approved motions Tuesday proposed by Police Chief Francis Finn regarding police officers on paid details.

The motions, scheduled to take effect next week, are:

- No parent be allowed to buy or give alcoholic beverages to a minor child at Quincy establishments with all alcoholic licenses.

- Hired police details are to begin their duty one half hour before the function begins in order to keep control of the event.

- A police officer's function is not to be a doorman but to supervise the proceedings.

- The necessity of a police detail at a small function with dancing will be up to the discretion of liquor officer Robert Miller.

More Building Planned Sears Store Sale Seen As Boom For Downtown

By TOM HENSHAW

The sale of the Sears building to F.X. Messina Enterprises of Braintree may touch off a building and fix-up boomlet on the lower end of Hancock St.

Bernard Reisberg, proprietor of Bernie's Modern Formal Shop, across the street at 1586 Hancock St., said he is considering the possibility of adding two floors to his building.

Right now, the building consists of six retail stores plus a 30-car parking lot in the rear off Mechanic St.

"It has been a dream of mine for a long time," said Reisberg, "to add a couple of stories for offices to my building and modernize the front of the stores."

"If the plans for the Sears building work out as well as I think they will this appears to be the right time."

"When I first heard that Messina had bought the building I thought it was the most fantastic news that I had heard in a long, long time. The merchants are very excited."

"It will give a boost to the entire economy of Quincy, not just the downtown."

Arthur Stavris, spokesman for Messina, said his firm has reached agreement with Meredith and Grew, the management firm, and the Faxon Trust, the owners, to purchase the building in April.

Stavris said the purchase price for the building, which has been empty since Sears left for the South Shore Plaza four years ago, is nearly $1 million.

He said Messina plans to fill the 97,000 square feet of floor space with retail tenants on both the Hancock St. and Parking-way levels with some offices on the third floor.

"Hopefully, we will have some tenants in the building in time for the 1984 holiday season," said Stavris, "but more conservatively it will be a year-long project."

He said Messina will look for a major tenant to occupy the building but one is not anticipated. He said the firm has been talking to a number of small possible tenants.

"It will be a 100 per cent improvement of the area," he said.

Planning Director James

Lydon said Messina might seek an industrial development bond to rehabilitate the building and the city is willing to apply for a UDAG grant to help him.

"We're pleased that the building has been sold," said Mayor Francis X. McCauley. "Messina has a good track record on the South Shore and we're looking forward to working with him."

"It's a great thing for the city," said Burton Cook, proprietor of Tag's Furniture store. "I hope they follow through as fast as possible. We can use additional people on the streets."

"It's a step forward," said Robert Colman of Colman's Sporting Goods. "Having some first class businesses in the building will be good for the city of Quincy."

"Messina should be congratulated for his confidence in downtown Quincy," said Reisberg. "What ever he plans for the building I feel confident it will be a huge success."

City To Appeal Layoffs Ruling

Mayor Francis X. McCauley says the city plans to appeal two and possibly more of the Civil Service rulings ordering the city to rehire four laid off employees and pay them $200,000 in back pay.

The Mayor said City Labor Negotiator David Grunewald plans to appeal two cases which contain errors of fact and he will review two others to determine if there are grounds for an appeal.

The State Civil Service Commission found that the four city workers were improperly laid off in 1981.

The employees are Thomas Blasi, veterans services officer; Richard Gould, library worker; Thomas Farquhar, public works employee; and Ernest Stangel, hospital maintenance worker.

Stangel died two months after he was laid off and John Keefe, president of the Hospital, Library and Public Employees Union, said his wife and children would receive his benefits.

Computer, Copy Machine Stolen

A computer valued at $5,000 and a copy machine at $1,300 were reported stolen early Tuesday morning from the Firebox of Boston Co., 32 Copeland St., West Quincy.

The thieves forced an outer front door and smashed the glass on the inner door.

Witnesses said they saw three men in their early 20s carry a large object to their car and drive away.

McCauley Resubmits Police Transfer Order

By TOM HENSHAW

Mayor Francis X. McCauley resubmitted a Police Department expense transfer order for $35,000 to the City Council Tuesday night with high hopes that this time it will pass.

The transfer was rejected by the Council Jan. 16 by a vote of 5-2 and Police Chief Francis Finn said that lack of expense money might mean taking some police cruisers off the streets.

The expense fund was down to $6,176 at the time and the department's payroll account has a surplus of more than $400,000.

McCauley said Finn and William Grindlay, the Police Department's budget monitor, will attend a meeting of the Council's Finance Committee next week to explain the transfer.

"I am confident that when the Council receives a full explanation, we should get approval of the transfer."

said the Mayor.

McCauley said he has written Finn asking him to do the best he can with the expense money he has and "I have heard no more talk about it."

The Mayor said he did not feel that the Council would vote on the transfer order Tuesday night since two members, Stephen J. McGrath and Theodore P. DeCristofaro, were to be absent.

West St. Off-Ramp, North Closed For X-Ray Repairs

The Massachusetts Department of Public Works recently announced that the West St. off-ramp, northbound, in Quincy, will be closed for repairs related to the Southeast Express-

Signs have been posted since Feb. 16 to inform motorists of the shutdown.

New Seafood Restaurant, Market For Quincy Point

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
Quincy Point is scheduled to have a new seafood restaurant and wholesale/retail business by mid-to-late summer.

The City License Board granted a common victualer and all alcoholic licenses Tuesday to Jon A. Perette for Ole Salt Seafood, 584-598 Washington St.

Perette, and his wife, Joan, also operate Ole Salt Seafood at 501 Washington St.

Atty. Carl Johnson, representing Perette, said the 50,000 sq. ft. of land, next to McCloskey's Market, was purchased for $160,000.

A 3,000 sq. ft. building with stylized block on the outside will be erected with 28 parking spaces, said Johnson.

There will be a refrigeration area, market, office and a 65 seat restaurant, known as "Jonathan's", which, by law, can be open from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m.

Some 25 to 30 people will be employed at the restaurant, Johnson said.

The applicants met with the Ward 11 Civic Association and St. Joseph's Parish, and there was no opposition, said Johnson, who presented the board with a petition signed by 650 people in favor of the request.

Councillor-at-Large Richard Koch, Jr., and Rep.

Robert Cerasoli were also in favor, according to City Clerk John Gillis, who noted that Ward 11 Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro is in Washington.

The licenses were granted with the stipulations the landscaping and its maintenance, and signs be under the direction of the building inspector, odor elimination system be under the direction of the fire department, and the dumpster be closed at all times.

Business is not to be detrimental to the spiritual activity at nearby St. Joseph's Church.

License Board Briefs

The License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall.

- Granted a request from the Ladies Auxiliary of the Bryan VFW Post to conduct a flea market Sunday, March 4, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the post home, 24 Broad St., Quincy Center.

- Granted a one day all alcoholic license to the Catholic Daughters of the Americas, Court Corpus Christi, for an Irish Cabaret, Sunday, Feb. 26, 7 p.m. to midnight at St. Thomas Aquinas hall, Houghs Neck.

- Granted a one day all alcoholic license to the Committee to Elect Richard D. Golden for Saturday, March 3, 7:30 to 11:45 p.m. at North Quincy Knights of Columbus Hall.

- Postponed, at the Color TV Taken

A color television set was reported stolen Monday in a report at the apartment of Patricia Bonny of Taffrail Rd., Germantown.

request of the applicant, a request from Pete's Auto Frames, Inc., 9-13 Tuscany St., Quincy Point, for a parking lot license.

- Granted, pending approval of the anel system by the Quincy Fire Department, a common victualer license to General Dynamics Cafe, 97 E. Howard St., Quincy Point.

- Postponed indefinitely a request from Williams Auto Electric, 53 Intervale St., South Quincy, for a body shop license.

City Clerk John Gillis said the applicant must obtain a variance.

Harbor Marina Hearings

The Conservation Commission was scheduled to hold public hearings yesterday (Wednesday) on three matters relating to the Boston Harbor Marina.

A notice of intent to stabilize existing piers, install new decks, repair and expand the existing wharf at 542 East Squantum St. was scheduled to be heard at 7:30 p.m.

A notice of intent to remove three existing underground fuel storage tanks and replace them with four fiberglass tanks was

Handicapped Commission Proposed

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has proposed a Commission on Handicapped Affairs, composed of seven unpaid members, to insure that handicapped individuals are not excluded from activities in Quincy.

The proposal was sent to the City Council Tuesday night.

McCauley described the functions of the Commission on Handicapped Affairs as similar to those of the city's Youth Commission and the Council on Aging.

"It will not have a budget," he said. "We will be cautious at the start and see how it works out. We still have to live with Proposition 2½."

McCauley said no city money is involved in the Youth Commission or the Council on Aging, which is under the wing of the Planning Department and funded mostly with federal money.

Once the commission is established by ordinance, said the mayor, he will appoint the seven members, most of them handicapped themselves and the others from those who work with the handicapped.

The commission members will serve three-year terms. The duties of the commission will be:

"It may take reasonable action to insure that no otherwise qualified handicapped individual shall, solely by reason of a handicap, be excluded from the participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity within the City of Quincy.

"It may sponsor, advocate and monitor the enactment of legislation which promoted equal status of the handicapped on the city, state and federal levels, and to insure that appropriate regulations are adopted and enforced pursuant to such legislation."

McCauley said the ordinance was devised by Assistant City Solicitor Jay MacRitchie in conjunction with a group of handicapped people who proposed the commission last September.

Cheese, Butter Distribution Schedule

Quincy Community Action Organization, Inc. and the City of Quincy are distributing cheese and butter at five locations in Quincy during February.

Elderly in public housing should contact the Housing Authority and elderly in private housing should contact their building manager.

Locations and times are:
Atlantic Neighborhood Center, 11 Hunt St., North Quincy; Monday, Feb. 27, noon to 4 p.m.; Tuesday, Feb. 28, noon to 4 p.m.; and Wednesday, Feb. 29, noon to 4 p.m.

South West Community Center, 372 Granite St., Quincy; Monday, Feb. 27, noon to 7 p.m.; Tuesday, Feb. 28, noon to 4 p.m.;

Wednesday, Feb. 29, noon to 4 p.m.

Houghs Neck Legion Post, Sea St., Houghs Neck; Monday, Feb. 27, 1 to 6 p.m.

Quincy Point Congregational Church, 444 Washington St., Quincy Point; Tuesday, Feb. 28, noon to 5:30 p.m.

St. Boniface Church, Palmer St., Germantown; Tuesday, Feb. 28, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.; Wednesday, Feb. 29, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Eligible families of one to four people will receive five pounds of cheese and two pounds of butter. Families of five or more will receive 10 pounds of cheese and four pounds of butter.

Little Bounce To Springboard

The presidency of the City Council has long been considered the political springboard to the mayor's office.

But if present council president James Sheets has mayoral aspirations he may be surprised at how little bounce that springboard actually has had down through the years.

Of the 39 men before Sheets to wield the gavel since Quincy became a city in 1889 only 11 went on to become mayor.

The 11:

Henry Fairbanks, John Thompson, Charles Bryant, Joseph Whiton, Charles Ross, Thomas Burgin, David McIntosh (Plan E), Amelio Della Chiesa, James McIntyre, Joseph LaRaia and Arthur Tobin.

Francis McCauley is the 27th man to be elected mayor. Which means he and 15 others became mayor without winning the City Council presidency first.

A few of those who served as council president but never got to be mayor went on to other political plateaus.

BURKE

Council president.

And, as time goes by, most of them are forgotten. Like Herbert M. Federhen, for example.

The name means little to anyone now except, perhaps, to a Quincy history buff.

Federhen was Quincy's very first City Council president in 1889.

A footnote in Quincy's history. But forgotten.

The last council president to become mayor was Arthur Tobin.

Who will be the next — and when?

SHEETS

Myron Lane and George Burke both became Norfolk County district attorney. William Jenness, Clifton Baker and Charles Shea were elected state representatives.

But for most of the 39, the high spot of their political careers was being — once upon a time — City

IT APPEARS THAT the cast for the special Ward 1 City Council elections is complete.

Many names were tossed around as potential candidates when Leo Kelly resigned to take a $25,000 Quincy Housing Authority projects manager post.

But the five candidates who have officially announced now look like the entire field.

The five, in the order of entry: Mary Crowley Greigore, daughter of late Councillor David (Jim) Crowley; Bernie Reisberg, Quincy businessman; Michael Cheney, president Atherton Hough PTA and MBTA diesel mechanic, Kevin Davis, AT&T service manager and Robert Johnston, headmaster Woodward School.

All are Hough's Neck residents with the exception of Reisberg who lives in Merrymount.

Lois Murphy, wife of Quincy Police Capt. William Murphy and long active in Hough's Neck civic affairs, gave "a lot of soul searching" to running but decided not to. She would have been a strong candidate.

Her decision not to run is a big plus for Johnston, because she will openly support him in the campaign.

PLANNING DIRECTOR Jim Lydon is spending a vacation week scuba diving with members of the New England Aquarium Dive Club on the Dutch Island of Bon Air off Venezuela.

But it was the New England weather at home that provided the suspense. Seems there is only one plane a week from Miami to Bon Air on a Saturday and the weather kept threatening to close Logan Airport.

"The Miami plane wouldn't wait for me," said Lydon "If I didn't make it, I might as well come home."

Faxon Park Vandalism Continues

The Faxon Park field-house sustained about $300 damage over the weekend. Firefighters extinguished a blaze set by vandals in one of the restrooms and removed a propane tank from the premises.

Park Department employees are in the process of repairing the structure which has been vandalized repeatedly over the last several months.

Vandalism was discovered in November, December, January and twice in February. The Park and Recreation Board have met with police officials relative to the problem encountered at the site and the continual, costly destruction.

Richard J. Koch, executive director of Park- Forestry and Cemetery Department, said the building is retained to provide toilet facilities for the various church, civic, community, fraternal and youth groups that use the popular 50 acre picnic site during the spring and summer.

Porcelain fixtures were removed from the structure and stored last fall during the winter months following the total destruction of the toilet fixtures the previous winter.

Despite the reinforcement of the exterior doors and locks in the vacant building, intruders continue to smash locks to gain entrance and create havoc in the park vicinity.

The lighted tennis facility has been vandalized beyond repair as light poles have been damaged, fixtures stolen and smashed and wires pulled from the poles.

The $11,438 cost for the original lighting installation in 1974 is now estimated at $8,000 for repairing and refurbishing to activate the lighting facility again.

Koch feels a number of the incidents originate at the partially abandoned Presidential Plaza where gangs congregate and disperse into the park.

Elks Scholarship Forms Available

Applications for the Quincy Elks scholarship contest are available at the Elks Home, 1220 Hancock St., and in the high school guidance departments.

The awards will be made to graduating high school seniors who will be entering college or other academic institutions during the 1984-85 academic year.

They include one scholarship of $500 for a handicapped student, a $400 a year nursing scholarship and various $200 and $400 general scholarships.

Applications may be submitted by Quincy residents and sons and daughters of Quincy Elks members and must be returned not later than March 23.

Applications will be generally evaluated on the basis of financial needs, academic achievement and community and extra-curricular activities.

Commission's Corner

In response to the Women's Commission "Outreach" program, the Squantum Community Association has invited the commission to present a workshop on re-entering the job market.

It will be held at the Community Center, 146 Huckins Ave., Squantum (above the fire station) at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 29.

Alicia Coletti, Chairwoman of the Women's Center and member of the Women's Commission, will chair the workshop.

The public is welcome.

If there are any community organizations which would like the Commission to present a program on women's issues, please contact the commission at the Mayor's office.

Don't forget Woman To Woman Day at the Woodward School on April 28th!

City To Appeal Layoffs Ruling

Keele called the decision "historic in its implications for public employees statewide."

"This restores veterans rights, which have been somewhat eroded in recent years," he said. "This also restores the rights of city employees to bump into other departments of the city."

Keele said back pay for the four workers would amount to about $200,000. McCauley said payment of the money in fiscal 1984 "would put the city in a bit of a financial bind because we are in the eighth month of the budget."

Appeals would put off payment until 1985.

Cyril P. Morrisettes In All Wars, Says Hunt

Paul A.M. Hunt says there were Cyril P. Morrisettes in all the wars of the United States from the American Revolution down to Beirut and Grenada today.

Hunt, the judge advocate of the Morrisette Legion Post, was the speaker at the Post's 55th annual memorial Mass Monday at St. Mary's Church, West Quincy.

"There were Cyril P. Morrisettes at Valley Forge where bloody footprints stained the snow in the American Revolution," said Hunt.

"There were such young men on both sides of the War Between the States and we have heard the pathos in Lincoln's Gettysburg Address in the last days of the war.

"The men and women we honored today by our roll call of the war veteran dead of our own post are the same type of Americans we have had in all wars and now in Beirut and Grenada."

Hunt said old timers described Cyril P. Morrisette, the first Quincy soldier to die in World War I, as "very tall and sturdily built with red hair and blue eyes."

"The children in his area loved him as he did them, and they would follow him about as he walked the streets," said Hunt. "He was always smiling and kindly and brought sunshine wherever he went.

"We should be proud that our post bears his name."

City Workers Pay Raises In '36 Budget

Mayor Thomas S. Burgin submitted to the City Council an annual city budget for 1936 containing raises totalling between $40,000 and $50,000 for city employees, including a hike for his secretary, E. Viola Johnson, from $15 to $20 a week.

Other sample raises included: Harold Hughes, deputy sealer of weights and measures, from $1,850 to $2,000; Alec Robertson, statistician in the Health Department, from $1,418 to $1,750; and Welfare Commissioner Alvin S. Wight, from $2,400 to $3,300.

The proposed raises drew sharp criticism from Leo E. Mullin, former acting mayor, who Burgin defeated in a special election in June, 1935.

"Is this action of Mayor Burgin in adding $50,000 in new salaries to the load already carried by the taxpayers the relief he promised the people?" asked Mullin.

POLITICS DENIED

Judge James A. Mulhall of Quincy, a trustee of the Wrentham State School, denied that he refused to sign the school's annual report because it contained laudatory references to Gov. Michael Curley.

"The fact that I did not sign the report had absolutely nothing to do with politics," said the judge. "I did not sign it because I felt that part of the report was inaccurate."

SPEED LIMIT BACKED

Dr. Joseph P. Leone, superintendent of City Hospital, testified in district court that there is no reason for an ambulance ever to go faster than 35 or 40 miles an hour.

He testified in review proceedings for Daniel J. MacDonald, a City Hospital ambulance driver, who was fired for speeding.

JOBS AVAILABLE

Chairman Halloran told the monthly meeting of the Democratic City Committee that within two months Gov. Curley will make available some 200 jobs for deserving Democrats in Quincy.

"And I don't believe we will be able to find 200 unemployed members of the party to fill the jobs," he said.

QUINCY-ISMS

Mayor Burgin said that now the new city garage has been finished all city-owned autos and trucks will be stored there overnight, except for emergency vehicles ...

Camp Fire Club To Assist At Library

A Quincy Camp Fire

Adventure Club, following Camp Fire's slogan "Give Service," is spending one day of February vacation working in the Hough's Neck Community Center Free Lending Library.

The young members, ranging from fourth to sixth graders, will clean the books and shelves, mend any damaged books, and organize the collection so borrowers can easily find what they want.

Plans have been made to return at regular intervals to keep the library in shape.

Jacqui and Melisa Freil, Jennifer Brookes, Christine Murray, and Melisa Lorenzetti organized the project.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

No one can please everybody at all times. Silly criticisms occur in silly ways about silly things.

For example, did you ever write a letter and be told it was too long? Or a postcard that was too short? Have you ever missed a meeting unavoidably and then told you were disinterested? Have you ever been accused of incompetency because you asked for advice? Did you ever write a report - considered too long; or a short report that was considered inadequate? Have you ever expressed an opinion only to be told you're trying to run things? Have you kept quiet and then faulted for being unconcerned?

The list can easily be lengthened of course. It is sometimes difficult to understand peculiarities of people and why they say certain things or react as they do. If and when these things happen, compassion is needed. For your own peace of mind, is there really any better alternative?...

CURIOSITY SEEKERS

QUESTION: I'm trying to sell my house on my own and I'm being swamped with "curiosity seekers". How do you limit these intruders?

ANSWER: Curiosity seekers are one of the plagues which the do-it-yourself broker has to contend with. It's not only an inconvenience, but it could be a risk to open the door, day and night, to all who knock. The best solution is to place your home in the hands of a local REALTOR. He'll weed out curiosity seekers from prospects at his office, visit you only by appointment, and will always accompany prospects. On top of that, you'll probably end up with more money than selling it on your own.

Hungry And Homeless Persons Concern At Bethany Church

The needs of hungry and homeless persons in Quincy and the South Shore will be the special focus Sunday, Feb. 26, in Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center.

There will be two worship services at 9 a.m. in the chapel and at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary. Esther Sanger, executive director of the Quincy Crisis Center, will be guest speaker at both hours.

Her sermon will be entitled, "A Story of Journeys", based on scriptural texts from James 2:14-17 and Luke 10:25-37.

Both ministers, the Rev. J. William Arnold and the Rev. Joel F. Huntington, will assist in leading the worship services.

During the sanctuary service, the Chancel Choir, under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will present as the offertory, "Dona Nobis Pacem".

Jan E. Bettinson, contralto soloist, will sing, "Leave It To Him", by Ellis.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pre-school through ninth grade. Nursery care will be provided for babies and young children.

The service will be broadcast over WJDA, 1300 kc, at 11 a.m. by delayed-tape.

Miss Sanger is founder and motivating force behind the Quincy Crisis Center, which is a ministry to persons in crisis. She is a registered nurse, a licensed certified social worker, with a master's degree in family counseling.

The Quincy Crisis Center has assisted over 5,000 individuals and families since its inception in 1979. There is a 24-hour hot-line, 471-7075. Free meals are also served daily from a van parked in front of Quincy City Hall weekdays, 5 to 6 p.m. and weekends, 1 to 2 p.m.

Bethany Church has contributed $1,500 to the Quincy Crisis Center in the past two months. In addition, two groups from the church, the Friendship Team of the Bethany Churchwomen and other volunteers, help prepare meals once a month on the third Tuesdays and the fourth Sundays.

At 11 a.m. this Sunday there will be a coffee hour in the Allen Parlor. From 11:30 to 12:30 there will be an informal forum in the Bethany Chapel with Miss Sanger, providing an opportunity for questions and answers and open discussion.

Individuals and families from the community are welcome to share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Church School. For information, contact Pastor Arnold at the church, 479-7300.

Squantum Church Installs Officers, Board Members

The whole congregation of the First Church of Squantum met recently for a single worship service at which the newly elected officers, board members and committee members were installed for this year.

The congregation had first gathered for an all-church Valentine Breakfast sponsored the young people of the church.

The special service began with a call to worship read responsively by the congregation but led by Calvin Bumpus, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, and Stewart Scott, Chairman of the Board of Deacons.

The Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor, led the congregation in an installation prayer, then preached on the topic "Loving Christ's Church". The scripture reading was I Corinthians 12:12-13, 27-31.

The Chancel Choir sang "Sometimes Alleluia" by Chuck Girard. Hymns were "Praise to the Lord, the Almighty", "Lord, Speak to Me That I May Speak", "Be Thou My Vision", "Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus" and a traditional sung benediction.

Greeters for the morning were Millie and Ken Johnson. Ushers were Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott. The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Barbara Frazer, May Lewis and Lee Sindelar.

Church officers for this year include Dorothy Abbe, moderator; Barbara Walter, clerk; Lorraine Josselyn, assistant clerk; William Galarneau, auditor; Donald Frazer, treasurer; Kay Kelly, financial secretary; Tom Williamson, benevolence treasurer; Grace Holmes, historian; Louise Randall, church school superintendent; Tore Wallin, head usher; Luther Swenson, Drucilla Warnes, Marjorie Miller, church council members-at-large.

Church board members include Gloria Lester, Hazel Mayne, Helen Miller, Bonnie Adams, Drucilla Warnes, Eva Martin, Tom Williamson, Board of Benevolences; Recilla Stamos, Pat Olson, Barbara Anderson, Patti

Church committee members include Evelyn Ahearn, Ruth Swenson, Fair; Hazel Mayne, Janet Sumner, Susan Abbe, Flea Market; Gretchen Bumpus, Helen Miller, Sandra Sumner, Ruth Swenson, Janet Sumner, Marsha Anderson, Flower Committee; Eve Martin, Hospitality Chairman; May Lewis, Evelyn Ahearn, Ruth Swenson, Furnishings; Genevieve Todd, Steve Williams, Janet Williamson, Valerie Gorrell, Barbara Walter, Grace Holmes, Mary Ruth Scott, Music Committee; Calvin Bumpus, Luther Swenson, Silas Porter, Dana Olson, Tore Wallin, Property Committee; Carl Anderson, Luther Swenson, Dana Olson, Security Committee; Roy Hansen, Barbara Anderson, Silas Porter, Luther Swenson, Helen Miller, Stewart Scott, Richard Handry, Diane Lindblad, Gloria Lester, Stewardship Committee; Gretchen Bumpus, Virginia Galarneau, Drucilla Warnes, Barbara Fluhr, Renee Johnson, Hazel Mayne, Genevieve Todd, Lorraine Josselyn, Grace Holmes, Wedding Arrangements Committee; Tom Williamson, Grace Holmes, Fred MacMillan, Stewart Scott and Janet Sumner.

Delegates include Fred and Lorraine Josselyn, Inter Church Council; Tom Williamson, Metropolitan Boston Association; Silas Porter, Protestant Social Service Bureau; and Dorothy Abbe, Massachusetts Conference of the United Church of Christ.

Last Sunday Dr. Langevin preached on the topic "Why Do Good People Suffer?" at the first service. Rick Spinoza and David Williams served as ushers. Guitarists were Andrew Ogilvie and Mary Ruth Scott. Patti Hurd and Ruth Swenson were in charge of refreshments.

At the second service, Dr. Langevin spoke on the subject "Having a Good Conscience". Greeters were May Lewis and Isabelle Preston. Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott were ushers. The Fellowship Hour was hosted by Gretchen Bumpus and Valerie Gorrell.

The Chancel Choir sang "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee" by Bach. Clarinetist Blythe Bumpus and flutist Amanda Young played "Chorale" as the offertory at both services.

Hymns sung included "When Morning Gilds the Skies", "O for a Thousand Tongues to Sing", "If Thou but Suffer God to Guide Thee", and "Guide Me, O Thou Great Jehovah".

This Sunday, there will again be two services: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m. Visitors are welcome.

Take care of your own funeral arrangements now. So your family won't have to later.

By not taking care of your own funeral in advance, you force someone close to you to do it for you.

For the person who accepts the responsibility, making arrangements at the time of need is likely to be filled with uncertainties. The uncertainty of not knowing what you really wanted. Your personal preferences. Perhaps, a favorite dress or suit. A special prayer. A clergyman with whom you are especially close. The uncertainties are endless.

The kindest thing you can do for your family is make your own funeral arrangements far in advance of need. That way everyone will know the kind of funeral you would like to have.

Johnston Promises To Work Closely With People Of Ward 1

Robert L. Johnston, candidate for the Ward 1 City Council seat greeted some 150 residents of the ward at a reception for him at the Quincy Yacht Club Wednesday night.

"More than anything else," Johnston said, "you have very high expectations for your Councilor."

Johnston, said there are two primary issues upon which he is building his campaign for the seat vacated by Leo Kelly.

"First, you expect your councilor to be accessible and responsive," he said. "As the administrator of an independent school in Quincy, I realize the importance of working closely with people. What's important to you will always be important to me."

Johnston, who is headmaster of the Woodward School, and lives at 46 Bay View Ave., Hough's Neck, focused on the second key issue of his candidacy when he said, "More than almost any other section of Quincy, the environment is a fundamental issue facing every resident of Ward 1 every day."

"Whether it is the shoreline, the water that surrounds us, or the air we breathe, Ward 1 needs effective leadership to make sure the voice of our community is heard."

Johnston announced appointments to the steering committee for his campaign.

"I am overwhelmed with the wonderful response from so many people who are eager to be active in our campaign," he said. "This is truly a community-wide effort and I am grateful to you."

Co-chairing the Committee to Elect Bob Johnston are Peter Ryan, 93 Rock Island Rd., and Alicia Coletti, 165 Samoset Ave. The Rev. M. Alicia Corea, 300 Manet Ave. is the senior citizen coordinator and David McMillan, 1210 Sea St. has been named as youth coordinator.

Other campaign appointments include Dr. Carol Lee Griffin, publicity chairwoman and Harold and Dorothy Sparks as members of the steering committee.

Johnston also announced the first series of precinct captains: Marty and Pat Henry, 158 Putnam St., James Doherty, 106 Rockland St., Lois Murphy, 135 Sea Ave., Peter Kolson, 215 Palmer St., and Mary Flaherty, 41 Shelton Rd. Additional precinct captains will be announced in the coming weeks.

Peter Johnston, the candidate's son, will serve as the office manager for the campaign.

ENC Student Receives UCT Scholarship

Ruth A. Hall, a student at Eastern Nazarene College, Quincy, has been awarded a $500 scholarship by The Order of United Commercial Travelers of America (UCT) to continue her studies in the field of special education.

Miss Hall is seeking a teaching certificate from Eastern Nazarene College. She received a master's degree in special education from Smith College and Boston University in 1968.

Since 1961, UCT has provided nearly $1.3 million in scholarship grants to more than 5,900 persons pursuing certification or advanced degrees in special education of the mentally retarded. In 1982, 223 persons received grants totaling $92,500.

MAYOR Francis X. McCauley presents Andy Walsh with a citation from the City of Quincy.

THE WALSH FAMILY, Andrew Walsh, Jr., Peter Walsh, Andy, his mother, Mrs. Catherine Walsh, his wife, Patricia (Halligan) Walsh, and three daughters, Moira, Mary Slodden, Margie Conboy.

Walsh's Restaurant Marks 50th Anniversary

Walsh's Restaurant celebrated its 50th anniversary with over 200 friends and well-wishers at a recent open house in Walsh's Emerald Room.

"I'm absolutely thrilled," said a beaming Andy Walsh. His wife Patricia, his mother Mrs. Catherine Walsh, and five of his eight children were also on hand for the celebration.

Emcee John C. Doody, president of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce, presented Walsh with a plaque from the Chamber. Mayor Francis McCauley presented a citation on behalf of the city. Governor's Councillor Peter Eleey read a congratulatory note from Senator Paul Tsongas, who could not attend.

Citations were presented to Walsh by Senator Paul D. Harold and Rep. Michael Morrissey.

Other citations were from City Council President James Sheets and Ward 6 Councillor Joanne Condon. Charles Simpson, President of Quincy Savings Bank, presented the plaque.

Walsh's was established in 1933 by Walsh's father, Michael Walsh, but did not receive its "all liquor" license until February of 1934. A second Walsh's opened last summer in Marshfield, and is managed by Andrew Walsh, Jr.

"I take great pride in continuing the tradition my parents started here 50 years ago, and my children will continue for another 50," said Walsh.

FOUR GENERATIONS of the Walsh family, Andrew Walsh, Jr., and Andy look on as Mrs. Catherine Walsh holds grandson Andrew Walsh III.

GOVERNOR Michael Dukakis signs a proclamation in honor of Walsh's 50 years of quality service and dedication to the community. With him are Rep. Michael Morrissey, Andy Walsh, Sen. Paul Harold, and Rep. Thomas Brownell.

QHS Selected For Effective Schools Project

Quincy High School has been selected by the State Department of Education to participate in the North Eastern Regional Effective Schools Project.

The program is a cooperative undertaking of the six New England and the New York State Departments of Education and the U.S. Department of Education.

Its purpose is to assist a small group of secondary schools to increase their capacity to develop and implement improvements in their schools related to the findings of educational researchers in the area of effective schools.

These studies identified school variables which are coincident with improved student achievement. These factors include expectations for learning by all students, emphasis on instructional engaged time, monitoring of student progress, principal's leadership, school climate and school-community relationships.

An action team of six persons, including Principal Lloyd Hill, will participate in a training activity which will enable them to learn more about effective schools research and its implications for secondary schools, to engage in discussion to analyze information and data about the school and to develop action plans for implementing effort. The team will attend the training institute in Bedford, New Hampshire, March 6, 7, and 8.

The action team consists of Charles MacLaughlin, Jack Merrill, Hank Pasquerella, Ann Dwyer, and Denise Dalton.

Elaine Murphy of the Greater Boston Regional Education Center of the State Department of Education will be the project's facilitator.

Last year the Mass. Department of Education was able to select two schools to participate in this program in the state. Because of its success, the Department of Education is offering this training to one high school in each of four other education regions in the state. Quincy High School was selected from several applicant schools to be the Greater Boston Region's candidate.

Board Grants License For Vic's Restaurant

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

After cautioning the applicant about possible youth problems in the area, the License Board granted a common victualer license Tuesday for Vic's Restaurant, 524 Sea St., Adams Shore.

Victor Cucaro of Rock Island Road, Houghs Neck, said he hopes to open the restaurant in about a month and offer Italian and French meals. Cucaro said he would invest about $30,000.

At the Feb. 7 meeting, Police Chief Francis Finn told Cucaro, a native of Argentina who has lived in Quincy for 10 years, that there have been youth problems in the area for 25 years.

At this week's meeting, juvenile officer Dan Lyons said that due to the winter weather, no youths have been congregating in the area. Lyons also indicated problems have lessened.

Thomas Timcoe, owner of E and T Ceramics and Printing on Sea St., said he disagreed with board members who called the area a trouble spot. "No board member has the right to condemn the community," said Timcoe.

Fire Chief Edward Barry said the board's purpose is to protect the people of the area, and if a business would create more problems, a license, shouldn't be granted.

"I think if you have the money, it's zoned right, and you want to go in, you should be allowed the opportunity," Gillis told Cucaro.

The license was granted subject to Cucaro's submitting a detailed floor plan, and approval by the joint inspection team.

At the Feb. 7 meeting, Cucaro withdrew without prejudice a request for a common victualer license for Vittorio's Ice Cream, Inc., at 552 Sea St.

That request can be resubmitted.

Netherlands Antilles

Commissioner Rotary Speaker

Paul G. M. Loewenthal, Economic Commissioner for the Netherlands Antilles in the U.S. will be the guest speaker at the Quincy Rotary Club's luncheon meeting Feb. 28 at the Quincy Neighborhood Club.

Loewenthal's topic will be "The Turbulent Caribbean" - a timely subject and the fourth in a series of Quincy Rotary programs relating to world understanding and international affairs.

Loewenthal, a member of the Rotary Club of New York, has served as Economic Commissioner for the Netherlands Antilles in the U.S.A. since 1974.

Previously, he served as a close advisor to the Prime Minister of the Netherlands

PAUL LOEWENTHAL
Antilles, and was Executive Vice President of the Curacao-based marketing and public relations firm, Caribbean Public Affairs Consultants Associates. He formerly was associated with the Ford Motor Company in Antwerp, Belgium.

Loewenthal is a graduate of the Institute of Social Sciences, the Hague, the Netherlands, where he studies industrialization and economic development; as well as the Higher Institute of Public Relations and Marketing, Ghent, Belgium; and the University of Louvain, Belgium, where he specialized in political and social sciences.

He is a golf addict, plays squash to keep in trim, and his hobby is film making.

Loewenthal is a past president and honorary member of the Netherlands Antilles Public Relations Association.

License Board Continues S.S. Auto Sales Request

The License Board voted Tuesday to continue to Feb. 28 a request from John DeBartolo for change of location of South Shore Auto Sales, 45 Copeland St., West Quincy to 134 Penn St., South Quincy.

DeBartolo also requested a motor II (used car) license for 8 to 10 cars.

The board continued the matter to obtain a ruling from the city solicitor on whether a covenant could be added to the license limiting it to three years.

DeBartolo told the board he has a lease for three years and an option to buy after that.

Ward Councillor James Sheets said that when the Burgin Parkway Extension goes through, the area will become the major entrance to the city.

"If the character of the area changes," said Building Inspector Allan MacDonald, "we may not see fit to renew the license."

Raiders Edge Brockton For 12th Victory

By TOM SULLIVAN

The North Quincy hockey team, doing it the hard way, all but wrapped up a state tournament berth Saturday night when it edged Brockton, 2-1, to bring its record to 12-5.

All Kevin Jago's Raiders had to do to clinch the school's first tournament spot in 25 years was to defeat winless Cambridge Rindge and Latin for the second time Tuesday. And North was an overwhelming favorite to do it.

"I can promise we won't suffer a letdown in that game because I won't allow it," said Jago, North's second-year coach, who is a former Raider star himself.

North Quincy hasn't qualified for the tournament since the 1950's when Bob Laing took three of his teams into post-season play.

After losing a tough one-goal decision to Suburban League champion Newton North, the Raiders had to win all remaining five games to qualify. The win over Brockton was their fourth in a row and their eighth in the last nine games.

When North bowed to Newton earlier in the season, its record dropped to 4-4 but the Raiders have been red hot since that time.

Saturday North scored both goals in the second period to squeeze by Brockton.

Keith Smith scored the first on a blazing 45-foot shot and Scott Messina, the league's No. 3 scorer, put in the clincher.

Brockton scored in the final period when Jay Muligan broke in all alone and beat Matt Higgins, who just missed his second shutout in a row.

The games saw both goalies, Higgins and Brockton's Bob Peters, a first cousin of North Quincy defenseman Peter Furtado, play outstanding games.

The previous night North Quincy defeated Waltham, the league's second place team, for the second time in a week, 4-0, as Higgins earned his first shutout of the season. This game had been snowed out earlier.

Rob Reidy scored 22 seconds into the game and the other Raider goals were scored by Messina, a short-handed goal; Smith, who had assisted on Messina's goal, and Dave Fasano. Higgins had 37 saves in that game.

Earlier in the week North defeated Brookline, 4-1, as Fasano had two goals and assisted on another. Messina and Reidy had the other goals and Higgins made 18 saves.

"These kids have been just fantastic," said Jago. "Higgins has been as good as any goalie in the league and is our franchise. We are 10-1 with him in goal and 2-4 during the time he was out with an injury. He has had many amazing saves and has been really tremendous."

"Our line of Co-Captains Messina and Smith and Fasano has scored 96 points, an amazing figure for a North Quincy team. And, I can't say enough for the line of Rich Horrigan, Dave Tapper and Rob Reidy. They have done an outstanding job and the line of John Reinhardt, John McGlame and Jay D'Angelis has also played well."

"D'Angelis is a story in himself. When one of our players was injured, he moved up from defense and has played regularly on that line ever since."

The defense has been the Raider's key, according to Jago. "We knew we could put the puck in the goal and it was up to the defense to do its part and it certainly has," he said. "Furtado is the key man and he should definitely make the all-star team. And Jerry Martin, who didn't look like one of our top men early, came along rapidly and allowed us to move Horrigan up to a wing."

"Dave Cooke and Gregg McGlame also have played very well on defense."

"We started slowly this year but I feel we have been playing as well as any team in the league and if we just keep up the momentum, we could do well in the tournament, if we make it and we should."

Jago's assistant coach, Rick Hutchins, also had words of praise for every one of the North Quincy players. "They have been truly outstanding and have shown tremendous desire," he said.

Quincy Teams Win 2, Lose 2 In Kiwanis Opener

The annual Kiwanis International Youth Hockey tournament got underway Monday at the Youth Arena with several games in four divisions.

In the Mite Division Quincy 1 edged Billerica, 4-3; Woburn topped Quincy 2, 8-2; and Arlington defeated Milton, 9-4.

In the Squirt Division

Hyannis bombed Quincy 2, 10-1; Edgewood, R.I., defeated Plymouth, 6-1; and Cape Cod Canal topped Tri-valley, 5-2.

In the Pee Wee Division Quincy 2 edged Hyannis, 3-2; Somerville wallowed Wilbraham, 11-4; and Warwick, R.I., topped Plymouth, 7-3.

In the Bantam Division Needham edged Neponset, 1-0, in double overtime, and Belmont doubled Johnston, R.I., 7-3.

The tournament continues through Sunday when the finals in all four divisions will take place.

The Mite championship game will start at 12:45, the Squirt final at 2 o'clock, the Pee Wee title game at 3:15 and the Bantam final at 4:30.

For the first time a Pee Wee team from Austria is playing in the tournament and made its debut Tuesday night against the Quincy 1 team.

Quincy's Pee Wee team has been invited to play in Austria during the Christmas vacation.

North Defeats Quincy For City Crown

There were no league championships or tournament berths at stake for the Quincy and North Quincy boys' basketball teams last week, but that didn't lessen the excitement or the players' determination.

There is personal pride and the city title to be considered and the players of both teams put out 100 percent as North Quincy defeated Quincy for the third time, 73 - 54, to claim the city crown.

Both teams ended their seasons this week, North at Somerville Tuesday and Quincy at Arlington Monday.

Last week's win was the third for North over its cross-town rival. The first was in the Hingham Christmas Tournament, the last two in the Suburban League.

Ed Miller's Raiders improved their record to 6 - 11 while the Presidents, under first-year coach Rick DeCristofaro, Miller's assistant the past three years, fell to 3 - 16.

"The kids fight and fight and, despite our record, they put out 300 percent, so I have no complaints at all," said DeCristofaro.

"The difficult thing for a team that's only won six games is to prepare for games down the stretch," said Miller. "The boys start thinking about baseball or whatever, but you never have to get them up for the Quincy game. The great thing was the way they prepared for this game the last three days. They gave me 100 percent and more and that's the way it's been all season. They never once have quit."

Quincy dug itself a hole as the Raiders took a quick 10 - 1 lead and held a big 19 - 7 edge after a quarter. North took a 34 - 19 halftime lead and increased it to 49 - 32 going into the final session.

North's Chris Bunker, the Suburban League's top scorer, had 23 points and did another good job on the boards. "He could be the league's MVP," said DeCristofaro. Paul Ryan, the league's No. 4 scorer, had 16 points, 10 from the line. Steve Higgins had 13 and Nunzio Carbone 11 for the Raiders.

For Quincy Denis Downing, the league's No. 2 scorer, had 12 points and Billy Shaughnessy had 10 points and 12 rebounds.

Earlier in the week Quincy fell to league-leading Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 71 - 43, being unable to cope with Cambridge's height and experience.

Shaughnessy had 13 points and Jim Stasio had 10. Sean Foster, Peter McCarron and John McLaughlin all turned in excellent performances.

8 Quincy, North Wrestlers Qualify For Championships

The Quincy Wrestling team, which finished its season with a 15-1 record and second to unbeaten Waltham in the Suburban League, made another outstanding showing in the South Sectional meet last Friday and Saturday and qualified five wrestlers for the state championships Friday and Saturday.

North Quincy qualified three wrestlers for the state meet.

Quincy's Mike Notarangelo and Dave Coulter continued unbeaten as they swept through the sectionals, Notarangelo placing first at 128 pounds and Coulter winning at 108.

Rob Cabezas finished second at 122, Tony Souza placed fourth at 115 and John Caciarre took fourth at 148.

North Quincy's Jim White was the winner at 158 and Al Dibella took first in the heavyweight bout. The Raiders' Jerry Stark took third at 148.

DiGravio Leads Atlantic AA To City League Title

Vic DiGravio led an Atlantic AA attack that outscored the Farrington Market team by a margin of 13-2 over the second and third periods as the Atlantic team clinched the City Basketball League title with an 18-15 victory in the North Quincy High School gym.

DiGravio wound up with a game-high seven points. The Atlantic AA lineup included: Cody, Cooke, Dowd, Mathurin, forwards; McLeod, center; L. Reilly, Ryan, Haynes, P. Reilly, DiGravio, guards.

The Farrington Market lineup included: A. Davis, Josselyn, H. Davis, Craig, forwards; Mitchell, center; Salvati, Pendergast, Bryan, guards.

WOLLASTON WINS

Larry Cahoon scored in the second period and Ken (Scooter) Cahoon tallied in the third to give the Wollaston Sporting Club a 2-0 victory over the Medford Hockey Club and first place in the New England AAU League.

The Wollaston lineup included: L. Cahoon, K. Cahoon, W. Lindbergh, Grocott, F. Lindbergh, Sharpe, forwards; Ordway, Ayers, MacLachlin, Brookings, defense; King, goal.

GARCIA, DIBONIS ADVANCE

Sammy Garcia and Ercole DiBonis of Quincy won the right to compete in the finals of the Southeastern Massachusetts Golden Gloves Tournament by winning the first elimination bouts staged by the Quincy Civic Association at the Quincy Arena.

Garcia was in the ring about two minutes as he knocked out Jack Dorf of Boston and Harold Titus of Medford, each in one round, and DiBonis gained a headline decision over Mike Kaplan of Mattapan in three rounds.

NORTH IN EASY WIN

Pete Cooke scored 12 points as the North Quincy High School basketball team burst out to a 19-6 lead at the end of three quarters and went on to an easy 22-14 victory over Saugus.

The North Quincy lineup included: Cummings, Navin, Cooke, forwards; Comins, Anderson, centers; Maver, Morrison, guards.

QUINCY LOSES

Comparato scored seven points and Ed Gladwin had six but it was not enough as the Brockton High School basketball team beat Quincy, 28-19, in their annual Washington's Birthday game.

The Quincy lineup included: Gladwin, Zarrelli, Appel, Comparato, forwards; Crimp, Whittaker, Hantunen, centers; Menz, Franchuk, DiTullio, guards.

O'Connor Praises Raiders

North Football Boosters Present Awards

By TOM SULLIVAN

Jim O'Connor, athletic director and former coach for 18 years at Catholic Memorial High School, praised the North Quincy football program and spoke of the fine rivalry between the schools as the featured speaker at the annual North Quincy Football Boosters Club banquet at the Sons of Italy Social Center.

O'Connor, who compiled an enviable 144-46-5 record at Memorial, said the three necessary ingredients for any winning team are commitment, persistence and togetherness and said North Quincy had them all in abundance.

"We scrimmaged North Quincy for several years when Carl Leone, Ralph Frazier and Dave Burke were your coaches," he said. "Finally, in 1978 when both schools had the same open date, we began playing North Quincy. It has been a fine rivalry, one which I hope will continue for many years to come."

"We scrimmaged Norths undefeated 1966 team on which your present coach, Ken McPhee, starred, so my relationship with Ken goes a long way back. You are fortunate to have such a fine coach and I just hope he will get his teaching job back. A coach should be in the school system and, considering his problem of not being in the system, he has done a remarkable job."

O'Connor is a member of the State Football Coaches Hall of Fame and during his coaching career his teams won seven Catholic Conference championships. He had four unbeaten teams and two wins in three Super Bowl appearances.

As president of the Mass. State Football Coaches Association in 1978, he helped create the annual Shriners' All-Star Classic, which has grown in five years into one of the premier sports events in the state, resulting in over $50,000 being raised for the Shriners' Burns Hospital last year.

Boosters Club president George Wilkins, who was the toastmaster, presented O'Connor with a check to go to the Burns Hospital in O'Connor's name.

McPhee presented the coaches' Most Valuable Player Award to Jim McNamara, who starred as fullback on offense and as a defensive lineman.

Jack Donahue presented his 23rd annual award to Kevin Kelly as the best North player in the Quincy game. Jack received a rousing ovation from the large crowd.

Rev. Cornelius Heery, pastor of Sacred Heart Church and the football team's "chaplain", awarded his annual Sportsmanship Trophy to Nick Gelsomini.

The William J. Schaeztl Award, presented by the Quincy Fathers Club for unsung hero, was presented to Mark Wilkins by Stan Nichols of the Fathers Club.

Daniel Polvere presented the new 12th player award, given by the Firefighters

NORTH QUINCY football coach Ken McPhee with next year's captains, Steve Kelly, Al DiBella and Jack Hannan. (Photos by Peter Zain)

Union, to Jerry Martin.

William Schaeztl Jr. presented the Robert F. X. Schaeztl Award to Rich Ragusa.

Assistant Coach Mark Mulvaney presented Steve Hogan the award for best offensive player and assistant Ted Sadowski presented Jim Kennedy and Mike Gill the awards for best defensive players.

An anonymous scholarship award was presented to Jim White.

Mrs. Janet Coughlin, club corresponding secretary, presented gifts to McPhee and assistants Sadowski, Mulvaney and Pete Zoia. Assistants Jack Raymer and John Muldowney were unable to be present.

Fr. Heery gave the invocation and later was presented a check from the club for the Sacred Heart Church memorial foundation.

The head table guests included Principal Peter Chrimos and assistant principal Mrs. Eileen Feenev, both of whom spoke briefly; O'Connor, Fr. Heery, McPhee, Sadowski, Mulvaney and Zoia, past club president Fran Barry, club vice president John Ellis and Donahue.

Wilkins gave Chrimos a plaque with the team picture for the school's trophy case.

Wilkins also presented a plaque with the team picture to the Sons of Italy Lodge for the use of its hall and for its support through the years.

Cheerleader awards went to Capt. Joy Pimental, Co-Capt. Eileen Morris, Ellen DeLuca, Carol Keating, Deborah Leonard, Cathy O'Brien, Lauren O'Rourke, Beth Cahill, Deborah O'Leary, Marianne O'Neil, Deborah Parry, Jennifer Gannon, Amanda Peduzzi, Mrs. Yakoo, Judy White, and Mr. Yakoo, Danny Ceurvels. McPhee explained that Ceurvels was a player who was injured and offered to be Mr. Yakoo and stay involved with the team.

McPhee introduced the 1983 captains, Jim McNamara and Mike Gill, who in turn presented next year's captains, Al DiBella, Jack Hannan and Steve Kelly.

Tony Befera, Kennedy, Jack Bolster, Gelsomini, Gill, Hogan, Kevin Kelly, Jim Martin and McNamara received certificates for being named to the Suburban League all-stars.

Jackets were presented to seniors Dan Baker, Befera, Bolster, Jack Burke, Paul Cahill, Paul

A roast beef dinner was served by Fasano caterers.

St. John's Intermediate Girls Clinch First Place

St. John's Intermediate girls' basketball team returned to the win column and clinched first place in the YMCA-Church League with a 37-5 romp over St. Albert's.

All-star center Lisa Riggs had a season's high 15 points, Tina Calabro had eight, Sandy Scalata six, Chris Foy four and Kim Berggren and Diana Heenev two each. Dawn Aimels and Laurie Zaczec played outstanding defense.

St. John's closes out the regular season Saturday against Ft. Square.

St. Joseph's Guild To Present Singing Priests

St. Joseph's Guild will present an evening with "The Singing Priests" Friday, March 2, at 8 p.m. at Archbishop Williams High School, 8 Independence Ave., Braintree.

All proceeds will go to St. Joseph's School, Quincy Point.

For ticket information, call St. Joseph's Rectory at 472-6321.

A limited number of tickets will be available at the door.

QSO To Present 'The Marriage Of Figaro'

The Quincy Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Robert E. Brown, will present its Winter Concert Friday, March 2, at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of North Quincy High School, Hancock and Squantum Sts.

The program will include Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart's Overture to "The Marriage of Figaro," "Concerto for Violin and Orchestra" by Peter Ilyitch Tschalkowsky and Charles Ives "Second Symphony." Mozart's opera, "The Marriage of Figaro" was written in Vienna and performed there in 1786. The overture is frequently heard concert piece.

Soloist for the "Concerto for Violin and Orchestra" is Dorothy Bales. Miss Bales has played solo and sonata recitals in Jordan Hall, Boston, Town Hall and Carnegie Recital Hall, New York, the Kennedy Center, the Phillips Gallery and the National Gallery, in Washington, D.C.

In Europe, she has played recitals in Paris, Salzburg, and Vienna. She has performed as soloist with the Boston Pops Orchestra, and several orchestras in Europe.

For two summers, she participated in the Marlboro Festival, and has made two tours throughout the United States playing recitals under the management of the Arts Program of the Association of American Colleges.

She is a Lecturer in Music at Emmanuel College, Boston. Her violin is a Joseph Guarnerius, Cremona, 1716.

The "Second Symphony" by Connecticut native Charles Ives, was begun in 1897 and completed in 1902 when Ives was 27.

The work remained unperformed and unnoticed until 1949. Leonard

Bernstein conducted the premiere performance in 1951 with the New York Philharmonic. The symphony contains many familiar melodies in unfamiliar settings.

Tickets will be available at the door. There are reduced rates for students and senior citizens.

For information and reservations, call 773-1144.

HOLLYWOOD — Remember the names Tracey Ullman and Duncan Regehr.

Both, by this summer, could very well be two of the hottest new faces in this town where people work a lifetime to become an overnight success.

Ms. Ullman, with the help of her buddy and fellow Englishman, Paul McCartney, is about to invade the American music scene following a couple of very successful years in her homeland.

My Canadian video connections tell me Tracey's records have sold into the millions, and her television show, "Three Of A Kind" is a favorite all over the British Empire.

McCartney has given her a little extra clout by appearing in the video for her first American release, "They Don't Know." Tracey and her very unique style are gaining a lot of exposure on the American telly as she guests on "Solid Gold," and "The Tonight Show," in addition to spending a week as a guest V-Jay on MTV.

Duncan Regehr is a good-looking Canadian who'll be playing the part of Errol Flynn in the upcoming CBS-TV movie based on the legendary film star's life.

At a recent wrap party for the flick, "My Wicked, Wicked Ways," Regehr (pronounced Ray-gare) proved to be the center of attention of not only the press, but also every lady in the room. His rather shy attitude, and ultra-suave appearance is sure to win a large female following.

Just as they did for Tom Selleck, watch for CBS to turn their Duncan Regehr promotional drum beats into irregular heart beats for ladies all over the land.

Both on and off the screen, Angie Dickinson is making news.

On the tube, the former star of "Police Woman" appears to be ready to join the cast of ABC-TV blockbuster "Dynasty," while her private life is becoming very public as she is definitely on a romantic roll.

Angie, my video connections tell me, has been seen on the arms of Johnny Carson, Julio Iglesias, and Andy Williams over the past six months. Her flings with Carson and Iglesias appear to be over as her current romp with the Moon River man is turning a lot of heads in these here parts.

According to my video connection in Chicago, Sony has dropped the price of their VHS Video 45's from $19.95 to $16.95. Their Beta video-cassettes remain at $15.95.

Sony's unique software usually offers three musical clips by various artists on a tape produced for consumer use. As top record labels such as MCA, Columbia, and RCA look into jumping on the vidclip bandwagon, the home video marketplace becomes more interesting everyday.

Photography is just about to begin on what could either become Warner Brothers' biggest hit or most costly miss. "K.C. Blues," a 1930s style comedy about a cop and his private eye buddy, stars Clint Eastwood and Burt Reynolds. Both are being paid millions in hopes of attracting mega-bucks.

Remember, to succeed, you've got to have connections.

Got a question for your favorite star? I'll track 'em down for you. Send questions and comments to James S. Leach c/o THE VIDEO CONNECTION, 22761 Pacific Coast Hwy., Malibu, California, 90265.

Operation Able Cable Talk Topic

Operation Able, a division of Careers for Later Years Inc., will be the topic for discussion on Cable Talk, the weekly public affairs program, to be aired on Quincy Community Television Ch. 3 tonight at 9 p.m. and Sunday at 9:30 p.m.

Operation Able (Ability Based on Long Experience) is a not-for-profit coordinating and facilitation organization created to expand employment opportunities for persons 55 and over in the Greater Boston areas.

Operation Able emphasizes that many older workers excel in accuracy, judgement and dependability and that for many jobs the necessary experience and skills are found in older workers.

Cable Talk guests will include Marjorie Cotton, Operation Able Executive Director, and Ezra Merrill, Executive Director, Careers for Later Years Inc.

John Noonan is host for Cable Talk. Bob Gohl is producer.

STARSCOPE

by Clare Annsweil

WEEK OF: FEBRUARY 23

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19

Deceptive trend is at play. Believe only half of what you see and very much of what you hear. Consider activities that improve your mind as well as your physique.

PISCES — February 20-March 20

Originality is keyword; all-new approach can lead to greater status, greater independence, greater opportunities. Loved one expresses feelings with surprising spontaneity.

ARIES — March 21-April 20

Temporary setback in social life is balanced with continued financial news-brighteners. Writing projects are highlighted; you excel in prose and poetry alike.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22

Week favors beginnings — from formulating goals to starting a new hobby or job. Personal relationships prosper, perhaps with a Scorpio or Aquarius entering the scene.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21

Accent is on fun rather than profit. Educational advancement is featured; a difficult subject is suddenly easy to understand. Long-distance news has a surprise twist.

CANCER — June 22-July 22

Domestic problems are solved with imagination. Romance starts a happy cycle on weekend. Only finance seems to suffer from setbacks; once again, try an imaginative approach.

LEO — July 23-August 22

Home chores are less tedious when you take a more carefree approach. If entering a partnership arrangement — and the time is favorable — be sure to have written agreement.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22

Spur-of-the-moment travel is spotlighted during one of the most spontaneous weeks in a long time. Image at work is important; choose words carefully, dress appropriately.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22

Relative may challenge you to back up your statements with hard facts. At work, learning new skills can give you the edge. Bargain hunting is favorable on weekend.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21

It's your turn to go out on a limb for unpopular neighbor or coworker, but relatives lend support. Being observant on weekend leads to significant discovery.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22

Romantic judgment may be clouded by misunderstandings, but financial visions are unusually sharp. Weekend's postponement proves a blessing in disguise. Travel and moves are favored.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20

You excel in practical matters but find it hard to react to the emotional individuals in your midst. Leap-year day offers opportunities for branching out and expanding interests.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You adapt to changing circumstances and you can see the world clearly through the eyes of others. Compassion is your middle name. Decisions are sometimes hard to make. New educational interests catch your fancy by midyear. A travel dream may come true by late '84.

BORN THIS WEEK

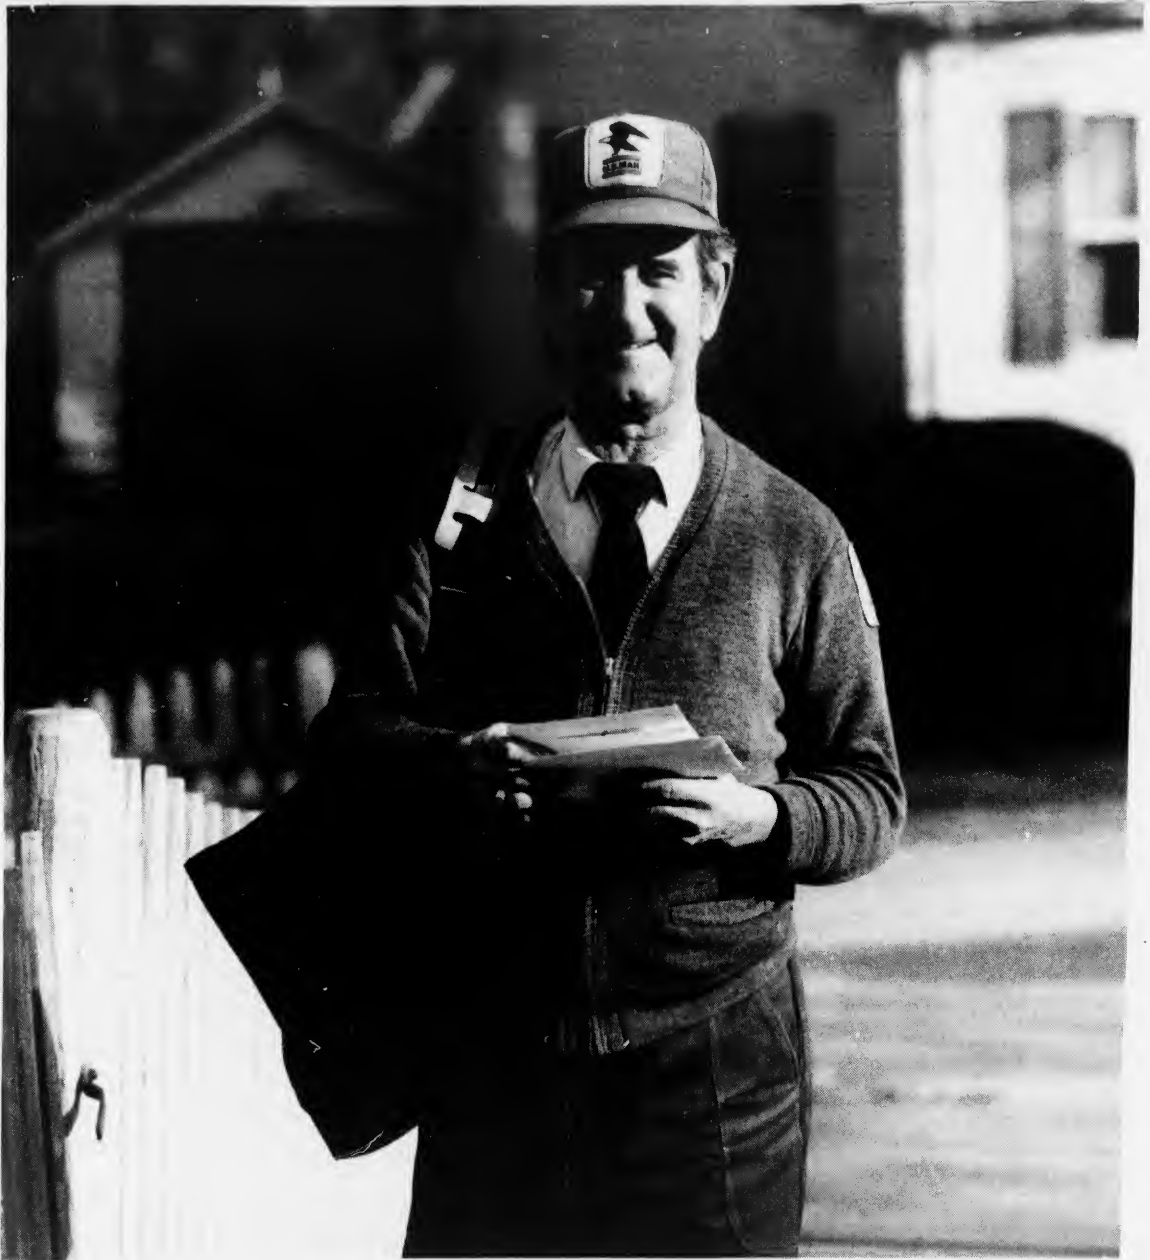

February 23rd, actor Peter Fonda; 24th, actor Abe Vigoda; 25th, singer George Harrison; 26th, singer Fats Domino; 27th, actress Joanne Woodward; 28th, actress Bernadette Peters; 29th, actor Chuck Simons.

Cable delivers. Just ask the Rabbit.

In high school, John Baldassini was so quick on the athletic field that he was labeled the Rabbit. That was 42 years ago. Today the Rabbit still gets around. Delivering mail on the same 3½ mile route in North Quincy to over 375 homes. The name has stuck and so has his love of sports.

So it was only natural that when cable came to Quincy that the Rabbit ran to cable. "It brings me all the sports I could possibly want. Twenty-four hours a day. Celtic games and title fights that aren't on regular TV. Games from as far away as Atlanta and as close as Quincy. There are even two channels with nothing but sports.

In fact, I became so involved with the programs that we had cable installed for my wife. Then my son and daughter. Everyone found something that they liked. It seemed a shame not to be able to see them all."

So, the Baldassini's became a three-cable family. The Eyes of Quincy show them their neighborhood, show them the world. Sports, health, music, films, you name it. The Rabbit and his family have it. It's just a hop, skip and a jump away.

The Eyes  of Quincy

Pee Wee B's Lose After 3 Overtimes

Quincy's Pee Wee B team, sponsored by A&T Movers, lost a 4-3 decision in three overtimes to Weymouth.

Both teams had their chances to score the winning goal in regulation time and during the first two overtimes. Brian Zimmerman, Mike Hughes and Bobby Kane scored Quincy's goals and Hughes, Zimmerman, Mark Cafano and Bob Carroll had assists.

Quincy defeated West Roxbury, 8-4, as Kane and Zimmerman had two goals apiece and Brian Taylor, Mike Bayless, Joe Fasano and Hughes one each. Taylor had three assists, Fasano and Bayless two apiece and Fasano and Zimmerman one each.

Quincy avenged an earlier 1-0 loss as it defeated Manchester, N.H., 5-3. Fasano had two goals and Carroll, Kiely Morris and Taylor one each. Kane had two assists and Taylor and Fasano one each. Sean Doherty turned in a fine defensive performance.

Bowling

Salvati Fires 346 In Koch Men's League

Dave Salvati topped the weekly "320 Club" of the Koch Club Men's Bowling League firing a 346. He was joined in the elite group by Paul Koch, 330; Tony Monti, 328; Tom Koch, 324 while Father Al Mancuso and Son Steve Mancuso tied with 323 each.

Jim Broadbent moved his team into a slim lead in the standings with 26 wins and 14 losses in a red hot second half. Dan Walsh, Mike Martinelli and Steve Mancuso are tied for second place with 24-16 marks.

Tony Monti remains in contention with 20-20 followed by Mike Doyle, 18-22; Larry McGue, 15-25, and Dave Prescott, 9-31.

Mike Martinelli holds a comfortable first place lead in the average department with 110.9. He is joined in the top 10 by Steve Mancuso, 106.4; Tony Monti, 105.9; Jim Broadbent, 105.1; Larry McGue, 102.6; Mike Doyle, 101.9; Dan Walsh, 101.9; Dave Prescott, 101.3; John Broadbent, 100.2, and Dan Brennan, 99.8.

Martinelli has the best individual string of 154 while McGue has the top solo three string total of 386.

Steve Mancuso and his teammates have the best team three string total of 1562 while Martinelli's team has the best team single string of 587.

The Koch Club entry in the South Shore Men's Bowling Tourney was ousted last Sunday by a strong Rockland Merchants unit as the Rockland five ran up an 81 pin lead at the end of two strings and coasted to the victory.

Mike Martinelli hit a 347 for the losing Koch team.

Hatfield Paces Little Loop

Neil Hatfield continues to lead the Quincy Bowling Little Loop with a 105.8 average, followed closely by John Broadbent's 105.6.

The rest of the Top Ten: Brian Flanagan, 100.2; Mike Grimaldi, 98.4; Matt Mielch, 98.2; David Dionne, 96.6; Sean Foley, 95.1; Mark Waterman, 92.8; Billy Wysocki, 92.8, and Ken McLaughlin, 92.5.

Dionne of the Bryan Club rolled the weekly high single of 133 and the high three of 335.

The James McIntyre Club had the high team single of 405 and Atlantic Fuel Oil the high three of 1135.

The 300 Club: Dionne, 335; Broadbent, 317; Bob Kovalski, 313; Bill Burvado, 308; Dan DeVasto, 307, and Flanagan, 304.

Last week's scores: Atlantic 8, Sen. Paul Harold Club 0; Joseph Brett Club 8, Quincy Elks 0; George Burke Club 8, Wollaston Bowldrome 0; Bryan Post VFW 6, Dick Morrissey Club 2; McIntyre 6, Quincy Sun 2; Local 1451 4, Monclair Men's Club 4.

The standings: Atlantic, 112-32 (total pinfall of 19,715); McIntyre, 86-58 (18,938); Burke, 86-58 (18,521); Morrissey, 85-59 (18,841); Bryan Post, 80-64 (18,470); Monclair, 77-67 (18,451); Elks, 75-69 (18,409); Local 1451, 73-71 (18,598); Brett, 58-86 (18,351); Quincy Sun, 58-86 (18,232); Harold, 42-102 (18,236); Bowldrome, 40-104 (17,665).

A moment of silence was observed last week for Robert Gove, a member of the league in 1954, who recently passed away.

Mark Waterman, captain of the Harold Club, is leading the league Muscular Dystrophy Bowl-a-thon with two pledges totaling $66.10. Dan Picard of Local 1451 has $25.02 in pledges

Shirley MacNeil Team Rolls High 1494 For Koch Women

Shirley MacNeil and her teammates took over the high team three string total in the Koch Club women's bowling league rolling a 1494 to top Pat Lawlor's previous best of 1459 while Mina Scanlan's combine held onto the team single string of 529.

MacNeil's team, with their achievement, moved into first place in the team standings with 25 wins and 7 losses as Joanne Collopy moved into second with 24-8, Debbie Davis, 20-12; Ellen McAdam, 19-13; Pat Lawlor, 18-14; Ginny Rowe, 15-17; June Hillier and Mary Ellen Walsh, 14-18; Barbara Lombardi, 7-25, and Mina Scanlan, 4-28.

Mary Ellen Walsh still holds the League's best average with 106.2. Others in the top 10 are Theresa Bonetti, 104.0; June Hillier, 101.4; Barbara Murphy, 100.4; Debbie Davis, 99.3; Debra Koch, 97.7; Edie Maher, 97.0; Pat Lawlor, 96.9; Carol Johnson, 95.9 and Marge Finlay, 94.1.

Walsh also leads with the best individual three string total of 356, top single string of 150 and most spares with 136. Theresa Bonetti and Carol Johnson are tied for most strikes with 20 each.

South Boston Savings Bank Announces Record Income

The South Boston Savings Bank has announced a record net income of $2,972,000, or 96 cents a share, for the fiscal quarter that ended Jan. 31.

That's an increase of 284 per cent over the net income of $777,000 for the same period a year ago.

Total income for the quarter was $19,377,000 compared to $14,441,000 for the same period in fiscal 1983 and, as of Jan. 31, total assets were $696,438,000.

South Boston's net worth as of Jan. 31 was $67,975,000 or $22.06 per share.

"The outstanding performance at South Boston in the first quarter can primarily be attributed to continued aggressive marketing and advertising of our highly competitive savings rates and mortgage lending programs, as well as a strengthening economy leading to a relatively stable interest rate environment," said President Richard R. Laine.

"In particular, the bank originated and purchased $24,899,000 in mortgage loans during the quarter, which represents a 64.5 per cent increase over the first quarter of last year. Over 75 per cent of this total were adjustable rate instruments, with the balance commercial loans and fixed-rate loans targeted for sale in the secondary market or converted into mortgage-backed securities."

"Perhaps most important, our active asset management policy continues to be an important contributing factor to our profitability. During the quarter the average yield on our investment portfolio was 11.42 per cent, up from 11.20 per cent in the prior year. The average yield on our loan portfolio exhibited even greater growth, to 11.52 per cent from 11.14 per cent in the corresponding quarter last year."

South Boston reported a net interest rate margin of 2.33 per cent for the three month period, as compared to 1.91 per cent in the comparable quarter last year, and 2.19 per cent in the fourth quarter.

During the first quarter, South Boston opened a mortgage origination center in Hingham. The bank operated another center in South Boston, as well as branch offices in South Boston, Quincy, and Dorchester.

Commenting on the prospects for the second quarter, Laine said:

"We expect the second quarter of fiscal 1984 to exhibit similar strength in net income, and are optimistic that fiscal 1984 will be the most profitable year in South Boston's operating history."

South Boston Savings Bank is the fourth largest Massachusetts - chartered savings bank. For its fiscal year ended Oct. 31, 1983, South Boston was the most profitable savings bank in the state among those with over $200 million in assets, based on net operating income as a percentage of assets.

LEGAL NOTICES

INVITATION FOR BIDS
CITY OF QUINCY, MASSACHUSETTS
WATER MAIN CONSTRUCTION

Scaled bids for the removal of existing 10 inch water main and the installation of approximately 1810 linear feet of new 12 inch cement lined ductile-iron water main, together with all appurtenances, will be received by the Commissioner of Public Works until 10:00 A.M. EST on March 21, 1984 and, at which place and time, be publicly opened and read aloud.

Plans, specifications and other contract documents may be secured at the office of the Commissioner of Public Works, 55 Sea Street, Quincy, Massachusetts 02169.

A deposit of $50.00 will be required for each set of plans, specifications and contract documents. Said deposit will be refunded upon return of all documents in good condition within ten (10) days after bids are opened. Contractors wishing the specifications mailed to them shall include a separate check for $15 which is non-refundable. Each bid shall be accompanied by a bid bond or a certified check in the amount of five percent (5%) of the total bid price. Said bid security shall be made payable to the City of Quincy for and subject to the conditions provided for in the information for bidders.

No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of thirty (30) days excluding Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays after the date set for the opening thereof.

The successful bidder must furnish a 100 percent Performance Bond and 100 percent Labor and Materials Bond.

The City of Quincy reserves the rights to waive any informality in or to reject any or all bids if deemed to be in the best interest of the public.

North Quincy Jail Proposal Draws Fire

The possibility of a short term, minimum security, satellite jail at the Norfolk County Recreation Facility in North Quincy has drawn virtually no support around the city.

A survey team of David Flynn of Bridgewater and John Buckley of Abington disclosed last week that the facility is one of 12 sites under consideration to help alleviate overcrowding at Dedham.

"Obviously, I'm strongly opposed," said Mayor Francis X. McCauley. "We want it to remain open space. We didn't want the area developed and if we didn't want tax-paying buildings we certainly don't want a jail."

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey noted that a countywide referendum last fall voted to retain the facility and that, since a beer and wine license was obtained, the facility is making a profit.

"We have the only open space in the county that has a referendum behind it," he said, "and we have the only open space in the county that is making money for the county."

"The proposal is a joke," City Councillor John J. Lydon Jr. said he has heard from the Montclair Men's Club and abutters of the facility and all are against the jail proposal.

"This is a family recreation facility," he said. "We can't have a jail adjacent to it. I think the legislative hurdles to a jail would be impossible to overcome."

Sheriff Clifford Marshall, a Quincy resident himself, said the county is under federal court order to close the north wing of the 167-year-old Dedham House of Correction by June 30.

"We have to have some place to put between 37 and 50 people," he said.

"It is not my prerogative to say if such a satellite facility goes to Quincy or anywhere else. The site selection will be made by the county commissioners with the consent of the advisory board."

"The state has mandated that the survey team look at all county and municipal owned land in the county for a short-term correctional facility to help alleviate overcrowding."

He said such a facility would be minimum security to house "trusties, work release prisoners and those serving alternative sentences, like drunk drivers."

"There are," he said, "more people behind bars in the state of Massachusetts today than ever before in history. When I took office less than 10 years ago, the daily count of prisoners was 61. Now it's 204 in the same building and June 30 we will lose a wing."

Marshall said his proposal that a satellite jail be built on the divider between north and south lanes of Route 128 in Westwood is still undergoing evaluation.

Morrissey noted that two of the three county commissioners are from Quincy and Milton, both of which adjoin the Norfolk County Facility and it's unlikely they would vote a jail there.

In Time For Summer

Mayor To Name 2 Police Lts. 12 Patrolmen

By TOM HENSHAW

Mayor Francis X. McCauley says he plans to name possibly 12 new patrolmen and two new lieutenants in the Police Department, hopefully in time for the busy summer vacation season.

"I am budgeting 160 patrolmen in fiscal 1985, one more than we had when I came into office," said McCauley. "I'm going to try to get them all on board before the start of the fiscal year."

The Mayor said he wasn't sure how many patrolmen he would have to appoint to bring the total number up to 160 but Police Chief Francis X. Finn told the City Council Monday night the figure would be 12.

William Grindlay, the police budget coordinator, said there are now 154 patrolmen in the department that is budgeted for 159. Several retirements are expected before the summer.

Finn told the Council Monday night that it "upsets" him that the Mayor has not filled the vacancies on the department, particularly among lieutenants.

He said the mayor has given him a commitment to fill 12 patrolman positions and two lieutenant openings by Sept. 12.

"I personally feel we need lieutenants very badly," said the chief. "But the positions are not being filled and someday we are going to suffer for it."

There are currently 10 lieutenants in the Police Department, two of them named only last July. The full complement is 16. McCauley said last summer that he sees no need for a full complement.

McCauley said there is a Civil Service list for lieutenants now in existence and good until September, 1985, so no new tests would have to be given and time spent in waiting for a new list.

He said he is not sure where the list for patrolman appointments stands.

"We used up a lot of them with nine appointments last summer," he said, "and we lost a lot of candidates to the MDC and the MBTA. We may have to wait for another list."

"If I can do it I will make the appointments before the summer so they can go to the police academy and be effective before the summer when the police traditionally have tight manpower."

The ranks of the lieutenants was depleted last summer when McCauley promoted four lieutenants to captain and created only two new lieutenants.

$35,000 Transfer For Police Expenses

The City Council indicated Monday night that Police Chief Francis X. Finn will get the $35,000 in expense money he needs to keep the Police Department from running down.

The Council's Finance Committee approved the transfer of the money from the personal services account to the expense account, reversing a previous action of the Council Jan. 16.

The Council as a whole will vote on the matter March 12.

The vote Monday night was 6-1 that the transfer order ought to pass with only Councillor Joanne Condon holding firm against it.

Councillors Theodore DeCristofaro, Patricia Toland, and Stephen J. McGrath reversed their previous votes in committee after listening to Finn explain the need for the money. John J. Lydon Jr. didn't vote.

Finn said that those parts of the police expense budget covering repairs to police cars and medical expenses of police officers were nearly exhausted while there was a $400,000 surplus in payroll.

The surplus came about because there are six lieutenants, three sergeant and four patrolman vacancies that were funded in the

New Parking Tickets Ready In April

The city has just purchased 75,000 new parking tickets for distribution probably starting in April, including the new fine schedules approved by the City Council in June, 1982.

The $3,513.75 printing contract was given to the Arnold Corp. of Canton.

The new schedules of parking fines includes four $10 violations for parking in a handicapped space, parking in a fire hydrant zone, double parking and blocking a driveway.

There is also a $15 fine for blocking snow and ice removal.

Parking Clerk Robert Denvir said a new violation will appear on the ticket --- exceeding the meter ordinance, which means putting more money in when the meter expires.

The new tickets will be light green in color.

Denvir said the city last had 100,000 tickets printed in May 1982. He said 49,000 were given out in fiscal 1983 and 38,000 thus far in fiscal 1984.

Three Alarms House Fire In Quincy Point

Three alarms were sounded shortly before 5 p.m. Tuesday for a fire that swept a house at 60 Winter St., not far from the main gate of the General Dynamics Quincy shipyard. Bay State Ambulance was summoned to the scene but it was not determined immediately if anyone was injured.

East Howard St. was blocked to traffic at Quincy Ave. and Cleverly Court and DesMoines Rd. was closed to traffic at the height of the fire.

Council Meeting Postponed To March 12

The next City Council meeting, scheduled for Monday, March 5, has been postponed one week to March 12 because most of the councillors will be attending a municipal affairs meeting in Washington March 5.

Expressway Explanations Frustrates Council

By TOM HENSHAW

The City Council spent a frustrating half hour Monday night listening to the state DPW explain the reconstruction of the Southeast Expressway, which will close parts of that highway over a period of two years.

Councillors expected answers to their specific questions on the project's impact on Quincy. Instead, they got a slide show.

They expected Pam Wolfe, the community coordinator, to answer their questions. They got Lou Abbruzzese, assistant public affairs director, who didn't know the answers.

"This is frustrating," said Councillor John J. Lydon Jr.

"Councillor Lydon is not the only one frustrated," said Councillor Richard J. Koch Jr., who was chairing the meeting of the Public Safety Committee.

The question most of the councillors and Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson wanted answered was how much money Quincy would be getting to help ease the impact of the closed Expressway sections.

Abbruzzese said the DPW's attorneys had the city's funding requests under review and "I'm sure there will be an answer in the near future."

"Here the Expressway is closing March 19 and we have no idea of what funding we are getting," said Anderson. "We are not the only community that is complaining about this."

"As usual," said Council President James A. Sheets, "the Southeast Expressway is progressing on schedule but the projects that effect us are not in place on time."

"They have closed the Furnace Brook Parkway exit, which has increased traffic on Willard St. already but there is no temporary signal at the intersection of West and Willard Sts."

"It's the same old story. What the state wants to get done starts on time but what affects the city can wait. We are already off on the wrong foot and the project hasn't really started yet."

Anderson said the Expressway construction company had blocked West St. Monday without a permit.

"I called them and told them that only I can issue a permit to close the street and if they did it again they'd be in big trouble," he said. "They apologized."

Abbruzzese's best contribution to the program was a note of levity.

His slide show was entitled, "The Project That Can't Wait." He read it as, "The Project That Can't Work."

Councillors chuckled and agreed that, indeed, it wasn't working.

Young Thieves

Mary Burke of the Council on Aging reported to police Monday that she was dropping off a client on Bunker Hill Lane when a boy and girl, each about 14, ran from the house into the woods.

The house was ransacked but it was not determined immediately what had been taken.

DeCristofaro Criticizes Board On Liquor License

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
Ward II Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro criticized the License Board and the press Tuesday after liquor license was granted to a Quincy Point establishment.

And DeCristofaro succeeded in having the board plan to review the license at the end of the year.

The License Board granted common victualer and all alcoholic licenses last week for Ole Salt Seafood, 584-598 Washington, St., while DeCristofaro was away on business in Washington, D.C.

"Councillor DeCristofaro was upset, and rightfully so," said City Clerk and board chairman John Gillis, "when the Patriot Ledger said he had no input."

"Well, he certainly did, as I stated. I don't know if I stressed it strongly enough."

"He was opposed and has been opposed to all liquor licenses through the years.

"The councillor had asked that the request be continued. The only reason we voted on it, there was no opposition from the nearby St. Joseph's church."

"The councillor's opposition was noted in the minutes, not in the papers."

DeCristofaro responded, "it looks like I took a walk on this thing, and it really bothers me. 'I oppose the liquor part of the restaurant."

"We took out three (liquor) licenses (from Quincy Point). Now we're putting two back in," said DeCristofaro, who noted that Trifone's Lire and Wedge, Washington St., has a liquor license for a package store.

"I wish that I had had the right to be here and say it. I don't care if the president was all for it."

"I think I was done a terrible injustice by the board and by the press because it (the request) wasn't moved up as I requested."

"I'm sorry that it happened," said Gillis.

DeCristofaro said he would have requested that the license be granted, it be granted for a six month probationary period.

The board voted to notify the restaurant owners that the license would be reviewed in December, per Councillor DeCristofaro.

Despite Inadequate Funding: Lawson Finds Quincy School System 'Among Finest'

John H. Lawson, the state commissioner of education, says the Quincy school system should be proud of the many successful programs it has been able to implement.

"Unfortunately," he added, "many of these programs are being negatively affected because of inadequate funding."

Lawson toured the Quincy schools Feb. 15, paying particular attention to the Teen Mothers' Program, the special physical education program at Broad Meadows Middle School.

In a letter to School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, the commissioner called the Quincy School System

"among the finest in the Commonwealth" in spite of "inadequate funding."

"I hope that this trend (to inadequate funding) will be reversed inasmuch as the Commonwealth is returning to towns 40 per cent of the gross revenue," he said.

"These funds are being for the most part forwarded to communities through Chapter 70, with the hope that schools will receive an appropriate share of these new dollars."

"You can be confident of my continuing interest in assuring that Quincy receives adequate state and local funding."

Lawson also visited the pre-school program at North Quincy High School, the special education program, the ROTC, and activities at the Vocational Technical School and Quincy Junior College.

How About Medfield For Jail?

FORE!

Those two consultants who have picked the Presidents Golf Course in Montclair as one of 12 potential sites for a satellite jail couldn't have come up with a bigger divot.

There's no question that there is overcrowding at the Norfolk County House of Correction in Dedham and that Sheriff Clifford Marshall needs more room.

And Marshall is up against U.S.
District Court Judge Walter Jay
Skinner's order to close the jail's obsolete north wing by June 30. The north wing is the original jail built in 1817 of Quincy granite carried to Dedham by oxen cart.

The consultants for the Norfolk County Commissioners have been looking around for potential sites for a satellite jail.

Identity of only two of the sites has been disclosed:
the Presidents Golf Course and land at the Norfolk County Hospital in Braintree. The other 10 sites have not yet been revealed — but the old Quincy District Courthouse on Coddington St. could be one of them.
Braintree, naturally, is opposed to a satellite jail there. And Quincy is opposed to one here — whether it be the golf course or the old courthouse.

There's got to be a better site than the Braintree and Quincy sites.

MARSHALL

Rep. Michael Morrissey (D-Quincy) in whose district the golf course is located is "totally opposed" to putting a jail there.

MORRISSEY

He notes that a majority of the people of Norfolk County spoke out in a referendum: they want the Montclair facility kept as open space.

"I'm certain a jail is not their idea of open space," he says. "I think it is absurd."

Councillor Joanne Condon whose Ward 6 borders the golf course thinks the idea has got to be some kind of a joke.

CONDON

"It is a joke — a jail surrounded by a golf course," says she.

She couldn't have hit it better with a No. 1 wood off the highest tee with the wind to her back.

If you really think about it, you find yourself getting a bit silly.

Commends Hospital Nurses

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
On Feb. 8, 1984 I went into Quincy City Hospital for surgery. I want to pay tribute to the very wonderful staff of nurses and aides that work on the fifth floor.

I for one could not have been treated with any better care than these wonderful ladies gave me.

I think the reason that the care is so good is because of the great team work that exists on the fifth floor. There was not one person that I could not say was doing a good job. From the volunteers all the way to the head nurse. Bless you all.

Quincy's Hospitality To Kiwanis Tourney Players 'Awesome'

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

We would like to take this opportunity, through your newspaper, to extend to the people of Quincy our heartfelt gratitude for the hospitality extended to our foreign visitors this past week during the Quincy
Kiwanis International Hockey Tournament.

Youngsters from as far away as Austria, Ottawa,
Nova Scotia, New York,
New Haven, Conn., were taken into the Quincy homes and treated royally.

While making arrangements for the traveling teams to come to Quincy, I told them that the Quincy parents were the most hospitable people in the world. When the visitors were leaving they told me that I understood the hospitality. They could not believe the warm welcome that was extended to them.

We often hear the word
"awesome" used when referring to athletes. This past week the only word I can think to use to define the Quincy parents is "awesome".

In closing I would like to pass along a comment that was made by one of the Austrian coaches. He said,
"I have traveled all over

That says it all.

Many, many thanks to everyone involved.

'Special Needs Awareness Month'

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has proclaimed March "Special Needs Awareness Month" to highlight the programs and services available to children with special needs and to increase the community's sensitivity to and awareness of persons with special needs.

The many events scheduled throughout the month have been planned by the Department of Special Education in the Quincy Public Schools, the Office of the Mayor, the Thomas Crane Public Library, and the Quincy Parent Advisory Council to Special Education.

The Fourth Annual Special Needs Athletic Night will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 8, in the North Quincy High School Gymnasium.

Students will compete in novelty relay races, skills, soccer and basketball. The program will be arranged by Louis P. Tozzi, from the Department of Special Education, and Mary Pratt, adaptive physical educator. Jack Raymer will be announcer.

The Kaleidoscope Theatre will present two nationally acclaimed, 45 minute plays Thursday, March 29, at 7:30 p.m. in the North Quincy High School Auditorium.

The first, "I'm Special - You're Special", is a play of compassion and understanding about a retarded youth when he is mainstreamed into a regular school.

Following a refreshment break, the performers will present the second play "Welcome Home" about a young retarded man who goes into a group residence.

Throughout the month, Jane Granstrom, Director of Children's Services at the Thomas Crane Public Library, will display books about special needs and distribute publications relevant to special needs.

Quincy Cablesystems will feature several programs on relevant issues related to the handicapped in our community.

Exhibits of the artistic and academic work of special needs students will be on display in the lobby of new City Hall, the Thomas Crane Public Library, and the administrative offices of the Quincy Public Schools.

For more information, contact the Department of Special Education at 786-8743. Schedules of events will be available at all public library units and at the Department of Special Education.

Deegan Seeks Equalization Tax Program

City Manager William J. Deegan Jr., sent to the City Council an appropriation order for $37,000 with which to begin a tax equalization program to be completed in time for use with the 1952 tax rate. The whole program would cost not more than $110,000.

Deegan told the Council that Quincy has not kept up with the changing economic conditions relative to the assessment of real estate in the city.

"Figures indicate that our assessment valuation per capita declined from $1,795 in 1932 to $1,775 in 1950 in spite of an almost 300 per cent increase in our per capita income and perhaps an equal increase in construction costs," he said.

"With the increasing pressure on tax rates, it is more and more essential that the tax rate be applied equitably against assessable value. To accomplish this involves tax equalization made by competent trained personnel in a reasonable length of time."

FIGHT FOR WOMEN'S RIGHTS

The Rev. Peter V. Corea told worshippers at the Houghs Neck Congregational Church that churches "must make clear the rights of women, and fight for those rights, on the ground that our mothers, wives and daughters cannot be allowed to suffer from a system which discriminates against them."

"The churches," he said, "have often not been a symbol of equal rights for women, especially in the matter of setting persons apart for religious service. If God can call a man into his service, he can also, and has, called women."

You are not alone. This Sunday, 61 million other adult Americans also chose not to go to church.

Does this sound like you?

You feel you are essentially out of step with conventional religious ideas. You have difficulty accepting those absolute truths and rigid dogmas you were told you had to believe.

And, you're probably a little tired of being made to feel guilty because you have honest questions. If these sentiments express where you're coming from, relax. You are not alone. A large percentage of those 61 million nonchurch-going Americans feel the way you do.

Is there a church for people like you?

Yes. We're the Unitarian Universalists. We've been around for a long time, and we've attracted some of the most significant and independent thinkers in history: Thomas Jefferson, Charles Darwin, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Susan B. Anthony.

Dorothea Dix, Henry Thoreau, Clara Barton, Isaac Newton, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Julia Stevenson, Dr. Linus Pauling, Elsie Richardson and many others.

Our religious approach is based on independent, free exploration. We don't feel that any person, any book or any institution should tell you what you must think. You and you alone are responsible for your religious well-being.

What goes on in a Unitarian Universalist service?

Frankly, that will vary from church to church, depending on the minister and the congregation. In fact, some of our organizations aren't called churches at all. Some call themselves societies, some are fellowships and are run by the lay people themselves. Essentially, though, you'll find a congenial, supportive climate that is intellectually free and spiritually exciting, where you are encouraged to reach out and grow, not cut up and accept. We have no doctrines and dogma that you must accept. We believe that "truth" is ever evolving, so we remain open to new scientific revelations and philosophical insights.

We are more concerned with the essential goodness of people, not some inherent sinfulness. We are more concerned with the here and now, rather than a hereafter. Does this sound like the kind of church you've been looking for?

Refreshments will be served at 1 p.m., prior to the business meeting, by hostesses Sarah Levenson and Mae Nankin, assisted by Lil Bikash and Ida Golub.

Following the business meeting, conducted by Anne Klaver, president, a Purim skit will be presented by members of the council. Guests are invited to attend.

The Executive Board Committee will meet

Wednesday, March 14, at 1 p.m. at the home of Lil Bikash.

Reservations for the May 9 Donor Dinner may be placed with Ida Kaplan, Anne Klaver, or Rhea Radler.

DOVE Welcomes 2 Members

Joyce Baker of Quincy, president of the Board of Directors of DOVE, Inc.

(Domestic Violence Ended), welcomed two new members at the February meeting.

Susan Spelios of Quincy, principle planner for the city, and Atty. Elyse Brill, Boston, of the firm Henry J. Boroff, Faneuil Hall, were formally accepted to assist in the policy making decisions of the South Shore's only shelter for battered women and their children.

DOVE also operates the only 24 hour crisis hotline (471-1234) in the area.

Cynthia Allen Receives Silver Wings

John Noonan Re-Elected Aging Council Chairman

John Noonan was unanimously re-elected Chairman of the Quincy Council on Aging at the annual organizational meeting of the Council held last week at City Hall.

Mrs. Mary Kay Bamford was elected vice-chairwoman and Mrs. Eleanor Reidy, secretary.

Mrs. Bamford has been a member of the Council for the past 12 years. Mrs. Reidy was appointed following her recent retirement as personal secretary to Mayor Francis X. McCauley.

Other members of the Council are:

John P. Comer, executive director, Quincy Housing Authority; Dr. M. Grace Hussey, Quincy Health Commissioner; Barry Welch, Quincy Recreation Director; Rev. Alicia Corea, Theresa Whittaker, Sabina Kavanaugh, Frank Kearns, Bella Krovitz, Thomas MacDonald, Maida Moakley, Herbert Morgan, and Mildred Trout. Brian Buckley is the Council Coordinator.

Noonan is semi-retired after 30 years with the Massachusetts Department of Public Health and Medical Society as director of public relations and governmental affairs.

Noonan is an instructor in the Department of Communications at Mount Ida College, Newton Center.

JOHN D. NOONAN

He is also a feature writer for The Quincy Sun and Hingham Journal and television anchor and reporter for the Quincy Sun Channel 8 video news programs.

Noonan is also host of the weekly cabletalk public affairs program on QCTV Channel 3 and editor of St. John's News, the parish newspaper published by St. John's Church. He is also a regular member of the panel of the weekly News-makers program on Quincy cable television.

In accepting the chairmanship for another year Noonan said he hopes to expand even further the many activities of the Quincy Council on Aging. He said he was particularly concerned with serving the needs of the elderly who may live alone, not in one of the local housing facilities for the elderly.

Among the special events being planned are:

A bus trip to the Flower show in March; older Americans month in May with appropriate city activities; Quincy Senior Olympics in June and a Quincy pen pals program.

Special guest at the organizational meeting was Dr. Sheila Clemon Karp, legislative director, Executive Office, Department of Elder Affairs for the Commonwealth.

Dr. Karp reported on various bills and laws of interest to the elderly. Recently enacted into law were the following: a nursing home ombudsman which includes every nursing home in the state; a law to allow nurse practitioners and physicians assistants to provide certain medications to nursing home patients under proper guidelines and physician supervision, and regulations to control condominium conversion so as to protect elder citizens.

Of particular interest in the current state legislative session is a bill mandating that all physicians post a notice in their offices indicating whether or not they will accept assignments under the Medicare program. Another bill would eliminate mandatory retirement at a specific age.

Monthly meetings of the Council on Aging are held on the fourth Thursday of the month at 2 p.m. in the 2nd floor conference room at City Hall. All meetings are open to the public.

Sheets Sees 'Funny Business' In Revaluation Appeals

City Council President James A. Sheets suspects there is something funny going on with appeals from 100 per cent revaluation. He wants the assessors to appear before the Council to explain it.

"Many homeowners filed appeals from valuations they thought were too high," he told the Council

Tuesday night, "but those appeals were not granted."

"In some cases, neighbors who live closely and did not appeal have found that the estimates of their values have gone up. It looks to me that instead of lowering one value they have raised another to even up."

"I question whether this is ethical or legal."

The Council resolved to have the assessors appear with these figures:

The number of appeals; the number of parcels whose values were lowered; the number of parcels whose values remained the same; and the number of parcels whose values were increased and appeals were not filed.

McGovern Chamber Breakfast Speaker March 6

Several hundred area business leaders will hear former South Dakota senator George McGovern at a 7-44 breakfast meeting of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday, March 6, at the Lantana in Randolph.

The 1972 Democratic nominee for President will be seeking local support in his bid for the Democratic nomination in the March 13 Massachusetts primary election.

A question and answer period will follow McGovern's address.

This will be the second in a series of Presidential Candidates Breakfasts sponsored by the South Shore Chamber, U.S. Sen. Gary Hart of Colorado has spoken previously.

Ticket reservations are available by calling the South Shore Chamber at 479-1111.

Ethel Martin, 85, Former Wollaston Resident

A funeral Mass for Ethel (MacDonald) Martin, 85, of Norwood, a former longtime resident of Wollaston, was held Monday at St. Ann's Church, Wollaston.

Mrs. Martin died Friday at the Ellis Nursing Home, Norwood, after a lengthy illness.

Born in Prince Edward Island, Canada, she lived in Wollaston for 42 years before moving to Norwood five years ago.

She had been employed as a hairdresser.

Wife of the late John Martin, she is survived by three sisters, Catherine Doyle of Dorchester, Anne Barrett of Brookline and Adelaide White of Watertown; and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral arrangements were by the Lydon-Russell Funeral Home, 644 Hancock St., Quincy. Burial was in St. Joseph's Cemetery, West Roxbury.

Joseph F. Salenius, 15, Struck By Auto

A funeral Mass for Joseph F. Salenius, 15, of Quincy, a sophomore at North Quincy High School, was held Tuesday at Sacred Heart Church.

He was killed Saturday when he was struck by a car near his home.

A lifelong resident of Quincy, he graduated from Sacred Heart School, and was an altar boy at Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy. He was also a member of the church folk music group and the North Quincy High School choir.

He is survived by his parents, the Rev. Mr. John D. Salenius and Lois (Hayden) Salenius; two brothers, John E. Salenius and James J. Salenius, both of Quincy; three sisters, Kathleen A. Rogg of Eatontown, N.J., and Maryann V. Salenius and Elizabeth Ann Salenius, both of Quincy.

Funeral arrangements were by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Quincy. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Boston.

Donations may be made to Sacred Heart Conference St. Vincent de Paul, North Quincy.

Henry P. Murray, 85, Owner Of Dental Lab

A funeral Mass for Henry P. Murray, 85, of Quincy, retired owner of the Henry Murray Laboratories, Boston, was held yesterday (Wednesday) in St. Joseph's Church, Quincy Point.

Mr. Murray died Saturday at Quincy City Hospital.

Born and educated in Somerville, he moved to Quincy in 1932. He also lived in Dorchester and South Boston.

He operated the Henry Murray dental laboratory from 1943 until his retirement in 1974.

He was a member of St. Joseph's Holy Name Society and St. Vincent de Paul Society.

Husband of the late Agnes M. (Dorian) Murray, he is survived by a son, Henry P. Murray, Jr. of South Weymouth; three daughters, Jean M. Murray of Quincy, Audrey A. Moscato of Rowley and Mary Ellen Hurley of Westwood; 12 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by the Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave., Quincy. Burial was in St. Francis Xavier Cemetery, Weymouth.

Donations may be made to St. Joseph's Church, 556 Washington St., Quincy, 02169.

Joseph D. DeLuca, 63, Acme Freight Terminal Mgr.

A funeral Mass for Joseph D. DeLuca, 63 of Quincy, terminal manager at Acme Freight Co., Cambridge, was held Saturday in St. Thomas the Apostle Church, Norwalk, Conn.

Mr. DeLuca died unexpectedly Feb. 21 at Cambridge City Hospital after he collapsed at work, apparently of a heart attack.

Born in Brooklyn, N.Y., he moved to Quincy 22 years ago from Norwalk, Conn.

A Navy veteran of World War II, he was a member of the American Legion Post and Quincy Sons of Italy.

He leaves his wife, Josephine (Galuzzo) DeLuca; two sisters, Isabelle Picanza of Phoenix, Arizona, and Norwalk, Conn., and Sylvia Mariani of Norwalk, Conn. He was also the brother of the late Alfred DeLuca, who died this past October.

Funeral arrangements were by the Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave., Quincy, and Magner Funeral Home, 12 Mott Ave., Norwalk, Conn. Burial was in St. John's Cemetery, Norwalk, Conn.

Donations may be made to the American Heart Fund.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Lots of people are planting gardens these days. Want an idea on how you can plant the finest garden of all - even indoors?

First, plant five rows of Peas: Presence, Preparation, Promptness, Purity and Perseverance. . . . Next, plant three rows of Squash: . . . squash Gossip; squash Criticism; squash indifference. . . . Then, plant four rows of Lettuce: . . . Let us be Faithful to Duty; Let us be Unselfish and Loyal; Let us be True to our Obligations and let us Love One Another. . . . And then plant Turnips: Turn up for important meetings; Turn up with a Smile; Turn up with New Ideas; Turn up with Determination to make everything count for Something and Be Worthwhile. . . .

Plant the seeds. It's easy. Try it. You'll have a fine garden with less effort than you can imagine. In fact, this sort of P.S.L.T. garden is always guaranteed to grow with guaranteed satisfaction - quickly! . . .

Council To Approve 35,000 Police Transfer budget but not filled. "I have a problem taking money out of personal services," said Condon, who has been urging Mayor Francis X. McCauley to fill all the vacancies in the department.

"I'm not against the police having money to run the department but the minute we go along with taking money out of personnel for expenses we justify cutting the positions."

"I'll vote for it this evening," said Council President James A. Sheets, who was absent when the Jan. 16 vote was taken. "But if I vote for personal services that's where I want the money to go."

Sheets said he saw the dispute as a philosophical conflict between the Council and the Mayor.

"The Council is guided by the needs of its constituency," he said, "while the Mayor is guided by budgetary considerations."

McGrath lambasted Chief Finn for calling a press conference to make the needs of the Police Department public after the Council turned down the first transfer request.

"I didn't like picking up the paper and reading that the chief says his department is facing an emergency because the Council refused to transfer $35,000," he said.

"There was no reason why I could not have been contacted and told that I had made a mistake. Instead I have reporters calling me to ask that I comment on what you said."

Finn, who was out of town when the Jan. 16 vote was taken, said he was "shocked when the order was defeated."

"I felt I had to let the public know when things were grinding down in the department," he said.

Commission's Corner

The Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women recently sponsored Women's History Week Contests in recognition of National Women's History Week, March 4 to 10.

"A Quincy Woman I Admire" was the topic of an essay contest. Winners will receive $25 prizes.

Students in grades one to five submitted 100 word essays, those in grades six to eight, 300 word essays.

Prizes will be awarded at City Hall Wednesday, March 7, at 7 p.m., followed by a showing of the film, "Rosie the Riveter." The public is invited.

Winning essays will be printed in The Quincy Sun and The Patriot Ledger.

The commission was established in 1974 to address itself to the needs of women and to encourage them to participate more fully in the life of Quincy.

Some of the commission's accomplishments are: establishment of DOVE, a shelter for battered women, an Employment/Training program for women returning to the job market, the publication of a Director of Social Services in the South Shore and annual Woman to Woman days of workshops focusing on issues of concern to women.

Nigro To Chair Cheney Committee

Michael T. Cheney kicked off his campaign for election to the City Council from Ward 1 recently by introducing his campaign committee chairman, Jack Nigro, at a fund-raiser.

Nigro, a lifelong resident and community activist in Ward 1, was mentioned prominently as a possible candidate himself after the resignation of Councilor Leo J. Kelly.

"Mike Cheney is a hard-working, articulate individual," said Nigro. "His no-nonsense common man image is reflective of our ward and his skills, knowledge and experience will make him an effective ward councilor."

Cheney told his supporters at the Bryan VFW Post that he is "sensitive to the problems of each neighborhood" and he promised to "work to address these concerns in a realistic and professional manner."

"I also find one concern that all people have expressed," he said. "They want a city councilor who will be accessible and accountable. My campaign will reflect that concern."

"I intend to campaign door to door, present my credentials and ask personally for support."

Take care of your own funeral arrangements now. So your family won't have to later.

By not taking care of your own funeral in advance, you force someone close to you to do it for you.

For the person who accepts the responsibility, making arrangements at the time of need is likely to be filled with uncertainties. The uncertainty of not knowing what you really wanted. Your personal preferences. Perhaps, a favorite dress or suit. A special prayer. A clergyman with whom you are especially close. The uncertainties are endless.

The kindest thing you can do for your family is make your own funeral arrangements far in advance of need. That way everybody will know the kind of funeral you would like to have.

For more information on pre-arrangement or pre-funeral, write for our free booklet.

Holy Communion To Be Celebrated At Bethany

Holy Communion will be celebrated Sunday, at both the 9 a.m. chapel service and the 10 a.m. sanctuary service in Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Centre.

The senior minister, Rev. J. William Arnold, will preach the sermon at both services on the theme, "A Communion Catechism," in the form of a series of questions and answers regarding the meaning of the sacrament of Communion.

The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will be liturgist and co-celebrant of the Holy Communion.

The scripture lesson in Luke 24:28-35 will be read by Jean C. Smart at the chapel service and by Robert R. Peoples, Jr. at the sanctuary service.

During the sanctuary service, the chancel choir, under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will present the anthem, "O Savior of the World," by John Goss.

Deacons and deaconesses will prepare and serve the Holy Communion. Robert L. Lockwood will be the server in the chapel. At the sanctuary service the following will serve: Olive Hodgkins, Russell D. Hodgkins, Alfred M. Toy, Grace Toy, James W. Ross.

The service will also be broadcast over WJDA, 1300 kc, at 11 a.m. The radio communion commentary will be narrated by Ruth Penn.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pre-school through ninth grade. Nursery care will be provided for babies and young children.

At 11 a.m., there will be a coffee hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Church School. For information, contact Pastor Arnold at the church, 479-7300.

The Youth fellowship will meet Sunday at 6:30 p.m. There will also be a curriculum workshop held at Bethany in the Allen Parlor from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Sunday, for teachers and parents of students enrolled in the Church School. The workshop, arranged by the Christian Education Committee, will be led by Joan P. Arnold, director of Christian Education at Old South Church in Boston.

A Lenten Breakfast Service will be held Ash Wednesday, March 7, 7 to 7:30 a.m. in the chapel. Pastor Arnold will give a brief meditation on the theme, "Watch and Pray." A light breakfast will follow at 7:30 a.m. There is no charge or reservation needed for the Lenten service or breakfast. The public is invited.

'If A Man Die . . .' Squantum Church Topic

"If a Man Die..." was the title of the sermon preached Sunday morning by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, during the first service at the First Church of Squantum.

The sermon, which dealt with the Christian attitude toward death, was based on three texts: "If a man die, shall he live again?" (Job 14:14), "But in fact Christ has been raised from the dead, the first fruits of those who have fallen asleep," (1 Corinthians 15:12-20), and "Jesus said to her, 'I am the resurrection and the life, he who believes in me, though he die, yet shall he live, and whoever lives and believes in me shall never die.'" (John 11:25-26a).

Hymns sung included "How Firm a Foundation, Ye Saints of the Lord," "Guide Me, O Thou Great Jehovah," and "He Leadeth Me". Music was provided by guitarists Andrew Ogilvie and Mary Ruth Scott.

Ushers were Kristie Shafon and Sarah Mil-dram, Patti Hurd and Ellen Ogilvie were in charge of refreshments.

At the second service, the pastor spoke on the subject, "Why Do Good People Suffer?" His text for that sermon was, "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding." (Proverbs 3:5) The Scripture was Job 1:13-2:13.

One special aspect of the second service was the large choir that was formed when the Chancel Choir and the Youth Choir combined to sing "Alleluia" as arranged by John Coates, Jr., Mary Ruth Scott directed.

Calvin and Gretchen Bumpus were greeters. Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott were ushers. Betty Ellis and Claudia Young hosted the Fellowship Hour after the second service.

Youth activities this week include programs for fifth and sixth grade boys Monday at 3 p.m.; fifth and sixth grade girls Wednesday at 3 p.m.; girls and boys seventh through tenth grades, Thursday at 3:30 p.m., Friday at 7 p.m., and Sunday at 3:45 p.m.; girls and boys eleventh and twelfth grades, Tuesday at 3:30 p.m.; Junior Choir Thursday at 2:30 p.m., Youth Choir Sunday at 11:45 a.m. (usually Sunday at 5 p.m.); Chancel Choir (older youth and adults) Thursday at 7 p.m.; Sunday School for children in kindergarten through the fourth grade is held Sunday at 8:30 a.m. There is a nursery for younger children during the service at 10:30 a.m.

This Sunday, there will be two services again; the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m.

Since this will be Covenant Sunday, members of the church are asked to attend one or the other of the two services to renew their covenant with God and with the Squantum congregation.

Members who cannot be present are asked to contact the pastor if they want their name to be included in the covenanting list. Visitors are also welcome.

Ash Wednesday Masses At St. John's

Masses at St. John the Baptist Church, 44 School St., Quincy Center, will be held Ash Wednesday at 7 a.m., 8 a.m., 9 a.m., 12:10 p.m. (both upstairs and downstairs church), 4 p.m. Mass for children, 5:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Ashes will be distributed during the celebration of Mass.

It is a common practice for Catholics to attend daily Mass throughout the Lenten season. Daily Masses at St. John's will be held at 8 a.m., 12:10 p.m. and 5:30 p.m.

According to Fr. William McCarthy, Pastor, Lent in the Catholic Church is a time of renewal and repentance. It marks the beginning of a 40 day period of sacrifice, and an opportunity to have a change of heart. During Lent parishioners are invited to look at their lives and begin a process of renewal, to bring them closer to God and to their fellow human beings.

Lent begins with the observance of Ash Wednesday, when Christians receive blessed ashes on their foreheads as a sign of their willingness to begin the solemn observance of Lenten renewal.

'Does Anyone Care?' Film At St. Mary's

"Does Anyone Care?", a film by John Powell, S.J., introducing Right To Life philosophy of the sanctity of human life, will be shown Monday, March 5, 7:30 p.m. at St. Mary's Parish, Crescent St., West Quincy (Mullerkey Hall).

Guest speaker, Linda Thayer from Mass. Citizens For Life, will give a brief presentation following the film.

All are welcome. For more information, call Nella Stevens, 770-0693.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST 20 Greenleaf St., Quincy

Cordially invites you and your family to attend Sunday Services at 10:45 a.m. Sunday School is held at the same time. Wednesday Evening Meetings begin at 7:30 p.m. Child care is available both Sunday and Wednesday.

THE 'OTHER' DRUG ABUSE

You could be addicted to drugs without even knowing it. Addiction to hard drugs like heroine or cocaine is only part of America's drug problem.

Prescription drug abuse
When you take a prescription drug (tranquilizers, sedatives, amphetamines, pain killers, etc.) without a doctor's advice or dispense your prescription drugs to others, you're contributing to the drug problem.

Over-the-counter drug abuse
When you take "over-the-counter" drugs without following the directions, or take them in large doses, you may be endangering your health.

Common drug abuse
When you smoke cigarettes or drink alcohol or coffee, you're taking dangerous drugs. More Americans are addicted to nicotine, alcohol and caffeine than all other drugs combined.

Drug abuse is self abuse. Be good to yourself. Don't abuse drugs.

Quincy Takes 3

Providence Wins Pee Wee A's Crown

Quincy's Pee Wee A team made an outstanding showing in the Kiwanis International Tournament, winning three games before being edged by eventual champion Providence, 1-0, in the semifinals.

Providence won the title with a 4-3 win over Ottawa in the finals. In the other semifinal game Ottawa defeated Austria, 8-2.

The Providence goal was the only one scored against Quincy in the tournament, with goalies Jeff McClorey and Mark Dwyer turning in remarkable performances.

Providence's Derek Harrison scored the winning goal in the second period with Ken Mace assisting.

Quincy opened with a 3-0 victory over Austria, making its first appearance in the tournament.

Quincy scored all its goals in the opening period by Brian Kelly, Kirk MacDonald and Matt Collins. Jon Brosnahan and Ken Staskyicz had assists.

The next victim was Plymouth, 7-0, with MacDonald having a hat trick. Kevin Daly, Terry Hack, Staskyicz and Sean Capplis had the other goals. MacDonald and McClorey had two assists apiece and Rich McDonald, Capplis, Kelly, Daly and Hack one each.

Quincy then blanked Wilbraham, 5-0, on two goals by Michael Toland and one each by MacDonald, Matt Collins and Matt Smith. Daly, Collins, McDonald, Smith, Michael Leonard and Hack had assists.

Quincy's B team made a better showing than expected in the A competition, breaking even in its two games.

Quincy edged Cape Cod, 3-2, with Brian Taylor, Bobby Kane and Rob Carroll scoring the goals. Joe Fasano had two assists and Brian Zimmerman and Mike Baylis one each.

The B team lost a hard-fought 6-4 decision to Wilbraham, with Fasano, Taylor, Mark Cafano and Bob Miller scoring the goals. Matt Buccella had two assists and Kane one. Goalies Scott Cunningham and James Tiberio kept the game close with some outstanding saves.

Playing for Quincy's A team were McClorey, Dwyer, Smith, Michael Toland, Daly, Capplis, Brosnahan, Kelly, McDonald, Ralph Richardson, MacDonald, Collins, Leonard, Staskyicz, Hack, Jim Daly, Bernie Toland and Eddie Dwyer.

Playing for the B team were Tiberio, Cunningham, Fasano, Zimmerman, Baylis, Michael Hughes, Cafano, Taylor, Sean Doherty, Carroll, Jim McCarthy, Miller, Steve Connelly, Kane, Robert Scott, Kelly Morris, Buccella, Greg Hohmann and John Grennon.

Quincy Squirts Bow Out In 3 Overtimes

Quincy's Squirt A team was involved in two of the best games in the 11th annual Kiwanis International Hockey Tournament as it broke even.

Quincy edged Yale, 3-2, on two goals by Joe Bevilacqua and one by Steve Carroll. Tim Collins, Bevilacqua, Matt Kelley and Bill Lydon had assists.

Quincy then dropped a 3-2 thriller in three overtimes to Troy, N.Y.

Brian Shepley scored his second goal in the third overtime period for the win. Jay McGrath had the other Troy goal.

Carroll and Collins scored for Quincy with assists for Bevilacqua, Collins and Ron Last.

Quincy's B team was out of its class in the A competition and was bombed by Brookline, 10-0, and by Hyannis, 10-1. The lone goal for Quincy was scored by Sean Vermette unassisted.

Edgewood, R.I., won the Squirt title with a 4-0 victory over Troy. In the semifinals Troy edged Cape Cod, 4-3, and Edgewood defeated Newton, 4-2.

Playing for the Quincy A team were Rich Brooks, Dennis Ruggere, Collins, Steve Carroll, Dan Savage, Michael Lally, Last, Lydon, John Witham, Sean McCarthy, Kelley, Mark Kelleher, Bevilacqua, Scott McClorey, Jason Radzevich and Rob Carroll.

Raiders In State Tourney First Time In 23 Years

By TOM SULLIVAN

The North Quincy hockey team, thanks to an amazing stretch drive, last week qualified for the state tournament for the first time in 23 years and the Raiders had a lot of momentum going into the post-season event.

North (13-5), seeded 18th, opened tournament play yesterday (Wednesday) against 16th-seeded Saugus (11-3-4) at Salem. If they won, the Raiders faced the unenviable task of meeting second-seeded St. John's Prep (14-3-3) Saturday at 5:30 at Salem. St. John's is seeded behind only Matignon.

When Kevin Jago's North team lost to Suburban League champion Newton North early in the season, it gave North a 4-4 record, meaning it had to win nine of its last 10 games to qualify.

Then, when the Raiders again lost to Newton North, making their record 8-5, they had to win their last five contests to make the grade.

And the North skaters did just that, winding up last week with an 11-3 romp over winless Cambridge and Latin.

The win gave North a final 13-5 record and by beating Waltham twice within a week, the Raiders finished in a tie for second place with Waltham.

"I can't say how proud I am of this team," Jago, the Raiders' second-year coach, said. "The kids were just superb down the stretch. They knew they had to win all of the games and they never let up for a second."

"I vowed I wouldn't let them down in the final game against Cambridge, but I think the kids were looking forward to the tournament in the first period when they gave us a bit of a scare. But they regrouped in the second period and outclassed Cambridge the rest of the game. I'm very happy for the players, they certainly deserve to be in the tournament."

Keith Smith had a big night against Cambridge with four goals, three coming in the opening period. He also set up the Raiders' first goal on a nice pass to Dave Fasano less than two minutes into the game. Rich Horrigan also scored in the period.

Cambridge surprised by scoring three times in the period, two goals by Paul Corea and one by Sid Ferreira, but the Raiders took a 5-3 lead after one.

North held Cambridge without a shot for eight minutes of the second period and the Cantabs had only 10 shots in the final two sessions.

Scott Messina, who finished third in the league scoring, got an unassisted goal midway through the middle period and Dave Tapper scored a power play goal a few minutes later. Smith scored his fourth goal with a minute to go and North led, 8-3, going into the third period.

"Messina's goal gave up some breathing room," Jago said. "We hadn't been playing well fundamentally to that point, but the kids really began to play well after that in the second period."

John McGlame, freshman Derek Holt and Jay D'angelis scored in the final period to wrap up North's fifth win in a row and a tournament berth.

"The kids played under a lot of pressure in the final game but it was a real team effort, everybody knew their role and played them unselfishly. This is just great and we are peaking at the right time and have some momentum going into the tournament."

Walsh Dominates Koch Women's League

Mary Ellen Walsh dominates the individual scoring the Koch Club Women's bowling league with the second half competition at the halfway mark.

Captain Walsh holds the high average of 106.4, high three string total of 356, best single string of 150 and the most spares with 143.

Following Mary Ellen's 106.4 average in the top 10 are Theresa Bonetti, 103.7, June Hillier, 101.6; Barbara Murphy, 100.0; Debbie Davis, 99.2; Debra Koch, 98.3; Edie Maher, 97.0; Pat Lawlor, 96.9; Carol Johnson, 95.8, while Marge Finlay and Ginny Rowe are tied for tenth spot with 93.9 each.

Shirley MacNeil's team holds a slim lead in the standings with 27-13 while Debbie Davis and Joanne Colluppi are deadlocked for second place with 26-14 marks.

ST. JOHN'S WINS

Tony Quintiliani showed the way with 16 points and Pete Houston had 14 as the St. John's Juniors basketball team of Quincy skipped off to a 26-15 halftime lead and went on to a 52-36 victory over St. Agatha's of Milton for the Norfolk Deanery Junior title.

The St. John's lineup included: Mazzola, Cochrane, Barone, McKeegan, forwards; Houston, Curtin, centers; Pompeo, DeGreco, Vespi, Quintiliani, guards.

OLD COLONY ADVANCES

Gus Lawrence, Bill Ringer and Ken Lang each had 11 points as the Old Colony DeMolay basketball team opened defense of its state title with a 48-38 victory over Cape Cod DeMolay at the Squantum School gym.

The Old Colony lineup included: Hibbard, Lang, Vaughn, Spanks, W. Ringer, forwards; R. Ringer, Saari, centers; Biller, Clapp, Lawrence, Newman, guards.

ARENA FORECAST

Coach David Hourin of the champion North Quincy High School hockey team told a testimonial banquet in Rotary Hall that Quincy will have an arena someday and will then turn out high school hockey teams as good as any in the state.

SPORTS BITS '81

Dick Donovan of Quincy, a pitcher for the Boston Braves, and three teammates, were rescued when their boat started to sink a mile off Bradenton Beach, Fla., while they were on a spring training fishing trip . . . Ralph Beaton scored 21 points and Jim O'Brien had 18 as the North Quincy Koch Club came from behind to beat the Dedham VFW, 66-56, for its 11th win in 14 games . . . Bob Holland and Arthur Armstrong, both of Quincy and both goalies, were starring for the Colgate University hockey team . . . The Boston Bruins recalled Ed Reigle from Hershey to replace defenseman Hal Laycoe, who was out with an injured foot . . . MacKinley and McAloney scored 13 points apiece to lead the Houghs Neck Congregational Church David team to a 47-22 victory over Blessed Sacrament, its 57th victory in 58 games . . . Eddie Boyle, the nationally known basketball official, was the speaker as the North Quincy Koch Club celebrated its third anniversary with a sports night at the North Quincy Knights of Columbus hall . . . Jim Curry, Pete Condos and Dick Dempsey scored the goals as the Bryan Post hockey team tied the Woburn Hockey Club, 3-3 in a Midnight League game at Lynn . . . Substitute Bud Grant popped in a jump shot with eight seconds remaining to give the Minneapolis Lakers a National Basketball Association victory over the Boston Celtics . . . Elbie Fletcher of Milton, former Boston Braves, Pittsburgh Pirates and Cleveland Indians first baseman who was with Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast League last year, announced his retirement from baseball.

Quincy Bows 62-51 In Final Of NE Tourney

Larry Doyle, Buzzy Ciriello, Dick Drake and Pete Ramponi led the Quincy High School basketball team to a 44-42 lead at the end of three quarters but the Presidents' defense collapsed in the finals and they bowed to Bulkeley of New London, Conn., 62-51, in the finals of the New England Tournament.

The key move in the game came with nearly five minutes to play in the third period when Bulkeley Coach Bill O'Brien removed his star center, Art Quimby, for a rest with Quincy leading, 40-37. Quimby returned refreshed to lead Bulkeley's last period surge that outscored Quincy, 20-7.

The high scorers for Quincy were Doyle and Ciriello, with 12 points each, Drake with 11 and Ramponi with 10.

The Quincy lineup included: Ramponi, Locicero, Doyle, forwards; Drake, center; Ciriello, O'Rourke, Page, guards.

En route to the New England finals:

Doyle hit for 11 points in the first seven minutes of play for a 23-15 lead and Ramponi scored 21 points and Ciriello 17 for the game as the Presidents walked St. John's of Worcester, 76-59, in the semi-finals.

Quincy took the better part of a quarter to solve a tricky zone defense put up by Portsmouth, N.H., but then the Presidents exploded all over the Boston Garden court for a 65-43 victory. Ramponi had 22 points and Ciriello 13.

QJC Finish With 17-9 Record

The Quincy Junior College men's basketball team, under first-year coach Bill Phelan, finished its regular season last week with a 17-9 overall record and a 13-5 mark and third place in the Greater Boston Small College Conference.

The Jaguars, who finished first last year and won the conference playoffs, open playoff action tonight (Thursday) at 8 o'clock against second place North Shore at Northern Essex Community College in Haverhill. In the opening game at 6 first place Northern Essex will meet fourth place Emerson.

The men's final will be played Saturday at 3 o'clock and the women's final at 1.

Those wishing to see the game should take the Southeast Expressway north to Rte. 93 to 495 and take the last Haverhill exit, take the next exit, take a left, then the next left and the college is on that street. A booster bus will leave from the junior college at 6:45.

Quincy finished its season with a 105-92 victory over Emerson, led by 31 points by Bill Smith, who played his best game of the year. Steve Belecastro had 25 points and went over 900 points for his career. John Purland had 15 points and six rebounds, Bill Grey 10 points, eight rebounds and a fine defensive game, Paul Gill 18 points and a good floor game, Pat McDonough six points as he filled in for Purland, who had foul trouble, and Mike Jaehrig and Tom Deegan played well off the bench.

Phelan, who took over for Brian Buckley, who resigned to become head coach at Curry College, thanks his assistant coaches, Mike Anderson and John White.

St. Moritz Bantam A's To Defend Title In Sweden

The St. Moritz Bantam A hockey team of West Quincy left Tuesday for Vasteros, Sweden, where it will defend its 1983 title against teams from Finland, Sweden, Norway and Russia in the Gurka Pucken Tournament.

The St. Moritz team includes five players from Quincy, Matt Ostiguy, Terry McKinnon, David Young, Timmy O'Brien and Jim Bille. The roster also includes Kevin Collins of Weymouth, Kevin Lottl of Stoughton, John Currier of Dedham, Brian Valentine of Westwood, Larry Piazza of Norwood, Kevin Martarano of Walpole, Marty O'Brien of Charlestown, Peter White of Medford, David Galpin and Bill Simoneau of Lynnfield, Barry Moore of Reading and David Butt of Winchester.

The team's record is 15-5-3 in the Metropolitan Boston League.

President Leo Rubino and the players wish to thank the businesses and individuals who made donations to help make the trip possible.

Notarangelo Wins State 129-Pound Title

Quincy's Mike Notarangelo continued undefeated last weekend when he swept through the Division One state wrestling championships and won the 129-pound title.

He will next compete in the New England championships this weekend in Wayland.

Notarangelo, who went through the regular season without a loss, kept it up as we swept to the South sectional crown and last weekend in Burlington he won the state title as he won a 10-2 decision over Gerry McKay of Putnam Vocational.

Notarangelo made the finals with a 7-0 overtime victory over Pete Sullivan of Springfield Classical.

"Mike's the hardest working kid on the team this year," said Quincy's first-year coach, Tim Cahill, who led the Presidents to a 15-1 regular season record. "As a captain, he set a fine example, always giving 100 percent."

Joining Notarangelo in the New England will be one of the surprises of the state tournament, North Quincy's Jim White, who finished third in the 158-pound class. He upset No. 1 seed Frank Bowrys of Agawam.

Quincy's Dave Coulter, who had been unbeaten going into the states, just missed qualifying for the New England when he finished fifth at 108 pounds.

Quincy Rugby Club In Bermuda Tourney

The Quincy Rugby Club will board a plane to Bermuda March 21 to play in the seventh annual Bermuda International Rugby Tournament.

Due to its reputation, past performance in New England play and the semi-final finish in the New York

Seranan Lake Tournament, the Quincy club has been chosen as the only team to represent the United States.

Quincy will face teams from England, Australia and Scotland. The club is made up predominantly of Quincy athletes.

To assist the team in its overseas endeavors, the club is holding a fund raiser on March 17 at the Fore River Clubhouse.

Further information on the Quincy club's activities can be obtained by calling club president Peter Donovan at 542-1010.

Rowley Qualifies For N.E. Track Championships

Dan Rowley of Quincy was one of six members of the Bentley College indoor track team to qualify for last weekend's New England championships at the Commonwealth Armory in Boston.

Rowley finished sixth in the 800 meters. He earned All-New England honors as a freshman when he finished third with a school-record time of 1:53.04. After missing his sophomore and junior years due to achilles tendon surgery, Rowley returned this season and two weeks ago finished second in the Easterns with a time of 1:56.9.

2 Residents In '10 Little Indians'

Two Quincy residents, Shirley Harrow of Bay St.

and Carol Laing of Greenleaf St., have been cast in Curtain Call Theatre's production of "Ten Little Indians," to be presented March 15, 16 and 17 at Thayer Academy.

THE VIDEO CONNECTION.

by James S. Leach

HOLLYWOOD Nowhere in the world is the saying "When you're hot you're hot" more applicable than on the many production stages scattered throughout this town.

A prime example is ABC-TV's top-rated prime-time soap, "Dynasty." Hotly describes the excitement found on the set of this Wednesday night fixture where some of Hollywood's biggest names are the show's biggest fans. As I reported a couple of weeks ago, Michael Jackson arranges his busy schedule around time he sets aside to sneak on the 20th Century lot and watch production.

Every talent agent in town fights tooth and nail for an audience with "Dynasty's" producers in hope of landing a part in the blockbuster for their clients. Former President Gerald Ford, and Henry Kissinger appeared on the show for, by their standards, a paltry three hundred dollars. Big names like Angie Dickinson, Richard Chamberlain, and even mighty Michael Jackson are primed and ready to jump into the "Dynasty" cast on a moment's notice.

In the last few weeks the program has spawned a commercial line of high fashion clothing and its own scent of perfume, slated to soon hit the market. Faces of our friends from Denver are found on a regular basis gracing the covers of every national magazine. Sultany star, Joan Collins, recently splashed across the pages of PLAYBOY showing much, much more than her face. In other words, "Dynasty" is HOT!

My Hollywood connection reports some honest to goodness news from "Dynasty" where the beautiful Diann Carroll has been signed to join the cast in the role of Kirby's mother. So much for Alicia and her threats to uncover Kirby's past.

It's easy to see where the writers might take the plot. With Miss Carroll suddenly becoming Kirby's mother, wouldn't it be just as easy to have Michael Jackson turn up as her long lost brother? As the savior of sound might say, "Can you Beat It? What a Thriller!"

My video connection at Capital Records informs me that a home video called "Picture Music" featuring 14 pop videoclips is set for immediate release. Priced at $29.95, the one-hour video cassette highlights some of Capitol's biggest hits of the past with reprints of classics like "Naked Eyes" "Always Something There To Remind Me,"

Steve Miller's "Abracadabra," and one of my all-time favorites, Kim Carnes' "Bette Davis Eyes."

At MCA Home Video, a package of Olivia Newton-John clips centered around her recent smash single, "Twist of Fate," coupled with a guest appearance by John Travolta, is ready for worldwide distribution selling at a suggested retail price of $19.95.

As the video bug bites more and more executives in the music industry, watch for the market to be flooded with compilations of greatest hits featuring all of the industry's hottest stars. Wouldn't George Orwell be proud to see how the future is happening right now in 1984.

Got a question for your favorite star? I'll track 'em down for you. Send questions and comments to James S. Leach c/o THE VIDEO CONNECTION, 22761 Pacific Coast Hwy., Malibu, California, 90265.

WEEK OF: MARCH 1

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
 Outstanding week to persuade others to see your point of view. Loved one is in a sentimental mood and you're addicted with an early case of spring fever.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
 Week focuses on career or academic life, with key advance possible in either area. Romantic interest is distracted. Household tasks can prove unexpectedly costly on weekend.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
 Financial loose ends need to be tied up during a week that accents accounting and other monetary tasks. Unhappy friends become more cheerful, thanks to your positive outlook.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22
 Romantic setback can be reversed before the weekend, but only if you refuse to be discouraged. Small rewards make your job more pleasant. Physical fitness is accented all week.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21
 You succeed in planning social functions, even if on a strict budget. Watch out that friends aren't taking advantage of your generosity. Be on the lookout for bargains.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
 Fine week for new or part-time business activities. Legal matter requires clarification. Social life perks up through weekend. Travel planning favored throughout period.

LEO - July 23-August 22
 Pace becomes increasingly lively during this highly social week. Don't be too eager to enter into arrangement involving shared finances. Romance brightens through weekend.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
 Finances are emphasized; luxury item may be priced within your range and you attack budget with new diligence. Romantic show-down can be avoided on the weekend.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
 Memory plays games; be sure to record all agreements, appointments, arrangements. Key announcement on family-related matter is issued by Tuesday or Wednesday; avoid overreacting.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
 Physical activity is spotlighted in a week that accents recreation and fitness. Unhappy friend becomes more cheerful. Platonic relationship may be launched on the weekend.

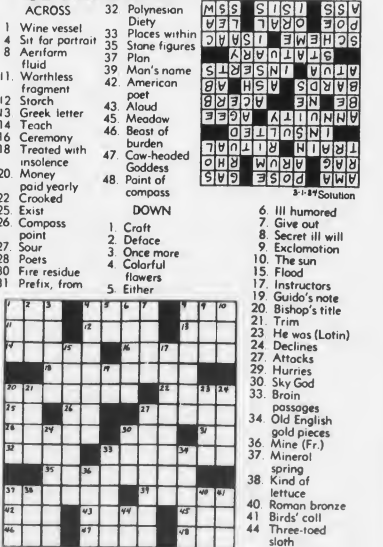

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
 Purchases made now should be accompanied by a complete guarantee. Work projects may require revision. An early start on spring cleaning makes the whole season more enjoyable.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
 Follow up on your own clever ideas before someone else claims credit for them. Paperwork piles up but you may be able to recruit excellent help very close to home.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
 You're more confident than people initially think, you're highly creative, and you're easily distracted. Friendships forged later in the spring can be lifelong ones. Careful planning leads to improved financial status beginning late summer, early autumn.

BORN THIS WEEK
 March 1st, singer Harry Belafonte; 2nd, actress Jennifer Jones; 3rd, actress Jean Harlow; 4th, actress Susan Clark; 5th, singer Andy Gibb; 6th, actor Rob Reiner; 7th, composer Maurice Ravel.

PRINTED FORM FABLE

QUESTION: Why should I use the services of a REALTOR when I can buy all the real estate forms I need at the stationary store and just fill them in myself?

ANSWER: These printed forms are only a starting point. There are dozens of varieties of deeds, leases, mortgage forms. Which ones are to be chosen to best protect yourself is a good question for openers. Then, it's what goes into the blanks, what is crossed out, and what is added that gives you the value, security and protection that you pay the experts for. Believe me, some of the largest financial losses and legal entanglements have resulted from printed forms being incorrectly used.

IT'S WHAT GOES INTO PRINTED FORMS THAT GIVES THEM VALUE AND PROTECTION.

THE PROBATE AND FAMILY COURT
Norfolk Division

Docket No. 84P0414E1
Estate of JOHN J. MORRIS late of Quincy in the County of Norfolk

NOTICE

A petition has been presented in the above-captioned matter praying that the last will of said decedent be proved and allowed and that ROBERT F. HUNTER of Chatham in the County of Barnstable be appointed Executor named in the will without surety on the bond.

If you desire to object to the allowance of said petition, you or your attorney should file a written appearance in said Court at Dedham on or before 10:00 in the forenoon on March 21, 1984.

In addition you should file a written statement of objections to the petition, giving the specific grounds therefore, within thirty (30) days after the return day (or such other time as the Court, on motion with notice to the petitioner, may allow) in accordance with Probate Rule 2A.

Witness, ROBERT M. FORD, Esquire, First Justice of said Court at Dedham, the twenty-first day of February in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eighty-four.

Enclosed Area Approved For Doughboy Donuts

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
The Doughboy Donuts building at 618-622 Washington St., which was damaged recently in a truck accident, will have an enclosed storage area in the rear when it is reconstructed.

The License Board approved plans Tuesday for the storage area which Building Inspector Allan MacDonald estimated would be 8 ft. by 40 ft.

Ward Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro said he did not object to the enclosure, and noted owner Paul Barry has always been very cooperative.

Barry said that the restaurant, which was granted a license in September 1982, has been closed since the Feb. 16 accident which resulted in "thousands of dollars

McCauley Sees No Fulltime Solicitor

Mayor Francis X. McCauley says he has no intention of trying to make the lawyers in the City Solicitor's office fulltime city employees.

"I'm comfortable the way it is," he said. "As far as I'm concerned they are full time now. I can always get ahead of them when I want them."

The subject of a fulltime city solicitor came up at Monday night's Ordinance Committee meeting on raises proposed by McCauley for department heads who are not represented by unions.

One of the raises would boost the city solicitor from $28,264 to $38,500, despite the fact that the job is considered part-time because the holder is allowed to maintain a private practice on the side.

Solicitor Dean Nicastro defended the raise proposal, noting that the solicitor's salary has lagged behind that of other department heads since 1970 and "the raise is consistent with the rise in work load."

Councillor Stephen J. McGrath, the only lawyer on the Council, asked him to comment on the possibility of making the city solicitor fulltime.

"I like the concept," said Nicastro.

"The city solicitor is the chief legal officer of a $75 million corporation. In private industry we would be talking $45,000 to $50,000. The Brookline town counsel is fulltime and he gets $41,000."

Nicastro predicted that the day will come when the city Law Department is fulltime. But right now he's satisfied.

"I don't believe the city solicitor should be paid like a private lawyer," he said. "There is an honor and a privilege that goes with public service, too."

"My private practice is minimal and my assistants are essentially fulltime. The city is getting a bargain right now. But if the City Council wants a solicitor to be fulltime, I would be receptive."

After listening to Nicastro, the Ordinance Committee decided to split the raise order into 41 parts and deal with each raise separately.

Council President James A. Sheets suggested that each individual bring to the Council a description of his or her job "so that we can know what the job is, the number of personnel in the department and the size of the budget for which the person is responsible."

Councillor Joanne Condon noted that some of the departments have lost personnel and some have gained them. This might mean, she said, lower salaries for department heads or higher.

Indictments Expected In Stoning

Quincy police said indictments are expected later this week in a Houghs Neck incident in which a car with four sailors from the USS Fulton was stoned.

"We have a line on all the players," said Det. Thomas Healy, who, with Det. Thomas Casey, has been investigating the incident which happened on the night of Feb. 17.

One of the sailors, Frank Magdon, suffered head injuries when a brick was thrown through the windshield of the car. He was treated at City Hospital.

Police said the incident occurred after an argument between the sailors and local youths in Louis' Cafe, 1269 Sea St. The car was stoned as the sailors drove away.

City Value Is Set At $1.8 Billion

By TOM HENSHAW

The State Department of Revenue has certified the 100 per cent revaluation figures for Quincy, setting the full fair cash value of the entire city at $1,836,780,735.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said he plans to ask the City Council Monday night to set a hearing date at which he will present his plan to classify property for two tax rates, one residential, the other commercial, industrial and personal property.

McCauley declined to disclose the figures he will propose but the state has set Quincy's minimum residential factor at 79.6678, which means that the residential tax rate cannot be less than that figure as a percentage of full value.

"This is good news," said the Mayor. "This means the whole 100 percent reval process is completed and we can move on to adopt classification. Then we can set the real tax rate for fiscal 1984."

McCauley said he plans to appear himself at the City Council's classification hearing, along with the Board of Assessors and his aide, Arthur Foley, to present his recommendations for classification.

"I don't know if the Council will go along with my plan," he said. "They are free to amend the plan. But at least it will provide some starting point."

Meanwhile, he said, the assessors and the city auditor will work on other phases of preparing the fiscal 1984 tax rate.

"I'd like to have the tax rate ready by April 1 so that we can meet the May 1 billing date," said McCauley, "but realistically I don't think we can make it. I hope we will be able to set the rate not too far into April."

McCauley released figures showing that, under reval, residential property owners probably will pay a higher share of the costs of the city than commercial, industrial and personal property taxpayers.

Before reval, the city's total value was $7.34 per cent residential, 22.28 percent commercial, 11.48 percent industrial and 8.90 percent personal property.

After reval, the total value will be 71.09 percent residential, 17.60 percent commercial, 7.62 percent industrial, and 3.69 percent personal property.

But those values as a percentage of the tax levy will be softened when the city is classified into residential, commercial, industrial and personal property, under two different tax rates.

34% Turnout Forecast Here Hart Vs. Mondale Big Fight In Primary

About one out of every three registered voters in Quincy are expected to turn out Tuesday in a presidential primary in which virtually all the excitement is on the Democratic ballot.

The big contest pits former Vice President Walter F. Mondale against an unexpected rival, Sen. Gary Hart of Colorado, in the presidential preference corner.

When the campaign opened, the competition was expected to be between Mondale and Ohio Sen. John Glenn but upset victories in the New Hampshire primary and the Maine caucuses have pushed Hart to the fore.

Hart's arrival in Massachusetts as a top contender was so unexpected that it took a bit of research to find out if he has a slate of delegates from the 10th District pledged to him at the convention.

He does, although it may be only part of one.

Jack Weir, the state coordinator for the Hart campaign, said James Welch of Hyde Park, Susan Cooperband of Milton and June Chin of Brockton are pledged and three others are contested before the Democratic State Committee.

In spite of the Hart-Mondale contest, however, City Clerk John Gillis said he expects only 34 per cent of the 48,076 registered voters in Quincy will show up at the polls, compared to 50.7 per cent in 1980.

There are 31,677 registered Democrats, 6,464 Republicans and 9,935 unenrolled.

In addition to the presidential preference, voters in each party will cast ballots for a state committee man and woman and members of the ward committees in the city.

There will be eight candidates for the presidency on the ballot but only five of them are still in the race following the New Hampshire primary and the Maine caucuses of the past two weeks.

The five remaining are Mondale, Hart, Glenn, former Sen. George McGovern, the Democratic candidate in 1972, and the Rev. Jesse Jackson, the Chicago social activist.

Those who dropped out are Sen. Alan Cranston of California, Sen. Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina, and former Gov. Reubin Askew of Florida.

President Ronald Reagan is unopposed on the Republican ballot.

The large primary turnout in 1980 was occasioned by contests on both ballots.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy handily defeated President Jimmy Carter and California Gov. Edmund G. (Jerry) Brown Jr., in Quincy, although Carter won renomination throughout the country.

On the Republican side, Reagan won in Quincy over George Bush of Texas, John Anderson of Illinois and assorted other candidates of varying strength.

There will be contests for state committeeman on both the Democratic and Republican ballots next Tuesday.

Among the Democrats, Robert E. Gibbons of Wollaston and Ronald Mann will be contesting for the state committee seat that is being given up by Peter O'Neill.

Carl R. Johnson of Braintree is also on the ballot but he has withdrawn from the election in order to run for the Legislature from Braintree, where Rep. Elizabeth Metayer is retiring.

On the Republican side, Raymond T. Sullivan of Wollaston is challenging

School Lunch Prices Going DOWN April 2

The revolving account that was started two and a half years ago in the School Department's food services program is working so well that the price of lunch for students is to be cut on Monday, April 2.

"It's a hell of a little success story," said School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon.

In addition, he said, the $209,000 surplus that has accumulated in the fund will also be used to renovate the Quincy High School kitchen and cafeteria and raise the program coordinator's salary back to what it was before.

"If all goes well," said Creedon, "we will be able to reduce the cost of school lunch another five cents in the fall.

"This is the School Department's response to Proposition 2½ and the reality of declining enrollment. We have a good situation now and we did it while keeping lunch costs lower than neighboring communities."

Starting April 2, the cost of school lunch for elementary school pupils will be 80 cents, instead of the current 85 cents, and for secondary school pupils it will be 85 cents instead of 90 cents.

The same lunch, said Creedon, costs $1.05 in Boston, Weymouth and Waltham; $1 in Braintree and Milton; and 85 cents in Brockton.

Prior to the advent of Proposition 2½ in the 1981-82 school year, students paid 50 cents in elementary schools and 65 cents in secondary schools for lunches subsidized by $244,000 in the school budget.

The subsidy was eliminated after Prop 2½, the price of lunches raised to 85 cents and 90 cents and further savings were made administratively, including combining the jobs of director and purchasing agent.

As a result, starting with Water Main Break Floods Shore Drive

Water was cut off from the Louisburg Square South condominiums for some 22 hours Sunday morning when a 12-inch main broke under Quincy Shore Drive, flooding the street.

The break occurred about 4:45 a.m. Sunday in a section of cast iron pipe about 15 years old and lasted until about 3 a.m. Monday. Some three and a half million gallons escaped.

The southbound lanes of Quincy Shore Drive were closed until 8:30 a.m. Sunday and the northbound lanes were closed until 3 p.m. Sunday.

Water, Sewer and Drain Department workers were able to seal off the break by the use of gates so none of the Louisburg Square condos suffered water damage.

Burgin Parkway Extension To Start In May

Sen. Paul D. Harold said ground-breaking for the long-awaited Burgin Parkway Extension may be held as early as the third week in May.

"We hope to have Gov. Michael S. Dukakis here for the ground-breaking ceremonies as part of National Transportation Week," said Harold.

All the state and federal money for the project is now in place, he said, and the road should go out for bids in the next week or two.

The last obstacle to the bid was expected to be hurdled yesterday (Wednesday) when the engineering firm of H.W. Moore was scheduled to turn a design for street lighting over to the state.

The final funding was assured last week when Cong. Brian J. Donnelly announced that the Federal Highway Administration released $4,193,000 to the state DPW for the project

Firefighter Commended In Choking Incident

Firefighter James D. McCarthy of 90 Babcock St., Houghton Neck, has been commended for apparently saving the life of Mrs. Marylou Minichiello, owner of a local restaurant, who was choking on a piece of steak.

McCarthy, said the commendation from Chief Edward F. Barry, "recognizing the symptoms, immediately went to her assistance. He executed the Heimlich Maneuver which resulted in her expelling a piece of meat and regaining the ability to breathe."

The incident occurred Jan. 22 in Mrs. Minichiello's restaurant where McCarthy and others were eating brunch and watching the Super Bowl on television.

"Even though off duty," said Barry, "the Fire Department takes pride in the action of this man and this commendation shall be read at all roll calls and posted at all fire station bulletin boards for 14 days."

W.Q. Garages Told To Get Along With Neighbors

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Two West Quincy garages appeared before the License Board Tuesday after complaints by residents of the areas.

Both were told to get along with their neighbors, and the hearings were continued for one month.

Ward 4 Councillor James Sheets said he has received a number of complaints regarding a service station at 315 Willard St. operated by Valenti Biondi.

Sheets said that entering California Ave. is often difficult because of many parked cars, including many owned by Biondi's employees.

"Emergency vehicles will not be able to get to California Ave.," said Sheets. "The business (Biondi's) is much too large for such a small area."

"You can't put a gallon of water in a quart jar."

Three women, including Madeline and Elaine Pangrazz, who are residents of the area complained of not being able to park their cars in front of their houses.

Biondi acknowledged that he has a "very active business" and that there is a shortage of parking spaces in the area.

"I've done more than anyone in the area to try and get along," said Biondi.

But, City Clerk John Gillis, who is board chairman, said, "if anyone is entitled to park on California Ave., it's the neighbors."

"You have to get along. I don't blame you for everything."

The board voted to write to the Traffic Commission to define the intersection and to consider an ordinance which will allow pleasure vehicles including those of Biondi's employees, to park under a nearby bridge to alleviate part of the problem.

The board will also ascertain whether Biondi is licensed for painting and auto body work.

Sheets also told the board he has had complaints about Centre St. Garage, Inc., 253-257 Centre St.

The complaints regard Blue Hill Towing Co. which tows cars to the garage at night, and the appearance of the property, said Sheets.

Local residents Leo Capobianco and Walter Sten told the board of car parts thrown around at night, guard dogs barking and other disturbances.

Atty. Dennis Harrington, representing owner Alfred G. Volandre, explained that Blue Hill Towing is a subsidiary of Centre St. Garage.

Harrington said that since Volandre has been told of neighbors' complaints, he has fenced in the yard and spoken to his drivers about limiting car lights and noise in the area.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald questioned the right of Blue Hill Towing to operate at the site, when Centre St. Garage holds the license. MacDonald asked for a City Solicitor's ruling.

Board members suggested that Volandre replace the guard dogs with a security person.

Volandre, who said he will replace the guard dog which is causing most of the problems, is to discuss the situation with the two neighbors and Sheets.

Crane Listing Names Of Those Owed Money

State Treasurer Robert Q. Crane is releasing the names of more than 30,000 Massachusetts residents who are owed money under the state's Unclaimed Money Law.

The law seeks to protect individuals by assuring that unclaimed bank accounts, uncashed payroll checks, gift certificates, insurance proceeds and other funds in active for five years are returned to their rightful owners.

The names of Quincy residents who are owed money under the law will appear in The Quincy Sun next week.

Harold Sees Medfield As Site For Jail

Sen. Paul D. Harold has called potential temporary jail sites in Quincy and Braintree "inappropriate" and suggested that state-owned land in Norfolk County be considered for the facility.

He proposed that the site of the State Hospital in Medfield, which is down from 3,000 to 300 resident patients, as the facility most readily adaptable at a minimum cost and the shortest time. The Medfield site was proposed last week by The Quincy Sun.

A survey team made up of David Flynn of Bridgewater and John Buckley of Abington has been examining county-owned land as the site of a temporary jail to relieve overcrowding in the 167-year-old Dedham House of Correction.

One of the sites being surveyed is the Norfolk County Recreational Facility, the former Wollaston Golf Course, in North Quincy.

Harold said the North Quincy site is inappropriate because the land was purchased by the county with a federal grant that restricts its use to recreational purposes.

"Even a temporary use for correctional purposes would violate this restriction," he said, "and could trigger a requirement for the repayment of millions of dollars to the federal government."

Harold noted that none of the 12 sites being considered by Flynn and Buckley, including the North Quincy facility, has been recommended as the site for the temporary jail.

"I suggest," he said, "that the identification of potential sites be expanded to include appropriate state land in Norfolk County and not be limited to county and municipal land."

"There has been a good faith effort on the part of the county commissioners but it is apparent that the sites so identified are not appropriate and that additional searching is necessary."

He said a consideration of state-owned sites, like Medfield, "is an obvious alternative which ought to be explored."

The county is under federal court order to close the north wing of the Dedham jail by June 30. The 37 to 50 inmates of the wing would have to be transferred to a temporary jail while a permanent solution is sought.

Hancock Lot Prepared For Validation Parking

Workers from Cincinnati Time Co. of Norwood removed the island at the entrance to the John Hancock Parking area from Revere Rd. this week in preparation for the coming of validated parking.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said the city is still looking to April 1 as the day Kinney Systems of Boston will take over the lots and institute validated parking.

Kinney is now printing posters and pamphlets for distribution to merchants for distribution to customers explaining how validated parking works.

The mayor's aide, Arthur Foley, said some 50 or 60 merchants attended a meeting last week at City Hall and a majority of them

Quarry Draining May Resume Next Week

The J.F. White Co. of Newton may start draining Swingle's Quarry for the body of Paul Gooch, 17, of Brockton as early as next week.

Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson met with company officials Tuesday to address the city's concerns. He said he expects the contract to be finalized today (Thursday).

"I'm ready to sign right now," said Anderson. "We have all the environmental and geological clearances. White has all the material ready and can start work in seven days."

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said he plans to call a meeting of the principals, including the Gooch boy's parents, early next week to get things started.

Under the plan, the J.F. White Co. will drain the quarry, which is nearly 400 feet deep in some sections, retrieve the Gooch boy's body and then use the quarry hole as a place to dump clean fill.

Young Gooch drowned last June 20 after he jumped from a 50-foot ledge into the water-filled hole. An earlier attempt to drain the quarry ended Sept. 9 when a section of the granite wall collapsed.

Fake Water Workers Flim Flam Elderly

Police have issued a warning to Quincy residents, particularly the elderly, to beware of flim flam artists posing as employees of the Water Department.

The most recent incident occurred last Friday when two men who said they were from the Water Department talked their way into the home of Otmar Prasnik of 449 Sea St., Adams Shore.

They told him they were seeing to his water problems and asked him to let the water run for a half hour after they left. Later, police said, Prasnik found $440 in cash missing.

At last! A Home Mortgage with no unpleasant surprises.

Colonial Federal's new Fixed Payment Adjustable Rate Mortgage
is now available.

The adjustable interest rate home mortgages offered by most banks today have one major drawback. Because the interest rates vary, your monthly mortgage payments can vary. They can go up and they can go down. You have no way of knowing what your payments will be in the future. That's enough to discourage you from buying a new home.

Colonial Federal doesn't believe that mortgage payments should act like elevators. So, to make it easier for you to finance your new home, we've designed a brand new adjustable rate mortgage which offers you guaranteed fixed monthly payments for the first ten years. After this, the mortgage may be continued, modified or paid off without penalty.

No unpleasant surprises means that you can borrow and budget with confidence, knowing that your payments are unconditionally guaranteed to remain the same for ten years. And, that's a long time to have peace of mind.

This new mortgage is available only from Colonial Federal Savings Bank. It's just one more example of our continuing dedication to giving our customers the very best in personal banking services.

For more information, visit one of our convenient offices today or call 617 471-0750.

Readers Forum Feels There Are 2 Classes Of Residents

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

It seems to me that the City of Quincy is broken into two distinctive classes of resident, with regards to City Beauty, the rich and the poor. The rich classy areas of the City are always well kept and clean while the poor areas are forever filthy and unkempt most of the year.

The residents in the poor areas are human and have feelings too. All property owners pay property tax, but it seems that the poor pay for the wealthy, clean half of the City. The poorer working class residents clean up their own street dirt.

I thought the City had a Department of Public Works to do the street cleaning. Just because Proposition 2½ is around is only an excuse for allegedly having no money to clean the streets.

Lou Tozzi Appreciates N.Q. Track Coverage

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Just a short note to thank you very very much for all the excellent coverage during this past indoor track season in the Sun.

Tom Sullivan's articles were a pleasure to read and the kids look forward to reading them and putting them up on our track bulletin board at school every week. You have always been very kind to N.Q. track and this year was no different. You give us a great deal of publicity and it helps the program remain strong year after year.

We're very proud of our accomplishments and even more proud of the kids, and thanks to you, readers of the paper get to share our success with us.

Thanks again for your continued support

Quincy Quiz

Two winners in the Quincy Quiz this week.

Douglas P. Morrill of 53 Holyoke St., North Quincy, and Regina M. Whalen of 161 Samoset Ave., Merrymount, win T-shirts.

Each week two Quincy Sun T-shirts and two Quincy Sun bumper stickers are offered as prizes in the Quincy Quiz.

The first two readers, one a mail subscriber, to submit to the Sun office in writing the correct answers to the week's five questions win T-shirts. The next two win bumper stickers.

Only one member of a household is eligible to compete in any one week and no one is eligible to win more than three T-shirts.

This week's Quincy Quiz:

1. What is the name of the President of the Kiwanis Club of Quincy?

2. The current salary of the city solicitor of Quincy is: $28,264? $38,500? $41,000?

3. What well-known Quincy business establishment is located at 338 Washington St.?

4. True or false: Building Inspector Allan F. MacDonald also serves the city as fence viewer.

5. Braintree Ave. is located in what section of the city?

Answers to last week's Quincy Quiz:

1. Gerard Gaudiano is the commander of the Morrisette Legion Post.

2. The School Committee man with the longest service on the committee is Frank Anselmo.

3. Hancock Monument Co. is located at 295 Hancock St., North Quincy.

4. True. The last mayor of Quincy to resign that office was Thomas S. Burgin in 1942.

5. J.D. MacDonnell Square is located at the intersection of Washington St., Chubbuck St. and Hersey Place, Quincy Point.

Ward I Warming Up

The campaign for the Ward I City Council seat seems to be stepping up even though no one knows when the special elections will be held.

Maybe a ward race isn't a big deal to some people but it's taken pretty seriously in Ward I. As it should be.

In fact, someone is taking it serious enough to conduct a telephone poll in behalf of one of the candidates.

The questions, according to one Houghs Neck resident surveyed, go something like this.

- Do you think Leo Kelly should have remained in the City Council?

- What do you feel is the most pressing problem in the area?

- Do you have any preference among the candidates?

- Do you think being the only woman in the race is an advantage?

The only woman candidate so far is Mary Crowley Greigore, daughter of late Councillor David (Jim) Crowley, leading some observers to believe the poll was conducted in her behalf.

SPECULATION in Ward I is that Kevin Davis, one of the five announced candidates, is considering dropping out. If he does, the feeling is he will back Woodward School Principal Robert Johnston.

A WARD I Candidate's Night will be sponsored by the Oceanview Tenants Council Wednesday, March 14 from 8 to 9:30 p.m. at 9 Bicknell St., Germantown.

Candidates for the Ward I council seat will get a chance to present their ideas and qualifications. And those attending will get the chance to ask them a few questions.

Other candidates nights are being planned.

ALL THIS INTEREST in the Ward I race would seem to indicate that the City Council made the right move when it unanimously approved a home rule petition for a city charter change to hold special elections for all city council vacancies that occur with a year or more to go on the term.

Leo Kelly left a virtual two-year unexpired term when he accepted a $25,000 Quincy Housing Authority project manager post. Because it is a federally funded job, he could not remain in the City Council.

Without a charter change, the remaining eight councillors would have decided Kelly's successor not the residents of Ward I.

Actually only five a majority of the eight could have picked the person to represent the people of Ward I for nearly two years.

All the interest in Ward I on the part of the people and the campaigning of the candidates should be a message to Rep. Robert Cerasoli.

Cerasoli favors a "temporary" charter change to allow a special election in Ward I but wants to tinker with the home rule petition.

He has expressed the concern that special elections for city council at-large vacancies "could run into lots of money."

He also plan to establish a $75,000 floor to the revolving account covering future surpluses," said Creedon.

"Anything over that will go to fund negotiated raises in the food service program, upgrading kitchens and food service areas and cutting the price of lunches.

"It shows what can be

He says a final charter change should go through a two-year review — a process that requires election of a charter commission and a city-wide referendum.

His two-year process — charter commission election and city-wide referendum — wouldn't exactly amount to peanuts in the cost column.

The home rule petition co-filed by City Councillors John Lydon and Joanne Condon would merely transfer the power of filling council vacancies from the council to the people.

That's where the power and right — belongs: with the people.

Cerasoli isn't being consistent. If he favors a special election in Ward I, he should extend the same right to all the voters of Quincy in the event of a council at-large vacancy.

He'd do the people of Quincy a favor if he'd back off from his opposition and help steer the home rule petition through.

He'd be helping to give the people a right that belongs to them without going through a two-year foot-dragging process.

LAWRENCE CARNALE, graves officer in the Veterans Services Department and husband of Josephine of the city clerk's office, is on the mend after quadruple heart bypass surgery at University Hospital in Boston. Larry went under the knife Feb. 28, the day that hospital workers went on strike.

MEMBERS of the Planning Department are wining and dining Assistant Planner Al Sheehman at the Common Market in West Quincy Wednesday, March 14, as he leaves to join the Housing Authority as a rent collector two days later.

MERKYMOUNT'S Bob Seamans who operates an advertising agency and is a pretty good runner, will have to sit out the Boston Marathon for the first time in 14 years. Seamans underwent gall bladder surgery at Quincy City Hospital last week. He's coming along fine and is even able to carry on some of his business from his hospital bed. But running the marathon this year is a no-no, his doctor has ruled. "That's okay," says Bob. "I'll watch it on TV."

THE MEGABUCKS MANIA continues but it's not the only big drawing in town. There was a pretty good one down at Pneumatic Scale in North Quincy recently.

The company for several years has been raising money for scholarships and this year initiated an automatic payroll deduction plan for employees. And a high percentage volunteered.

Quincy's Ron Iacobucci told his friend Bobby Orr about it. And, of course, No. 4 is very interested in youngsters and scholarships.

So, at his request, the names of employees participating went into a drawing. The prize: an invitation for two to be Orr's guests in his Boston Garden roof-top box at a Bruins game.

As it turned out, the name of union President Steve McDonald was drawn. But he thought the prize should go to a rank and file member and generously declined it. A second name was drawn: Ernest Lanthorne of Milton.

Orr should be quite pleased. Pneumatic Scale employees raised money for scholarships and McDonald set an example of good sportsmanship.

AFL-CIO Lauds Harold

The Massachusetts AFL-CIO has praised Sen. Paul D. Harold, D-Quincy, for his support of legislation to help working people.

AFL-CIO President, Arthur Osborn, said the 1983 legislative year was successful for labor, citing the strengthening of the prevailing wage statute, enactment of the "Right to Know" law, increased protection for restaurant employees, passage of extended polling hours to help working people vote, and approval of the Board of Higher Education bill.

Osborn said Harold's "willingness to listen to the concerns of the Massachusetts AFL-CIO and the 400,000 men and women we represent was gratifying."

Hart Campaigns In Quincy

Sen. Gary Hart of Colorado, on a roll as a presidential candidate after primary and caucus victories in New Hampshire and Maine, paid a surprise visit to Quincy Monday.

Hart appeared outside the gate of the General Dynamics Quincy shipyard as the first shift reported to work in his quest for votes in next Tuesday's Massachusetts primary.

While in Quincy, Hart purchased a $1 ticket for the weekly Megabucks drawing, which is currently at about $12 million, which should pay for a good share of his presidential campaign, if he is lucky.

PRESIDENTIAL PREFERENCE

To express your preference for the person to be nominated as Democratic candidate for President, you may do one of the following:

- Vote for one listed candidate by marking an X after the name
- or
- Vote for "No Preference" if you do not wish to vote for a candidate

City Negotiates $6 M Abatement For FR Shipyard

City Solicitor John P. Flavin disclosed that the city of Quincy had reached agreement with the Bethlehem Steel Co. to cut a total of $6 million off the assessed valuation of the Fore River Shipyard over the four-year period 1943 through 1946.

Bethlehem had sought abatements of $22 million, claiming that a large part of the shipyard property was government-owned and therefore exempt from taxation under a U.S. Supreme Court ruling that when federal funds are used to expand a plant for defense work that part is tax exempt.

Under the terms of the agreement, the city will lose $180,000 in taxes instead of the $660,000 it would have lost had the company's request for rebates been granted.

March 8-14, 1946

SHIPYARD RAISE

A spokesman for the Bethlehem Steel Co. said a general wage increase of 18 cents an hour has been offered to workers at shipyards in New York, Baltimore, Sparrow Point, Md., East Boston and Quincy who are represented by the Industrial Union of Marine Workers of America (CIO).

President Leo A. Finn of the Independent Union of Fore River Workers said white collar employees of the Fore River shipyard also will receive increases of about $7.20 a week under the 18 cent an hour formula.

Zonja L. Farrar, 78, Retired Private-Duty Nurse

A private funeral and burial for Zonja L. (Lindblade) Farrar, 78, of Quincy, a retired private-duty nurse at Massachusetts General Hospital, was held yesterday (Wednesday) at Knollwood Memorial Park, Canton.

Mrs. Farrar died Monday at Quincy City Hospital after a brief illness.

Born in Brockton, she moved to Quincy 30 years ago from Dorchester.

She attended Brockton

High School, the Sargent School of Physical Education (now the Sargent College of Allied Health Professions) at Boston University and graduated from Massachusetts General Hospital School of Nursing.

She was a member of the Quincy Women's Club, the Quincy Historical Society and Bethany Congregational Church.

She is survived by her husband, William Farrar, and a sister, Greta Holmberg of Brockton.

Funeral arrangements were by the Wickens and Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams St., Quincy.

Donations may be made to the American Cancer Society, 47 West Elm St., Brockton, 02401.

Francis J. Rull, 74, Amateur Swimming Coach

A funeral Mass for Francis J. Rull, 74, of Quincy, an amateur swimming coach for more than 40 years, was held Tuesday at St. Agatha's Church, Milton.

Mr. Rull died Friday at Quincy City Hospital after a brief illness.

Born in South Boston, he lived in Wollaston for 50 years.

He attended Suffolk University and Wentworth Institute in Boston.

A master plumber, he worked in the family business, the D. J. Rull Plumbing and Heating Co. of South Boston, for 60 years. He retired in 1974.

He was active in many local athletic organizations including the New England Amateur Athletic Union, where he served as swimming chairman. He was also secretary and treasurer of the organization for 15 years.

In 1959, he founded the Quincy Swim Club and served as coach of the Quincy YMCA Swim Team. A summer resident of Falmouth, he coached the Nobska Swim Club.

Husband of the late Helen M. (Feener) Rull, he is survived by a son, Francis J. Rull Jr. of Quincy; a daughter, Jeanne Marini of Falmouth; a brother, Daniel J. Rull of Quincy; five sisters, Mary A. Jackson, Anna M. Rull, Margaret Hennessy, Elizabeth Riley and Florence Marchand, all of Quincy; four grandchildren and four nieces and nephews.

Funeral arrangements were by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston. Burial was in Holyhood Cemetery, Brookline.

Donations may be made to the Carrie Hall Scholarship Fund, in care of Brigham and Women's Hospital School of Nursing, 75 Francis St., Boston.

William Baker, 80, Lifelong Quincy Resident

Funeral services for William "Norman" Baker, 80, a lifelong resident of Quincy and a retired Baker Machine Co. worker, were held Tuesday at the Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave., Quincy.

Mr. Baker died Sunday in Quincy City Hospital after a lengthy illness.

Mr. Baker attended Quincy schools and graduated from the Massachusetts Maritime Academy. A veteran of World War II, he served as a Merchant Marine officer before and during the war.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:
Keep cool... Keep calm... The ability to keep calm when trouble raises its ugly head is, indeed, a tremendous task. It can be done. It is done by cultivation - by practice. It takes determination and persistence. We all have these qualities within us, and we can develop them into any state of mind we choose... How? Remember few jobs are done better for being rushed. Think things through and try to make the right decision. The pace of our modern world tends to shove us along faster and faster. Resist it. Create an island of intelligent calm around your self and keep your balance. When you find yourself getting agitated think of someone conspicuous for his imperturbability. It may be Emerson who said: "Keep cool; it will be all one hundred years from hence." It may be someone you know and whom you admire. Ask yourself, "How would he react?"
The same principle is true in spiritual life. Fill your mind with God's peace. Repeat to yourself such words as "In quietness and in confidence shall be my strength."
Whenever some crisis happens that would otherwise upset you... apply these techniques. You can handle it. You can gradually make inner calmness natural to you. You can develop inner calm. You'll be far wiser and a hot happier, and certainly more efficient, by learning to keep calm.

Mission To Be Held At Our Lady Of Good Counsel

The parish community our Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, Merry-mount, is planning a mission Sunday, March 18, through Wednesday, March 21.

During this Holy Year, the Rev. Peter T. Martocchio, Pastor, asks that, "We celebrate this event by being more attentive to the word of God—by having greater devotion to the reception of the sacraments especially the Sacramental Confession."

The Rev. Thomas Foley

will open the mission Sunday at 7:30 with a discussion on "Faith."

"Prayer" will be the topic Monday evening with Sr. Evelyn Ronan, S.N.D., a teacher of theology at St. John's Seminary.

Sr. Ronan, a native of Dorchester, holds a master's degree in theology from the University of San Francisco.

A former director of Formation, she is a chaplain at Harvard-Radcliffe Catholic Student Center.

Bishop John D'Arcy, Vicar of Spiritual Development, will be the speaker Tuesday evening on the topic of "Reconciliation."

The final evening will conclude with Mass and a talk on Church and Eucharist by the Rev. Paul Keyes, director of Reconciliation Days throughout the Boston Diocese.

The planning committee for the event, chaired by Paul Lewis includes Rev. Peter T. Martocchio, Liturgy, Mary Blaney, Hospitality, Ruth Rugg, Art Work, Clara Cardillo, Publicity.

Bloodmobile At Point Congregational

A Red Cross bloodmobile will be held at the Donor Center, Quincy Point Congregational Church, 444 Washington St., Monday, March 12, from 1 to 6 p.m.

Covenant Sunday Observed At First Squantum Church

It was Covenant Sunday at the First Church of Squantum Sunday.

Active members of the congregation renewed their covenant with God and with each other at two morning services.

During the first service, church pastor, the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, preached on the subject, "The Day The People Cheered", illustrating his sermon with slides and a popular recording.

Robert Dixey and Bonnie Adams served as ushers. Mary Ruth Scott and Andrew Ogilvie provided music with their guitars.

At the second service, the sermon was entitled, "Getting Ready for Lent". It was followed by a reading of the church covenant and the Lord's Supper. Seated with the pastor at the Lord's Table were Deacons Stewart Scott, Katherine Hansen, Grace Holmes, Gretchen Bumpus and Dana Olson.

Hymns included "O Worship the King, All Glorious Above", "Lord,

Who Throughout These Forty Days", "Blest Be The Tie That Binds", and "Lead On, O King Eternal". The Chancel Choir sang "Brother James' Air", an arrangement of the 23rd psalm, for the offertory.

Charles Lester was welcomed into the church as a new member and given the right hand of fellowship by the pastor and the chairmen of the church boards, including Stewart Scott, Board of Deacons, Calvin Bumpus, Board of Trustees, Barbara Anderson, Board of Christian Education, and Gloria Lester, Board of Benevolence.

Wednesday night, Ash Wednesday, the church began its observance of Lent with a church fellowship dinner sponsored by young people in the church. The money goes for various youth projects. After the dinner, there was a time for worship and learning.

This year, the subject of the pastor's series of Lenten talks is "A History of the Christian Church in America". Topics include the following: New World Freedom, March 7; The Great Awakening, March 14; The Missionary Impulse, March 21; The Social Gospel, March 28; Other Religious Movements, April 4; and a review of the whole history of the Christian Church, April 11.

Each week during Lent, there will be a fellowship dinner at 6 p.m., followed by the time for worship and the Lenten talk at 7:30 p.m. One does not have to attend the dinner in order to come to the program.

There will be an all-church breakfast Sunday, March 18, at 9:15 a.m., and a single service for all members at 10:30 a.m. followed by the quarterly Church Council meeting.

Tickets can be reserved for the breakfast or any of the dinners by calling the church office at 328-6649.

This Sunday, there will be two services again at the church: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m.

Lenten Services At Houghs Neck

The Boards of Deacons and Deaconesses of Houghs Neck Congregational Church, 310 Manet Ave., are sponsoring Lenten Services Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m.

Schedule of services, on the theme "Our Lenten Journey: Renewed for Life" will be:

March 13, Worship Leader, The Rev. Dr. Peter V. Corea, Speaker, The Rev. J. William Arnold, Senior Minister of Bethany Congregational Church.

March 20, Worship Leader, The Rev. M. Alicia Corea, Speaker, The Rev.

Walter Wnek, Minister of the United Methodist Quincy Cooperative Parish.

March 27, Worship Leader, The Rev. Robert L. Johnston. The Eastern Nazarene Brass Ensemble, under the direction of Robert Howard, will present a special program of music.

April 3, Worship Leader, Dr. Carol Lee Griffin. The Houghs Neck Congregational Church Choir, under the direction of Arden T. Schofield, will present a program of sacred music.

April 10, Worship Leader, The Rev. M. Alicia Corea. The Quincy High School Concert Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Catherine Carnabuci, will sing.

A member of the Board of Deaconesses will read the scripture at each service. A coffee hour will follow in Fellowship Hall.

The public is welcome.

St. John's News Marks 10th Anniversary

St. John's News, a religious newspaper published by St. John's Church, is celebrating the 10th anniversary of its publication.

The 8-page tabloid periodical is distributed to more than 400 families comprising 12,000 parishioners of St. John's Church. The newspaper is published as part of the activities of the Parish Activities Commission of the Parish Council.

Fr. William R. McCarthy, pastor, is the publisher and Fr. Daniel Graham, associate pastor is coordinator.

The current issue features a front page article by Virginia Driscoll entitled "St. John's Parish Opens Heart To Archbishop Law." Mrs. Driscoll describes what the appointment of Archbishop-elect Bernard F. Law means to the parishioners of St. John's Parish.

Other articles include: an editorial on the meaning of the 10th anniversary of publication of the newspaper; interviews with distinguished leaders of the Catholic Church; remembrances of Haiti which describes a recent trip and visit made by four parishioners; dedication of a library in honor of Mable Pratt, and a Pastor's Message by Fr. McCarthy on sacrificial giving.

The Lenten regulations for 1984 are featured and there is a special article on the executive board looks at religious vocations.

The newspaper also lists a calendar of events for the months of March and April. A Novena of Grace will be held March 20 through March 28. Special liturgies during the Novena include a Mass in Latin and a procession during which the Chinatown Boys Club will participate.

First Aid Course

A Red Cross Standard First Aid (lecture method) course will be held March 7, 10, 14, 17, 21, 24 and 31, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Wednesdays and 9 to noon Saturdays at the Red Cross office, 1245 Hancock St., Quincy.

'Who Stands By God?' Sermon At Bethany Church

There will be two worship services Sunday, March 11 in Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Centre, at 9 a.m. in the chapel and 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

On this first Sunday in Lent, the senior minister, The Rev. J. William Arnold, will preach the sermon titled, "Who Stands By God?" based on texts from Genesis 6:5-8 and Luke 23:26-34.

Scripture readers will be Marion Lockwood in the chapel and Pauline L. Anderson in the sanctuary. Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will serve as liturgist at both hours.

During the sanctuary service, the chancel choir under the direction of Peter

E. Krasinski, organist, will present two anthems by J. S. Bach, "Jesus Is My Heart's Desire", and "O Lamb of God Most Stainless".

The worship service will be broadcast over WJDA 1300 kc, at 11 a.m.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pre-school through ninth grade. Nursery care will be provided for babies and young children.

At 11 a.m., there will be a coffee hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Church School.

Joel and Tora Huntington will begin a six week course Sunday from 2 to 3:30 p.m. on "Listening Prayer", exploring the spiritual life, which will meet in the Allen Parlor.

On Wednesday at 7 a.m. there will be a Lenten devotional service held in Bethany Chapel. Theme is "Watch and Pray". Following the 25-minute service, a light breakfast will be served in the parish house.

Both the brief worship and breakfast are open to the public, and people can leave for work by 7:45 a.m. This is a good Lenten discipline, beginning the day in meditation, says the Rev. Arnold.

For information on any of Bethany's services or programs contact Pastor Arnold or the church office at 479-7300.

'The Alcotts' Program As Quincy Remembers

"The Alcotts: Family of Little Women" will be the next program in the Quincy Remembers series of the Quincy Historical Society, today (Thursday).

The free program will begin at 1 p.m. at the Adams Academy Building, 8 Adams St., Quincy.

Held in celebration of Women's History Week, it features an illustrated lecture by Jayne Gordon, director of Orchard House in Concord.

Miss Gordon's presentation will examine Louisa May Alcott's book "Little Women" and how the author used her family as examples for the book.

She will separate factual from fictional information in the book.

Miss Gordon will also discuss Orchard House, the home of the Alcott family in Concord, and information about the Alcotts used in interpreting the house.

Miss Gordon has been director of Orchard House for 10 years. She is also an active musician in the Concord area.

The program is open to the public. Refreshments will be served.

Caddy Detachment Donates $1,200 For Toys

The William R. Caddy Detachment of the Marine Corps League of Quincy recently made a $1,200 donation to the Marine Corps, "Toys for Tots" Program.

Commandant Richard F. Walsh made the check presentation to Captain Dan Sable, director of "Toys for Tots", with Lt. Col. Brian J. O'Donnell, executive officer of the Marine Detachment of South Weymouth Naval Air Station, with the Chairman of the Ad Book, Past State Commandant Leo P. Cardarelli, members of the Ad Book Charles Manfredi and Robert Flaherty.

The league also sponsored a Christmas Party at the Brockton Veterans' Hospital. Santa presented each patient with at least six gifts, donated by Caddy Detachment members and their friends.

Gifts that were left over were presented to the hospital to be used as prizes for games and other activities.

The 14 league volunteers served refreshments. The detachment donated a $300 check to the hospital for its Egg Nog Party on New Year's for the 900 patients.

Marines and former Marines interested in joining the detachment are asked to call Leo P. Cardarelli at 843-9000 or write to the Marine Corps League, P.O. Box 264, Quincy, MA 02169.

Bigger, Better Summerfest '84

Summerfest, the series of 10 concerts held last summer on Constitution Plaza in front of City Hall, will be back next summer, bigger and better than ever.

City Councillor Joseph J. LaRaia told his colleagues last week that 11 concerts are planned for Summerfest '84, starting June 20 and continuing each Wednesday from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Some of the performers lined up include the U.S. Navy Band from Newport, R.I., the Green Grass Cloggers, Baron Hugo's Orchestra, and an Italian festival sponsored by the Sons of Italy.

LaRaia asked the Council to file a formal request with the Mayor for the use of city property for the concerts.

Last year, the City Council appropriated $3,000 toward the $10,000 cost of the series but this year, said LaRaia, the Cultural Commission hopes to have funding from arts councils and a fund raiser.

Take care of your own funeral arrangements now. So your family won't have to later.

By not taking care of your own funeral in advance, you force someone close to you to do it for you.

For the person who accepts the responsibility, making arrangements at the time of need is likely to be filled with uncertainties. The uncertainty of not knowing what you really wanted. Your personal preferences. Perhaps, a favorite dress or suit. A special prayer. A eulogy with whom you are especially close. The uncertainties are endless.

The kindest thing you can do for your family is make your own funeral arrangements far in advance of need. That way, everybody will know the kind of funeral you would like to have.

For more information on pre-arrangement or pre-paying, write for our free booklet.

Brownell Asks Halt To Nut Island Project

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has asked the MDC to halt the proposed construction of a $2 million chlorination building at the Nut Island Sewage Treatment Plant.

"We are close to the resolution of a number of problems concerning the sewage division," said Brownell.

"It seems to me that going ahead with this building before deciding on more fundamental questions, such as the location of primary facilities and the proposed Water and Sewer Authority, is simply putting the cart before the horse.

"This project probably should not be undertaken at all, but we're compounding the mistake by not waiting until the winter."

Brownell and members of the Nut Island Citizens Advisory Committee petitioned MDC Commissioner William Geary to halt the project, on which construction is expected to begin in the spring.

Brownell and Jack Walsh, chairman of the Nut Island Committee, have criticized the MDC's intentions and planning of the facilities. They said three reasons the project should be cancelled are:

—Chlorination may soon become obsolete as a method of disinfection. There has been discussion of using an alternative means of disinfection in the long-range planning of treatment facilities.

—The chlorination building could turn out to be totally inconsistent with the larger plan of facilities siting, possibly resulting in the building being torn down.

—The Water and Sewer Authority proposal will soon be resolved and public sentiment towards any construction or action will be more agreeable under an administrative changeover.

BOB GIBBONS... Democrat working for you

Bob Gibbons was working for you when he helped draft the legislation to strip the MDC of its Water and Sewer Division by statutorily creating an independent Metropolitan Water and Sewer Authority. This proposal has now been embraced by the Mass Democratic Party Leadership as a first step toward providing better environmental management for South Shore waters. The legislation should see enactment in the near future.

Bob Gibbons was working for you when he fought a move by the MBTA to drop a bus route which would have inconvenienced Quincy bus riders and caused a quadrupling of fares. The bus route was restored through Bob's efforts.

Bob Gibbons was working for you when he supported a platform at the Democratic Convention to open up the Party to every neighborhood in the Commonwealth through the caucus system.

Bob Gibbons was working for you when the South Shore faced a transportation crisis during the Red Line reconstruction project. Bob was able to convince MBTA officials of the need for a standby train at Quincy Center Station to serve as a safety valve for overcrowded platforms at other stations.

Bob Gibbons was working for you when he presented an analysis to the Mass. Housing Finance Agency to knock down a proposed rent increase at the Wollaston Manor elderly housing facility. Bob's position prevailed.

Bob Gibbons was working for you when he organized for the Democratic Party in South Shore Communities for elections held in each of the last six years.

'Parris In Boston' Sunday

An exhibition entitled "Parris in Boston" will open at the Quincy Historical Society, Adams Academy Building, 8 Adams St., Quincy, Sunday, March 11, from 3 to 5 p.m.

Photographs, models, and text will explain the work of Alexander Parris (1780-1852).

Parris is the little-known architect of Quincy's First Church Unitarian and many of Boston's best-known churches, houses, military facilities, and Quincy Market, more commonly known as the Faneuil Hall Marketplace.

Several of Parris' buildings are the center of recycling projects at the Charlestown Navy Yard, the Watertown Arsenal, and the Chelsea Naval Hospital sites.

The exhibition was created by architectural historian Margaret McD. Taylor, and was funded by a grant to her in 1982 from the Massachusetts Foundation for Humanities and Public Policy, which is a program of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

The exhibition was first shown at the Boston Architectural Center, and was later presented at Quincy Market, with partial sponsorship from the Rouse Company.

Aim of the exhibition is "to heighten awareness of our architectural environment and the potential for rehabilitation and adaptive reuse of older buildings."

An earlier grant was awarded to Taylor in 1981 to produce an illustrated booklet called "Buildings That Last: Parris in Boston", along with slide lectures for certain special groups.

The Parris exhibition is open to the public, free of charge, through July 28.

Hours are 9:30 a.m. - 3:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, and 12:30 - 3:30 p.m. Saturday; closed Sundays.

Registration For Kindergarten April 10

Registration for kindergarten for the school year 1984-85 will be held Tuesday, April 10, from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. at all Quincy public elementary schools.

The registration is for all children who will be five years of age in the calendar year of 1984.

Parents must present a birth certificate at the time of registration and evidence of immunization for D.P.T., polio, measles, mumps and rubella to comply with State Law, Chapter 590. A child may be admitted to kindergarten if in the opinion of a doctor he is not in a condition to be immunized and issues a certificate indicating this fact.

Appointments will be made on registration day for vision and hearing screening assessments and parent questionnaire as required by State Law, Chapter 766.

Children who will be five years of age on or before Dec. 31, 1984 will be eligible for kindergarten.

Children who will be six years of age on or before Dec. 31, 1984 and who have not attended public kindergarten may be registered for Grade One on the same day.

Marshall To Speak At NARFE

Kennedy Re-Elected To Head Park Board

The Quincy Park and Recreation Board organized for the new year Monday night, electing Christopher F. Kennedy of 27 Marham Rd., North Quincy, to a third term as chairman.

The Board also discussed the possibility of changing the rules banning unregistered motor driven vehicles from playgrounds and beaches to include the specific terms motor bikes and dirt bikes.

Although the regulation in its present form is sufficient, the Board concluded, a more specific wording should be included to avoid misinterpretation.

Despite the fact that the vehicles are unregistered, a number have been noted violating the regulation driving on public ballfields, and playgrounds causing damage and creating a hazard for persons.

Richard J. Koch,

CHRISTOPHER KENNEDY

executive director of the Park, Forestry and Cemetery Departments, informed the Board that the Supreme Court decision allowing municipalities to display nativity scenes would have a direct bearing on Quincy.

The Forestry Section of his department owns and installs a creche each Christmas season at the Hancock Cemetery and has done so for about 40 years.

The Board returned J. Thomas Mullane as vice chairman and Joseph E. Burke was elected secretary, replacing Mrs. Charlotte Digiacomo, who declined nomination for another term.

Kennedy was recently reappointed for a seventh one-year term by the City Council, which also named Gerard A. Coletta Jr. to a 22nd term and Joseph E. Burke to an 18th term.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley named the following ward representatives:

Anthony T. Delmonico, Ward 1; Charlotte E. Digiacomo, Ward 2; Timothy P. Cahill, Ward 3; Gail S. Kilcommons, Ward 4; J. Thomas Mullane, Ward 5; Janet M. Coughlin, Ward 6.

The Board designated Delmonico to sign the weekly payroll and Burke as the alternate.

License Board Briefs

The License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall:

•Granted an auctioneer's license to James F. Dahill of Quincy, for estate sales only.

•If Dahill decides to open a storefront or to warehouse items, he is to check with board before making any financial commitments.

•Postponed to March 13, at the request of Ward Councillor Joanne Condon, a hearing on common vital-Lord's Day licenses and a new owner for Premier Fitness Center, 91 Newbury Ave.

•Denied a request from Satin Dolls of Weymouth for tag day permits, when the applicants did not appear at the hearing.

Council Backs Gibbons

The Norfolk County Labor Council has endorsed Robert Gibbons of Quincy for election as the Norfolk District member of the Democratic State Committee. The Council cited

Gibbons' "long-standing commitment to organized labor and its goals within the Democratic party" as the reason members should vote for him in next Tuesday's election.

Gibbons, a former aide to Rep. Thomas F. Brownell, is currently director of legislation for the State Department of Public Safety.

Steven Gillig Elected QCBPA President

Steven J. Gillig of McDonald's Restaurant was recently elected president of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association.

Also elected were Robert J. Quinn of South Shore Shops, vice president; Beth Ann Strenge of Hurley Insurance Agency, secretary; Carlton E. DesLauriers of Rogers Jewelry, treasurer.

Members of the board of directors are: James D. Asher, Jr., WJDA Radio; Henry Bosworth, The Quincy Sun; Robert Colman, Colman's Sporting Goods; Burton Cook, Tags Furniture; Judith Doble, Burgin, Platner & Co.; John Farmer, Bank of New England-Hancock; Jerome Hurwitz, Sawyer's Campus

Shop; Donald Johnson, Quincy Savings Bank; Robert Johnston, The Woodward School; Jack Kerrigan, Baskin-Robbins; John King, Quincy Cable-systems Corp.; George Montilio, Montilio Pastry Shops; Roger Perfetti, BayBank/Norfolk Trust; George Riley, Riley & Rielly Insurance Agency; Charles Ryder, Ryder's of Quincy; Leo Sheehan, Quincy Cooperative Bank; George White, The Patriot Ledger.

Past presidents serving on the board are Bernard Reisberg, Bernie's Modern Formal Shop, and Sandy Rounseville, Beacon Fabrics.

Directors at large are Sen. Paul Harold and Atty. James R. McIntyre.

Christmas Festival Committee To Meet March 15

George White, chairman of the Quincy Christmas Festival Committee, has scheduled a meeting of the full committee for Thursday, March 15, at 7:30 p.m. at the Civil Defense Building, Sea

St. "We will review 1983 activities, the parade theme for 1984, as well as 1984 projections," said White.

All committee members are urged to attend.

Water Safety Instructor Course Offered

Barry J. Welch, director of recreation, announces that the Recreation Department will sponsor a Red Cross Water Safety Instructor's course designed to provide individuals with the skills necessary to teach Red Cross swimming programs to the public.

The course is open to individuals who are at least 17 years of age and hold a current advanced life saving certificate. All persons must pass a qualifying swim test before formal acceptance into the course.

The course will begin Monday, March 19, and continue on Monday and Thursday evenings from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. The training takes approximately eight weeks and will be conducted at the Lincoln Hancock Community School pool.

Registration can be made by phone or in person at the Quincy Recreation Department, 100 Southern Artery, starting March 5.

Quincy residents will have first preference, followed by persons who live in communities served by the South Shore Chapter of the American Red Cross. Registration is limited and will be on a first come first served basis.

There is a fee for this program and additional information can be obtained by calling Barry Welch, director of recreation, at 773-1380, extension 204.

Clement O'Brien Receives Silver Key Award

Clement A. O'Brien, retired administrator of the Quincy Housing Authority, was honored recently with the Silver Key Award, the highest honor bestowed by the National Council on Alcoholism.

The award was made by Walter A. Murphy, executive director of the NCA, who came in from New York to make the presentation at a reception for O'Brien at Walsh's Restaurant in North Quincy.

It was only the 18th such award made in the association's 40-year history.

O'Brien, who has been a member of the NCA's board of directors for eight years, was recognized for his many years of volunteer service in the field of alcoholism.

He served for 14 years as director of the South Shore Council on Alcoholism, three of them as board chairman, and he recently completed three years as president of the Massachusetts Council on Alcoholism.

He was a member of the Governor's Task Force on Alcoholism during the administration of Gov. Edward J. King.

Head table guests at O'Brien's reception included Ed White, professor at Quincy Junior College and president of the board of directors of the SSCA; William Spinks, executive director of the SSCA.

Also Arthur Keefe, grand knight of the North Quincy Knights of Columbus; the Rev. William R. McCarthy of St. John's Church and former School Committeeman John J. Sullivan.

Bishop Thomas V. Daily was the guest speaker of the evening while Sullivan served as toastmaster.

Bishop Daily reminded the audience that O'Brien was selected by Pope John Paul II to be installed as a knight of the Holy Sepulcher a few years ago.

Delegations also were present from the Quincy Housing Authority tenants organizations and administration, the North Quincy K of C, the Quincy Visiting Nurses and various Alcoholics Anonymous groups.

O'Brien is a former officer of the K of C, a director of the Quincy Visiting Nurses Association and a founder of the Faxon House Detox Center at Quincy City Hospital.

Central Students Score Above National Norms

The Central Middle School-Home Association met recently with President Dolores Rush and Principal Louis DiMartino to present the school's and the individual student's performance on the Comprehensive Tests of Basic Skills.

Mary Catherine Iannoni, head counselor, shared the information based on the tests results. In each of the categories, including reading, mathematics, language, reference skills and spelling, students at Central scored above the national norms. Students in grades six and eight were tested in the fall.

After explaining why students were tested and how they scored on the general categories, a question and answer period was conducted by Joseph P. Ryan, guidance counselor, and Miss Iannoni. After the meeting, parents picked up their own children's charts.

During the school day, Miss Iannoni and Ryan visit classes to share test results with the students who should have an understanding of their own performance. For eighth graders it will help with their high school course selections in the spring. It identifies their areas of strength and weakness. It also pinpoints the assessment of individual needs for the teacher as well.

Parents are invited to call teachers and counselors or visit the school if they feel questions might be best handled on an individual basis.

Cheney Opposes Open Space Roads

Michael T. Cheney, a candidate for city councillor from Ward 1, has declared his opposition to a zoning ordinance change that would permit a 50-foot road to pass through area zoned as open space.

The City Council will hold a hearing on the proposal Monday, March 12, at 6:30 p.m. The change would enable an access road to be built into the Boston Harbor Marina area to permit development.

"Passing the ordinance as it is written would be a mistake," said Cheney, who is seeking the seat vacated by the resignation of Leo J. Kelly. "Ward 1 is without a councillor and has no direct vote on the Council."

Cheney pointed out that 35 per cent of the land in Ward 1 is zoned as open space and that 40 per cent of the residents of the ward about marshlands and would be affected by the ordinance change.

"I understand the need for an access road into the Marina Bay development," said Cheney. "However, I disagree with the way the Planning Board is addressing that need."

"The ordinance change affects all areas zoned as open space and that clearly is not the way to go."

Special Needs Athletic Night At NQHS Gym

More than 75 special needs students will participate in the Fourth Annual Special Needs Athletic Night Thursday March 8, at 7:30 p.m. in the North Quincy High School gym.

The younger children will participate in a variety of relay races and team sports while the older students will demonstrate their athletic prowess in a basketball shoot-out and soccer and basketball games. The basketball game is a hotly contested rematch with the Donovan-Mason team seeking to defeat Lynch's team who squeaked out a narrow victory last year.

Overall coordinator Lou

Tozzi promises that "everyone will be a winner" in these activities directed by Mary Pratt, adaptive physical educator. Teachers working with students are Brenda Shore, Anne Smith, Lina Subatis, James Lynch, David Donovan, Howard Mason, Constance Graham, Dorothea Craig, Gail Nogueira, and Janet Kirby. Jack Raymer will be the announcer.

Throughout the evening representatives of community agencies that provide services for the handicapped will have information tables in the lobby.

They include Jane Belcher, Childrens Developmental Disabilities Center; Judith Dacey, Norfolk Advocate for the Disabled Association; Rick Fenton, South Shore Association for Retarded Citizens; Ronnie Michaels, South Shore Mental Health Center; Susan Olney Dobinsky.

Early Intervention Program; Susan Sweetser, The Respite Care Program; and George Wardle, the Boy Scouts.

At 8 p.m. Mayor Francis X. McCauley will officially proclaim March as Special Needs Awareness Month.

The public is invited to attend. Admission is free.

Fr. John Dunne Speaker At Sacred Heart Mission

Rev. John V. Dunne, who completely blind, will be the guest speaker at a Parish-Wide Mission at Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy.

The mission will be held April 8 through 12 at 7:30 p.m.

A Columbian Father, Fr. Dunne was ordained in December 1940. He hoped to do missionary work in China, but World War II prevented Columbian missionaries from joining their companies already in China for many years.

From 1940 to 1946, Fr.

Dunne served as a priest in England. There he came in contact with many American servicemen and women. After the war in 1946, he and many other Columbians set sail for China to join Columbian priests already working in Hanyang under Bishop Galvin, founder of the Columbian Fathers. Political unrest in China forced many Columbian priests to take up work in other Columbian mission fields in 1949.

Fr. Dunne was sent to the Philippine Islands. In Manila he served as parish priest and in specialized Catholic action work among university students. Threatened by blindness, he found it necessary to seek expert medical help in Boston, where he has remained for the past 17 years.

Although completely blind, he works as assistant spiritual director with the Cursillo movement of the Archdiocese of Boston; is engaged in conducting retreats and parish missions and is active in the television apostolate of the Archdiocese of Boston.

Stay Alive!

By John Valante

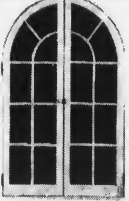

FAT CAN BE FATAL

You are what you eat. Poor eating habits cause obesity, which is not only embarrassing, but dangerous. Obesity may cause high cholesterol and high blood pressure, major causes of heart attack. A proper diet can save your life.

Obesity is a national epidemic. Here are some "FAT FACTS" to show what I mean. Americans spend $10 billion a year trying to control their weight. 3 out of every 10 Americans are at least 20% overweight. (A person who is more than 15% overweight is obese.) 10% of men in their 20's are overweight. 35% of men in their 30's are overweight. 25% of women in their 20's are overweight. 45% of women in their 30's are overweight.

Excess fats put a strain on your body. The heart and circulatory system suffer the most from excess fats. High cholesterol levels may be accompanied by high blood pressure. In combination, these risk factors may set the stage for heart attack earlier in life.

Fisher Selected For Bentley Hall Of Fame

Quincy's Bob Fisher has been selected as an inductee for the Bentley College Athletic Hall of Fame, which is sponsored by the college's Falcon Club.

Fisher is one of six former athletes and coaches to be inducted.

Fisher will be honored Saturday, March 24, when Bentley holds its first Athletic Hall of Fame induction banquet at the college's resident dining room.

Fisher, a 1965 graduate of Bentley, was the college's first basketball captain. Later an assistant coach to Al Shields, he averaged 14.3 points a game during his two years of varsity competition while helping Bentley to a 34-10 record. He recently stepped down as basketball coach at Rockland High after leading the Bulldogs to an 182-44 record, a state championship in 1972 and 10 straight post-season tournaments. He is currently Rockland's athletic director.

Holleran, Donovan Shine As All-Stars Edge Cambridge

Tri-Captain Mary Holleran, outstanding guard for the North Quincy girls' basketball team, provided the spark which allowed the Suburban League all-stars to edge league champion Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 49-47, in the annual game recently.

Holleran, who averaged 14 points a game this season, stole the ball from Bonnie Fitchett with six minutes left and scored to put the all-stars ahead, 42-40. She then stole another pass and passed off to Brockton's Suzy Boucher for a basket.

On the next trip down the floor, Holleran took a pass and scored on a reverse layup to put the stars up, 46-40. She also added a foul shot to give her team a 47-42 lead before leaving.

North's Chris Donovan, another tri-captain, also played well, helping to shut down Cambridge's inside game with some excellent defense. Her foul shot early in the fourth quarter tied the score at 40-40.

The all-stars were led by Brookline's Hanya Bluestone with 12 points. Holleran added seven. Dolores Williams paced Cambridge with 20 points.

St. Joseph's Goliath B's Close With 2 Wins

St. Joseph's Goliath B basketball team finished the regular season on an upbeat note, recording two victories in YMCA-Church League action.

St. Joseph's assumed early command and defeated St. John's A, 31-20. A balanced offense and an aggressive full-court press helped St. Joseph's to a big 21-4 halftime lead.

David Jennette, St. Joseph's all-star selection, and Anthony Battistone each scored seven points, Dan Jaehnig had six, Billy Ryan five, Mike Scolaro three, Ricky Morris two and Tim Brillo one point and several assists. John Lutts paced St. John's with six points.

St. Joseph's also topped St. John's C team, 21-15. St. John's put up a good fight against the much taller St. Joseph's club.

Brillo keyed the win with some great passing and seven points. Jaehnig had six points, Battistone three, Ryan two, Jennette two and Scolaro one. Billy Hutton, Jim Shugrue, Morris and Joe Lafleur all played well.

St. Joseph's finished in a second place tie with St.

Joseph's A and Our Lady A, all with 8-3 records. St. John's B won the division with a perfect 11-0 record.

North Girls Jayvees Finish 16-2, Win Title

While the North Quincy girls' varsity basketball team struggled this season, the junior varsity, under second-year coach Ted Stevenson, finished at 16-2, the best record ever by a North girls' team and won the Suburban League jayvee title with an 11-1 record.

North carried 16 players and, on the average, 12 played in the games and, in addition, several freshmen played in some contests.

After an opening game loss to Hingham, the Raiderettes ran off five wins in a row before losing to Brockton. They didn't lose another game, running off 11 straight victories.

Highlights included the first jayvee victory ever over Brockton, a last second win over Newton North, an overtime decision over Brookline and two victories over Quincy.

North was led in scoring by sensational sophomore center Eileen Warren, who averaged 12 points a game while playing only half of each game, as she was on the bench for half of the varsity games and saw a good deal of service with the varsity. Warren, who hit double figures in 12 games, had a career high of 19 points against Natick.

Anne Marie Hughes, a sophomore guard, averaged 10.6 points a game while playing outstanding defense. She scored 14 points against Brockton and Barnstable but her biggest basket came against Newton North when she dribbled the length of the court with six seconds left to score at the buzzer and give the Raiderettes the win.

Maureen Donovan, freshman guard, started every game and averaged 9.1 points a game and showed a fine outside scoring touch. Her season's high was 15 against Newton.

Sophomore guard Jean Welby was immense in defense, taking 25 charges and was particularly good in North's second win over Quincy.

Junior Geraldine Murphy, a center, was an outstanding rebounder and played fine defense. Stephanie Petrakos, a 5-11 junior forward, also played well, especially in the first win over Quincy when her two foul shots sent the game into overtime.

Katie Shaw, another junior forward, hit for a season's high of eight points against Quincy and did a fine job on the boards.

Nancy Lyons, a sophomore forward, showed great improvement, especially on defense, and Kelly Doherty, a sophomore guard, sparked the defense with her aggressive play. Her two foul shots against Brookline in overtime helped gain a close win.

Other players included Kelly Christenson, Melissa D'Angelo, Kim Lydon, Kerri Nash, Carolyn O'Reilly, Sara Regan, Janine Stack and Kathy Stark, all sophomores.

Mike Leonard had a hat trick and two assists, Paul Carty two goals and an assist, Jim Cahill a goal and two assists, Mike Thomas a goal and assist and Al Histen a goal. For Riley Kevin Zanardelli had a hat trick, Scott Noonan a goal and assist, John Carroll a goal and assist and Ed Cerieni and Kevin Drake an assist each.

Bike 'n' Blade edged Plaza Olds, 5 - 4, as Scott O'Connell had two goals, Matt Hurley, Bill Cappelis and Kevin Jaya a goal and assist each, Steve O'Connell three assists, Ken Gardiner two and Mike Watt one. Kevin Lucy had a hat trick and an assist and James Morris a goal and two assists for Plaza.

The standings: Riley Club, 7 - 5 - 2; Lydon

Russell, 7 - 5 - 2; Plaza Olds, 6 - 8 - 0; Bike 'n' Blade, 5 - 7 - 2.

In the Pee Wee Division Ideal Elevator kept its 10-point lead as it defeated Fitzpatrick Roofing, 4 - 2.

Mark MacDonald, Jason Swan and Joe Puliafico had a goal and assist each, Kevin Karlberg a goal and Fred Miller two assists. Mike Deady and Jim DiCarli had a goal a piece for Fitzpatrick.

Keohane's took over sole possession of second place with a 4 - 1 victory over Colonial Federal. Chris Desher had a hat trick, Joe Tosone a goal and Brian Kelly, Jimmy Leonard and Scott Mackey one assist each. For Colonial Federal Jim Carey had the lone goal.

The standings: Ideal, 12 - 2 - 0; Keohane's, 6 - 7 - 2; Fitzpatrick, 5 - 8 - 2; Colonial Federal, 4 - 10 - 0.

South Hands Point First Junior Loss

Jim Jacobson and Aldo Lombardi led the scorers with four points each and Charlie Sacchetti cleared rebounds on both boards as South handed Point its first defeat of the season, 17-11, on the last night of competition in the Junior High School basketball league.

Point had already clinched the championship.

The South lineup included: McPherson, Lombardi, Sacchetti, Marini, forwards; Priscella, Jacobson, centers; Rizzi, DiTroia, Valentini, guards.

The Point lineup included: Pettinelli, Salvaggio, Steele, Pasquale, forwards; Horn, center; Andronico, Edleston, DiTullio, Needle, Salvaggi, guards.

In the companion game, Central easily disposed of North, 37-14, as Dick Mudge and Charlie Pappas combined for 19 points between them. Central, the defending champions from 1945, clinched the runnerup spot in the league the previous week.

The Central lineup included: Mudge, Adams, Pappas, Pratt, Calabro, forwards; Granville, Lura, Broder, centers; Mannai, Donaher, Tombari, Lawrence, guards.

The North lineup included: Nestor, Wood, Cuneo, K. Jones, Strowberg, forwards; Doherty, Nathanson, Mills, centers; B. Jones, Dodd, Crendon, Colletti, Nelson, guards.

NORTH UPSETS BROCKTON

Paced by Sid Cedrone and Capt. Dave Burke, the North Quincy High School basketball team upset Brockton, 28-23, in the final game of the season but failed to land the coveted bid for the Tech Tourney. Cedrone had 13 points and Burke seven.

In an unusual move, Brockton Coach Art Staff called time out with his team trailing 6-0 and asked the officials to have the Raiders remove the white T-shirts they were wearing under their red and black jerseys. Even that move failed to cool North.

The Raider lineup included: Collins, Barrett, forwards; Cahill, Sullivan, centers; Burke, Cedrone, guards.

SACRED HEART WINS

Joey Creedon and Sid Cedrone combined for 26 points as Sacred Heart of North Quincy walloped St. Francis de Sales of Roxbury, 48-18, in the first round of the Archdiocesan CYO basketball tournament in the Somerville High School gym.

The Sacred Heart lineup included: Donovan, Reilly, McCauley, Doherty, forwards; Gallagher, R. Gilmartin, centers; Creedon, Murphy, H. Gilmartin, Cedrone, guards.

ARENA PLANNED

South Shore sportsmen met with Les Wetmore to discuss financial details of the construction and operation of a proposed South Shore Arena to house basketball, hockey and track facilities during the expected post-war boom in sports.

SPORTS BITS '46

The Central Committee of the South Shore Football Jamboree voted to reduce the price of student tickets from 60 cents to 35 cents for the five abbreviated games to be played in Municipal Stadium Sept. 14. . . Horsch, Cowe and Walsh scored all but two of their team's points as Old South Union defeated Christ Church, 39-27, in the Quincy YMCA Sunday School Jonathan Division playoffs. . . Tex Hughson, Boo Ferris and Mickey Harris turned in midseason pitching performances as the Boston Red Sox defeated the Washington Senators, 7-3, in an exhibition game in Havana, Cuba. . . John T. McHale, 67, of Squantum, retired New England pool champion, gave an exhibition of trick shooting in the billiard parlor at the Elks Home. . . The National Rifle Association awarded a junior expert rifleman rating to Arthur W. Green Jr. 16, of Wollaston. . . Big Kevin Little and Charley Bird turned a close game into a rout with 43 points between them as St. Mary's of West Quincy triumphed over St. Charles Alumni of Waltham, 75-51, at the South Junior High School gym. . . Johnny McCarthy collected three doubles for the second day in a row as the Boston Braves handed the Philadelphia Athletics a 10-6 whipping in a spring training game at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

North Ousted From Tourney But Season Still Best In 26 Years

North Quincy's best hockey season in 26 years finished on a disappointing note last Saturday.

But a 13 - 0 thrashing at the hands of faster-skating second-seeded St. John's Prep in the state tournament couldn't take anything away from what the Raiders achieved this season. North had beaten Saugus impressively, 6 - 2, in its first tournament game.

The North Raiders, under second-year coach Kevin Jago, who was three years old when Raiders last won a tournament game, couldn't skate with St. John's, second-seeded behind Matignon and were hit with 12 penalties as they tried in vain to slow down the powerful St. John's skaters. Eight of the penalties resulted in goals.

"These kids can walk out of here with their heads high," Jago said following the game at Salem State College. "They can be very proud of what they accomplished this year. No one expected us to make the tournament but each kid gave 100 percent. Despite the score of this game, the kids proved they belonged here."

"They're a good team," said St. John's coach Frank Salvucci. "We were a half to three-quarters of a step ahead of them and they had to do something to slow us down, resulting in the penalties. They had a bad game but they know they're better than that. Otherwise, they wouldn't be here."

The Raiders tried everything to slow St. John's down but failed as the Catholic Conference power took a 12 - 0 lead after two periods. Mike Keller scored five goals and Ken Hodge added a hat trick for the winners.

Hodge is the son of the former Bruins great and is rated 28th in the world in the coming NHL draft by the Central Scouting Bureau.

"I told them that we've been a class organization all year and not to spoil it," Jago said after the second period. "We've earned plenty of respect and are one of the best teams in Eastern Mass. Let's not forget that."

The Raiders came out of the lockerroom for the last period the same way they left the ice after the loss, with their heads held high.

"They're a great team, no doubt about that," said Jago. "We were seeded 18th and weren't given much of a chance of beating Saugus in our first game. Our kids have absolutely nothing to be ashamed about and I'm proud of every one of them."

North qualified for the tournament the hard way. The team had to win its last five games and nine of its last 10 to make it and they did just that.

The Raiders' line of Keith Smith, Scott Messina and Dave Fasano was one of the highest scoring in the Suburban League with over 100 points. Goalie Matt Higgins had an outstanding season with an impressive 1.27 goals-against average and North was 11 - 1 with him in goal.

The Raiders turned in one of their better efforts to upset Saugus in their tourney opener. They scored two goals in each period and Higgins again was immense with 22 saves.

After Saugus took an early lead, Rich Horrigan scored from Smith and Jerry Martin scored from Messina to give North a 2 - 1 lead after one period.

The Raiders made it 4 - 1 in the middle period when Dave Tapper scored unassisted and Smith scored from Messina.

Messina and Rob Ready scored in the final session with Fasano, Horrigan and Jay D'Angelis having assists.

Dave Cooke, Pete Furtado and Martin were the only players used on defense and they were outstanding.

"I can't say enough about Higgins and our defense," Jago said. "The line of Messina, Smith and Fasano did a great job and the 'lunch pail' line of Tapper, Horrigan and Ready had to play the other team's first line and they were 'excellent.'"

Despite the frustrating finale, this is a season the Raiders and their fans won't soon forget.

--TOM SULLIVAN

Saluti & Co. Making History In St. John's League

Bob Saluti is making history in the St. John's Holy Name Bowling League.

Two weeks ago his team rolled the season's high team single of 578 and the season's high three of 1615.

Last week his team went one better and broke its own team single record with a 581 and Saluti himself rolled a season's high individual three of 399. He had the previous high of 387.

Saluti had the weekly high individual single of 143 and his team had the weekly high team three of 1581.

Saluti's big week enabled him to increase his league-leading average of 115.6.

The rest of the Top Ten: Dick Guerriero, 110.1; Ed Linehan, 109.4; Mike Panarelli, 108.6; Lou Faiella, 107.0; Jim Mastrantonio, 106.6; Tom Darcy, 104.9; Joe Matarazzo, 102.4; Mike Guerriero, 100.9, and John O'Donnell, 100.8.

The team standings: Saluti, 39-21 (total pinfall of 14,929); Faiella, 38-22 (14,703); Darcy, 32-28 (14,556); Dick Guerriero, 28-32 (14,725); Panarelli, 23-37 (14,442); Linehan, 20-40 (14,205).

Martinelli Pulls Team Into Koch Men's League Tie

Mike Martinelli pulled his team into a top spot tie with Jim Broadbent in the second half of the Koch Club Men's Bowling League.

With a record of 36 wins and 20 losses.

Steve Mancuso and his combine, dropped into a second place deadlock with Dan Walsh, both posting 34-22 marks and within striking distance of first place and the second half championship. Others are Tony Monti, 28-28; Mike Doyle, 26-30; Larry McGue, 17-39; and Dave Prescott, 13-43.

Martinelli achieved the team gain for this group bowling a 378 for the night not only leading the weekly "320 Club" of the league but also boosting his average to 111.7 but missed Larry McGue's 386 season high individual three string total by 8 pins. Martinelli also owns the League's best solo string of 154.

Sharing the weekly "320 Club" with Martinelli were Dan Walsh, 346; John Broadbent, 339; Bob Woodman, Sr., 323 and Cal Kent, 322.

Joining Martinelli in the top 10 averages were Tony Monti, 105.8; Steve Mancuso, 105.3; Jim Broadbent, 105.1; Larry McGue, 102.8; Dan Walsh, 102.1; Mike Doyle, 101.9; Dave Prescott, 100.9; John Broadbent, 100.6; and Bob Woodman, Sr., 100.2.

In the team marks, Steve Mancuso and his squad hold the best three string total of 1562 while Martinelli and his teammates own the best solo string of 587.

Schools Honor Author Of 'Portraits Of Our Mothers'

The Quincy Public Schools recently honored Dr. Frances Kolb at a reception at the Quincy Historical Society.

Dr. Kolb is author of "Portraits of Our Mothers", a handbook of women's history activities based on experiences of teachers, students and parents in Quincy.

Administrators and Title IX/622 liaisons from each elementary and secondary school in Quincy received a complimentary copy of the book to which they had contributed so heavily.

Quincy students interviewed their mothers and grandmothers who told of their families, their marriages, their work, their children, their dreams.

Children learned from teachers the importance of oral history in getting the story of the past.

Since the history of women is, for the most part, the history of ordinary people who did not leave much documentation, oral history is the foundation of a study of women's history.

The photographs which students gleaned from attics were enlarged and displayed in banks and at City Hall. Some of the best of those are included in "Portraits of Our Mothers" along with pictures of students busy with Women's History Week projects.

"Much of the work of the last four years was accomplished because Quincy was one of five school systems in the United States chosen to initiate a model equity program to be imitated by other Schools."

"Although the federal contract has been completed, Quincy has continued its efforts to encourage equity in all areas of its school system."

"This year's celebration of Women's History Week, March 4-10, has included essay contests, viewing of films, researching and writing and decorating of bulletin boards and classrooms," said Alice Coletti, Title IX/622 Coordinator for the Q.P.S.

HOLLYWOOD Attention all videographers. Video what? You know those modern day photographers who do all of their work with high-tech video equipment. The people who are capturing today's sights and sounds, and turning them into lasting memories preserved on video tape.

For all of you who have ever tried your skill at video production, your chance has finally arrived to hit the big time. Hollywood wants you! Well, not exactly Hollywood, but how about Burbank, and the big wigs at NBC television.

NBC is scouring high and low all across the globe for home-made videotapes for a new network comedy show appropriately called "Homemade." Anyone who would like to submit either Beta, VHS, or 1/2" tapes, no longer than five minutes, should clearly label cassettes with their name, address, and phone number, and send them off to: HOME MADE, 8033 Sunset Boulevard, Suite 695, Los Angeles, California 90046. Or call 213-650-8232 for more information.

The producers are looking for funny features, fabulous faces, and fantastic fantasies all with your family and friends in focus.

For all of you who have watched the networks offerings and have proclaimed you could do better... your chance has arrived.

As NBC fights to escape from last place in the ratings race, they just may be doing the right thing by turning the camera over to the folks at home. I'm sure in the thousands of tapes they'll be receiving in the next few weeks, many of Aunt Martha's home-made movies, will stand tall compared to some of the recent bombs from Burbank.

If you just can't get enough of that thrill of victory, agony of defeat stuff, Embassy Home Entertainment will come to your rescue with an excellent recap of the recent Winter Olympics. In agreement with ABC Sports, Embassy has taken the best of the network's superb coverage and has condensed the highlights into a great home video scheduled to hit the market soon.

Some big changes are in store next season on the ABC hit sitcom, "Three's Company."

Gone are series regulars, Priscilla Barnes, Joyce DeWitt, Richard Kline, and Don Knotts, as the storyline finds Jack Tripper, played by John Ritter, getting married. His bride will be played by Mary Cadorette, a lady who recently received rave reviews for her performance in the Broadway smash musical, "42nd Street."

Also added to the cast will be Robert Mandan, the clever character actor who put a lot of life and miked a lot of laughs out of the role of Chester on one of television's funniest hall-hours, "Soap." In addition to being Jack's new father-in-law, Mandan will be the newsweds landlord, thus proving that no matter how many times you change the cast of characters, three's still company.

My video connection in Baltimore tells me Barbara Streisand and Michael Jackson have all but signed the dotted line for a joint appearance in an upcoming blockbuster movie based on the life of the world's foremost dentist. The only thing standing in the way of production is the superstar's lack of agreement on the movie's title.

You see, Barbara feels it should be called "Denial," while Michael's holding out for "Driller."

Remember, to succeed, you've got to have connections.

Got a question for your favorite star? I'll track 'em down for you. Send questions and comments to James S. Leach c/o THE VIDEO CONNECTION, 22761 Pacific Coast Hwy., Malibu, California, 90265.

WEEK OF: MARCH 8

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19

Behind-the-scenes activities indicate future advancement - look your best during this all-important week. Old relationship shows new signs of life from weekend on.

PISCES - February 20-March 20

Attention to detail is critical in any situation involving money, health and even romance. You may be asked now to take on increased responsibility in family matters.

ARIES - March 21-April 20

A bold spring look reflects your present mood: positive and enthusiastic. Relationships are improving at a healthy pace. Financial slowdown dominates after the weekend.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22

Travel plans become more interesting - and more realistic - as the week advances. Children are more receptive to your ideas. Personal relationships dominate your time on the weekend.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21

Week accents buying, selling and, especially, bartering. Family announcement is more than meets the eye. Partner is mysterious but you should not ask too many questions.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

Life is determined to pamper you, so why protest? Signs of improved lifestyle are evident by the weekend. Mechanical problems can lead to delays after Monday.

LEO - July 23-August 22

Career or academic ideas are bright and original but don't reveal them until they're formulated. Loved one shows a surprise pragmatic side. Fitness scheme requires commonsense approach.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22

Planning parties is your current strength, with the emphasis on originality. This emphasis, in fact, extends to wardrobe: bold new touches win you admirers from varied circles.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22

Life is quiet till the weekend, then your world springs to life. Overdue information arrives, romantic situation perks up, and socializing dominates the balance of the week.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21

Romantic partner is less preoccupied and children and/or parents become more supportive. Close friend is in a mood to complain and your best approach is to look at the funny side.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22

Friends are stubborn but neighbors and coworkers are unusually cooperative. Good week to tackle chores you've been putting off for months. Be generous with compliments.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20

Local travel and general travel planning are highlighted. Mechanical tasks can dominate your time around the weekend. Financial news brighteners arrive in pairs toward Tuesday.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You're easily affected by the influence around you - a trait that makes you sensitive, unpredictable, adaptable and sympathetic. Taking a few small risks this spring can broaden your horizons by late '84. Family ties strengthen very early in '85.

BORN THIS WEEK

March 8th, actress Lynn Redgrave, 9th, promoter Marti Ingels; 10th, actor Sam Jaffe, 11th, host Lawrence Welk; 12th, singer Liza Minnelli; 13th, singer Neil Sedaka; 14th, actor Michael Caine.

Quincy Delegation Favor Keverian For House Speaker

By TOM HENSHAW
Rep. George Keverian of Everett says all three members of the Quincy delegation to the House of Representatives are with him in his quest for the speakership.

Keverian was in Quincy recently in his campaign to unseat Speaker Thomas McGee of Lynn, along with Reps. Robert A. Cerasoli and Michael W. Morrissey.
"I'm confident that if the election were held today I would receive the support of a majority of the Democratic members of the House," he said. "But a lot can happen between now and January."

Keverian said he considers himself the victor in one special election to fill a House vacancy in New Bedford when Joseph
McIntyre was elected over

"I am for changing the rules to take away some of the powers from the speaker and share them with the members of the House.

"I am for more openness in the House, more communication with the leadership, and less meanness.

"I want to see the time when the members don't have to go hat in hand to the speaker to request parking privileges and even furniture for their offices."

Keverian said he met with officials of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce during his visit to Quincy and found that their major concern is transportation in the area.

"As speaker, that would be my top priority, too," he said.

former Rep. George Rogers.

"McIntyre endorsed me," he said, "and Rogers admitted after the election that the perception was that he was for McGee."

Keverian was ousted as House majority leader last year when he announced his candidacy for the speaker's job, which McGee apparently was about to give up.

"On the day that I was removed," he said, "I said that the House would never be the same if I win or lose.
The speaker has responded to my challenge and I have to take full credit.

"McGee has held press conferences and rules changes have been accepted. All of these were in response to the threat of my candidacy.

Sheets Seeks Commission On Environmental Control

City Council President James A. Sheets wants to establish a Council Commission on Environmental Control as a central bureau to provide backup support for the city's fight against Quincy Bay pollutions.

The Commission, made up of at least 16 members, would collect information on prospective dangers to the environment and attend meetings to make government agencies aware of pollution perils.

Sheets said he was particularly disturbed about the lack of public knowledge of the proposed $31 million Neponset Valley sewage pipeline that the MDC plans to Nut Island.

The Commission would receive information on pollution, maintain a library, monitor action of the state and federal agencies, and report to the City Council twice a year.

It would be made up of designees of the City Council, the Mayor, Public Works, Public Health, Building Inspector, Planning Department, City Solicitor and the Conservation Commission.

It would have a director named by the City Council.

The proposal was sent to the Ordinance Committee with instructions to meet as soon as possible on the matter so as to head off the Neponset Valley project.

Lee Purpora Honored At Appreciation Night

Lee Purpora was guest of honor recently at a surprise night of appreciation for his 32 years of service to the city of Quincy.

Purpora retired in July, 1983, after 15 years of service with the Quincy Fire Department and 17 years with the Code Enforcement
Division of the Quincy Health Department.

"It was a total shock," said Purpora who, with his wife, Min, walked into the Sheraton Tara Ballroom,
Braintree, to the sound of 280 people shouting "surprise!"

Citations were presented to Purpora by Sen. Paul Harold, Rep. Michael Morrissey, Governor's

Councillor Peter Eley. A citation was also offered by Mayor Francis McCauley
and presented by Police Chief Francis Finn.

Sen. Harold also read a special commendation from President and Mrs. Ronald Reagan.

Joseph Contrino was master of ceremonies and vocalist.

Entertainment was provided by comic Paul O'Donnell and impressionist/singer Scott Record, who is appearing at Caesar's

Nightclub in Atlantic City.

Music was presented by the Jerry Secco Orchestra.

Guests included County Commissioner George
McDonald, former City
Councillor-at-large John
Quinn, and City Clerk John
Gillis.

Mr. and Mrs. Purpora were seated at the head table with their four daughters.
Judy, Jean, Janet and Laura, and two sons, Paul and Rick.

Three of their 11 grandchildren, Dina Campanale, Adam and Jay
Contrino, were also present.

Applications Available For Koch Club Scholarships

Anthony T. Delmonico, chairman of the Koch Club Scholarship Committee, announces applications for $600 in Koch Club Scholarships are available at the guidance offices of the North Quincy, Quincy, and Quincy Vocational Technical Schools.

Delmonico stated that all applications must be obtained and returned to the guidance department at each of the high schools.

The Koch Club will again award $100 each to a boy and girl graduate of each of the Quincy High Schools.

The Scholarship Awards Program was started by the Koch Club in 1959 with a boy and girl graduate of North Quincy High and expanded to Quincy High in 1964. When the Broad-meadows District of the organization assumed the cost in the early 1970s, the Vocational Technical School was added to include all phases of education in the public high school system.

The original purpose of the scholarship awards was to impress upon the boys and girls that although the Koch Club was primarily involved with recreational activity, the organization was interested in the education of the children as well.

The $600 will bring the total to $11,200 in awards since the origination of the scholarship awards.

A separate Permanent Scholarship Fund was established in trust with the City of Quincy in 1973 on the 25th Anniversary of the organization. A grant of $5,000, $3,000 raised from the anniversary program,
$1,000 donated from the North Quincy District and the second $1,000 from the Broadmeadows District, was presented to the City Council for use beginning on the 50th Anniversary of the Koch Club in 1998.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

Steve Downing, Manager

RENT HOME OUT OR SELL?

QUESTION: I plan to buy a larger home. Do you have any advice on the merits of selling versus renting out my present home?

ANSWER: I would strongly consider selling over renting. To keep the house rented, you'll have to pay advertising costs or fees to a broker. Maintenance costs take a bite out of rental income. Each time there is a turnover the house will have to be cleaned and redecorated. A vacancy can result in a loss that could take years to recover. A dead beat tenant could take up to six months to evict plus legal costs. You're better off selling a single family home and using the money to move up to a bigger and better home.

IT MAKES MORE SENSE to sell your house than to rent it out.

Ice Cream Shop Request Continued To March 13

The License Board voted Tuesday to continue for one week a request for a common victualer license for Doyle's Homemade Ice Cream, 1093 Sea St.

Applicant Francis A. Doyle Jr. of South Boston, is to submit a scale plan of the premises.

Doyle said his family is in its seventh season of an ice cream business in South Boston.

The Quincy business would be like a Friendly's or Bringham's, said Doyle, and would offer hamburgers and French Fries in addition to ice cream.

City Clerk John Gillis said he has no objections to the business as long as it doesn't become a hang-out.

"And it won't survive if it is (a hang-out)," said Finn.

South Quincy Sewer Construction Begins

Construction began Tuesday on the first phase of a $3.5 million project to rehabilitate the sewer system in the South Quincy, West Quincy and Faxon Park areas of the city.

The first phase will include sewer cleaning, television inspection of the pipes, manhole sealing and cracked pipe replacement in more than 4,000 locations.

The work is being performed by the P. Calico Corp. of Quincy under a $72,000 contract funded by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, the state and the city.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said residents of Conrad St., Penn's Hill Rd., Nichol St., Crest St., Hillsboro St., High St., Plymouth St., Verchid St. and Carle St. will soon see

McCauley said contracts are expected to be issued and work to begin on the final two phases in six weeks.

excavations to replace cracked pipe.

Crews will perform other work from above ground through the sewer manholes.

The work is the first phase of a project that eventually will include construction of the Fort Square Pumping Station, the Town Brook Relief Interceptor and the force main.

Board Approves Move For S.S. Auto Sales

BY NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The License Board voted Tuesday to approve change of location of South Shore Auto Sales, 45 Copeland St., to 134 Penn St. and a motor 11 (used car) license for eight cars.

Owner John DeBartolo is to submit to the board a letter stating that he understands the board will review the license with respect to the character of the neighborhood after three years, and he will accept its finding.

Board members had been concerned that a used car lot might not be appropriate for the neighborhood when the Burgin Parkway Extension goes through the area.

Assistant City Solicitor Laurance Cowley told the board, "if a change in physical characteristics of the place of business occurs, rendering it unsuitable for such a business, the Licensing Board can then refuse to renew the license or, alternatively revoke it after hearing."

Bus Hits Pole, 842 Lose Power

An MBTA bus hit a utility pole at the intersection of Hancock St. and Southern Artery, Wollaston, Monday night, knocking out power to 842 homes and business establishments for 40 minutes.

No one reported injuries in the mishap.

Bus driver John M.

Moran, 31, of Dorchester told police he was going north on Hancock St. when a car pulled out of Southern Artery in front of him and stopped to make a left hand turn on Standish Ave.

He swerved to avoid the car, struck the pole and continued on into Merry-mount Field.

Rubbish Cleaned Up

Health Commr. Dr. M. Grace Hussey says she is satisfied with the cleanup of rubbish that has piled up for weeks at the rear of the Adams Building in Quincy Sq.

A Health Department inspector will periodically check the area which was cleaned Thursday, said Dr. Hussey.

The rubbish piled up because a contractor provided the wrong keys to the dumpster, said Stephen Gerome of National Properties Ltd.

1000 At Funeral

McIntyre Eulogized As Always Faithful In Life And Career

By TOM HENSHAW
Semper Fidelis (Always Faithful), the motto of the U.S. Marine Corps, was used to characterize the life and works of the late James R. McIntyre Monday as the city he loved paid final tribute to him.

"Semper Fidelis, always faithful, expresses the ideals that animated Jim's family life, his civic life, his political life, his professional life, his unostentatious religious life," said Senate President William M. Bulger, eulogizing his longtime friend and colleague during a funeral mass at St. John's Church.

"Jim's fidelity to his responsibilities set him apart as an unusually gifted, uniquely dedicated and universally respected public official."

Bulger was only one of many dignitaries and just plain folks -- some 1000 of them -- who overflowed the church on School St. to pay their final respects to the former mayor, councillor and legislator who is often called the architect of modern Quincy.

It was the second time in a little over two months that friends of the McIntyre family had gathered for a funeral at St. John's. Their oldest son, William R. McIntyre, died in December in an accident in a Boston elevator.

Mrs. Sheila McIntyre noted that the words of inspiration on the family's daily calendar for March 7, the day her husband died of a heart attack, were:

"The great use of life is to spend it for something that outlasts it."

Those who spoke at the funeral mass agreed that many things Mr. McIntyre did during his lifetime will live on.

"Jesus Christ changed the world in his 33 years on earth," said the Rev. William R. McCarthy, pastor of St. John's, in his homily. "Jim McIntyre, in his 53 years, changed the city and the state and

It's Hart Here And In State

By TOM HENSHAW

Gary Hart, the senator from Colorado who came from nowhere in the past three weeks to become the front runner in the race for the Democratic nomination for president, added Quincy and Massachusetts to his list of triumphs in the primary election Tuesday.

Hart carried Quincy by 676 votes over former Vice President Walter Mondale, 3,863 to 3,187, with George McGovern of South Dakota, the party's unsuccessful presidential candidate in 1972, a distant third with 2,339 votes.

McGovern, who also did poorly statewide in Massachusetts, the only state he carried in 1972, immediately announced that he was dropping out of the race.

In other contests on the ballots:

Robert Gibbons of Quincy edged out Carl Johnson III of Braintree, 6,423 to 6,147, for the post of Democratic State Committee from the Norfolk District with Ronald Mariano of Quincy Point bringing up third with 2,830.

Gibbons' margin was only 276 votes despite the fact that Johnson had withdrawn from the race to run for the soon-to-be vacant state representative seat from Braintree. He withdrew too late to have his name taken off the ballot.

SEN. GARY HART

in his home city of Quincy by piling up a margin of 5,492 to 2,236 for Mariano and 1,331 for Johnson.

Andrew Card Jr., the veteran Republican state committeeman from Holbrook appeared to be a shoe-in for re-election over Raymond T. Sullivan of Wollaston.

Card topped Sullivan by 51 votes in Quincy, 540 to 489, captured a good-sized margin in neighboring Braintree and a whopping victory in his hometown of Holbrook.

Only 12,233 voters showed up at the Quincy polls, 25.4 per cent of the 48,076 registered. The turnout was held to a minimum by a driving snowstorm during the day that changed to heavy rain at night.

City Clerk John Gillis had predicted a 24 per cent turnout.

The Quincy vote for the active Democratic presidential candidates was Hart 3,863, Mondale 3,187, McGovern 2,339, Sen. John Glenn of Ohio 1,018 and Chicago activist Jesse Jackson 170.

Three Democratic candidates who had dropped out of the race also were on the ballot and collected these votes: Sen. Ernest Hollings of South Carolina 40, former Gov. Reubin Askew of Florida 23, and Sen. Alan Cranston of California 16.

Republican President Ronald Reagan, unopposed on the Republican ballot, drew 935 from his fellow party members and also got 201 written votes among Democrats.

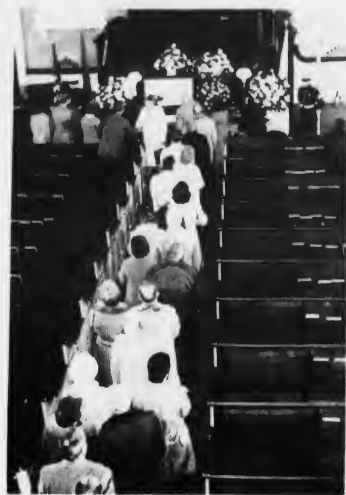

Democratic write-ins on the Republican ballot were Hart 29, McGovern 12, Mondale 11 and Jackson six.

A total of 88 Democrats and 60 Republicans had no preference for a presidential candidate.

Kathryn Roberts of Quincy, unopposed on the Republican ballot, and Kathleen O'Donnell, also without opposition on the Democratic ballot, were re-elected state committeewomen.

Roberts got 881 Republican votes and O'Donnell 7,906 on the Democratic side.

A total of 11,089 Democrats went to the polls and 4,170 Republicans

PAUL A.M. HUNT (left) Mr. McIntyre's brother-in-law reads from Psalm 119. Bishop Thomas V. Daily (in mitre) was the Celebrant of the Mass at St. John's Church, Monday.

With him are Rev. William McCarthy, pastor St. John's, Rev. Deacon Charles Sullivan, Msgr. James J. Scally, pastor, St. Ann's Church and Rev. William Walsh, St. John's.

everyone who had come in contact with him for the better.

"Jim McIntyre was a strong and sterling person. He loved life and served it well by the complete dedication he gave to it. He loved his God, religion and the church, as we saw by the ideals he instilled in his family and community, the ideals of Christian love.

"Love one another as I have loved you" was a very real thing for Jim McIntyre, a dynamic conviction and heritage that he has so nobly bequeathed to his family and many friends.

"Many times in his life, Jim McIntyre climbed with Christ to Calvary. He accepted whatever personal sufferings came his way, as he did a few weeks ago in the loss of his son Bill."

On a personal and humorous note, Fr. McCarthy noted that Mr. McIntyre had made many appointments during his political life, and some of those appointed had gone on to higher office.

"But to me he gave me the greatest appointment of all -- he made me the chaplain of the machine. Jim McIntyre was a true friend and also my lawyer. One of the last pieces of advice he gave me was never again co-sign a note."

Mr. McIntyre was mayor of Quincy for six years and his close associates Walter J. Hannon and Arthur H. Tobin succeeded him for eight of the next 10 years, a tenure that led critics to call Mr. McIntyre the leader of a political machine.

Bulger, with whom Mr. McIntyre served in the State Senate, noted that his friend, like all politicians, had to survive the attacks of critics.

"In this city of Quincy he loved so much, he left the imprint of his zeal and personality.

"Recall with me the Bicentennial Celebration in Quincy. Jim's sense of history moved him to work unrelentingly for permission to remove the Massachusetts Constitution, authored by John Adams, from its hallowed place in the State House archives to Quincy.

"Despite the fact that he was told over and over again, 'No, that can't be done!' Jim persisted. For the first and only time in the history of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, that venerable document was permitted to leave Beacon Hill and travel to Quincy.

"We will never know, nor could we count the hours and hours of compassionate legal service he gave to the poor, those in trouble and the discouraged who sought his counsel and assistance.

"Jim was a good and gentle and caring person." Bishop Thomas V. Daily, vicar general and chancellor of the Boston Roman Catholic archdiocese, was the principal celebrant of the mass, concelebrated by Fr. McCarthy and the Rev. Msgr. James J. Scally, pastor of St. Ann's Church in Wollaston. Mr. McIntyre attended both churches during his lifetime.

They were assisted at the altar by the Revs. Charles Collins and John Foley, both of St. Ann's; the Rev. John McMahon, pastor of St. Mary's Church, West Quincy; the Rev. Joseph Downey, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Quincy Point; the Revs. Daniel Graham, William Walsh and Thomas Synan, all of St. John's.

Also the Rev. Raymond Callahan, president of Boston College High School, and the Revs. James Sheehan, James Walsh and Thomas Gibbons, all of BC High, where Mr. McIntyre attended school as a boy.

Clergymen of other faiths in Quincy also attended, including the Rev. Keith Munson of United First Parish Church, the Rev. Steele Martin of Christ Church Episcopal, the Rev. Bedros Baharian, pastor emeritus of the Quincy Point Congregational Church, the Revs. Peter and Alicia Corea, co-pastors of the Houghs Neck Congregational Church; the Rev. Frank Archer, pastor of the Union Congregational Church, Wollaston; Elden Zuern, former chaplain at City Hospital; and Rabbi David Jacobs of Temple Beth El.

Lectors who read passages from the Bible at the funeral mass were former Mayor Arthur H. Tobin; Atty. Paul A. M. Hunt, Mr. McIntyre's brother-in-law; and James J. (Pete) Ricciuti, another longtime friend and associate.

Sen. Bulger, Mrs. McIntyre and Dr. John C. Read, Mr. McIntyre's brother-in-law and his roommate at Holy Cross College more than 30 years ago, delivered eulogies.

Mr. McIntyre's service in the Marine Corps during the Korean war was a constant theme throughout the ceremony as organist Phyllis Ross played the Marine Hymn as the recessional and Mr. McIntyre's medals -- a Bronze Star for gallantry and a Purple Heart for his wounds -- were offered at the altar.

The offertory gifts and personal mementoes were presented by Elizabeth McIntyre Engelke, Andrew D. Engelke, Sheila M. McIntyre, Charles R. McIntyre, Barbara Hunt, Paul A. M. Hunt, Anne R. Symmes, Elizabeth R. Elcey, Helen P. Read, Patricia A. Morella, Brian J. Tobin and Bruce J. Tobin.

In addition to the medals, the offertory included:

A picture of the McIntyre family, a directory of public officers of the Commonwealth, a copy of the state constitution, the key to the city of Quincy, the nameplate from the desk he occupied while mayor at City Hall, his Mameluke sabre, and his favorite Texas Lone Star paper weight.

Honorary pall bearers were Taylor Ahern, Henry F. Bertolon, Louise M. Brabazon, John M. Browne, Lawrence P. Creedon, William D. Delahunt, Joseph L. Donovan, John M. Gillis, Walter J. Hannon Jr., Carl R. Johnson III, George V. Kennedy Jr., Peter F. O'Connell, James J. Ricciuti, George R. Riley and Arthur H. Tobin.

A 16th pall bearer, John J. Kelliher, administrative aide to Mr. McIntyre since 1965, died Sunday of a heart attack while returning from his friend's wake.

Among those in attendance were:

Lt. Gov. John Kerry, Atty. Gen. Francis Bellotti, State Auditor John J. Finnegan, Edward Martin of Quincy, representing Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, Cong. Brian J. Donnelly, House Speaker Thomas McGee, and other members of the legislature and the judiciary. Mayor Francis X. McCauley and his aide, Peter Kenney; former mayors Thomas S. Burgin and Joseph J. LaRaia, members of the City Council, President James A. Sheets, Richard J. Koch Jr., Joanne Condon, Stephen J. McGrath, John J. Lydon Jr., Patricia Toland, Theodore P. DeCristofaro and former Councilor Leo J. Kelly, and Dist. Atty. William Delahunt.

Also Sen. Paul D. Harold, Reps. Michael W. Morrissey, Thomas F. Brownell, Robert Cerasoli, all of Quincy, and Rep. Robert Ambler of Weymouth; Governor's Councilor Peter Elcey; and members of the School Committee, Nicholas Verenis, Stephen Durkin.

Also former Senate Presidents Maurice Donahue and Kevin Harrington, former House Speaker David Bartley, former Lt. Gov. Thomas P. O'Neill III, former Dist. Atty. George G. Burke; County Commissioner George McDonald, Sheriff Clifford Marshall, Quincy District Court Judge Albert Kramer, Judge Edward J. Hennessey, chief justice of the Supreme Judicial Court; Ronald Zooleck, executive vice president of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

The funeral procession -- one of the longest in the city's history -- headed by a Quincy Police and Fire Department color guard, moved slowly down Hancock and Coddington Sts. toward Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

As it passed Quincy High School, the high school band played "America The Beautiful" and "Battle Hymn of the Republic" while ROTC cadets stood at attention and saluted.

At Mount Wollaston cemetery, Msgr. Scally led the communal prayers. A detail of Marines fired the volley and Taps was sounded in the crisp, cold early afternoon air.

The American flag that James McIntyre had fought for in Korea and had draped his casket, was then folded by two Marines and presented to his widow.

Funeral arrangements were by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Quincy.

Senate President Bulger:

'Our Friend Jim McIntyre: Semper Fidelis'

[Following is the text of the eulogy delivered by Senate President William Bulger at the funeral of James R. McIntyre.]

Semper fidelis.

Always faithful.

How appropriately do these words summarize the brilliant competence, the blazing integrity and the strength of character of our dear friend, Jim.

When in his youth he responded to the call of his country to military service in the days of the Korean conflict, he chose to serve in the United States Marine Corps. The words "Semper Fidelis" emblazon the banners held high by gallant Marines from the earliest days of our country.

Semper Fidelis. Always Faithful expresses the ideals that animated Jim's family life, his civic life, his political life, his professional life, his unostentatious religious life.

From the days of his youth -- through B.C. High, Holy Cross and Harvard Law School and graduate studies in public administration at Boston University -- from his days of service on the Quincy City Council, in the Massachusetts House of Representatives, as Mayor of Quincy, in the Massachusetts Senate and as counsel to the Senate, Jim's fidelity to his responsibilities set him apart as an unusually gifted, uniquely dedicated and universally respected public official.

As do all men of action in governmental service, he had to endure the insolence of lesser men who assumed the role of critic. He was never one to buckle to the forces of power and publicity. Semper Fidelis. Always faithful to those ideals that were inseparably united to the intellectual and moral integrity of Jim McIntyre.

In this city of Quincy he loved so much and to whose advancement and strength and prestige he was so wholeheartedly devoted, he left the imprint of his zeal and personality. The public manifestations of his interest in Quincy are expressed in innumerable reminders of his days as Councilman, Representative, Mayor, and Senator.

Recall with me the Bicentennial Celebration in Quincy. Jim's sense of history moved him to work unrelentingly for permission to remove the Massachusetts Constitution, authored by John Quincy Adams, from its hallowed place in the State House archives to Quincy. Despite the fact that he was told over and over again, "No, that can't be done!", Jim persisted. For the first and only time in the history of Massachusetts that venerable document was permitted to leave Beacon Hill and travel to Quincy.

This is neither the time nor place to recount the obstacles that lay in the political path of Jim McIntyre as he entered upon and progressed in his public career. Suffice it to say in those days to be a Democrat meant that he had to row strongly and vigorously against a tide of entrenched privilege and bias, which he confronted and overcame.

In Jim's long and successful career as a lawyer, he honored by his exemplary conduct the highest standards of professional ethics, legal scholarship and the art of advocacy. Semper Fidelis. Always Faithful. We will never know nor could we count the hours and hours of compassionate legal service he gave to the poor, those in trouble and the discouraged who sought his counsel and assistance.

Although the demands on his time were many and onerous to bear, he was generous in offering encouragement as a friend to people in need of a friend. Jim was a good and gentle and caring person. Those in every walk of life who found in him a source of strength and encouragement are legion. We in the Senate are especially grateful to him for his wise and honorable service as a Senator and as Senate Counsel.

Jim had a profound respect for and a deep devotion to the structure of our government. I well remember an assault on the legislative process and Jim's response to it. He was affronted that the constitutional integrity of the legislative process should be subverted by powerful forces, however well-intended they might be. With his superb legal skill and his great insight into the constitutional principles that enshrine the legislative purpose and function, he prepared, as a friend of the Court, a brief for the Supreme Judicial Court. He joined the Attorney General and other eminent constitutional scholars in persuading the Court that the initiative petition under review was an unconstitutional trespass on legislative prerogatives. He discerned in the initiative a singular danger to the legislature and to the rights ordained to it by our Constitution. I mention this episode of such recent memory simply to indicate the inner fire of Jim's convictions and his courage to stand by them. Semper Fidelis. Always Faithful.

I am sure each of you realizes how difficult it is for me to say farewell to Jim. We assure, both officially and in a profound personal sense, Jim's wife, Sheila, their daughters, Elizabeth and Sheila, and their son, Charles, and other family members of our prayers, our encouragement, our heartfelt condolences. We ask our heavenly Father now to unite Jim and his son, Bill, and in the words of the 91st Psalm we pray, Jim, that:

"He will raise you up on eagle's wings
Bear you on the breath of dawn
Make you to shine like the sun
And hold you in the palm of His Hand"

As you ennobled the expression, Semper Fidelis by your life, we are confident the Good Lord will welcome you with the words recorded by Matthew. "Well done, thou good and faithful servant enter thou into the joy of the Lord."

Fr. McCarthy:

'Jim McIntyre — He Had It All'

[Following is the homily given by Rev. William McCarthy, pastor, at the funeral Mass for James R. McIntyre at St. John's Church, Quincy Center.]

Bishop Daily, my brother priests, reverend clergy, Edward Martin, Senate Rep.; Congressman Donnelly, Edward Martin representing Senator Edward M. Kennedy, constitutional officers, Senate President William Bulger, Speaker Thomas McGee, members of the State Legislature, past and present; honorable mayors of the city of Quincy, members of the judiciary, federal, state and local officials, family, relatives and friends of Jim McIntyre.

We wish to express our sincere sympathy to his wife Sheila, Elizabeth, Charles and young Sheila, to his sister Barbara, and the relatives and friends of Jim McIntyre. We realize you have suffered another great loss in the family; a family which also had to bear another tragedy almost eleven weeks ago in the loss of their son Bill. May God give them the strength to bear their sorrow and grief.

What can be said about Jim McIntyre? He had it all. A dedicated war hero; an upright family man; he served the city as a councilor, mayor, representative, senator; member of many civic organizations, and an accomplished lawyer who was dedicated to his profession.

Jesus Christ changed the world in his 33 years on earth. Jim McIntyre, in his 53 years, changed the city and state, and everyone who had come in contact with him for the better. Just as Christ sacrificed himself for all, so too Jim McIntyre sacrificed himself for whatever he set out to accomplish, and for all men and women with whom he came in contact.

Jim McIntyre was a strong and sterling person. He loved life and served it

Quincy Will Never Be The Same

Quincy will never be quite the same again without Jim McIntyre.

He was one of the brightest political stars in the city's history. He had intelligence wrapped in common sense. He moved with foresight and insight while others stumbled over hindsight.

He was as much at ease with a President as he was with a precinct level envelope stuffer.

He was witty, charming and compassionate. He had charisma by the pound and at his fighting weight, that was a lot of charisma.

He was a good family man — a devoted son, husband and father.

He liked people and they liked him. He knew most of them by first name. And he was Jimmy or Jim to them.

He never lost the common touch.

He was also one of those rare individuals who could get along with just about anyone — even his political critics and enemies. He even found one enemy a job once — only to have him later turn on him.

Yes, he had enemies. Not many. But some. Any man with the political clout he carried over nearly three decades and with his popularity would have to pick up some resentment, jealousy and, of course, enemies along the way.

But those detractors and enemies respected him. They may have called him a few things but one thing they never called him was "stupid".

Some of them said he ran the "machine". Well, if there was a machine it at least had round wheels and moved Quincy forward.

One who liked to toss the word "machine" at him tried to get one of his own going. But it turned out to have square wheels and if it moved at all, it was backwards.

But that's the kind of a man Jim McIntyre was. If someone needed a helping hand, he was there with two. His political career was somewhat spectacular.

He was elected city councillor at age 25 in 1955 in his first bid for office while still in college. He was soon city council president, state representative, state senator and mayor.

He gave up the mayor's job to become counsel to the Massachusetts senate — a post he held at the time of his death last week.

That job took him out of the political spotlight but not out of politics. He remained a dominant political figure — in the background.

Just about every young person thinking of running for office sought his advice first. And veteran office holders sought his counsel, too.

If he had remained in the political arena as a candidate there is no telling how far he would have gone. Many some years back were sure they saw a future governor in him.

What he really wanted to be politically, he never was. He wanted to be a Congressman and was long considered heir apparent to the 11th Congressional seat held by his close friend, Jim Burke. But by the time Burke retired, it was the wrong time for Jim McIntyre.

Most people remember him for his many political victories. I remember him fondly for his only political defeat. Because it showed me Jim McIntyre, the man and the McIntyre family.

He was only 29 years old when he challenged the old master, powerful incumbent Amelio Della Chiesa for mayor in 1959.

It was one of the hottest mayoral races in years with

JIM MCINTYRE

Della Chiesa winning 17,650 to 15,533 — a slim 1,117 vote margin.

I walked into Jim's campaign headquarters election night as he was studying what he considered key early returns.

"I don't think we're going to make it," he said.

Later figures proved him right.

His wife, Sheila, was there at his side. When they were sure it was not to be their night, Sheila went to a phone and put in a call to her mother in Niagara Falls, N.Y.

"Jimmy didn't make it," she told her mother. And then she added: "But it's only an election. We lost something more important than that."

She was referring to the death not very long before of their infant son, William, named after Jim's father, Police Capt. William McIntyre.

Now it was getting late. James (Pete) Ricciuti, his long-time friend and adviser and Jim looked at one another. Both knew what they were going to do.

"Let's go," Jim said.

I went along with them as they walked across the street to City Hall and climbed the stairs to the mayor's office that had eluded them that night.

Della Chiesa was in his office after leaving his own campaign headquarters.

"Congratulations, Mel," Jim said, extending his hand. "You're still the mayor."

Della Chiesa grasped his hand and then, like a father, slipped his arm around Jim and said: "You're young, Jimmy. Your day will come."

Times were different back then.

The two men had campaigned hard against one another. Strong words had been thrown back and forth between the two political camps.

Now the heated battle was over. One had won, the other had lost. But they were still friends. There was no hatred. It would still be Mel and Jimmy.

The years passed.

Jim and Sheila adopted four children — Elizabeth, Sheila, William and Charles — giving them a good home filled with warmth and love.

Tragedy, as everyone knows, struck last December when the second William died of injuries suffered in a fall down an elevator shaft.

And now tragedy has struck again.

The death of Jimmy McIntyre at 53 is a tragedy not only to his family and friends but to the city he loved. His day came as Della Chiesa said it would.

It's sad that it ended so soon.

We'll miss you, Jim.

Sheila McIntyre:

'Grateful For Your Friendship'

(Following are reflections given by Mrs. Sheila McIntyre at her husband's funeral Mass.)

"Let me live in the house by the side of the road and be a friend to man."

We have a small framed needlework of this quotation hanging in our home which has always reflected my thoughts of Jim.

Sixty-eight days ago Jim stood here to say thank you to all of you for your outpouring of love and concern for our family on the loss of our son, Bill.

Jim was truly deeply touched by the hundreds of people who gave of their time to personally console us.

And I, touched, as he was then, but doubly so now, need to tell you how grateful we are for your enduring friendship. The children and I thank you, Mr. President, for your reflections on the life of this very special man, and you, Bud, (her brother Dr. Charles Reed) for sharing your thoughts.

The quote on our daily calendar from March 7, the day Jim died, reads: "The great use of life is to spend it for something that outlasts it." To those of you who worked by his side, both on the City and State level, my sincere thanks for your loyalty and unselfish support as you helped Jim serve the Commonwealth and the City he so dearly loved. To all of you who afforded him this opportunity to serve by placing your confidence in Jim as you exercised your franchise throughout 13 elections I am grateful, as was Jim, who recognized the responsibility and welcomed the challenge.

On a card that came to us at the time of Bill's death was a saying of St. Thomas More that struck Jim in particular, bringing him consolation, and I offer it to you now:

"Pray for me, as I will for thee.
That we may merrily meet in Heaven."

'Jim McIntyre — He Had It All'

well by the complete dedication he gave to it. He loved his God, religion and the church, as we saw by the ideals he instilled in his family and community, the ideals of Christian love. "Love one another as I have loved you" was a very real thing for Jim McIntyre, a dynamic conviction and heritage that he has so nobly bequeathed to his family and many friends.

Many times in his life Jim McIntyre climbed with Christ to Calgary. He accepted whatever personal sufferings came his way, as he did a few weeks ago in the loss of his son Bill.

Jim, along with admirable qualities, was also blessed with his wife, Sheila, who was a great support in his public life and his trials. Their marriage was an ideal one, in conformity with the teaching of the church, of complete love and devotion to each other. Anyone who would doubt the Gospel message to bring true peace, happiness and joy to the world, could witness it in the marriage of Jim and Sheila by their caring and sharing of each other with complete unselfishness.

Jim McIntyre made many appointments in his life. Some of those appointed moved on to greater heights in city, state and federal government. But to me he gave me the greatest appointment of all—he made me the chaplain of the machine. Jim McIntyre was a true friend and also my lawyer. One of the last pieces of advice he gave me—never again co-sign a note.

Well done, Jim McIntyre. You have enriched your family and friends; you have served your community and country beyond the call of duty; you have brought honor to the church of Jesus Christ. Well done, good and faithful servant.

Long after our poor and inadequate words will have faded from memory, long after our hymns of praise have echoed from this church, long after our tears have dried with the help of the gentle grace of Christ, Jim McIntyre will have heard the glorious summons to which we all aspire: "Come, Blessed of my Father. Receive the Kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world. Come! Share the joy of my Kingdom."

Fond Tributes

(Editor's note: The following tributes are from a special memorial program "James R. McIntyre Remembered" filmed by The Quincy Sun and shown on its news Channel 8 on cable television last week.)

"If there is a common denominator among people who serve as public officials, it is compassion," said former Mayor Arthur H. Tobin.

TOBIN

"Jim was always interceding for people, helping to get the elderly into housing they could afford or helping some deserving young man to get a job."

Tobin was leading the tributes to his good friend, James R. McIntyre, who died March 7 of a heart attack in Massachusetts General Hospital following surgery. He was 53.

McIntyre and Tobin were born three days apart at Quincy City Hospital to mothers who shared the same room.

Both men served as city councillor, council president, state representative, state senator and mayor with McIntyre a few years ahead in each post.

"When I was mayor, I had only to pick up the phone and ask his advice," said Tobin. "He gave it willingly. Even after he left office, he was still part of things."

Two other former mayors shared Tobin's tributes.

BURGIN

"He is a great loss," said former Mayor Thomas S. Burgin. "But we must think of him with happy, happy memories. He was a great fellow. I regarded him almost as a son, he being 30 years younger."

"James R. McIntyre served his city, state and nation with honor and dignity," said Burgin.

"We remember with grateful appreciation his military service in the Marine Corps during the Korean conflict and in which he was decorated for distinguished bravery."

"By education, training and experience he was well qualified to assume the trust and responsibilities accorded him by his fellow citizens."

"Within the past two weeks I received a handwritten letter from him regarding the recent passing of his son in a tragic accident. His closing words of appreciation for what little I could do for him were: 'Please take care of yourself — and we love you — sincerely, Jimmy.'"

"To his dear wife, Sheila, and the members of his family, I extend heartfelt sympathy in the great loss they have sustained. May they be comforted by the loving thoughts of a grieving city and their close friends."

HANNON

"He had a great ability to take people and make them follow him," said former Mayor Walter J. Hannon. "He had such leadership qualities that you were pleased and honored just to be in the group with him."

"You never could get mad at him for more than five minutes. He'd say something nice to you and you'd forget to be mad."

"We have lost a gentleman who offered great leadership and the city has lost a great person."

Word of McIntyre's death came as the School Committee was preparing to start its regular meeting. Mayor Francis X. McCauley, the chairman, adjourned it after these tributes.

McCAULEY

"I am extremely shocked," said McCauley. "He was a dominant force in this city. It was through his efforts that the MBTA came to Quincy, clearing the way for the State Street South complex."

"For decades, he was the rallying point in this city," said School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon.

CREEDON

"He was a strong advocate of the public schools. He was a great friend of Quincy Junior College. He will long be remembered."

KENNEDY

member Christopher Kennedy. "It is a sad time that we will be without his advice, friendship and good humor."

ANSELMO

"I served under six mayors," said committee member Frank Anselmo. "But he was the closest to my heart. He was a real city leader."

McCARTHY

The Rev. William McCarthy, pastor of St. John's Church, called McIntyre "a man of many talents and one well versed in human nature."

"James McIntyre has enriched his family and friends," he said. "He served his community in total integrity. He has brought honor and credibility to his church. He was a true servant of the servants of God, ready always to give a helping hand and assist everyone, no matter what the difficulties they were facing."

"The words of Christ certainly apply to Jim McIntyre. 'Well done, good and faithful servant; enter the joy of my kingdom.'"

He Guided City Into Modern World

By TOM HENSHAW

Funeral services were held Monday at St. John's Church for James R. McIntyre, the former mayor of Quincy whose two and a half decades in public life were devoted to guiding his aging city into the modern world.

Mr. McIntyre died March 7 of a heart attack in the recovery room at Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston after undergoing surgery that was unrelated to the attack. He was 53 years old.

His political career began with his election to the City Council in 1955 at the age of 25, and continued to the State House of Representatives in 1958, the State Senate in 1964, and the Mayor's office in 1965.

He held the posts of mayor and senator simultaneously until 1971, when he was appointed counsel to the Senate, a post he held at his death, meanwhile still wielding considerable power in local political circles.

Mr. McIntyre's greatest contribution to the city of his birth was bringing the MBTA to Quincy and the placement of the North Quincy station at a site that spurred development of the State Street South complex and led to the revitalization of the North Quincy area.

The force of his leadership was such that he exerted great influence on the administrations of two mayors who succeeded him, Walter J. Hannon and Arthur H. Tobin. The three of them directed the affairs of Quincy for 16 years, with only one interruption.

"Some people called it a machine," said Hannon the other day. "If that's what they want to call it, okay. I was proud to be a part of it. But it wasn't a machine."

"It was a group of men, like Arthur and myself and many others, who saw what could happen to a city without strong leadership. Quincy is a great place to live — but it didn't happen by accident."

Mr. McIntyre was born in Quincy City Hospital on May 25, 1930, the son of Police Capt. William F. McIntyre and his wife, Lillian. He was graduated from Boston College High School in 1947 and from Holy Cross in 1951, cum laude, with a degree in English.

He was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the U.S. Marine Corps and served as the leader of a rifle platoon from June, 1951, to September, 1953, winning a Bronze Star, a Purple Heart with two clusters, a Korean Service medal with three stars, and a Korean Presidential Letter of Appreciation. He was thrice wounded.

He returned from the Korean War to enter Boston University, where he obtained a masters degree in political science, and Harvard Law School, where he was graduated in 1956.

Mr. McIntyre was still in law school when he ran for public office for the first time and was elected to the seven-member Plan E City Council at the age of 25. He was the third highest vote-getter behind the popular Thomas S. Burgin and Amelio Della Chiesa.

His only election defeat came in 1959 when at the age of 29, he attempted to oust the legendary Della Chiesa from the mayor's chair only to lose by less than 2,000 votes out of 33,000 cast.

Mr. McIntyre was a member of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce, which honored him as Statesman of the Year in 1981, at which time the Chamber's president, D. Curry Pettus, said:

"Because of Mr. McIntyre's recognition that the future of an older city such as Quincy depended upon an active revitalization effort, the city has attracted quality development that has given it a young, and aggressive image. Quincy's current prosperity can be traced to his leadership."

Mr. McIntyre was chairman of Quincy Community College, Inc., and one of the founders of Quincy Junior College; chairman of Quincy's Constitution Bicentennial Celebration in 1979 and a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Co.

He was vice president of the Harvard Club of Quincy, vice president of Cerebral Palsy Association of the South Shore and a director of the Boston Catholic Charitable Bureau and the Boston Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

He was a member of the Quincy Historical Society, the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, the Quincy Lodge of Elks, the Montclair Men's Club, the North Quincy Knights of Columbus and Pi Sigma Alpha Fraternity.

He was a fourth degree member of the Cardinal Cushing Assembly, Knights of Columbus. He served on the boards of the Quincy Red Cross Chapter, the Norfolk County Heart Fund and the Norfolk County March of Dimes.

He was also a member of the Bryan VFW Post, the Quincy Legion Post, the Cavanaugh Post DAV, the Caddy Detachment of the Marine Corps League, the Boston Chapter of the First Marine Division and the Military Order of the Purple Heart.

He leaves his wife, the former Sheila Read; two daughters, Elizabeth M. Engelke of North Carolina and Sheila M. McIntyre of Quincy; a son, Charles R. McIntyre of Quincy; a sister, Barbara Hunt of Quincy; and a grandson, James Engelke. He was also the father of the late William McIntyre and an earlier William McIntyre who died in infancy.

Mr. McIntyre was buried with military honors at Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

'Orange Peel Bucket' Cut From Budget

The City Council passed Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa's record $17,088,809.98 budget for 1958 after first cutting $320,297.25, including an $8,000 item for the purchase of an "orange peel bucket" to replace a catch basin that had been rented at $88 a day.

Councillor Thomas S. Burgin reminded his colleagues that the mayor had assured them that he would not buy the apparatus without Council approval, thus making the deletion "almost an expression of distrust in the mayor. His word is as good as his bond."

Councillor Charles L. Shea, who moved to delete the item, said he intended no distrust of the mayor but he merely wanted to take the purchase out of the budget and put it in its proper place on the list of other Public Works equipment Della Chiesa proposed to buy.

"The city has been paying $88 a day for renting this equipment and furnishing a city employee to work on it," said Councillor Edna B. Austin. "I hat means it was costing us about $100 a day. I think it's about time to stop wasting money like that."

$51,899 In Grants For Unemployed

Four South Shore agencies have been awarded grants totaling $51,899 to assist unemployed persons find jobs in industry.

Charles A. Pearce, chairman of the South Coastal Private Industry Council, a partnership organization involving business, government, and labor from Quincy to Plymouth, said the grants were approved at a recent meeting of the group's board of directors.

Pearce, chairman of the board of Quincy Savings Bank, said a total of 16 grant applications were received and reviewed by a special committee headed by Jack Myatt of Myatt and Tower, a Hingham CPA firm.

"In making the grants, we looked to both the ability of the agency involved to deliver quality service and to the job potential of the proposed program," Pearce stated.

"The largest program approved is a grant of $20,524 to Jobs for Baystate Grads, Inc. Job development specialists will be placed in Quincy, North Quincy and Duxbury high schools to identify seniors who have no specific employment plans following graduation.

Assistance will be given these students toward preparing themselves for competitive employment. "It isn't enough to just motivate young people when it comes to finding a job," Pearce indicates. "This program will give seniors the skills needed to find employment."

Six mentally retarded persons will be able to leave a sheltered workshop and experience on-the-job training in private industry through a program developed by South Shore Industries of the Cardinal Cushing Training Center. Located in Marshfield, South Shore Industries aims at obtaining employment for these persons in the same company where the training is received.

The grant for the Cardinal Cushing program totals $15,669 and will be administered by Richard Walker, executive director of South Shore Industries.

Hingham's Project Turnabout, Inc., will receive $12,380 to aid substance abusers now living in a community residence to receive job seeking assistance.

Quincy's Allied Health Education and Development agency will be given $3,326 to provide training for 40 individuals who are unemployed. These people will be trained as home care aides and will be placed in jobs on completion of their training.

"We are very pleased with these programs because they are designed to put people to work," states Pearce.

Dispute Divides St. Mary's Parish

By TOM HENSHAW

One of the first tasks for Bishop Bernard Law when he becomes archbishop of Boston later this month will be to heal a breach that is threatening to tear St. Mary's Parish, West Quincy, apart.

Some 200 parishioners met Monday night to discuss formation of a parish council to give the people some input in the operation of the church along with the pastor, the Rev. John McMahon.

"We have been trying to get a meeting with Fr. McMahon on the parish council but we can't get through to him," said Mrs. Betsy Brennan, one of the parishioners.

Fr. McMahon said he is ready to meet with them.

"I understand they appointed a committee of four or five and they're supposed to contact me," he told WIDA News Director Herb Fontaine in an interview. "I'm waiting for them to contact me."

Asked if he had refused to meet with them, Fr. McMahon said "that's false."

Mrs. Brennan said the dissident parishioners went to see Bishop Daniel Hart about the situation and he told them that Fr. Mc-Mahon "had carte blanche to run the parish. He can do anything he wants."
